USE OF WATER RESTRICTED.

Excessive Demand on Town System

Reduces Standpipe Pressure. sprinkling lawns, roads and other purposes other than house supply makes it impossible to maintain a high pressure in the standpipe at all times, owing parly to the severe drought, the Township Committee, at its regular August meeting held Saturday evening last at Library Hall, passed a resolution restricting eight in the morning and five to eight in the evening, under penalty of having the water turned off without further notice. The resolution was made following a report of Supt. John Abbott of the Water Works.

Attention of the committee was also directed to the harmful practice of allowing water to run all night and the authorities will take immediate steps to remedy this evil. A good pressure at the standpipe at all times is essential to maintain efficient fire protection and low insurance rates. Practically the same resolution was recently passed at Hammon, as follows: ton by the City Council of that place. Pressure will be maintained during the day by running p. m. The excessive use of water after this hour must be prohibited say the authorities in order to maintain the high standpipe pressure so essential to the protection of property from

GOUNTY BOARD DECLINES TO BUILD NEW BRIDGE

ON GROUNDS OF EXPENSE SAY FREEHOLDERS.

Salaries of County Election Board Members Raised-Pass Resolution Relative to Route of Ocean Boulevard.

At the August meeting Wednesday last of the Board of Chosen Fseeholders, held here at the Court House, a proposition to build a new bridge at Albany Avenue, where the Meadow Boulevard enters the resort, was turned down on the ground of expense by a vote of fifteen to ten. The present bridge is only sixteen feet wide, and the plans for the proposed bridge called for a span over the thoroughfare sixty feet in width, the estimated cost of such a structure being $115,000. Col. Walter E. Edge and other prominent Atlantic City men were present to advocate the building of the new structure, which is much needed but cannot be constructed at present owing to other heavy expenditures of the County for various im-

The Freeholders passed a resolution asking Col. Gilkyson, State Road Commissioner, to use his influence towards having the route of the proposed Ocean Boulevard changed to include the Old Shore Road, in order to have the State road as near Atlantic City as possible. County would only confuse and delay a permanent improvement of this highway." Salaries of the members of the County Board of Registry and Elections were raised at the meeting to $300 per annum, and the remuneration of the clerk of the board fixed at $400. A Woman Is Saved From a False Step.

ับสมสมสมสมสมสมสมสมสมสมสมสมสมเด็ No one could understand why it was that Helen Ayer, the wife of an excellent man and the mether of a lovely boy six years old, fell under the iniluence of Schupler Onigley, with nothing except swagger and cheek to rec ommend him. When Quigley first began to pay attention to Mrs. Ayer her husband did not appear to notice it. The truth is he saw that his wife was drifting away from him and he dared not oppose her, forring that by his very opposition he might bring about a catastrophe. If he permitted

But during the game he suddenly arose from the table, declaring that he would not play with a cheat, making it plain that Quigley was the man referred to.

Coligley, who was perfectly innocent of the charge, retorted. High words followed, and Ayer struck him Quigley was prevented from returning the blow by the others, who protested ugainst the men fighting under the host's roof about a matter of cheating at cards, thereby bringing a scandal upon the house and the party.

This left Quigley not only under a disgraceful charge, but as having received a blow from Ayer that he had not returned. Under the regime of half a century or more ago, he would have been chilged to challenge Ayer or be cut by his friends. Living in the twentieth century he was not obliged to the anything. He let the matter drop. He did not call at Ayer's house may man, but he wet Mrs. Ayer when she went-out on the street and at the houses of mutual friends. All he said to her about his trouble with her husband was that Ayer had accused him of cheating at cards and that every member of the party present had exonorated him of the charge And so it was that Russell Ayer by trying to get rid of the man who was really his wife's worst enemy, and at the same time protect her good name, only made binself appear to her a very unjust and ignoble person. She thought that she was taking care of her reputation by never being with Quigley, except when others were present. But she found it difficult to live with one man as his wife and have a love affair-though devoid of criminality with another on Quigley by telling a number of Quigley's friends that he (Ayer) had struck him and Quigley and not had the manliness to resent the blow

The situation was not pleasing to any one of the three persons involved. Quigley represented to Mrs. Ayer that he was fefraining from resenting her husband's insults on her account and begged her to vindicate him by securing a divorce and marrying him. She was distressed, feeling that this was due Quicker but freading to take a step that would separate her from her husband and her child

One day Ayer ouet Outster on the street. Each was walking with a friend. As they passed Ayer said loud enough for Quig'ey and his companion to hear "There goes a coward I am trying to

This was too much for Quigley, who furned and said, 'Well, we'll have it

"Very welk" replied Ayer "Graw." Taking a revolver from his pocket be raised it, cooking it at the same time. ■ But since Quigley was unarmed there was no night "You can't escape no with a bloody nose," said Aver, "It's life or death Quigley began to feel that he could no longer brook these insults. Some of nis friends were telling him that Ayer Atlanta City South Carolina Avenue Station). was determined in the matter and it Phasantville might better be settled sooner than later. They advised him to challenge Ayer and have it over with. All supposed that the origin of the matter was at the card table. challenge

This staggered Quigley, for it meant death probably to both of the parties. He sent a message to Ayer asking what he could do to avert the issue.

Ayer replied in a sealed note telling him that he must neither speak nor write to Mrs. Ayer ngain. Quigley replied that Mrs. Ager had applied for a divorce and had consented to marry him as soon as it was obtained. To this Ayer replied that on his part the affair would be dropped. But he did not do this till he had looked into the court records and found that his wife had the day before applied for a sep-

When Aver went home that evening he found his wife gone. His little boy asked him what was the matter with mamma. She had cried and kissed him all the morning, then had gone out and hadn't come back. Wouldn't papa go and bring her back?

But day after day, week after week, month after month, passed and mamma did not return. She was residing in a city where divorce is made easy. The child was obliged to content himself with his nurse during the day, but the matter to work itself out perhaps whenever his father was not at his the wife and mother would in time office he supplied so far as possible the tire of her new fancy and realize the place of the mother. While it was known to the Ayers' Intimate friends that Helen was suing for a divorce, it was not known that she was doing so in order to marry Ouigley Divorces usually make it appear that great wrongs are committed by one or both parties. We are horrified at tales of cruelty, desertion, all kinds of inhumanities While reading of them we would suppose that after such suffering neither party will ever again consent to wear the chains of wedlock. was seized with an irresistible desire to see her boy once more before taking the irretrievable step. She knew that her husband was usually at his office at the time and she would not meet him. Throwing caution to the winds, she called a carriage, alighted near her former home, entered and ran upstairs to find her son.

She came upon a melancholy sight. Her boy was lying on a bed, pale and wan, while his father was bending:

"Oh, why dldn't you tell me? Why didn't you send for me?" she wailed.

GOOD HUMOR.

Laughter has sunshine in it. What sunshine is to earth good humor is to man. Take the smile and the laugh away and it would be the end of man. Men can't fight while they enjoy a joke. Death itself recoils from the laugh. The man in a good humer has an enormous advantage over the man who is angry. Good humor, with the smile and the laugh, is sunshine in which objects are plain and distortion disappears and wherein phantoms become nothing.

How the Gorilla Walka. The gorilla has not only a crouching habit, but he walks on all four of his legs and has the motion of most anadrupeds, using his right arm and left leg at the same time, and alternates with the left arm and right leg. It is not exactly a walk or a tret, but a kind of ambling gait, while the chimpanzee uses his arms as crutches, but lifts one foot from the ground a little place the palm of the hand on the Blunderbuss. In using the word "blunderbuss" we unconsciously imply a sense of disparagement for the shooting powers of our forefathers contrasted with the precision of the modern rifle. The word itself has, however, a terrible enough meaning and disdains all connection with "blunder." "Blunderbuss." in fact, as we have it, is a strange corruption-perhaps not altogether untinged with the sense and and of "blunder"-of the old Dutch word "donderbuss," which can be literally translated into the English "thunder-box" or "thunder barrel."

WOMEN IN BUSINESS

SCHOOL

Of the avenues of employment open to young women there is none more desireable than that of amanuensis, and its higher development, the private secre-
