Cow-pune

"Hpeaking of skeeter says Harry Webb, of Wyoming, leader Lubin's cow-punchers, "Pil be tectotally lasted if you natives aint got us skinned I mile," and he paused to murder a feroclous insect. "Yes sir," he went on, "you will begin to think us cow-punchers are a soft lot; but honestly, I've roughed it many a moon out West and run up against some pretty tough propositions and these pets of yours sure put the kilbosh to the whole nembered. I was awakened by something that felt like a spike from underneath the col. inst as I was inigrating, Chug bolted from bis bed with a howl and looked around to see the Injun who shot the arrow. He asked me what fish. We slipped out of the tent, when Rusty came out getting into his clothes on the run and yelling murder. He disappeared down the road in a cloud of dust: Then things began to happen and thug and I had to jump out of the road to let the cow-puncher stan pede pass. Most of them reached the Landing in about five minutes, one playing out and camping out along the road, while we spent the night in a barn dwelling upon the perplexitles of picture-taking in the Jersey jungles. Now every evening about sunset a long line of cow-punchers with blankets on their backs files towards Gravelly Run searching for peace from the bugs and balm for wounded feelings that anything so small as a mosquito

A certain life-long resident of the town who worries about mosquitoes as much as he does about his bank stock took a party of fishermen pickerel a few days ago. The party found more mosquitoes than anything else and finally, exasperated by their guide's indifference to the pests, one turned to him no very politely and asked him how he stood these infernal mosquitoes," ain't enough around here to bother anybody." "I'll give you ten dollars if you can take off your shirt and keep still for ten minutes," was the augry reply.

The guide took up the offer and never budged. At the end or eight minutes one of the party, seeing the ten was as good as lost, cook of nsh-hook and sneaking quietly up to the prostrate man begun to prick him on the shoulders. The fellow's muscles began to twitch just a little and then he began to of her Sunday school class Thursday evening squirm. Finally he raised his head from his arms and asked:

ELKS REIGNED SUPREME

IN CITY BY THE SEA GORGEOUS STREET PARADE

ENDED REUNION

Thousands of "Hello Bills" In vaded Atlantic City From Near And Far-Sullivan Elected Exalted Ruler of Grand Lodge.

Elkdom reigned supreme in Atlantic City during the 'past week, the annual convention of the "Hello Bills" ending Thursday afternoon in a grand street parade in which five thousand Elks joined, witnessed, by neventy-five thousand speciators, The was gorgeously decorated in purple and white the lodge colors, American flags and bunting, Francis Lynham to Ray Strouse, 25x00 ft. It was by far the most spectacular parade ever Bessle Mason to Blias R. Morse, 50x140 R. East miles and was an hour and forty minutes passing the reviewing stand, Scores of people rent down from this place to witness the parade. Nothing but praise for the manner in which they were entertained was heard rom the visiting Elks, who were loud in their praise of the resort. The reviewing stand was at Tennessee and diantic Avenues and there the parade was viewed by Retiring Grand-Exalted Ruler August Hermann, Col. John P. Bullivan, his uccessor, and all the officers of the Grand Lodge. The ends of the earth were represented in the parade, Elks coming all the way from Manila and Ban Juan, as well as the Pacific count. One of the most impressive features of the parade occurred when the famous giee club reviewing stand and sang "The Star-Spangled Banner," thousands of spectators uncovered their heads, and then cheered as the ciul resumed its march. Grand Esquire James R. Sicholson, of Springfield, Mass., was chief marshal of the parade, and his chief alde was William J. Storck, of Atlantic City. Alsong their aides was Recorder of Deeds William S. Vare, who was cheered when he passed the reviewing

George F.Curry, George T. Lippincott, the Rev. John McMullin, County Clerk Samuel Kirby, Samuel Hanstein, Congressman John J. Gard ner and Frank F. Paterson, of Camden Atlantic City Lodge No. 278 held the post of honor in the parade, acting as escort to Chief Marshal James R. Nicholson. There were two hundred men in line wearing a uniform consisting of complete white flannel suits, while caps with purple bands and purple neckties, The grand lodge met Thursday evening or the Bleel Pier, installed Grand Exalted Ruler

"Probing train wreck" reads a headline. It ought to be proped, and proped to the bottom. It will not always do to lay the blame on the brakeman, the engineer or other employeeofftimes the fault fles hidden deeper still. Poor or outworn equipment, overworked employees and other things are sometimes at fault.

If there is one place at the County Capitol that demands a paved walk, it is along Farra gut Avenue between the Court House Station. and the County buildings. At this improve ment, is for the benefit of persons having business at the Court House and County offices it seems proper that the County should Atlantic City acquitted berself nobly in the entertainment of the Eliks' convention. No other city can compare with the Queen Besort in herability to entertain visitors, both as to hotel accomodations and diversions. It was one of the biggest spilt best conventions ever hold in the resort and one of the greatest gatherings from many points of view the Best People On Marth ever enjoyed.

In spite of the multiplicity of signbourds nine out of ten autolsts who do not know the road stop at the intersection of the Egg Harbor | EDWARDS | FLORAL HALL Co., Boulevard with Main Street to ask for direc Either the signposts are inadequate, or the autoists are an unusually dumb lot Perhaps the numerous signs cause confusion and doubtless a single signpost erected at the Northwest corner of the Intersection free of advertising would facilitate matters.

Tiring of the delay over improving th May's Landing Titekahoe road, Cane May 'ounty "butted in" and at the direction of the Road Commission is placing the road in pass able shape until the Atlantic County Free holders are ready to proceed with the construction of the projected boulevard. Although the road lies in this County, it is of vastly re importance to Cape May County than to Atlantic as it materially effects auto travel to resorts in the former. Far from feeling any resentment at the apparent interference of Cape May, the Freeholders of this County are glad the work is being done and will endeavor to have the difficulties in the way of the boulevard byercome by the time the temporary repairs have outlived their usefulness.

In Sheriff E. L. Johnson the people of Atlanhe County have an official worthy of highest trust and confidence. He has conducted the George Hoenes, Agent, office as they desired 41 conducted when they elected him, and performed his duties in an upright, straightforward manner, for the best interests of all people of the County. To hold a public office is to invite criticism and Sheriff Johnson is no exception, for it is impossible to to please everybody; but in his service he has won the respect and commendation of the people of the County. His personal integrity and probity have never been questioned. He tas been true freshis political policies, true to the cruse of justice and true to the people of Affantic County, who honor and respect bind us a gentleman, a loyal Republican and a pain taking and conscientious official.

The said death of a young woman in Lake Lenape brings home to us not only the urgency ingraution in going into the water in a heated ondition. Good swimmers in the best of health often meet death by plunging into water when their bodies are overheated, the sudden chilling of the body's surface sending t rush of blood to the heart and causing puralysis of that organ. In this event knowledge may be the means of a mulck rescue on the part of companions. If young people would put half the time to mastering the art of keep ing affoat they devote to dancing, there would be far fewer deaths from drowning. Those who cannot swim or who are learning the art should never go into the water unless someone
