Second District Congressional Con-

vention Call. Pursuant to the authority vested in us by the rules of the Republican Party, we hereby call upon the Republican voters of Atlantic, Burlington, Cape May and Cumberland Counties, comprising the Second Congressional District of the State of New Jersey, to elect delegates to a Convention to be held at Cape May Hotel, Unpersian Unity, N. J., on Thursday, the 15th day of September, 1910, at 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the House of Representatives of the United States for the Second Congressional District of New Jersey, to be voted for at the next general election to be held on November the 8th, 1910.

The basis of representation under this call will be one delegate for each one hundred Republican votes cast at the last Gubernatorial Election for the Gubernatorial candidate, andone delegate for each fraction thereof exceeding forty votes. The said delegates from each County will be apportioned among the several sub-divisions of the Counties by the representative chairman of the several County Committees. The number of delegates to which each County is entitled under this call will be as follows

Atlantic, sixty-one; Burlington, sixty-six Cape May, twenty-five. Cumberland, fifty The delegates to said convention shall be elected at the primaries to be held on Tuesday. the 13th day of September, 1910.

By order of the Republican Committee of the Second Congressional District. Louis Kuehnle, Thomas J. Alcott.

Morris Dayis, Members of the Republican Committee of the Second Congressional District. Dated August 6th, 1910.

Extensive advertising in the newspaper leaves voters no excuse for not knowing where The advertisements will appear in almost every newspaper in prominent places. Al voters should keep in mind the date of the primaries, September 13, and be on hand t support the nomination of candidates.

The man who takes pleasure and pride in his work is the one who makes good. The ear penter who makes a close joint, the mechanic who cuts steel to the thousandth part of an inch, the farmer who raises good crops where poor ones grew before, even the common laborer who does his task neatly and effectively, are the ones who get jobs and hold Labor Day is significant of the esteem in which the man who earns his dally bread by the sweat of his brow is held in this country. It is a day set apart in recognition of the Nation's real workers, the men who make the backbone of the country. It is fitting that it should be observed by working-men in an appropriate manner. This is possible where laborers have united into organisations for the protection of their common rights-the only way, it seems, in which they can safeguard their interests against the tyranny of capital. Let the national emblem be raised next Monday in honor of our working-men and let all d) honor unto the "heroes in homespun," the men who battle, not for the glory of the Na- relative-a big, newsy letter at the cost of a tion, but for its very life.

is learn that there is at least one dreaded disease 13 that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh 16 Cure is the only positive cure now known to 18 the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a con-9 stitutional disease, requires a constitutional 54 treatment. Hall's Catarrh t'ure is taken in-16 ternally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. PEIRCE SCHOOL

Of the avenues of employment open to young women there is none more desireable than that of amanuensis, and its higher development, the private secretary. The duties are pleasant, the hours of employment reasonable, and the remuneration, even of those of average ability, is good, while those of more than average ability or industry command salaries which are unattainable in other lines of work.

We would like to send to every young woman a booklet describing our shorthand and secretarial courses. Send us your name.

How He Got His Start In His Profession.

ี้ปัสสัสสัสสัสสัสสัสสัสสัสสัสสัสสัสสัส James Maitland, son of an admiral in the U.S navy, fell in love with and married Mlle Julie de Lavalle, the daughter of a French diplomat who had spent many years in the French service, a considerable portion of which time he resided in Washington. M. de Lavalle never represented his country as ambassador; he was an adept at secret methods then in vogue between nations, but, since the open diplomacy of the late Secretary Hay, now largely done away with. When any quick Machiavellian work was to be executed it fell to Lavalie. Maitland and Mlle. de Lavalle were married while the groom was employed in the state department. At the time the Panama canal was being located and there was any amount of chicanery perpetrated both as to its location and the prevention of its location both by Central and North Americans. Then came young Maitland's opportunity. One morning the secretary sent for him, handed him a di-patch and told him that he wishconsul at Vera Craz, who would see that it reached its destination

Maitland took the dispatch-it was placed in an official envelope of the state department addressed to the fonsul- and was about to leave when the secretary said to him:

"It is essential that the information contained in that envelope reaches our consul in Vera Cruz on or before the 13th. After that date it will be too late. It is well that you should know that its prompt delivery will involve the making or the failure to make millions of dollars by certain capitalists. You will therefore be very guarded in speaking of your mission and watch well the dispatch. I send if to Vern Cruz by you in order that no one in this country may know its ultimate destination. Nevertheless there have them right here in the state department. Be careful, and good luck to you."

When Maitland went home and with the exhibaration of youth told his wife of his mission, its importance, considering the interests involved, and all that, she failed to show a similar enthusiasm.

"What is it, pet?" he said. "You den't seem pleased." "Jimmie," she replied, "you will never get it through. "Why not? "They will steal it from you."

"What makes you think so, Julie?" "From a little girl I have heard my father tell the ways people take to outwit one another. I know all about it. You know nothing."

However, the little woman packed her husband's suit case all the baggage he proposed to take—then took the dispatch to the library, and when she returned handed her husband a box of cigars. He opened it and removed the top layers and below was an envelope addressed to Senera Banchez, Mexico City, in Mme. Mahland's own

"Little one, you're a brick," said the young diplomat. "I see your scheme. It would never do to leave the dispatch in my suit case under cover of a state department envelope, would it?" "No. Now, Jimmie, do be careful of the suit case and don't let it out of

He reached New York during the afternoon and went at once on board the steamer which was to sail early the next morning. He was about to lock his stateroom door on the suit case, when, remembering that there might be other keys that would unlock it, he took the dispatch out from under the cigars and put it in his pocket. If he was followed, with a view of stealing the document, his baggage was look for it. In order to discover if the case had been opened for the purpose, in replacing the cigars he laid all of those on the top row with the ends in

The next morning Maitland found himself out on the Atlantic ocean heading for the Gulf of Mexico. He walked the fleck alone, having resolved not to make a single acquaintance. In the afternoon he went to his stateroom for a nan, and before lying down it occurred to him to examine his sultcase.
