While the Mission is meant directly for the members of the church proper, yet all persons outside of the church are cordially invited and should feel free to attend the instructions. At a stated time during the week of the Missions, Father Qurembra, of Atlantic City, will look after the spiritual interests of the Italians and Father Struski, of Jamesburg, N. I., will minister to the Polish, Slavish and German members of the congregation. Each and every member of the congregation, both young and old, should enter into the spirit of the Missions. All should display a willingness ito attend the different services, and consider that the week of the Mission is a time of special grace which should serve to bring them nearer to Almighty God. Rev. MAY'S LANDING, N. J., SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1909.

The present constitutional system of courts in will be required to improve the channel in this manner. New Jersey was adopted sixty-five years ago. It was a good system. It has served to keep the administration of the law in our State in deservedly high repute. But the State in its population and in the extent of its business interests has outgrown the old system. It is no longer adequate for the transaction of the business required of it. The Legislature has, from time to time, been called upon to provide temporary expedients, some of them of doubtful constitutionality, to increase the judicial facilities in order to avoid congestion and delay. It authorized the creation of the Vice-Chancellors, and of special judges of the Circuit Courts. But the Court of last resort, the Court of Errors and Appeals, is susceptible of no legislative relief. It is grossly overburdened. An ordinary case cannot in regular course be heard and disposed of there in less than two years. The reason is that the judges of that Court are required to serve an equal amount of time in the Supreme Court, and to give their attendance also in the several counties for the trial of murder cases, and in hearing the numerous motions connected with Supreme Court

Hardly any one conversant with the business of officer. the courts will deny that some relief is urgently required. The majority of the members of the bar have Mayor was absolutely unnecessary, and, being unnecessary, it savored approved the plan presented by the proposed amendments to the Constitution framed by the Commission appointed by Governor Stokes. These amendments the Mayor of Atlantic City, the highest executive officer of the comare to be voted on at the special election on September 14th. Various unsuccessul movements to effect needed improvements in our court system by means of amendments of the Constitution have been made from time to time during the last twenty-five years. The present plan meets more nearly the universal approval of those who have special knowledge of the subject than any preceding scheme. Voters will make no mistake in casting their ballot in favor of the Judiciary amendment.

On Tuesday next the voters of the State will be called upon to vote for or against the proposed amendments to the State Constitution. The amendments involve radical changes in the Courts, terms of public officials and their renumeration. Every ritie racebrushy to 'the' dictates of his conscience, guided by a patriotic zeal for the welfare of the always shown a proper respect for opposite opinions when those commonwealth.

That changes are needed in the judiciary is defects of the present system. This amendment was framed by a special commission comprising eminent jurists, men who had superintended the work of the State Courts and who knew the need of the proposed > the proposed amendments are non-political and of the splendid possibilities that lie, generally unimproved, at the thet the people as evidenced at the polls next Tuesdayork for the weal or woe of the entire commonweal, its citizens. It is the duty of every voter to studiestion fairly and to record his opinion at the pois ballot.

The school bell Tuesday last summoned the children of the Township to their studies. Every parent should see to it that their boys and girls attend the sessions regularly and should encourage novelty by appointing a woman as truant officer. As a matter of fact them to take pride in punctuality and class standing. The parent's influence can greatly help or hinder the success in preventing truancy than mere man. Her nature enables he efforts of the teacher. Regularity of attendance is one of the most effectual aids to good lessons and money which the schools receive from the state is based on the promotion. The dull scholar who attends regularly is likely to be far ahead at the end of the year of the woman as truant officer can benefit this average the 'bright' pupil who attends only part of the time. And do not permit the children to leave school until they have completed the course of study.

Modern surgery is performing miracles in the cure of disease and prevention of pain. In ye olden which surgeons now remove by timely operations. The practice of medicine, too, has undergone great changes during the last century. The services of the modern physician and surgeon are, indeed, second to none in importance to the general public and merit highest appreciation.

Following that precept of Carlyle's, "It is in general more profitable to reckon up our defects than to boast of our attainments," it will not be amiss to look over the experiences of the past Summer and ascertain wherein we have been negligent, where improvements can be made, how our home town can and the 'strangers within our gates.' Individuals occasionally in order to remedy defects and plan for better things in the future. As Pope wrote, "With pleasure own your errors past, and make each day critic on the last."

One of the avowed objects of the Yacht Club is freeing the river channel from stumps. This work will be completed before the opening of the next yachting season and will be a boon to yachtsmen who wish to navigate at low tides. Very little work

Is the world growing better? One has only to contrast the life of the present epoch to those which have gone before to reply in the affirmative. The improvement is evident in every path of life. Certain The Housewife it is, we who live in this era of peace and prosperity have good cause to be thankful for our blessings.

The September throngs at the seashore indicate that the Fall season will be a prosperous one. The popularity of Atlantic City as an all year round resort is increasing.

The American eagle has scored another triumph in the discovery of the North Pole and the stars and stripes now wave to the end of the earth. Now for the South Pole!

STATE PRÉSS COMMENT.

"Every fair-minded citizen, who jealously guards the good name and reputation of Atlantic City as he would that of his own daughter, was justly indignant at the small and unnecessary insult heaped by certain of the reformers in arresting the city's highest executive Fancy and Staple Groceries,

"No single act during the present agitation of sensationalism has strongly of insincerity, resentment, and a willful desire to feed-a MAIN ST. & FARRAGUT AV

"It was not Franklin P. Stoy that the reformers arrested. H-was munity, a post which it is just as essential to good government that all people respect as the judge of a court. In lowering the dignity of that office, in willfully and unnecessarily dragging it before a criminal ribunal, the persons responsible are guilty of an outrageous affront to the respectable people of Atlantic City.

"For about two weeks wild reports have been circulating about a novement being afoot to arrest the Mayor. The Press took little notice of the fact, giving the men at the head of the reform crusade credit for better judgment that to resort to such a ridiculous expediency.

"In the judgment of this newspaper the absurdity of the more stands without a defence. By arresting the Mayor the crusaders could not possibly hope to get any results. If they are not after results insincerity or an effort to get even is bared! By arresting the Mayor, when they know perfectly well that the Mayor is doing his level best to carry out the wishes of 90 per cent. of the taxpayers in Atlantic City, the only thing they could accomplish was another spurt of sensational journalism. If this was their object their methods will not be approved! By holding the Mayor under the fabulous sum of $5,000 ball the realization of this dawned on them when the presidents of three Atlantic City banks, men representing close to four millions of dollars rame forward at once to go on the Mayor's bail bond, and several other opinions were made known in the proper manner. "But the Press is merely expressing the opinion of nine-tenths of the citizens of Atlantic City when it says without gloves that the arrest evident to all who have become acquainted with the part of those crusaders responsible, and will act as a boomerang In precisely the opposite direction than apparently intended."-

> "There is probably no other calling pursued for profit in America that is so crudely carried on as gardening; no other where the opportunities for large profits are so poorly improved. "This is doubtless due chiefly to ignorance, to lack of appreciation hands of every man or woman who owns or rents a few acres or one "Facts gathered by our consuls in foreign countries show that, with the exception of the Chinese and Japanese, the French market gardeners around Paris are the most successful in the world.

VICE CHANCELLOR ON AMENDMENT

Present System No Longer Administers Jersey Justice.

NEW FORM WILL BE REMEDIAL

ciding on Mere Technicalities-It Will Be Less Expensive In Operation and Vastly More Efficient.

chiefly agricultural, such as we were at the time of its adoption, sixty-five years ago. It has not been changed since that time. We have outgrown it. It is no longer the effective means of administering Jersey justice that it once was. Modeled after the old English system that took its rise in the middle ages, it has survived here after it has been done away with in England. The proposed amendment, formulated by a commission of lawyers and laymen, is the result of painstaking effort. Criticism of the plan as originally prepared by them was invited, suggestions were made by those of our citizens who took an interest in the subject, and these suggestions, as far as valuable, have been incorporated in it. It preserves what is valuable in the old; it diseards what is cumbersome and antiquated. This will appear by a comparison.

There are at present five county courts-the common pleas, the circuit rourt, the orphans' court, the general | ercise the powers and functions of the quarter sessions and the over and terminer-relics of a bygone age. For these have been substituted one county court containing, generally speaking, the powers and jurisdiction of all of them. There are now four superior courts—the supreme court (a misnomer), the court of chancery, the prerogative court and the court of errors and appeals in the last resort of all causes. These have been combined into one supreme court having three divisions, a court truly supreme.

Inferior Courts if Necessary.

constitutional courts. The legislature judge. however, authorized to establish inferior courts if they shall be found necessary, just as congress is authorized to establish courts inferior to the supreme court of the United States, which derives its being and powers from the federal constitution.

The scheme is characterized by simplicity and effectiveness. Its simplic-Ity cannot be questioned. Its effectiveness will appear on a little considera-

There is to be at least-one county court for each county. In the smaller counties one will suffice; in the larger there will be as many as the legislature decides to be necessary.

The supreme court will consist of three divisions-the common law, the equity and the appellate. The justices assigned to the common law division will, as of old, try jury cases. They have almost ceased to do so now. It may be said without fear of contradiction that it was this feature of our present system which for so many years gave to New Jersey its pre-emiment position in the dispensation of courless and impartial justice in the judges saf first instance. The best able to do so, the circuits. They were or fifteen years, til within the last ten the supreme court aw their duties in of errors and appeals reg in the court divided attention, and issues their unare tried by the circuit court of fact who cannot speak with the authorize experience and learning of the judges of the supreme court. The new system will in this respect take us back to the old order of things. The supreme court judges assigned to the common law division, relieved from appellate work, will have ample time to try jury cases, civil and criminal, and any suitor having an important case will be able to bring it on before a supreme court judge.

Specialization the Rule. The equity division will do the work of the present chancellor and vice chancellors. These judges do not now sit in the court of errors and appeals, and they have therefore been able to devote themselves exclusively to the trial of causes. In many of the states law and equity cases come before the same judge. Our subdivision of labor is preferable and up to date. It makes experts in two great but distinct branches of our jurisprudence. There are a few lawyers who think that the same judge should try all questions connected with either branch. They forget that such a vast and complicated body of law as necessarily arises out of our complicated civilization cannot be mastered by a single mind. Specialization is the order of the day. As well might one say that specialists in medicine, in engineering, in the arts and sciences, is unnecessary and that we should go back to the old time general practitioner. The judge who habitually applies himself to one branch of the law will necessarily work more quickly and satisfactorily. He will know more about the law of that branch, will decide more promptly, will make fewer mistakes and will Due to other National banks... thus diminish the necessity for and cost of appeal. The equity judge tries cases without a jury; hence there is a considerable practical convenience in separating such cases from those that are tried with a jury. Because he has a panel of jurymen on his hands, maintained at large expense to the county, the judge compelled to fry both classes of cases will almost necessarily give the preference to jury cases, although the equity cases may be the more pressing and important.

The appellate division, composed of seven judges, to be selected by the governor from out of the entire court, is a very important part of the general scheme. The present court of errors and appeals now consists of the chancellor, all the justices of the supreme court and six additional judges, known as lay judges. Until recently these six judges were in fact laymen unversed in the law. Now some of them are laymen and some of them lawyers who are or may be in active practice.

The scheme has the additional recommendation that it is, by reason of its greater simplicity, less expensive

The system is objectionable because it gives an equal vote to those who know the law and those who do not. It is an anomaly that a case in our highest court, where the judges are divided in opinion, may be decided by the votes of those who have never studied the law and who do not profess to know what the law is. It may

New Measure Provides Against De. | Europe has in this regard such a constitution. Moreover, a court of sixteen is too numerous. The supreme court of the United States contains only nine judges, that of the populous tains, as a rule, from three to five. But the chief objection to the court as at present constituted is that it cannot give proper consideration to the cases that come before it. The lay judges are neither expected nor paid to give their whole time to its work. The chancellor has his own work to do in the court of chancery, and the justices of the supreme court, although they have given up sitting at the circuits, still have a great deal of business to dispose of in the supreme court, where they sit together, or, as it is termed, in banc. Not only is the court many months in arrears, but it is a physical impossibility for its menibers to give to important appeals that thorough examination which they ought to receive. HUDSUN-FULTON CELEBRATION NEW YORK CITY.

Three hundred years ago, Henry Hudson, an Englishman in command of a Dutch expedition, with eighteen men, explored the Hudson River from Sandy Hook to Troy in his small craft, the "Half Moon."

One hundred and ninety-eight years later, Robert Fulton established, with his steamboat, the "Clermont," a regular water service between New York and the towns along the Hudson river to the North.

This year, New York City, with sister cities and towns along the Hudson, will celebrate these two achievements by a series of imposing observances, religious, historical, military, naval, musical and literary, extending from September 25 to October 9.

Replicas of the "Half Moon" and the "Clermont" have been built and will play a large part in the celebration. They will be the center of attraction in the great naval pageant on Saturday, September 25. The United States Government will have fifty-two war ships anchored in the Hudson, and Great Britain, France, the Netherlands, Italy, Germany, Argentine, Guatemala, Mexico, and Cuba will be represented by war vessels.

Two great parades of water craft will escort the "Half Moon" and the "Clermont" in triumphal procession past the war leviathans, first in the morning and again in the evening, when all the vessels will be illuminated.

On September 28 there will be a grand historical pageant, and on September 30 a big military parade in New York City. On October 1, the "Half Moon" and "Clermont" will proceed up the Hudson to Troy escorted by hundreds of river craft, including torpedo boats.

A magnificent carnival parade will be held in New York on Saturday evening, October 2, which promises to eclipse all previous attempts.

The Pennsylvania Railroad, the direct line to New York, with its unsurpassed service of fast express trains, will sell excursion tickets to New York for this period at reduced
