GARDNER SOUNDS ALARM TO HALT RUIN.

Great Watershed Needed By People of Vast Oyster and Cranberry Industries Along Coast.

A two-line item printed in a Philadelphia ewspaper a few days ago contained a piece of formation of starting import to the people Bouth Jersey. In a dozen words it anunced the purchase by the New Jersey iter Commission of the old Wharton tract, ing in Atlantic and Burlington Countles usisting of over 90,000 neres, and containing he source of the most abundant and absolutely are supply of drinking water North of Chin-

It is announced that this great watershed ms been purchased for the benefit of the peo-de of Camden, Gloucester and probably other ounties to the North and West of those comcrising the Second Congressional District, which is composed of Atlantic, Cumberland, ape May and Burlington Counties. It is the xpressed intention of the Commission to lvert these waters from the Southeastern to the Western w ershed. The loss of these waters to South Jersey would be serious nough considered simply in the light of the diversion of a great supply of pure potable water from the rapidly growing resorts and cities of this section of the State.

But that is not the immediate nor calamilous effect that would follow the adoption of this scheme by the Water Commission. The alamity to South Jersey would be the total destruction of the vast oyster industry of this section. And that would mean the wiping out of the population of a very large territory, the depopulation of many small towns like Port Republic, and the deflection of millions of inplied by the people of Burlington County, and, | berries the enrollment is likely to reach or exto a smaller extent, the people of Atlantic,

Cumberland and Cape May Counties. It would cent interest, it would be a national calamity in that it would deprive the people of the en-tract of land, comprising nearly one hundred Tenth Grades, 32. thousand acres, with suspicion for many years, always fearing just what has happened, but from a different direction. The immense estate was collected together by the Wharton interests during the past generation. Many experiments were made with it, at great expense, trying to make it useful in various in Atlantic City. productive lines. Trees, brought from many countries, were planted and attempts were unde to ruise exotic crops, but all these efforts were doomed to fallure. When it was realized for just what nature intended it, for generations to come, at least, it was offered for sale. It was proposed that Philadelphia purchase At as a source of drinking water supply. But were Atlantic City visitors Tuesday last. the moment that Congressman Gardner heard of this, he hurried to Trenton and warned the orchard of Daniel W. McClure and purloining Legislature of what was on foot. He pointed fruit. out that it would be illegal to permit the diverthe tract was still on the market and every Grand Master. few years rumors floated about of an impending sale. Mr. Gardner was vigilant, but he never dreamed that danger threatening the oyster industry. When the oyster expert of the that the average newspaper reader will do so, the Presbyterian Manse where they will reside The oyster will live and thrive only in a mixture of salt and fresh water. The average isfrom 2 to 3 1-2 per cent, of saline content, Where the saline percentage is as high 3 1-2 a mixture of 2 and 3 per cent, of saline content. If an oyster is placed in occan water it will die out. When these facts were told the government expert the was amazed, but he quickly ascertained the absolute truth of them. The potable waters sought by the Commis sion are those of the head-waters of the Mullica River and its branches. The Commissioners, in making the deal, probably had no idea that they were about to destroy the oyster industry of Bouth Jersey by withdrawing from the bivalves their source of life and, of course they had no idea of depriving thousands of people of their source of livilhood. And the same applies to the millions of Bouth Jersey capital invested in this industry. When these facts are brought to the attention of the Commissioners by the thousands, of people interested it is inconceivable that they will do any-D thing but annul the sale. And these facts will be forcibly brought to their attention through the efforts now being made by Congressman

The Mullica supplies the fresh water to all that yast sheet of water known as the Great Bay. The Turkerton Bay, and all the other St bays of Bouth Jersey constituting the propa-U. gating grounds of the shell fish industry, will also be affected because the water of the N. Muillen River, rudning down near the Inlet, are pushed back by the flood tide and disseminated, not only over the Great Bay, but also through all the waters reached by the De flood tide, It is a positive fact that the diversion of the Mullica River from the Eastern to the Western Du watershed would destroy the oyster industry,) but it is also likely that it would lead to the nd destruction of the vast cranberry industry, in which thousands are employed and millions of dollars are suvested by Bouth Jerseymen. It to also a question as to whether it would not drive the food fish from these waters through the destruction of their spawning grounds, which would affect the livelihood of hundreds of others. The supply of good drinking water is not yet an urgent problem, in Bouth Jersey although it is becoming so in Atlantic City and other ha large communities of this section. At all potable waters diverted to Camden and other goods, was taken to Trenton Thursday by communities without a protest, at least. Camden has already been asked to present its in State Prison. water needs to the Commission in view of the purchase of the Wharton tract, and the time for this section of South Jersey to act is right now, Congressman Cardner is doing all in his power to avert this impending disaster, but every man in his district should lend his aid. There is plenty of drinking water on the jury, waiving their right of indictment, Western shed, although it will cost a large Saum to collect and protect it. But that is Camtien's problem. form With All State Requirements. Two modernized rural schools greet the eye dong the read from May - Landing via Steelmanville to Atlantic City. The Board of Eduention of Egg Harbor Township, following along progressive times as outlined by the State Board of Education and the Commissioner, Dr. Kendail, promptly responded to the demands made by the State and remodelied the school houses at English Creek and at Steelmanville. These school houses meet the approval of the State in that they are properly lighted, ventilated, and having cellings of approved height-tweive feet or over, and sufficient floor space and cubical air content for the pupils there enrolled. The lavatories also are new and have been separated by a new board fence of approved design extending to the school houses in the rear. The inside and outside of the buildings and the fences have been painted in appropriate and pleasing colors. At the English Creek school there has also been acquired some additional ground making the area of the school yard equal to an aero This ground is used as a playground at present and if the igns of the times are read aright will be used in the course of a very few years as a plot on which the children of the school will be taught some of the elementary principles of agriculture

The Board of Education is to be congretulated for making these selved buildings as Charlotte Daniels to Annie Daniels, 20x95 ft. | they should be, buildings to which the con-West ride of Tennessee Ave. 200 ft. So popular have the moving shows in the Opera House become that the management has decided to add another show each week and starting next Tuesday evening there will day and Saturday evenings. One reason why these shows are so popular is because so many comedles are shown. The public seems to enjoy this kind of moving pictures better than others and realizing this the best of comedies are secured for each show, together with thrilling dramas and occasional educational pictures. The shows are clean and refined and appeal to all, young and old. They begin Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings at
