He was hurriedly moved across the lake to the park, where about four hours later he died. The bullet had entered the lower part of the back, and it was feared that it had entered the lungs. The body was taken to the hospital and is now in the hospital.

KUEHNLE'S CASE AGAIN ARGUED

Counsel Fights Constitutionality of Sheriff's Disqualification.

Final arguments were heard Tuesday last before the Court of Errors and Appeals at Trenton in the appeal of Commodore Louis Kuehnle from the indictment by the Essex County Grand Jury and conviction on the charge of illegal participation in a contract. Kuehnle has not yet been bonded. The arguments were based on the right of the Court to deprive the Sheriff of his function of drawing the Grand Jury and placing duty in the hands of others. The charge on which Kuehnle was convicted was that, being a stockholder and director of the United Paving Company, he violated the law when, as a member of the Atlantic City Water Board, he passed on the contract for the water main awarded to that company. Former Supreme Court Justice Gilbert Cole appeared for Kuehnle and Asst. Attorney General Nelson for the State. Counsel for Kuehnle argued that no special term of court could be convened, except pursuant to the statute. Kuehnle and the others were indicted at a specially convened term of the court, not under the statute. Regarding the all-day grand jury convened declared there was no such power of appointment in the court, that "elaborate" appointed by the Court to summon petit jurors are simply persons appointed to carry out an existing judicial procedure over which the court has jurisdiction. A Grand Jury on the other hand, he held, was not a judicial body, but was purely a legislative body exercising jurisdiction coordinate with the Court of Errors and Appeals. On the question of the removal of Sheriff Kuehnle, L. Johnson, of Atlantic, from office could justify justification could not be shown. On that portion of the Unsworth, Rightaire and Enderlin case heard with Kuehnle's, because they involved the same question of the removal of a Sheriff from office, which they had "held up" contractors on the Port Republic Road until they had given up $500 for the "approval" of the Freeholders, and therefore the Court should have the defendants free.

WOE UNTO YE PESKY SKEETERS

Commission Starts Fight—Charles T. Abbott Local Inspector.

There is consternation in Mosquitoville today and all through the lightly settled swamps where the great hordes congregated over the marshes where another warlike tribe prevails, even in the little main-lane villages and barnyard pool hamlets of the predatory pest all is worry and excitement for the Atlantic County Mosquito Extirpation Commission, armed with barrels of oil, ditch-diggers, spades, essence of citronella, parathion and other paraphernalia has said "Forward march!" and the great battle is on. The fight is an earnest one. Battered with misery by one with indifference by another and still otherwise by life-long sufferers, it is nevertheless a serious attempt to rid Jersey of one of her worst features and if the plan works out in practice as well as it appears in theory, residents will have occasion to set one whole week aside for a long-remembered vacation. Various inspectors have been appointed for the numerous County districts. Charles T. Abbott having received the appointment for May's Landing, and although the commission does not expect to get rid of the pests altogether it does expect to do a great deal of good work this season, late as it has started. House to house inspection is being made all over the County and a separate report made for each premises. At present no attention is being paid to open territory, but the work of the local inspector is a great factor in the campaign of education which brings the details of the matter directly to each household. Practical tests and demonstrations made from water in the marshes, the open surface of the pool under a house, the ruin water caught in a clogged bucket, and other receipts, have opened the eyes of many a housewife who is justly proud of her home. Following the house to house campaign, the next thing that will be accomplished by the property owners will be to acquire a few more mosquito nets and to have them applied by county officials and the proper remedies applied. By this time it is expected popular sentiment will greatly assist the Commission in their campaign of extermination in the mosquito-infested districts. The Commission has the subject so well in hand that they can distinctly recognize forty varieties of mosquitoes and upon examination of a specimen describe its habitat. Residents are urged to help the workers all they can and give them all possible information about breeding places.

MOTORCYCLE STRIKES AUTO

Rider Slightly Cut in Collision at River Road Curve.

Rounding the curve from Gravelly Run on the River Road at Sugar Hill Sunday afternoon last, an auto struck a motor cycle, the latter being driven by a young man named Travers, of East Vineland, reached the intersection of the road, the motorcycle was headed for Atlantic City and fortunately both machines were running slowly. In trying to avoid the collision, the driver of the auto made a sudden turn to the right and struck the motorcycle before the cycle struck. Travers apparently lost his head, for he had turned to the right as he should have done the accident would not have occurred. Very little damage was done to either machine, but the motorcycle was badly damaged. The driver of the auto was not hurt, but the motorcycle rider was slightly injured. The motorcycle was badly damaged and the driver was slightly injured. The motorcycle was badly damaged and the driver was slightly injured.

Perry Will Hear On.

The hearing on the will of William H. Perry, a former Philadelphia, who died at Atlantic City in a sanatorium last April, began before Judge L. C. Cole Thursday. Mrs. Mary E. Perry, widow of the deceased, whose name is not mentioned in the will, is the plaintiff. The estate is estimated at $250,000 and represents personal property. John A. Bonnell, an attendant, and John Heiner, said to be a servant, are the principal beneficiaries under the will, together with several bequests to Catholic institutions. Joseph A. McNamara and Father McCarthy and Philip A. McNamara are the trustees of the will. The will, which was signed by the deceased, was found in his pocket when he died. The case will be continued.

Prof. Rely Successful In Absecon.

The enrollment last year was 124; this year, 191; a gain of 67. The total number of days' attendance in 1912 was 10,450; this year, 12,450; an increase of 2,000 days, which at 18 cents a day as allowed this year, will increase the local State appropriation by $360 for 1914. The grade work during the past year has given excellent results, and an effort will be made during the coming year to raise it to still higher levels.

Drought Hits Cape May County.

The "dry" days in South Jersey have been extended to late in May. In Cape May County, Cape May and all other points where there has been a drought, the "dry" days have been extended to late in May. MAY'S LANDING, JUNE 28, 1913.

And still the sprinkler stands, as the land would say, in innocent desolation. Merciful Providence relieved the situation, fortunately, with several copious showers.

The County is to be congratulated on the award of the contract for the May's Landing Summer Hotel. This is one of the most needed popular highways with tourists, and will provide a popular highway with tourists, as well as a splendid market route for farmers of Egg Harbor Township.

With a large appropriation from the State, the Hamilton Township public schools are preparing to enter into the new term with greatly improved facilities. There is one great improvement, however, which it is to be hoped will come in the near future. May's Landing is big enough and its citizens are patriotic enough to pay a little more for their school system and have an approved High School course of their own, instead of sending advanced pupils to Atlantic City.

It is rumored that the State Road Department will leave to the township the maintenance of the County road improvement, owing to the fact that the last Legislature did not make a sufficient appropriation to keep up the good work. If this is so, it is to be sincerely regretted, for good roads are one of the greatest resources of New Jersey. Good roads, however, are and always have been a Republican principle and if the Democratic legislature has injured the cause, it is another example of earth out of the grave. The present administration is digging for itself.

Maintenance of bridges on public roads of the County is becoming a serious problem for the Board of Freeholders. There are more than seven hundred bridges to keep in good order, a task made all the more difficult by reason of the large number of heavily laden automobiles that are becoming more and more popular. Most of the bridges were not built for such heavy traffic and consequently there are frequent break-downs. Until all the bridges are built heavy enough to stand a load of several tons, signs should be posted on each span stating the weight it will safely carry, so drivers will be forced to govern at their own risk.

Looking into the future, the road action has been done wisely, being in making the points for the new May's Landing-Somers' Road. This boulevard can be a forty-foot wide highway. Many of our old roads are becoming too narrow for the heavy travel to which they are subjected and the times are not far distant when they will have to be widened.

A study of the safety of bridges there is an other reason why county bonds should be constructed on a liberal plan, and that is the economy of a safe road. On a narrow road all vehicles pass and repass over the same tracks, gradually wearing away the roadway. On a wide road the roadway is wider and the wheels of the vehicles are less likely to pack the same tracks. The result is that the roadway is wider and the wheels of the vehicles are less likely to pack the same tracks. The result is that the roadway is wider and the wheels of the vehicles are less likely to pack the same tracks.

Some roads are so narrow that the wheels of the vehicles are less likely to pack the same tracks. The result is that the roadway is wider and the wheels of the vehicles are less likely to pack the same tracks. The result is that the roadway is wider and the wheels of the vehicles are less likely to pack the same tracks.

With the future as full of promise as it is, it is not surprising that the people of May's Landing are so anxious to improve their roads. The result is that the roadway is wider and the wheels of the vehicles are less likely to pack the same tracks. The result is that the roadway is wider and the wheels of the vehicles are less likely to pack the same tracks.

Several are the cases of adversity. It is an old true saying that "times up" the present political situation in Atlantic County. Some have been here, it is true, but although the trend of affairs has awakened the people of the County to the seriousness of maintaining the Republican party in control and not only regular and progressive in control together, but they are being joined in spirit and activity, by hundreds of men, women and children, who have the interest of the County at heart. Patriotism is oftentimes stronger than partisanship, as it always should be when the issue and the immediate government are affected, and patriotic spirit every Atlantic Countyman who wishes his county well to repudiate those who are inimical to public and private welfare.

BE HONEST

Being honest is the greater part of achievement. When you know that you're doing the best within you, you can't be downed. Self respect is an eternal life preserver. No matter how often circumstance wrecks you, you're bound to float back to solid ground again. When men strive for posts of trust they must be somewhat postlike themselves and stand steady.—Herbert Kaufman.

The Bookplate

An ex libris, or bookplate, is a small piece of paper whereon is printed the owner's name and fastened on the inside cover of a book—in other words, it is a printed slip to denote the ownership of books. A proper ex libris should have, first of all, the name, boldly and plainly printed, and a space left for the number of volumes contained in the library; then, to make it more interesting and personal, some decorative device of the owner's peculiar and individual choice as well as some favorite motto, if desired. In Europe those who have the right use family crests or armorial bearings for their ex libris.

Liberty Bell's Last Peal

On the morning of June 8, 1835, the Liberty bell, which for a century had been Philadelphia's greatest instrument for showing joy or grief, was tolled for the last time. It was tolled for Chief Justice John Marshall.

On that occasion it was badly cracked. But, broken as it was, the bell was afterward rung on great occasions, although the tones were but sorry reminders of the once powerful sound. So it happened that on Washington's birthday, 1835, the old bell was once again tolled for joy. At that time, however, the previous crack became so wide that the tones were completely broken. It was never rung again after that day.—Philadelphia Ledger.

No Nepease Old Maids

One must not go to bed to break the record for early marriages, for there every city is married in London. But then, the bridegroom is not very tall. She is married with elaborate ceremony to a tall fellow, who is then thrown into some sacred stream. The fate of the bride is a sad one, and every girl is then spared the disgrace of becoming a widow while at the same time a second husband is beneficently allowed to her later on.—London Standard.

Pensive Delay

"I never give any but useful gifts," said Mr. Scrimp.

"It must require a great deal of thought to fob off that pen," it does. I often spend so much time thinking up something useful for a friend that the occasion gets by without my giving him anything at all.—Washington Star.

Badly Expressed

Mistress greeting ready for reception.—How does my new gown look in the back, Nora?

Maid—Beautiful, miss. Sure, they'll all be delighted when you have the room.—Boston Transcript.

Meeting Trouble

When trouble has made up his mind to come and see you it's no use to bar the door, but in case he tries to come down the chimney you'd best have a fire there to give him a warm welcome.—Atlanta Constitution.

That Won

They were talking about trees. "My favorite," she said, "is the oak. It is so noble, so magnificent in its massive strength! But what is its favorite?"

"Vow," he replied.

Part of the Training

No great length of time is required to give a young doctor a wise look.

Compound Interest

All interest is payable annually or oftener, therefore there is no such thing as simple interest in the long run. One dollar at compound interest at 1 per cent per annum will double in a little less than seventy years—to be exact, it doubles in 69.66 years. As near as we can calculate, this earth is about 3,000,000,000 years old. If it took the earth 3,000,000,000 years to grow, how much will interest grow in that time? One cent at compound interest at 1 per cent per annum for 3,000,000,000 years will amount to so much that one vibration of the atoms of gold, such as large as the sun, will not then pay the interest for a billionth part of one second of time.—New York World.

Unsatisfactory Either Way

The late Joseph Miller once entertained among the train of pilgrims continually looking to his Piedmont camp, above Oakland, a young woman fortune teller. Though the young woman was both pretty and persuasive, the poet would not let her tell his fortune. He said gravely, pushing back his beaming white mane:

"No, no! A seer into the future would undoubtedly be as unsatisfactory to all of us as a glance at the past."—Exchange.

A Calendar

To the modern world a calendar is merely a harmless necessary reminder of weeks and days to be hung up on New Year's day and consulted in dating letters throughout the year. It has no such mournful sound as "calendarium" had for the ancient Romans. The original calendar of their times was the money lender's account book, so called because interest was due from the debtor on the calendar, or first day of each month. Seneca speaks of calendar as a word invented on account of human greed.

Through Child Eyes

Ellen, age three, paid her first visit to a hospital recently. Her father had undergone an operation. She had wondered where her papa was, and as she stood by his bedside she looked at him gravely.

"You've got an awful big house here, papa," she said. "Why don't you come home and live with me and mamma?"—Indianapolis News.

A Curious Notice

This curious notice was once published in Germany. At the request of Herr Wilhelm Leigson of Hunsbuck the seaman, John Leigson, who was drowned in May, 1829, on a journey from Stockholm to Hamburg in the Kaiser Friedrich, is hereby called upon by the courts to appear and report himself on or before April 1, 1881, under pain of being declared dead.

Suspicious

"Are you certain that was country sausage you sold me yesterday?" asked the old boy.

"Yes, sir," replied the butcher. "Genial country sausage, sir. Why do you ask?"

"My wife found a street car transfer in it," said the old boy, "and I was wondering how it got there."—Chicago Mail Enquirer.

Sincerity

"When there is perfect sincerity when every man is true to himself when every one strives to realize what he thinks the highest rectitude—then must all things prosper."—Herbert Spencer.

Wise Ostrich

The ostrich is not such a fool as it appears. It buries its head in the sand when pursued by its foes because, when it does so, its body resembles the ant hills which surround it, and thus it escapes observation.

Zero in Occupations

"But doesn't your friend do anything at all?" "Oh, yes. He works."—Boston Transcript.
