By plans now under consideration, the road would be shifted to the northerly side of the railroad and run down to Absecon crossing along the railroad's right of way.

Action has been precipitated by the condition of the present bridge at Sugar Hill, which is rapidly weakening under heavy traffic.

Increasing auto travel will be greatly safeguarded by the change, it is pointed out, and the danger of accidents in the grade crossings...

FARM DEMONSTRATION DEPARTMENT NEWS

Irrigation Expert Inspects County Farms and Offers Services To All Who Contemplate Establishment of Plant—Marketing Peaches.

Mr. Milo B. Williams, Irrigation Engineer from Washington, who is one of the two irrigation specialists having all the territory east of the Mississippi River and assists the demonstrators in the surveying and laying out of their plans, spent Wednesday and Thursday, August 18 and 19, going over Atlantic County with the demonstrators.

Since last week, when Mr. Williams made a tour here, a number of calls have come to the office asking for information along irrigation lines. Mr. Williams understands the irrigation problem from beginning to end. He has not only engineered a number of plants in New Jersey but has had charge of a number of plants in other states.

Even though this has been an extremely wet summer, we found many farmers who were anxious to talk irrigation. They realized that if they could put lettuce as well as some other vegetables on the table, they would be able to pay their neighbors it would be a big item.

After looking over a number of fields, Mr. Williams told the farmers that if they decided to install a plant to call on Mr. Douglas, County Demonstrator, and he would take the measurements of the field and forward to him, and from them he would draw up the plans and send to the farmers.

As soon as the fact became evident that there would be a tremendous peach crop the Experiment Station urged Vineland peach growers to co-operate and arrange for shipments in car load lots. Clean fruit of high quality was admitted to be an important factor in order to secure good prices in a season of such a heavy crop.

A meeting of the growers was held early in April last when the trees were in bloom and through the afternoon started to insure fruit free from disease at shipping time.

The next important movement of the growers was to secure new crates so that the fruit could be packed in an attractive manner. These were purchased in car lots so that the growers could secure them at the lowest possible rate.

To make the venture successful, however, it was necessary to have a set of rules which each member would agree to observe and which would be enforced by the sales agent. The following conditions were accepted by the growers: the fruit to be practically free from disease; the fruit to be packed in new Georgia carriers properly labeled; a standard system of packing as suggested by the horticulturist of the experiment station be adopted; a minimum number of 40 crates to be accepted as a shipment; the expenses of the sales agent, including salary, to be borne pro rata by the members; expenses for loading and unloading crates to be charged on the basis of the number of crates shipped by each grower; each member to deposit his check with the secretary-treasurer of the association at the opening of the season to cover his share of the expenses of the sales agent; each member to deposit a check each week covering any charges against his marketing and loading.

The movement is now well under way. Ten carloads of fruit were shipped the first week. As the fruit is shipped in car lots the growers are saving a little more than 3-1/2 cents per crate for freight between Vineland and New York which amounted to more than $300 on the first week's shipment. The car lots are also sold on a 7 per cent. commission basis, a reduction of 3 per cent. over the former arrangement. By this shipping co-operatively in car lots growers are reducing the cost of freight and commissions at least 50 per cent. This is an amount to considerably more on long-distance shipments and does not take into account the added advantage the growers have of a much wider distribution of their fruit than has been possible under the old method.

Requirements outlined for sowing timothy declare that seed when sown alone in August for mowing should be at the rate of twenty pounds per acre. Mixtures of timothy and clover are recommended because they cover the soil better and the timothy is a better winter hardy. While the selling price is usually a little less the increase in yield is sufficient to cover this difference. Twelve pounds of timothy, six pounds of red clover and two pounds of alfalfa is suggested for having given good results. Warning is given however that when so much seed is sown an abundance of plant food in available form should be present.

For home use, other mixtures are suggested. A larger number of grasses insure a thick sward, a larger yield and often a better quality of hay. In some sections of the state alfalfa seed is sold in one or two pounds of alfalfa seed for each acre. This secures inoculation for alfalfa and the alfalfa adds somewhat by improving the soil.

Seeding should be made early enough to insure a good growth before winter. In general the middle of August is designated as the best time for New Jersey; a week earlier in northern New Jersey and a week or ten days later in southern New Jersey. The New Jersey Station advises against sowing or mowing before winter even if a heavy growth is made during the fall.

The first reason for having good milk cows on the farm comes from the fact that they provide the cheapest, best and most wholesome food for the family. Their value is hard to estimate when we consider the amount saved on the bills. Their produce is a superior article for many purposes, especially for the baby. In fact, there is no economic way of doing without plenty of good milk cows on the farm.

Many now realize the fact that the growing of pasture grasses and other crops that make healthy, vigorous hogs of good quality is the basic factor in successful pork production. They are raising hogs at a big profit. Of course those who are successful realize the fact that a certain amount of grain feed is needed to grow pigs with a greater profit, but they use this grain only as a supplement to the feeds harvested by the hogs in the pastures and fields.

The annual Agricultural field meeting will take place this year on Sept. 9, at College Farm, New Brunswick, under the auspices of the State Polytechnic Association.

Sept. 9 is the annual Farmers' Field Day while the 10th and 11th are devoted entirely to poultry. Combining these two events the program for the three days will be made unusually interesting.

If any one desiring a detailed program will send a card to the Demonstrator's office one will be forwarded.

PUBLIC INTEREST KEEN IN SUFFRAGE QUESTION

Plans Completed For Special Election On October 19.

Preliminary arrangements for the special election to be held Tuesday, October 19th, for the adoption or rejection of the amendment to the Constitution which would allow to women of New Jersey one year and of the two other constitutional amendments have been completed by the Secretary of State.

All of the proposed amendments to be voted upon are important, but the greatest interest is in the woman suffrage proposition. A special act was passed which will allow the suffragists and the anti to submit to the County Board of Elections a list of persons whom they desire to act as watchers at the polls on the day of the election.

The effect of the adoption of the proposed amendment relating to suffrage will be to extend the right of suffrage to every female citizen of the age of 21 years who shall have been a resident one year and of the first county in which she claims her vote, five months, next before the election, except that a female citizen by marriage shall not be entitled to vote unless she shall have been a resident of the United States five years next before the election.

The effect of the adoption of the amendment relating to the method of amending the constitution will be to permit the submission of amendments distinct from and similar to those submitted by the people, but will still prevent the submission of similar or like amendments relating to the same subject within the five years, and to make plain the meaning of meaning of this clause of the constitution.

The effect of the adoption of the third amendment, known as the "excess condemnation amendment," will enable the Legislature in proper case to grant to the State and to the county and municipal authorities power to take, paying full compensation therefor, not by the land, but by the actual improvement, but in addition, these amendments will so much as will make, suitable building, lots abutting on the improvements.

The Attorney General has filed with the Secretary of State his summary of the proposed amendments. Six hundred thousand copies of this summary will be printed under the supervision of the Secretary of State and forwarded to the various County Clerks who will in turn distribute it to the municipal clerks and by the municipal clerks they will be mailed to every voter in the State. The Secretary of State has also prepared and will distribute in the above matter 600,000 copies of the official ballots, as well as 600,000 copies of the sample ballots together with several thousand copies of the act relating to the special election.

Communicated. The regular meeting of the May's Landing Suffrage League will be held at the residence of Mrs. George W. Crull, Cape May Avenue, between 4th and 5th Streets, Tuesday evening next, at eight o'clock.

We will have another meeting by the line this going to press, which will have been held at the home of Mrs. Henry Kraus, when the report of our delegates will be read.

We would like to have all women who are interested in this movement to attend the private meetings whether they desire to become members or not, as we consider it every woman's duty to inform and enlighten herself before she takes sides with us or the anti.

It is not so much a matter of winning the vote as it is of needing the vote. Not a matter of Will but of Necessity. Therefore we feel it our duty to study up the matter and would like all women to become members and active workers.

Women naturally look to better moral conditions, better sanitary conditions and without "Equal Suffrage" cannot do much to improve these conditions. It is not often the case that a woman is an incubator to a man, on the contrary she has ever been a help; why then should she not aid in the affairs of the state, if it is because they wish to shield us from conditions on the public streets. Or, is it possible that there is more swearing and profanity at the polls than one hears on the streets? It is doubtful!

Women Jurors—horror! Not on a jury with a man—impossible! Woman on a jury with a man? Nothing is either good or bad but what makes sense. It is not so much a matter of winning the vote as it is of needing the vote. Not a matter of Will but of Necessity. Therefore we feel it our duty to study up the matter and would like all women to become members and active workers.

Cape May Politics. Former Senator Robert H. Hand, of Cape May, has issued a statement that he is not a candidate for the State Senate. He served from 1886 to 1894 and from 1907 to 1913. He says in his letter that others with experience should be promoted. So far but one petition has been filed for the Republican nomination, and that by Assemblyman Lewis T. Stevens.

Fielder's Partisanship. It is anything but flattering to the citizenship and especially to the bar of Cape May County that Governor Fielder should feel under the necessity of going to New Jersey to find an appointee to the Prosecuting Office of Cape May. True, there are lawyers and good ones in that county, but they were reputedly of the unpardonable offense of being Republicans and Governor Fielder, as a narrow partisan as ever met in the Executive chair, would rather go to Camden county, a hundred miles away, to get a Democrat for Prosecutor than appoint a Republican lawyer to the place, even though the latter were of high professional standing and far better acquainted with county conditions.—Mt.
