ANOTHER OLD VETERAN ANSWERS LAST ROLL CALL

Luke Vanaman Passed Away After Brief Illness.

Stricken a few weeks ago with illness, Mr. Luke Vanaman, for the past fifteen years a resident of May's Landing and formerly a prominent official of Millville, died Wednesday afternoon last at one o'clock at the residence of his son, Mr. Ralph S. Vanaman, at the advanced age of eighty-three years. Through most of his life he was of the illustrious few known as a person of a nature and character that have earned him the respect and admiration of all who knew him.

Mr. Vanaman was of a most genial disposition and a truly noble character. In his life he was struck by a severe illness, but he remained all his faculties and his mind was remarkably clear for one of his age.

Born at Chatham, N. J., about 1833, Mr. Vanaman worked for a time at farming and later moved to Millville, where he engaged in carpenter work. He began to take an interest in political affairs and was elected to the office of town clerk, a position he held for several years and served in that capacity for many years.

On September 8, 1864, he joined as private to Company C, Thirty-eighth Regiment of New Jersey Volunteers, under command of Col. William J. Bewell, where he was detailed to hospital duty. The regiment belonged to the regular army of the United States and was commanded by Gen. J. B. Carr. With it he did duty in the defense of Bermuda Hundred until the fall of Petersburg and Richmond. He was mustered out of service June 30, 1865, at City Point, Va.

He was married on November 7, 1867, to Hannah E. Shaw, and two children were born to them, Ralph S. Vanaman, now of this place, and Mary G., now wife of Nicholas Barrett, of Trenton. His wife died December 21, 1898, at Millville. In addition to the surviving children there are four grandchildren. Following the death of his wife he came to May's Landing and has since resided here.

Services were held yesterday morning at eleven o'clock from the residence of Mr. R. S. Vanaman, in charge of the Rev. W. S. Ludlow, pastor of the First M. E. Church of this place, after which the remains were conveyed to Millville where they were interred in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery. The sympathy of a host of friends is extended to the bereaved family.

MAY'S LANDING GLEE CLUB WON HAMMONTON TROPHY

Excellent Results of Musical Instruction in School Apparent.

Through the courtesy of the Board of Education the local Glee Club, accompanied by several of the teachers, journeyed to Hammonton Saturday morning last to compete for the Board of Trade trophy cup offered by Hammonton to the Glee Club doing the best work in singing.

The clubs competing were those of Absecon, Egg Harbor City and May's Landing.

The judges, Messrs. Sealey and Douglas and Dr. Wenz, decided that the May's Landing Glee Club was entitled to hold the cup for one year.

After a team is declared the winner in three successive contests the cup becomes the permanent possession of that school, according to the rules under which the trophy is offered.

Miss Bertha K. Eckhardt, teacher of music, was in charge of the Glee Club, with Mrs. F. A. Hummel at the piano.

The excellent singing of the May's Landing Glee Club was highly praised by who had the honor of judging the contest and was a splendid demonstration of the good results accomplished by the teaching of music in the public school.

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO COUNTY FARMERS

AGRICULTURE SUGGESTIONS AND RECENT RURAL HAPPENINGS

The poultryman is concerned at this time with the growth and development of pullets and cockers. The best growth can be induced only when the sexes are separated at an early date. The birds of each sex are fed and handled for a different purpose, hence, they require different rations and different care. The cockers are grown for meat production and are disposed of either as broilers or as roasters, hence, they should be fed flesh-forming rations. The pullets are cared for with the idea of inducing a uniform, continuous growth until maturity, at which time they will be mated to lay a steady number of eggs. The requirements of feed and care for these two purposes are quite different, and the only way that the maximum efficiency can be acquired is by separating the birds at the age of from six to ten weeks, and growing them from that time on in two different flocks.

The Department of Horticulture of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station recommends that fruit growers observe the following "do's":

- Don't apply sprays at winter strength to trees.
- Don't spray fruit trees while in bloom.
- Don't spray trees with a stomach poison, such as arsenate of lead.
- Don't expect to kill plant lice unless you hit them with a contact poison such as "Black Leaf 40."
- Don't expect to protect your fruit from insects and diseases unless you spray thoroughly.
- Don't apply Bordeaux mixture to peach trees in foliage.
- Don't apply concentrated lime-sulfur to peach trees in foliage.
- Don't apply Paris green to peach foliage or trunks.
- Don't expect your apples to escape damage by the codling moth unless you spray your trees.
- Don't fall to spray currant bushes with arsenate of lead to prevent damage by the curant worm.
- Don't forget that you intended to spray your plums to control the brown rot this year.
- Don't expect the best results from spraying unless you use the right material in the right way at the right time.

The principles which underlie profitable farming are not unlike those which underlie the profitable conduct of any other business. The difference is merely in the application. The one fundamental principle underlying all successful business undertakings is that the cost must be less than the selling price. In the operation of this principle agriculture is no exception. Farming, however, is such a complicated business that the most careful planning and making up the farm unit are so intricately related, that it is often well-nigh impossible to determine the true cost or the true selling price of a farm product. However, the relation of any factor in farming to the profits of the farm as a whole, by the study of a large group of farms can be fairly accurately determined. The results of the study are perhaps the best guide to successful farming and to an understanding of the principles upon which good farm organization is based.

Some rural pastors of New Jersey are asking assistance of the extension division of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station in holding community conferences in their churches. The programs sometimes call for addresses on soil fertility, home economics and other practical subjects along with discussions of community life problems and the extension of the influence of the country church. Whenever the entire community is interested in a meeting of this sort, the extension division believes that it should render any aid in its power.

PIONEER PRESBYTERIANISM REVIEWED BY JUDGE ENDICOTT

Presented Gavel Made of Wood Taken From Old Edifice.

In presenting the gavel yesterday at the May's Landing Presbyterian Church, the new Moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly, Rev. Judge Allen H. Endicott, took occasion to review the early history of the church in south Jersey, and the following are his remarks:

"In 1855 Elder Walter Ken, sented to this county under previous banishment for his faithful and conscientious adherence to God and his truth as preached by the Church of Scotland, was the pioneer in the settlement of the Gospel in this county.

"The first Presbyterian congregation in this county was formed by a Presbytery in the Atlantic Colonies was that of John Boyd, December 23, 1703, by the General Presbytery assembly, in the Old Scots Meeting House in what is now the Presbytery of Monmouth.

"The labors of William Tennent and John Brainerd are well known. One Brainerd in New Jersey was known as Brainerd's Hierarchy over central and southern New Jersey, he was followed by a young graduate of Princeton Seminary, Allen H. Endicott.

"The first Synodical Ministry of New Jersey was Rev. John Brainerd, born in 1720, and the second Synodical Ministry was Rev. Allen H. Brown, D. D., born in 1828. They were both men of a high field of labor and travelled the same territory in central and southern New Jersey, preaching the gospel and organizing and erecting churches and school-houses.

"As pioneer along the New Jersey coast, building on no other man's foundation, Dr. Brown established thirty-four churches. In 1855 he became pastor of the Camden and Atlantic Land Company, a lot for the erection of the First Presbyterian Church of Atlantic City for his retirement.

"To recapitulate, the pioneer established twenty-four churches as co-laborer, thirteen churches and sustained eleven—making a total of forty-eight churches that owe their existence primarily or partly to his efforts. In 1855 he became pastor of the Camden and Atlantic Land Company, a lot for the erection of the First Presbyterian Church of Atlantic City for his retirement.

"The principles which underlie profitable farming are not unlike those which underlie the profitable conduct of any other business. The difference is merely in the application. The one fundamental principle underlying all successful business undertakings is that the cost must be less than the selling price. In the operation of this principle agriculture is no exception. Farming, however, is such a complicated business that the most careful planning and making up the farm unit are so intricately related, that it is often well-nigh impossible to determine the true cost or the true selling price of a farm product. However, the relation of any factor in farming to the profits of the farm as a whole, by the study of a large group of farms can be fairly accurately determined. The results of the study are perhaps the best guide to successful farming and to an understanding of the principles upon which good farm organization is based.

Some rural pastors of New Jersey are asking assistance of the extension division of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station in holding community conferences in their churches. The programs sometimes call for addresses on soil fertility, home economics and other practical subjects along with discussions of community life problems and the extension of the influence of the country church. Whenever the entire community is interested in a meeting of this sort, the extension division believes that it should render any aid in its power.

Birth Rate Higher.

New Jersey's birth rate during 1914 was higher than that of any year since the collection of vital statistics began in 1878 and the highest in the history of the State. Including all deaths that occurred in the State the rate was 13.81 for the year. Excluding 869 deaths of non-residents from the calculation the death rate for the year was 13.74, an total 10,987 for the preceding year. The birth rate for the year was 22.87 per 1,000 population, the highest it has ever reached. This is 2.24 in 1914, and the lowest point was 13.44 in 1908. It is probable that the apparent increase in the birth rate is due to better reporting rather than to an increased number of births.

Injured by Log in Road.

Judge Howard Carow yesterday reserved decision in the suit of Adolph C. Goller, of Egg Harbor City, against Dr. Charles Smith and Dr. Joseph H. R. Street, Street Supervisor, for $2,000 damages for injuries received when Goller rode into a log left in the road last August. There was no evidence that Dr. Smith owned the log or knew anything of its presence in the road so he was acquitted. The city of Egg Harbor City is not responsible and counsel for Landis contended that his client was not, nor having placed the log there and having ordered its removal.

Awarded $1,500 of Legacy.

Mrs. Benjamin Horkheimer was awarded $1,500 by a jury before Judge Howard Carow, in her suit against the executors of the estate of the late Morris Horkheimer, a wealthy Philadelphia manufacturer, who died last August. The will of the late Mrs. Horkheimer provided for $1,500 to her husband. The defense endeavored to show that the amount had been paid by the executors. One of the defendants was Edmund Horkheimer, head of a big film company in California, who was a co-executor with Mrs. C. Horkheimer, of Atlantic City.

Must Report Births And Deaths.

Physicians, midwives, undertakers, clergyman and local health officers are hereafter to be treated just like any other law violators when they fail to comply with the requirements of law regarding the reporting of births, deaths and marriages. When dairymen, grocers and soda water manufacturers are punished for violating the law the State Department has no reason why physicians, midwives, undertakers or even clergymen and health officials should escape.

Those present: Margaret Layton, Alma and Margaret Layton, Mary and Pearl Jenkins, Marion L. Blauer, Dorothea Loyer, Edna Ireland, Lela Kern, Raymond Kraus, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kern.

Representatives of various farmers' associations met in the State House at Trenton last Wednesday and selected eight men as directors of the new state department of agriculture, provided for in a law passed last Winter, to replace the present state board of agriculture. The new department, after its constitution has been issued by the governor, will assume control on July 1.

The directors elected are: Colonel Joseph B. Freelinghouse, of Somerset County, and Theodore Brown, of Gloucester County, to serve for a term of four years each; H. W. Jeffers, of Middlesex County, and Edward A. Meckling, of Burlington County, the two years; L. W. Black, of Cumberland County, and Thomas E. Insley, of Sussex County, two years; F. M. Curtiss, of Bergen County, and E. A. Szymanski, of Monmouth County, one year.

The new board will meet and organize before July 1. It is expected that Colonel Freelinghouse will be named president and Alva Ager, of the New Brunswick experimental station, will be the new secretary to succeed Franklin D. Dry. Mr. Dry is 80 years old and has been secretary of the state board of agriculture for more than thirty years. It is understood that he desires to retire. The office of secretary will pay a salary of $5,000 a year.

Chief of departments of crops, lands, statistics and markets, a salary of $3,000 each, will be named. He said among other things that the plan would make the farmers of the State directly responsible for the new department and for its administration of agricultural affairs.

Flaherty Codicil Unearthed.

One hundred thousand dollars is bequeathed to the Church of the Holy Spirit of Atlantic City by a codicil to the will of the late Mrs. James Flaherty, who died in 1911. Mrs. Flaherty was the only woman in the world who had a codicil at the time but it was not attested to the will and could not be found. Now it has been located and the Burrogate will hold a hearing on May 31 to prove its authenticity. The Church of the Holy Spirit had already instituted suit against the executors to secure the sum and the finding of the codicil will cause this to be discontinued.

KILLED IN SELF-DEFENSE JURY'S VERDICT ACQUITS

De Ray Stabbed Lewis When Latter Was Choking Him.

"The clearest case of self-defense that ever came up in the Atlantic County courts" remarked lawyers Tuesday after Nicholas De Ray, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Vernon Lewis, was acquitted by the jury. The entire trial, including selection of jurors, occupied only a little more than two hours.

De Ray stabbed Lewis during a quarrel in the engine room of the Grand Atlantic Hotel, Atlantic City, last April. De Ray was engineer and Lewis fireman. The latter, a powerfully built man, threw De Ray to the floor and was choking him when the latter stabbed him with a pen-knife he had been using. Though the blade was only two inches long it penetrated the fireman's heart. Lewis walked more than a block to the office of a physician where he collapsed and he died later in the city hospital.

De Ray was engineer of the ill-fated Overbrook Hotel which burned down with heavy loss of life and was painfully injured endeavoring to extinguish the blaze. A dozen witnesses came forward to testify to his peaceful habits. Lewis it was shown, had been drinking heavily the night before and had a bottle of liquor that morning in the engine room. He knocked De Ray down after burning him and when De Ray ran off, followed and tried to choke him.
