ACTIVE CAMPAIGN FOR GOOD ROADS CONTINUES

HIGH STANDARD WILL BE MAINTAINED.

Highways of Municipality Undergo Thorough Repairs—Farsighted Policy Exercised by Township Committee.

The question of good roads was never more prominent in Hamilton Township than at the present time and the improvements planned for the year promise a system of township roads unequalled in the State. The Township Committee, consisting of Messrs. Charles D. Makepeace, Harrison Wilson and Charles Stewart, are carrying a far-sighted policy in the improvement of the public highways, with a view to establishing first class, permanent roads that will stand the wear of heavy travel with a minimum of expense for repairs, and which will prove most serviceable as well as attractive to the community.

The good work is progressing rapidly in May's Landing. Supervisor John Smith, who is demonstrating his ability to keep the roads in his district in the best possible condition, has completed regrading on Lenape avenue, Second street and Maple avenue, and these much used highways are in the best condition they have ever been.

Main street in excellent condition and will not require much attention this year. The work of improving the other main highways will be continued and the owners of the outlying districts are actively engaged in improving the rural roads.

In the Churches.

Rev. M. S. Morgan, of Elwood, who recently returned from a tour of the foreign missionary work, gave an interesting address in the Presbyterian church last Sunday relative to the work of the missionaries in India, China, Ceylon and other fields. During his travels he visited Rev. Walter Smith, a former pastor of the Presbyterian church here, who is now one of the leading missionaries of Korea. Rev. Morgan described the trials of the foreign missionary in a graphic manner and made a lasting impression on his hearers of the importance of aiding the missionaries.

At a meeting of the County Capital Cornet Band recently a vote of thanks was extended to the public and those who participated in the recent entertainment, which netted the organization seventy-five dollars. The resolution was moved by Robert Turn, president and Fred Laidlaw, secretary pro tempore.

Joshua Nankivell, who recently assumed charge of the M. E. Church at Crosswicks, is laboring most successfully in that pastorate and the material and spiritual welfare of the congregation is increasing under his direction. This conference year promises to be the best in the history of the church.

Mrs. Lydia Evans sustained severe injuries Sunday last by tripping over a rug and falling. She is recovering from her injuries and is expected to be up in a few days.

Mrs. Hannah Lake, of Pleasantville, aged eighty-three years, is seriously ill here at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Emma English. Her condition is critical.

Mr. J. C. Gordon, of Bridgeton, was here as the guest of relatives this week.

A most enjoyable meeting of the Gamma Sigma was held Thursday evening with Miss Rachel Ingersoll as hostess. After the business session, during which Miss Anna Carson was elected treasurer to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Sara Abbott, the evening was spent in finishing the dainty garments for the blind babies in the Sunshine Rest Home at Camden. The sewing table and later "over the cups."

Mrs. Gertrude Brunson, of Plainfield, N. J., is here as the guest of her parents, Magistrate and Mrs. D. E. Isard.

On behalf of the Monday Night Class of the M. E. Church, James Sturges presented a new pulpit bible to the church last Sunday morning. Rev. S. K. Moore responded to the presentation, expressing the thanks of the church and lauding the leader and members of the class.

The music committee of the M. E. Church held a meeting Thursday evening at the Parsonage.

Services will be held in the Methodist Episcopal church to-morrow as follows: Preaching at 10:30. Sunday school, 2:30. Epworth League service, 8:45. Preaching at 7:45. Everybody welcome. Rev. S. K. Moore, pastor.

Many Watched Automobile Run.

Large throngs of people lined up along Main street last Saturday afternoon to watch the automobile run of the Quaker City Automobile club from Philadelphia to Atlantic City. The machines came by way of Egg Harbor City and presented an interesting spectacle.

The only objectionable part of the run was the distribution of "bums" in large quantities on the avenue. The crowd of people suggested an ordinance prohibiting the scattering of such litter on the streets and the Township Committee may take action in the matter. The paper littered the streets and yards and proved a general nuisance and an eyesore.

TOWNSHIP SPELLING BEE

Pupils of Public Schools Will Strive to Win Prizes Offered by Board of Education To-night—Study of Orthography Encouraged.

Judging from the great interest manifested by the pupils of the Township public schools in the "spelling-bee" to be held in the Open House at May's Landing, the prizes will be awarded by the Board of Education to the winners who "spell down" their classmates, will be fully as interesting and instructive a contest as that held a year ago.

There is much friendly rivalry among the pupils of the various schools and departments of the May's Landing High School and the number entering the contest from each department promises to be larger than was at first expected. An admission fee of ten and fifteen cents will be charged to defray the expenses of the contest.

The "bee" promises to be highly interesting throughout and is indicative of the progress made in the study of orthography in a subject which is now too generally neglected for other branches of study. The contest will begin at eight o'clock, and the judges and dictator will be appointed by the committee in charge.

The following contests have been arranged by the committee of the Board having the contest in charge:

- 1.—Pupils of ungraded schools, admitting five pupils from each school to enter.
- 2.—Pupils of the May's Landing High School, admitting pupils of ungraded schools who have not taken part in first contest.
- 3.—Pupils of the May's Landing Grammar School, admitting pupils of ungraded schools below first grade, provided they have not entered the previous contests.
- 4.—Pupils of Room No. 4, May's Landing High School.
- 5.—Pupils of Room No. 5, May's Landing High School.

Prizes offered in contests 1, 2 and 3: First Prize, $100; Second, $200; Third, Book. Contests 4 and 5: First Prize, $200; Second, $100.

The winners in last year's contest were as follows:

Grades 3 and 4—First Prize, $200, Raymond Hoover; Second Prize, $100, Florence Krus; Third Prize, Book, Marguerite Wiegand.
Grades 5 and 6—First Prize, $200, Alma Smith, of the Gravelly Run School; Second Prize, $100, Mary Towser; Third Prize, Book, Guy Shearer.

THE UNKNOWN DEAD.

Those Buried in National Cemeteries Exceed 100,000.

The army of the "unknown dead" buried in the national cemeteries under the supervision of the United States government is an enormous one.

According to figures recently submitted to the house by Representative Chaney based on a report from the quartermaster general, there are 132,103 unknown soldiers lying in the national cemeteries.

The total number of bodies in these cemeteries is 353,353, the known number 201,252.

The government maintains no less than eighty-three national cemeteries. It is not generally known that one of these is outside of the United States, being located in Mexico City. More than 1,500 soldiers of the Mexican war rest there, half of them unknown.

Her Lockout.

"I must tell you the joke on me," said a business woman who "keeps back" in a cunning little apartment. "Last week I invited two friends for luncheon. As I have just an hour at noon I got everything ready before 11 in the morning that could be prepared and set on the ice. I made a lovely salad, a dessert, prepared for toasted muffins and ten and set my table in all its glory, even buying some flowers for a centerpiece. My guests met me at the office and we went to the apartment. What do you think I had done? Left my keys inside and locked the door."

"There was absolutely no way for us to get in. The janitor had a pass key, but he was away. All the windows of the fire escapes were locked, and no other key in the building fitted. There was nothing to do but take my guests to a restaurant. Then I found that I had not even brought my purse from the office, never dreaming that I should need it. I had to ask my guests for money to pay for the luncheon, and, as it happened, they only had a quarter each above their fare. We went to the cheapest place we could find and had sandwiches and coffee. Wasn't that funny?"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Accommodating.

"Some years ago," says a Boston lawyer, "a man in Nantucket was tried for a petty offense and sentenced to four months in jail. A few days after the trial the judge who had imposed sentence, in company with the sheriff, was on his way to the Boston boat, when they passed a man busily engaged in saving wood."

"The man stopped his work, touched his hat politely and said, 'Good morning, your honor.'"

"The judge, after a careful survey of the man's face, asked: 'Isn't that the man I sentenced to jail a few days ago?'"

"Yes," replied the sheriff, with some hesitation, "that's the man. The fact is, judge, we—er—we don't happen to have anybody else in jail just now, so we thought it would be a sort of useless expense to hire some one to keep the jail four months just for this one man. So I gave him the jail key and told him it would be all right if he'd sleep there a' nights."—Harper's Weekly.

His Belief.

A drunken carter came into a carriage of the Greenock train and sat opposite a clergyman who was reading his paper. Recognizing the profession of his vis-a-vis, the carter in a little while leaned forward and in a manly way remarked, "I don't believe there's any heaven."

The clergyman paid no heed. "Do ye hear me?" persisted the carter. "I don't believe there's any heaven."

Still the clergyman remained silent behind his newspaper. The carter, shouting his confession this time loudly, said, "I tell ye to your face, and you're a minister, that I don't believe there's any heaven."

"Very well," said the clergyman, "if you do not believe there is a heaven go elsewhere, but please go quietly."—London Graphic.

One of the Lucky Ones.

A lady of title, an ardent motorist, is very unfortunate in the matter of spills. The other day, by no means for the first time, an engineer came to do various repairs to the motor.

The little girl of the house watched and then remarked: "I think mamma's very unlucky with her motor, don't you?"

"Unlucky, did ye say?" replied the mechanic. "Why, not particularly unlucky. Her ladyship's alive, ain't she?"

"Yes, of course she is," said the girl. "Well," was the rejoinder, with an expressive shake of the head, "lots of our customers ain't."

His Plausible Excuse.

Magistrate: This affair looks to me more like a common dog fight than a case of assault and battery. You claim that this man assaulted you and that you did not even try to defend yourself, yet he bears the marks of your teeth in three places. How do you account for that?

Plaintiff—Well, it was just like this. He hurt me so when he was a pound-in of me that I had to have summatin' ter bite on, or I couldn't 'a' stood it.—Los Angeles Times.

East Indian Proverbs.

An old English proverb: "Cut your coat according to your cloth." The following is a similar proverb in India: "Look at your bed before stretching your legs on it." "Don't ask for sauce in a free boarding house" is another Indian proverb which is something like the English proverb, "Beggars must not be choosers."

A No Sider.

The possessor of a farmer in the vicinity of Culpeper, Va., were in a district where both armies foraged. The old chap one day, surveying the streaks in the soil where his fences had stood, remarked with much feeling, "I ain't took no sides in this here rebellion, but I've doggeded if both sides ain't took me."
