On March 12th at two o'clock in the efter noon there will be a hearing in the State House, Trenton, before the Committee on Commerce and Navigation on Senate Bills 258 and 269, introduced by Senator Emerson L. Richards on behalf of Atlantic City hotel interests. These bills aim specially to prevent the Bethlehem Steel Company from developing their 20,000 acre tract of land near here as a proving ground, on the supposition that such grounds vill be detrimental to Atlantic City.

One of the principal reasons for the attitude of the hotel interests is the report that Cape May has suffered from the proving grounds there. This will be shown false by the testimony of business and hotel men of Cape May and sufficient evidence will be presented to the committee to show that neither Atlantic City or any other municipality need entertain any fear of the effects of the grounds.

A petition will be presented from the rest dents of May's Landing signed by practically

"The undersigned citizens of May's Landing and vicinity hereby respectfully protest against the enactment into law of the two blils Nos. 258 and 259 in the Senate affecting the Bethle hem Seel Company's grounds near this place. "We petition you to investigate the project thoroughly before taking any further action on these bills, as we are convinced the industry will not work any injury to Atlantic City and will be of great benefit to our section of the county."

Last Monday evening a resolution was adopted by the Republican League, which will be found in another column.

The bills which were introduced by Senator Richards read as follows:

No. 258. If any person, persons or corporation shall fire or project, or cause to be fired or projected, any shot, shell or other projectile, of a size exceeding six inches in diameter, from any gun, cannon or other instrument, for the me of testing the said shot, shell or other projectile, the said gun, cannon or other instrument, or any of them, at any point in this State which shall be nearer than twenty miles from any city naving a population exceeding fifty thousand, he she or they so offending shall severally forfill the sum of two hundred dollars, to be recovered by an action at law before any justice of the pears of said state, at the sait of any person who will prosecute the same to effect, to the sole use of the prosecutor with cost of suit, and the said firing or projecting of such shot, shell or other projectile shall esteemed a public nuisance. No. 259. If any person, persons or corpora projected any shot, shell or other projectile or a size exceeding six inches in diameter from any gun, cannon or other instrument for the purpose of testing the said shot, shell or other projectile, the said gun, cannon or other instrument, or any of them, over any river, creek or stream of water within this State, which is now flowed by tidal water from the Atlantic Ocean, he, she or they so offending shall severally forfelt the sum of two hundred dollars to be recovered by an action at law before any justice of the peace of said State, at the suit of any person who will prosecute the same to effect, to the sole use of the prosecutor with the costs of suit, and the said firing or projecting of such shot, shell or other projectile shall be esteemed a public nulsance.

Members Urge Frequent Meetings And Social Sessions The Year Round.

Members of the Hamilton Township Republican League to the number of a half-hundred or more gathered at Library Hall Monday evening last at the first meeting held since last November and there was such keen interest manifested that a special committee was appolitied to secure quarters for regular business and social sessions the year round.

Albert C. Abbott was chosen President of the League and in accepting the office took occato pay a warm tribute to the memory of the late E. C. Shaner, the former president, through whose efforts the League was organised. On motion of John Babcock a con mittee, consisting of himself, Sheriff Joseph R. Bartlett and Magistrate James A. Lambert was appointed by the chair to draft resolutions in memory of the late president, Magistrath Lambert introduced a resolution calling on the Atlantic County representatives in the Legislature to use their influence to defeat any legislation injurious to the development of the Bethlehem Steel industry here. This resolution, which was unanimously adopted. Was as follows:

Whereas there has been introduced in the Senate of New Jersey a bill tending to hinder the development near this place of an industry by the Bethlehem Steel Company that will be a great benefit not only to May's Landing, but to the entire county as well

"Therefore be it resolved that the Hamilton Township Republican League, mindful of the best interests of the working people of May's Landing and the surrounding county districts, does hereby voice its emphatic protest against this or any other bills of like nature being enacted into law, and earnestly urges our legislative representatives to use their best efforts to defeat any such legislation."

MAGISTRATE J. A. LAMBERT URGES DEFEAT OF TWO BILLS

Numerous Letters Sent To Senator Richards By County Seat Citizens.

A number of County Beat residents sent etters to Senator Emerson L. Richards this week urging the defeat of two bills he has inroduced in the Senate which, if passed, would discourage the Bethlehem Steel industry from locating here in spite of the heavy expenditure already made. Among others who protested to the Senator was Magistrate James A. Lambert who wrote as follows:

"You say, 'the very existence of Atlantic City depends upon its continuation as a health and pleasue resort. Catering to those who seek ealth and pleasure is its only industry. Manifeatly then, if we remit the establishment of a nulsance which will seriously interfere with this industry, we will have committed a most perious injury to Atlantic City.'

"It is freely admitted by everybody that Atlantic City is the Queen City of resorts, and we, of Atlantic County, are proud that this is true; and we are agreed that all possible, if proper that city's permanence and material growth. TION—CONFIDENT OF CALCULATION TO SELL THE RESULTS

CALCULATE OF CALCULATION OF CA Jersey nor Atlantic County could exist were the catering to health and pleasure their only industry, Industry, of every name and nature, must be fostered, if a community would grow. Atlantic County needs all the population which it can hold; as also the industries to keep the population busy and prosperous. To permit Atlantic County to be too much domi nated by, and subject to Atlantic City; and to say that what does not plainly and palpably benefit Atlantic City shall not be allowed in Atlautic County, can hardly be called a proper or wise concession. This is worthy of the consideration of the Senator from Atlantic County.

"Atlantic City, you say, needs to cater to licalth and pleasure only, for its prosperity, The remainder of the county needs mills, and every other form of industry to increase its population and wealth. No, we must not lose ight of the county for the city's sake.

" Again, you say, if we permit the establish ment of a nulsance which will seriously interfere, &c. Who says that this new industry will interfere with Atlantic City? The Bethlehem Company says that it will not seriously interfere with May's Landing. How, then, can 1 seriously interfere with a city twenty miles away? I am of the opinion that you, with the hotel men, are borrowing imaginary trouble and are trying to stop something of which nothing is really known.

"You say further on,- Without the Atlanthe City hotel men, Atlantic City ceases to exist.' Would that be true of the county? Would the mills, brickyards, and other indus tries of the municipalities of the county close up and coase operations, if the Atlantic City notel men disappeared? I simply wish to show that your point is not well taken here, and that the destruction of the city does not mean the destruction of the county.

"Finally you say, Atlantic City pays 85 per the Bethlehem Steel Company is located here? You know that it will not be true, and you also know that the county will be the gainer.

aider the complaints from Atlantic City to be purely functful; and that you seem to lose sight of the fact that you are the Senator from Atlantic County, not from Atlantic City, and that your work should be along the line of

SOME EVIDENCE FROM CAPE MAY ITSELF

The latest "knock" from Atlantic City is that that city has been "rocked" by explosions at the Bethlehem proving grounds which are located from five to fifteen miles from this city on the bayshore, and that, consequently, the proposed proving grounds of the same company at May's Landing would prove ruinous to Atlantic City in that if explosions forty miles away "rocked" that resort, explosions within eighteen miles would simply destroy it. The statement is also made that discharges at the proving grounds at Cape May can be heard at any time at Atlantic City, when the wind is favorable, which shows what a wonderful imagination Atlantic City correspondents have, for the wind has to be just right to permit of their being heard in this city. Under the most favorable circumstances they produce not the slightest concussion or "rocking" here, and are not noticed nor commented upon from one day's end to the other. It is scarcely possible that they can be heard at Atlantic City even faintly, under any circumstances. The concussion is so slight even at the grounds that it is reported that eggs have been hatched almost under the muzzles of the guns, as successfully as in the most quiet localities. We hope Atlantic's efforts will succeed in causing the Bethlehem Company to enlarge its operations on the bay shore. -Cape May Star and Wave.

If soil is acidity is the only detrimental factor, such a condition may be corrected by the use of lime.

The remarkable growth of agriculture in New Jersey, and opportunities for further growth are pointed out by Dr. J. G. Lipman, director of the New Jersey Agricultural Sta tion, in his annual report for 1916, from which the following quotations are taken:

"The Census of 1900 credits New Jersey with an annual value of agricultural commodities produced of $26,000,000. The corresponding value in 1910 was $43,000,000. In 1915 it was $68 000,000, and in 1916 it is likely to exceed $80,000,

By keeping in touch with the agricultural papers and other sources of information one can learn many facts in reference to pruning. However, this knowledge cannot always be put into practice since the conditions described may not be similar to ours. Then, too, important points looked for both by the amateur and by the commercial fruit-growers are oftentimes omitted.

In this article I hope to bring out a few points which will prove beinful to Atlantic County growers who have already trimmed their trees or who are contemplating doing so, If the information given is not as full or as satisfactory as you would like, further help may be secured by writing the Office of Farm

Regardless of the kind of tree we are pror ing, it is always advisible to cut-out all dead wood, whether the branches be large or small. Oftentimes the wood has been killed by blight, black rot, or brown rot, and, if left on the tree harbors disease. Therefore, clean it out

REPORT SURVEY TO HAVE BEEN MADE BY THE GOVERNMENT

PROJECT DISCUSSED FOR YEARS

OFFICIAL CONFIRMATION WILL BE AWAITED EAGERLY

A new phase of the possibilities involved in he establishment here of the Bethlehem Steel Company's grounds appeared yesterday in reports from Atlantic City that the government bas made surveys and is contemplating a ship canal across the State by way of the Great Egg Harbor River. The man through whom the information came is a broker, who asserts he was apprised of the plan by a government interested in the location here of the Bethlebern grounds have been persistent and though no official sanction has been given thereto, there are many circumstances that lend color to the rumor. A ship canal across the State has been discussed for many years and with the opening of the waterways along the coast its advantages are very apparent for purposes of coast defense or rushing aid from Philadelphia to New York.

its shore terminus at Longport, using the Great Egg Harbor River through May's Landing, now the head of tidewater, thence taking course towards the League Island, Navy Yard. The cost of such a canal would not be heavy because of the level nature of the beence of rock formations.

A TWICE TOLD TALE

By SADIE OLCOTT

Lieutenant Colonel Beverage, comstrolled up to the West Point hotel.

Colonel Beverage had met so many strangers that he could not remember them all, though being a prominent person at West Point he was himself remembered. A maiden lady who was nearing the close of her fourth decade nodded to him. Not being able to place her, he joined her, with a view to learning who she was without betraying his ignorance. They were soon scated on a corner of the porch, and the colonel opened the conversation. "There is a far denser crowd than that to be found here in June when I was a cadet. The youngsters don't have the opportunity to spoon here that we had. In those days it was possible to get a girl off here by herself and make no end of love to her." "I presume colonel," said the lady, "that you did your share of that sort

"We all did our duty, I assure you, in keeping up the credit of the academy as entertainers."

"Did you ever make a proposition on this porch?" "That is a pointed question, but since you ask about what occurred twenty years ago I presume there is nothing indeliente in acknowledging that I "Was the girl attractive, or was it the surroundings rather than her per sonality that moved you?"

"She was delicious! "That's a new word to apply to

"It expresses exactly what she was "Do you remember on what part o

"Were you accepted?" "On the contrary, my proposal was received with a merry laugh, "You endets,' she said, 'are incorrigible, Yours is the fourth proposal I have received since I have been here. West Point is the only place in the world, 1 believe, where a proposal means noth-

"Mine meant a good deal, but its re ception took me flat aback. Instead of trying to convince her that I was in earnest I forced a smile and said: You top me by one. You have recelved four proposals; I have made but "Again came that laugh, though now it seemed to me that there was mockery in it. I was quite sure the girl believed that there was something serious in what I had said to her and was enjoying the stab she was giving me. Naturally I endeavored to conceal the fact that I was in earnest by swearing in a heroic manner that I loved her and her only and would nev er love any other woman. And that was the truth, though I intended she should consider it mere gallantry. I have never married and will never

The lady was silent for a time, seemingly impressed by this onesided remance. Presently she said

"May not the girl have received your proposition as she did because of the reputation caders have for making love to pass the time"

"Perhaps she did not take me serlously. But I had done all I could do in the matter. I had offered her my love and my band. She had laughed nt me. What else could I do but laugh

"She was very young, I presume," "Elighteen.

"And wu "Twenty two. It was the year I was

should have tried again." "I was ordered to the western coast;

she remained in the east." "I see How many such cases there are in the world. Two hearts meet and mingle. And even when there is such an understanding it sink her. requires no great shock to break it."

"You are assuming that the girl, had she believed in my sincerity, would have reciprocated."

"That she alone knows," At this point the tete-a-tete was interrupted by friends of both the colo-

How They Saved the Gunner

By F. A. MITCHEL

The ships had met in deadly contest. mandant of cadets at the West Point For hours they had pounded each oth-Military academy, had been busy all er, rammed each other, torpedoed each day with his duties pertaining to the other. Some had gone down with graduation of the first class of the crews ranging from 500 to 1,000 men. corps of cadets and in the evening Some had limped away from the shot and shell, but the bulk were afloat and still firing. At last one side gave in under the longer range of the other and steamed away. When the fight was over the captain of the Terror was going about among the wounded, speaking a word of praise to one, encouragement to an other and sympathy to the dying. While speaking hopefully to a tar who had lost an arm he heard a voice be hind him:

"Cheer up, Tom; we're going to sail for home. Think how proud father will be of you when I tell him how ou served that gun, how when every other man of the gun squad had been disabled you hung on and fired the final shot that sank that submarine and saved the ship from being blown sky high. I think I see mother and the girls and little Jim coming down the walk to meet us, mother putting her arm about you, weeping for joy at getting you home and a pride at your bravery.

"Steady, old man! You're going to pull through. The blood has stopped flowing. All you want is something of the grit you showed in sticking to your gun and saving us all by the cool pointing you did at that submarine. Brace up, my boy, and all will be well.

"Keep your mind fixed on Sallie. Think how she is waiting and watching for you to come back to her. You bet we'll have a rattlin' wedding. I think I see myself as best man proppin' you up, and I see Sallie tryin' to keep back some o' the smiles that crowd on to those pretty red lips of bers, her eyes dancin' with happiness and pride in the gunner that sank an enemy ship and saved his own from a sub ' The captain while listening to these words turned and saw two men, the one lying on the deck, pale and languid, the other kneeling beside him holding his hand. He had known that one of his guns had finished an enemy ship and that a gun had saved the Terror from an enemy submarine. Who fired the shot he had not known. Now he knew that one man had fired both shots and that he had stood by his gun when every other man at the piece had been stretched on the deck or blown to pleces,

"Tom," he said. The hero's eyes were closed, and he did not open them. The man kneeling beside him was about to rise, salute and stand at attention when the officer placed his hand on his shoulder and

"Brothers?" asked the captain. "Yes, sir."

"Is there anything that you think will help to brace him?" "He might be tided over, sir, if he heard a gun or a volley or if the marines | get rich.

from the admiral to give chase to one of the enemy's ships that was lagging | sel. "He knows more about the busibehind the rest of the retreating fleet. The captain of the Terror transmitted the order to the proper officer and to man the forward guns. As soon as the Terror came within range of the vessel she pursued there was a loud moted."-Washington Star. boom.

Tom opened his eyes. "We're at it again, Tom," said his brother, "Wouldn't you like to be at that gun? You can't do that, my boy ! not just now, though you will in time. No doubt you'll fire many a shot after you've got your strength back." There came from the forecastle the roll of a drum. The captain had ordered it. He had ordered the firing, too, not that he expected to damage the retreating vessel, but that he hoped the brave man who had saved his ship might be tided over the shoals of death and saved for his reward. Another gun Tom made an effort to sit up. His brother gently held him down. "Not yet, old man, not yet. You'll

"Are they doing it?" "You bet! A few more shots will do the business. You're lookin' better, old fellow. There's the light of life in your eye. You're going to get well, and". "You're going to be an admiral some day," supplied the captain, who had returned from directing the operations against the enemy's ship to direct the saving of the hero of the fight. "You're to be mentioned in orders and promot ed and sent home on leave, and at the next fight you'll probably command a

With this the captain went off to at tend to other matters. "Billy," said Tom, "get me some grog. I reckon I'm going to pull

Kirstin Stump

One Man - Horse Power

Land clearing is not the time consuming, money consuming, back breaking, heart breaking, never ending job it once was, if

The Kirstin Method guarantees a saving of 10% to 50% over any other method of land clearing. The Kirstin Method gets rid of your stumps after they are pulled. No stump is too big for the Kirstin Horse Power Puller. Its mighty strength is irresistible because of its triple power and other exclusive Kirstin features. It will clear more than two acres at one setting without strain to man, horse or machine. It has been a leader for 21 years.

One man without horses can pull the biggest stumps, too, with the Kirstin One Man Stump Puller. A little push on the handle gives tons of pull on the stump. This enormous power is developed by use of double leverage. It gives an ordinary 17-year-old farm boy a giant's power.
