VAUDEVILLE OUTDONE BY COMEDY AND TRAGEDY AT COUNTY COURT BAR

FOOT-WASH PARSON HELD BY CONVERTS AS 'ONE OF TRINITY'

FORCED TO CRIME SAYS THIEF

Midsummer Session Reveals Destructive Cruelty of Turner's Flock -- Aged Man Who Has Spent Half of Life Behind Bars Bares Cruel Attitude of Public Toward Ex-Convicts.

Elder "Wes" Turner, the "Foot-wash Parson," whose "cathedral" of eight, mixed-black and white, has been the bane of Pleasantville for the past year, was arraigned before Judge C. L. Cole yesterday and owing to lack of corroborative of the State's lone witness was acquitted of a statutory offence.

The highest-paid celebrity of vaudeville never put anything across to equal their indomitable share of religion and the cruelty of some people. Linda Lee, the colored girl who complained of the "Parson's" conduct, said he held both as "one of the Trinity." She testified that Turner sent her to collect money from men, "He gave me lessons how to get money from men," she cried, sobbing, "and told me I could get them into church by loving them—that I had to do it or die. I'm afraid of my life! If he picked me up and threw me into the ocean he has such influence over me that I'd have to say 'Amen'!"

In discharging Turner Judge Cole remarked that though there was no doubt in his mind that the defendant was guilty, that the State's evidence was not strong enough to warrant conviction and gave him the benefit of the doubt. The prosecution stayed Turner as a menace to the community.

The tragedy of a prison-branded man's life was bared yesterday in the trial of John P. Manning, said to be one of the worst petty thieves in the country, who since 1884 has spent a score of years in prisons and penitentiaries for various thefts. Also the efficacy of the Bettison system of criminal records was exemplified. When Manning was arrested his measurements were taken and sent to Washington and in a few days the police had his long record, to which he confessed.

Manning pleaded his own case and his story had bare the despicableness in which our penal system leaves discharged prisoners. Briefly he related how he had been sent out into the world after serving time, a nickel or perhaps a few dollars in his pockets, poorly clothed; how he lost job after job when some one recognized him; how he was haled to police quarters on mere suspicion. Able to follow several occupations he learned in jail none of them were open to him on the outside. He made no attempt to excuse his last theft, that of some waving apparel as a present to a girl, freely acknowledging everything. He said he was surprised that the police had found his record so quickly, and only begged the Court to consider his fifty-two years and not to give him a long term. Judge Cole sentenced him to not less than one or more than three years in State Prison. Grace Houston, arrested with Manning, was exonerated of participation in the theft and discharged.

Jacob Ulitzky, who last week was found guilty of pickpocketing by a jury was ordered to pay a fine of $50 by Judge Cole Tuesday last and in addition, return the sum of $200 to Attorney William Davis of Elizabeth, Pa. The fine and return will be deducted from the $150 bond deposited as bail in Ulitzky's case. Ulitzky forfeited his bail three weeks ago, but judgment was rendered by Judge Cole. The police recovered $25 of Davis' money at Ulitzky's home in Philadelphia, which Davis declared had been left with his wife by a man named Cohen, who never came back for it.

George Smith, a Germantown colored boy of seventeen, was ordered to leave the State after the court had suspended sentence on him, following conviction of the robbery of a power boat in Atlantic City. Smith announced a gasoline launch of Atlantic City and was proceeding down the Thoroughfare to the sea for the purpose, he said of making an ocean trip to Philadelphia, as he was "broken" and wanted to get back to the city.

A similar sentence was meted out to Joseph Lawrence and Alfred Smith, who operated Knutche's Hotel a week ago for the purpose of pilfering.

Engene Shellebourne was convicted of assault and battery on Minnie Payne and sentence suspended.

Julian Fugitt, colored, was sentenced to a term of three months in the County Jail for assault.

William Mannery, accused of wife-beating, who served four months before for a similar offence, unexpectedly obtained his freedom when the Prosecutor stated the woman had been found unharmed the night before when the subpoena was served. He denied the charge and the Court gave him the benefit of the doubt.

William Hart, colored, was adjudged guilty of threatening to kill Laurn Hart, his common-law wife, after a quarrel in which she left his house. Sentence was reserved.

LAWYERS PLEAD NOT GUILTY TO CRIMINAL CHARGE

Nutter and Lightfoot, Colored Attorneys, To Be Tried.

Spectators in Court witnessed a novel sight yesterday morning when two attorneys, Isaac Nutter and James Lightfoot, two colored members of the bar, were arraigned before Judge Cole on an indictment charging them with robbing and assaulting a prisoner to escape. They both pleaded not guilty to the charge and were put under bonds for their appearance when wanted. Judge Cole will likely hear the case in September as there will be no more jury trials this month. They will be represented by ex-judge E. A. Higgin and a new trial is promised.

Red Men of the Iowahaw Tribe of Glassboro are interesting the numerous tribes in a big powwow on August 29. Invitations have been sent to all the tribes between Camden and Atlantic City and it is expected that there will be a turnout of 1,000 braves. Narragansett Tribe of this place will be represented. A baby show is to be held in the afternoon and in the evening there will be a parade. Several prizes are to be offered. The parade will be followed by a fireworks display.

ILLEGAL TO EMPLOY CHILD WITHOUT SCHOOL CERTIFICATE

County Supt. Points Out To Employers
Law's Requirements.

County Superintendent of Public Schools Henry M. Crossman has made the following announcement regarding the hiring of children of school age:

"It appears that many of the manufacturers and some of the Boards of Education are in doubt as to just what must be done in the matter of letting age certificates."

"A child who holds a certificate issued prior to 1911 permitting it to leave school and go to work is not required to secure a new age and schooling certificate. The certificate heretofore issued is sufficient. The fact that the schools are closed for vacation does not permit a child to go to work without first securing an age and schooling certificate."

"To the chief attendance officer may be delegated the power of securing the proofs required before an age or schooling certificate is issued, but the certificate must be issued by the supervisor of exemption certificates."

"Before an age or schooling certificate or an age and working certificate is issued the child must furnish a certificate from the medical inspector certifying that it is physically able to be employed in any of the occupations in which a child the ages of fourteen and sixteen may be legally employed."

"When an age and schooling certificates are granted, there must be given the child to whom it issued a blank employee's certificate, which certificate will be filled out by the employer and filed with the supervisor of school exemption certificates."

CRANDALL SLIPS ONE OVER.

Democratic lawyers who are bucking C. C. Shinn to succeed Judge Clarence L. Cole as County Judge, are considerably peevish at the fact one put over on them Wednesday by John J. Crandall, a veteran member of the bar.

Several lawyers got up an automobile delegation to Trenton to extoll the virtues of Shinn to the governor. Crandall, however, is to be in favor of Shinn's appointment, was one of those invited and he enjoyed the trip immensely.

After all the others had made their talk, Shinn, Crandall was invited to give his endorsement. Much to everybody's surprise, he informed the governor that he favored the appointment of Henry W. Lewis.

The evening worship in the Methodist Episcopal Church last Sunday, conducted by the women, was well attended. "It was inspirational indeed," says the Rev. Newton Lyon, pastor. To-morrow evening the men will have another charge. "Come and worship God with us" is the invitation extended by the pastor.

SCHOOL BUILDING CODE MODIFIED.

The State Board of Education has modified its building code so as to permit the erection of four school buildings, two storied high and containing eight rooms, while the stars must be five foot. This will be plenty to rural districts who have been fighting for the code. Another modification provides that whereas school is to be remodeled, the code applies only to additions to the building.

FLOATED DOWN THE RIVER NEATH THE MOONLIT SKY

Happy On Egg Harbor's Bosom Young Folk Play Awhile.

Happy down the winding stream, slinging song and banjo skeletons, underneath the bright moonlight, cracking jokes amidst merry thoughts, crowded on a rustic seat, many young folk went a-sitting Thursday evening last to hear further comedy, "unavailing!" Armchair's motor lowered them down and brought them back without a mishap, save one, memory-making clown who spilled a lump in his lap, the sadness of the moonlight rays, drove one poor pony in a frenzy; in verse he essayed to amuse—blame attach, there banbury!

Who they were you'll find hereafter if this doggerel you survive, keep your nerve and spruce your laughter and be glad you're still alive!

AGEE BEFORE BOARD ON FARMERS' BEHALF

And Two Million Trout Are In Ponds
At State Hatchery.

Will Request Appropriation Wednesday For County Demonstrator—Vocational School Also Seeks Bounty of Freeloaders.

Prof. Alva Agee, backed by representatives of County farmers' organizations, will appear before the Board of Chosen Freeholders Wednesday next at their regular monthly meeting to be held in Memorial Hall, Atlantic City, and ask for an appropriation to defray the salary and expenses of a County Farm Demonstrator. At the same time application will be made by the Vocational School Board with which to establish a band.

Great interest is being taken by sportsmen in the success of quail breeding, which is largely experimental. The Commission now has about 900 quail chicks, healthy and growing, and about the same number of eggs are in the course of incubation under hatching pens and others under incubators. The eggs are first placed under the hatching pens and after a few days are placed in the incubators, a method that seems to be the most successful of any yet attempted.

Many fine rabbits are now on the preserve ready for distribution, but the Commission is arranging to get thousands from Kentucky, where the little bunnies have become a nuisance owing to drought and are wreaking havoc on farm crops. Permission will be given by the Kentucky authorities to the New Jersey Commission to have several thousand trapped.

Considerable interest is being manifested, not only by sportsmen, but by those states as well, in the State Hatchery. The annual meeting of the County Board of Agriculture, to be held Thursday at the Court House, some of the projects were not yet submitted and in one instance that of Pleasantville, the Assessors' books were turned over to the hatchery with instructions to make a further adjustment.

Total valuations estimated for this year, with last year's for comparison, were as follows:
