PATRONS OBJECT TO RURAL ROUTE CHANGE

INSPECTORS PROPOSE TO DELIVER MAIL FROM ATLANTIC CITY

Postal inspectors who have been going over he county district in Egg Harbor Township now supplied by the rural mails route from this place with a view to establishing a new route from Atlantic City have not met with a very cordial reception according to reports received here. The proposed route out of Atlantic City would be sixty miles in length and would in-clude about three hundred patrons. Eighteen niles of its length would be traversed with only three mail boxes thereon. Those living towards this end of the route would not receive mail until late in the day and Winter storm would seriously interfere with the service, it is

There is included in the project one plan of keeping the present route from here, but re-routing it so as to include McKee City.

The idea of the postal department is said to be based on the theory that farmers can send eggs and farm produce into Atlantic City by parcel post. Farmers along the line express the opinion, however, that this would not work out well, as there are practically no eggs to be shipped this way and not enough produce could be shinned to made it worth while especially considering the cost.

Those opposed to the change make the com plaint that the officers investigating condition and securing names did not call on them though several endeavored to see the inspector and express their views. They will likely ge up a petition against the change.

In the absence of any official announcem however, the full details and possible edvan-tages of the change may be misunderstood and an early statement from the Post Office Department is hoped for. Some of the patrons may they believe someone is "trying to put one over on them" and intend to make a strong fight against the project.

Army officers request that the knilted articles be forwarded as soon as possible. The severity of Winter with a coal shortage to face and a rising tuberculosis rate to combat demand that several million garments reach France before Thankegiving.

The circular is the first of a series to be seued by the Woman's Bureau, of which Miss Florence Marshall is director, and is available at the Red Cross room.

Sock knittens are warned that all maous ridges or lumps should be carefully avoided.

The membership increase of the American Red Cross in a little more than a year is from 125,000 to two million members; from 125 chapters to more than 2,000. More than $100,000 worth of Red Cross supplies are sent to Europe Monday evening, October 29th, at 8 P. M There will be no weekly meetings in the Court House but all the ladies are urged to spend as much time as possible in the Red Cross room knitting or sewing. FARM LECTURE SERIES Vocational School Staff Will Combine

The Vocational School staff will begin i series of twenty-three lectures in Atlantic County during the month of October. These lectures are to be illustrated with sides and accommended by talks by members of the staff and others. The subject covered will be the work that the Vocational Schools have been doing the past three years and what is being ied in Atlantic County and elecwhere. The object of the lectures at this particular time is to stimulate agricultural education in order to make farm work more efficient during the coming year, and especially during the period of the war. The lectures are held in school houses and are open to the public The following schedule has been arranged: October 1, Souliville; 2, Farmington; 3, McKee City; 4, Elwood; 5, Weekstown; 8, Nesco; 9 Newtonville: 10. On Friday of last week five prize winners i the County Corn and Potato Contest, Buth Saaiman, Margaret Schmickle, Caccar Donato Walter Moeller and Tony Sciore, accompanied by County Supt. H. M. Cremman, Director D. Maitby of the Vocational Schools, Mrs. Malthy, Mrs. Cremman and Miss Kathryn Chalmers, enjoyed a day's trip to Philadelphia where they visited Independence Hall. Curtis Publishing Co. and the Zoological Gardens The party also visited Wanamaker's where they were conducted by a guide through the various departments of the store and to the roof of that magnificent building at Market and Juniper Streets, where it was possible to take a birds-eye view of Philadelphia. Lunchson was obtained at Green's Hotel. The trip was made in automobiles furnished by County Superintendent. Everybody had a fine time For several of the prize winners it was the first trip to Philadelphia.

Convict Unscrupulous Jeweler. Abraham Samaha, a boardwalk Jeweler, was convicted Thursday of selling a stone be represented as Kunzite which was in reality an imitation known as "peste." Hamaha was defended by the county bar's octogenarian member, John C. Crandall, anthor of "Not Paul But Jesus," who sought to obtain his client's freedom on the ground that the transaction took place on Sunday,
"But that theory would open the door to all sorts of crime on Sunday," said Judge C. C. "True, true!" quoth Crandall, "but'twould tesich people to go to church on the Sabbath!

TO THE SCHOOL CHILDREN OF THE UNITED STATES

The President of the United States, is also President of the American Red Cross. It is from these offices joined in one that I write you a word of greeting at this time when so many of you are beginning the school year.

The American Red Cross has just prepared a junior membership with school activities in which every pupil in the United States can find a chance to serve our country. The school is the natural center of your life. Through it you can best work, in the great cause of freedom to which we have all pledged ourselves.

Our Junior Red Cross will bring to you opportunities of service to your community and to other communities all over the world, and guide your service with high and religious ideals. It will teach you how to save in order that suffering children elsewhere may have the chance to live. It will teach you how to prepare some of the supplies which wounded soldiers and homeless families lack. It will send to you through the Red Cross bulletins the thrilling stories of relief and rescue. And best of all, more perfectly than through any of your other school lessons, you will learn by doing those kind things under your teacher's direction to be the future good citizens of this great country which we all love.

And I commend to all schoolteachers in the country the simple plan which the American Red Cross has worked out to provide for your co-operafton, knowing as I do that school children will give their best service under the direct guidance and instruction of their teachers. Is not this perhaps the chance for which you have been looking to give your time and efforts in some measure to meet our national needs?

Acquittal Caused Two To Faint. The strain of his trial was so severe on Louis Weiner, charged with perjury, and also on his mother, that both fell to the floor Tuesday in a dead faint when the foreman of the jury announced the verdict, "not guilty." The charge grew out of payments made on a mortgage in which Weiner was accused of making faine statements to the court.

Accused Magistrate Discharged. Prosecutor Charles S. Moore moved for the lischarge of Magistrate William Hanghey, on liarges of extortion, Tuesday last when witnesses failed to show any criminal action or intent on the part of the magistrate in connection with fines imposed at hearings.

Because of his age and ill-health, W.S. Johnon, found guilty of passing worthises checks was place on probation Tuesday by Judge Shinn, with a fine of $25 down and $1 a week for three years.

Hamuel M. Braunstein to Eva K. Coons, 18x SOLID PARTY BEHIND NOMINEES

NEXT SURROGATE GIVEN FLATTERING VOTE IN HOME DISTRICT

.ED NEAREST MAN BY 22 VOTES

SHERIFF RECEIVED MAJOR-ITY OF 93 IN HAMILTON TOWNSHIP

Primary election passed off very quietly throughout the county, with only one contest on the Republican county ticket and not any on the Democratic. Mmith E. Johnson won the Republican nomination over Mulford Rose by a decisive vote Albert C. Abbott for Surro gate, received the highest number of votes cast. indicating the solid support he will receive in November. The total votes received by the Republican candidates were:

For Surrogate, Albert C. Abbott, 5,867; for Sheriff, Smith E.Johnson, 4,463; Mulford Rose, 2,080; for Assembly, William A. Blair 5,339 and Underwood Cochran 5,218; for Coroners, Albert

E. James 5,190 and George B. Stoddard, 5,066. Abbott received a flattering vote throughout the county, leading the ticket in many districts. In Hamilton Township, his home district he ran way ahead of the ticket, receiving a total vote of 151. The highest vote any other capdidate received was Curtis Hazelton, who had 129. Johnson was given a majority of the rotes bere over Rose. From now on everything is plain sailing for the county Republicans. The only real fight the Democrats will make is over the office of Surrogate, for which Daniel H. V. Bell has been nominated by the Democrats. With the Republicans united, however, Hell cannot make much of a dent in the normal Republican majority and Abbott will be elected by approximately 5,000 votes over his apponent. Several lively contests took place in various districts. One of these was the Republican freeholder contest in Buena Vista Township. won by James Cimbo over Andrew Savino. The present freeholder, Dominick Corsiglia, did not run and Cimino will be easily elected. In Hammonton, Freeholder Cyrus F. Osgood was renominated by the Democrats and will be opposed by Swain T. Godfrey on the Repub-Bean ticket. In the same place Michael K. Boyer won the Republican nomination for Mayor over Charles Cunningham.

In Mullica Township the freeholder fight was warm, C. H. Achenbach, Republican, and Jesse R. Abbott, Democrat, each fighting for nomination on both tickets. Each won the nomination on his own ticket.

In Margate City John W. Rusley defeated George Webb for the freeholder nomination on he Republican ticket.

Less than a score of Democratic votes were cast Lere. The complete returns on the Repub lionn ticket were as fullows: For Assembly William Blair Underwood Cochran For Sheriff Hmith E. Johnson Mulford T. Ross For Surrogate Albert C. Abbott

For Surveyors of Highway Charles Voigt Henry S. Kraus For Township Committee (2) Curtis Haseiton 46 Alex. P. Denmead 46 For Constable

For Coroners
Albert E. James.
George B. Stoddard

For Justice of the Peace James R. Hoover Executive Committeemen were elected as follows: Republican - 1st, Harrison Wilson; 2nd, Harry Jenkins: Democratic-1st, Joseph M. Davis: 2nd. Harry Smallwood.

RESIDENTS VISIT HOME BOYS FIRST SUNDAY AT CAMP DIX

Autos Conveyed Them To Wrights-

town---Find Lads Contented May's Landing boys at Camp Dix were pleasantly surprised last Sunday when seven auto loads of friends from this place dropped in on them and they were certainly pleased, for it was their first Sunday in camp and all of them were a bit homesick. They had been given permission to return home over Sunday. but only two, Rocco Galloui and Nick Guinta, availed themselves of the opportunity. "We don't want to go home until we have our uniforms," they declared.

The visitors found the boys well taken care beds and pieuty of bedding and the food, the lads said, was excellent and plenty of it. The officers, all declared, treated them courteously and gave them every consideration and conditions generally were found much better in some newspapers that some of the boys had to stand ontdoors in the rain and suffered from lack of accommodations were absolutely unfounded. The triends of Jack Denmead, who was sent

of, with good warm buildings, comfortable to camp with the Jersey City boys, were surprised to find him installed as onck for one of the commanding officers, with private quarters and pay of $55 a month. Jack had never taken un "domestic science" but when he saw the opportunity he jumped at it and made good.

A number of residents are planning to visit the boys to-morrow if the weather proves fair. Those who went up last Sunday were: Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Beach, Mr. and Mrs.

Charles C. Stewart, Miss Jessie Stewart, Dr. and Mrs. Henry C. James, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilson, Miss Edwins Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Valter A. Doctor Bemerton

Unwillingly He Left His Wife to See a Patient.

By ELINOR MARSH

"My dear," sald Dr. Joe Bemerton ing his heavy driving gloves into the wife: latter, "I'll be hanged if I to out again tonight if I'm called by a multimillion-

"Oh, Joe, I'm so glad! You look awfully tired, and just think how long it is since we've had a quiet evening to-

"Right you are, Pol. I'll get on my velveteen jacket, put on my easy shoes, | Bemerton: sit down before these blazing logs with you beside me, and we'll have a real old fashioned evening like our courting days, ch. sweetheart?"

He tweaked her ear and gave her a

"Won't it be nice? You can sit in the big chair right before the flame. while I sit in the little working rocker beside you and darn the stockings." "Oh, no; don't darn stockings! You didn't darn stockings in those days." As soon as dinner was over the doctor pulled the big chair up to the fireplace and drew his wife down on his knee. She had weighed 100 bounds when they courted. Now she weighed 150. Bemerton had had several obstinate cases during the day and was tired. It wasn't five minutes before he remarked that he had strained a muscle in his left leg when getting out of his auto, slipping on a bit of ice. He thought that they'd better sit side by side. So Mrs. Bemerton got off his knee and with an effort succeeded in squeezing in beside him. If she had gained fifty pounds he had gained more, so that instead of the aggregate bulk of 215 pounds between the two arms of the chair, as in their courting days, there were now 350. However, they managed to wedge themselves in, and Mrs. Bemerton leaned back on her husband's arm. "Just as nice as ever it was," he said gallantly.

They sat chatting for awhile, but the topics they talked about as lovers did not seem to rise up with the spontaneity of former days. There were long gaps in the conversation. The doctor va wned.

"We don't need to talk all the while," she said drowsily. "Remember what a clatter we used to keep up?"

"I wonder how we did it." "Did it! We didn't do it. It did it-

There was a luli, during which the doctor's eyes closed, and he was beginning to draw the heavy breath of slumber when his wife started in anew. "Do you know, Joe," she said, "that wretched butcher sent in the most abominable steak this morning-all past 11. bone and gristle?"

"Yes, dear, but my arm is cramped If you'll rise a bit I'll move it." He moved the arm and was sinking again to a snooze when the telephone bell rang. "I'll go," said Mrs. Bemerton, starting up.

"No; you wouldn't understand." And the doctor went to the telephone. "Yes, I'm Dr. Bemerton,"

Reply. "I'm pretty tired."

Reply. "Suffering much?"

Reply. Well, I suppose I'll have to go." Mrs. Bemerton, who was listening. sighed. The doctor came back into the room the picture of wee.

"Now, Joe, you said you wouldn't go out again tonight for a millionaire. You're fired out. In another moment you'd have been asleep. Why didn't you refuse?" "How could 1? If you were suffer ing and called for a physician to re-Heve you and he declined to go, what would you think of him?"

"Well, I suppose it can't be helped. Will you ride?

"No; it's not far. Til walk." She helped the poor man on with nis overcoat. He gave her a parting kiss and as he went out said: "If I'm going to be delayed I'll tele phone you, and you're not to sit un. but go to bed like a dear, good little woman, and I'll come in without disturbing you and sleep in my own room. Taka sweetheart!"

Mrs. Bemerton's regret was that her liege lord Aust go out after a hard day's work into a cold night to incur more responsibility. She was a practical woman and had discovered very soon that the return to courting days would not be a success.

As soon as the front door closed be hind him Dr. Bemerton hastened his steps, A few blocks away was Ms club, and thither he went. Leaving his overcoat at the coat room, he went into the cafe and there found Drs. Nichols and Gilson, who halled his en trance with shouts of satisfaction,

"What' did you mean," exclaimed Bemerton to Nichols, with mock severity, "by telling me that the patient was suffering and I must come at once to relieve him?"

"I mean this," replied Nichols-"that split a bottle of ginger ale with him. As for me, I'm suffering for something of the same kind."

"Ha, ha!" laughed Bemerton, "You can have any fun without the other | delphia Ledger. two or any two without the other one."

Dr. Remerton sat down, and Nichols pushed the button, and when beverages had been ordered Bemerton said to the

"Ha, ha!" laughed Nichols. "Three doctors in consultation! Good! Very

"Consulting as to which is preferable as a diluent-gluger ale or fizz water," laughed Gilson.

Peter had served twenty years at the club and knew how to send such telephone messages very well, but he was head waiter, and his responsibilities were multifarious: Being especially crowded tonight, he transferred the order to a greenhorn who had worn the | ment." club's button but a few days. This as he threw off his cont and hat, toss- was the message sent to the doctor's

"Docther, Mrs. Bamerthon says yer not to hurry, and she thinks a stuffed crab or a rabbit'll do ye good."

Bemerton, who was raising his glass o his lips, stopped it on the way. "Who phoned her?" "I did, sor, Peter told me to. He was busy. "And did you tell her I was at the "Shure, sor. Where else would I tell Nichols and Gilson leaned back in their leather covered chairs and roared. "That'll do," said Bemerton to the raiter, who went off puzzled.

"Well, boys," said Bemerton, "I'm in for it." And he told the story of how he had started in for a return to courting days, accusing them of breaking in upon his and his wife's happiness. "You must do something mighty nice," said Gilson, "to get out of this muddle. My wife would never forgive me for a thing life that." "What can I do?" asked Benierton. "Give her a sealskin," suggested Nichols.

"She has one. Besides, that would require time. I've got to face her tonight when I go home."

"The only thing you can do," said Gilson, "that can be done tonight is to telephone to a flower shop and have send you a fine bouquet of flowers o take home with you"

Remerton was not favorably impressed with the plan. He said that he had forgotten every niniversary of his wedding day as it came round and the customary gift, his wife reminding him of it a month after it had passed. To take her flowers now seemed like giving her taffy. However, at that hour it was the only thing he could do: so calling up a flower shop, he directed | chair, asked if anything new had turnthe proprietor to send the handsomest | ed up since he saw her last. She gave | plover, greater and lesser | yellow-legs-August marred only by a telephone message from Dr. Gilson's better half to know If he was at the club and one from a patient of Dr. Nichols asking if the medicine he had ordered had better be taken at 11 o'clock or a quarter

But all good times must come to an end, and the trio at last separated. At the door of the club Bemerton's two friends admonished him to do a lot of petting when he got home confess ing himself a brute and relying on the floral gift to set matters right. Bemerton didn't say anything. He knew his wife and that she was not one to be coddled. When the doctor opened his front door he found the lights turned down and the silence of oblivion. Excellent! Perhaps his wife was asleep. He would not have to face her till morning. Taking off his shoes and leaving

They suggested that I bring you a ten dollar basket of flowers to pacify you." "Flowers! Don't you bring me flowers when Billy needs a new overcoat and Jennie hasn't a desent dress to We'd find out the cause of future dissatisfaction and could make necked pheasant, ruffed grouse, prairie up our minds with deliberation whether we'd better risk it or not."

"That's a good idea. When shall we begin – now?"

"No; the next time we meet." He didn't care to begin now, because it was only 11 o'clock at night and he was quite sure he would wish to spoon till 1. Are New Yorkers Americant The most New Yorkish of ladies. who, after an excessively brief, gay winter at home, habitually betook herself to the Riviera, to London, to Paris and to the usual spring, summer and autumn haunts of European elegance, was once asked by an intelligent and curious foreigner some question concerning the habits and customs of her compatriots. She paused, meditated prettily, says Harrison Rhodes in Harper's Magazine, and then made a profoundly significant reply.

"I'm not sure," she said, "that I'm the best person to ask. You see, I'm a New Yorker, and I know so few Amer-

He Fixed It. The wife of a well known Broadway press agent was complaining the other evening because she had to wash the dinner dishes. "Woman always gets the worst of marriage," she said. "This housework the old rime is right."

"What old rime?" asked her husband.

"It goes like this: 'Husbands and cooks, husbands and cooks, when a girl marries she loses her looks." "You haven't got it right," he replied -New York World.
