

ATLANTIC COUNTY RECORD.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR—NO. 8.

MAY'S LANDING, N. J., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1909.

WHOLE NUMBER 1682.

SWEEEPING VICTORY FOR REPUBLICAN REGULARS

GRAND OLD PARTY AGAIN VICTORIOUS.

Carries State, County and Township By Increased Pluralities,
Demonstrating Faith of People in Administration.

A clean sweep of Atlantic City and the County was made at the polls Tuesday last by the Republican ticket, by majorities decisive enough to convince all that the people of Atlantic County remain loyal to the Grand Old Party, and all factions are burying the hatchet to join hands for the promotion of the general welfare of the City and County.

The election in Atlantic City was most orderly, Chief of Police M. Woodruff maintaining the best of order at the polls and promptly arresting any who infringed the public peace. In spite of close contests in several wards, officers had no difficulty in keeping order.

In Hamilton Township there was practically no opposition to the Republican ticket, which went through with flying colors. The election here, too, was most orderly, and one of the quietest in many years. The Grand Old Party for Assembly and Elmer D. Bump for Coroner, won out with heavy majorities throughout the County. The returns are printed in full for Atlantic City and County in another column.

Harmony is now the watchword of all factions in Atlantic City and the County joins in the effort to work in unison for the promotion of the County's prosperity, which is now great but will be much greater during the coming season if all parties and factions will join forces for the common good of the municipality. Now that pre-election controversies are over there are many reasons why the hatchet should be buried deep for all time to come.

Party leaders of every faction are calling for harmony in the administration of municipal affairs.

PEOPLE YOU KNOW.

Mrs. Moll H. Morse and daughter, Mrs. Amanda Shaw, returned Tuesday after visiting friends at Hamilton and Atlantic City. Misses Nellie May Taggart and Julia Kirkman, who were the guests of Mrs. Morse and Mrs. William W. Jackson Monday and Tuesday last.

Edward Hunn, of Hunn Bros., Surveyors, who have been engaged in surveying a tract of land here for the Messrs. Woodruff, returned Tuesday to his home in Philadelphia. He will return during the winter to assist in the survey of a large tract of land for Messrs. Woodruff, a work that will probably require some time.

Dr. A. Gaskill, President of the 1899 Law and of the University of Tennessee, has been asked to represent the Chi Delta Society of college at the annual debate in February.

The many friends of Dr. A. Gaskill will regret to learn that he is confined to his home on Second Street seriously ill.

In the Churches.

The combined choir of both M. E. and Presbyterian Churches will render a special music to-morrow in the M. E. Church.

Rev. William Dabrow, a former pastor, is doing good work at Knight's Avenue, M. E. Church.

Rev. Samuel H. Potter, a former pastor of the Presbyterian Church here, but now stationed in Camden, is forging his work ahead, though his field is difficult. He is soon to enter upon his third year at the Woodland Avenue Presbyterian Church.

There will be no preaching in the Presbyterian Church to-morrow. The congregation has accepted an invitation from the M. E. Church to participate with them in celebrating the sixty-first anniversary of their church. Sunday School at 2:30, Christian Endeavor meeting at 6:45 p. m. Topic: "Life lessons from the book of Hebrews." Leader, Mrs. E. C. Manner. Prayer meeting Wednesday evening at 7:45 p. m. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend these services.

Services will be held to-morrow in St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church as follows: Mass at 8:30 and 10:30 a. m.; Sunday School at 2:30 p. m.; Music by Choir. The public is extended a cordial invitation to attend all services. Rev. Thomas F. Hennessy, Pastor.

Change in Board of Freeholders.

Three new members will take their seats in the Atlantic County Board of Chosen Freeholders next January. Cyrus W. Osgood, of Hamilton, succeeds himself, defeating M. J. Jackson, the Republican candidate. Magistrate John D. Carver, of Elwood, is one of the new members, succeeding John T. Irving. Mr. Carver, who is well known through his connection with automobile speed arrests, is also a member of the County Board of Registration and Elections. John D. Carver, of Buena Vista Township, succeeds Norman J. McConnell. Charles Hart, of Margate City, will take the seat formerly occupied by John Getzen.

Death of Aged Resident.
Miss Lizzie Taylor, aged 81 years, died Monday last at the home of relatives in Berlin after a brief illness. Acute indigestion was the cause of death. The funeral services were held Thursday and interment was made at Westmouth. Miss Taylor has lived for several years with her cousin, Mrs. Anna Conover, at the residence of the latter, corner Main Street and Hudson Avenue, and was highly esteemed by all who knew her. She was a member of the State M. E. Church, of Camden, but attended services here. She is survived by a sister and two brothers.

Township Taxes are Due.

Tax bills for 1909 have been sent out to property owners in Hamilton Township during the week by Collector of Taxes Clark W. Abbott, payable at the earliest convenience of the recipients. The assessment varies little from that of last year.

Y. M. C. A. Dined at Union Hotel.

Thirty members of the Atlantic City Y. M. C. A. held a supper and social session at Baker's Union Hotel Thursday evening. The members of the Y. M. C. A. of Atlantic City, who attended, pronounced the affair a most pleasant one. The members returned to Atlantic City on a late evening express.

Telephone Service to Station.

Business men of the town and others having transactions with the railroad office here have been promised by Supt. D. H. Lovell to have a telephone service established between the station and the office centrals. This is a much needed convenience.

May Organize Orchestra.

Organization of an amateur orchestra is being organized by a group of local musicians. It is to be hoped that the orchestra will materialize in the near future, as such is needed at the County Seat.

Cantata for School May.

Plans are under consideration for a large cantata during Christmas week by the pupils of the town schools. The success of last year's cantata should insure another musical treat of a like nature this year.

WEDDED TWENTY-FOUR YEARS.

Friends of Popular Pastor Surprised
Rev. and Mrs. Moore at Parsonage.

Seated in his study shortly after eight o'clock Thursday evening last, the Rev. S. K. Moore, Pastor of the M. E. Church, was surprised to hear the "Victory Song" sung at his gate by scores of hearty voices, and opening his door was still more surprised to see nearly a hundred friends assembled to give their Pastor and his wife a reception in honor of the twenty-fourth anniversary of their wedding day.

The guests filled the Parsonage to its utmost capacity and donated to their thoroughly surprised host and hostess many handsome and useful gifts, including pictures, linen, bric-a-brac, cloth, edibles and many other acceptable gifts. Speeches were made by the donors, to which the Pastor replied with a few well chosen words. The guests had prepared a program of music, instrumental and vocal, selections by the Choir of the Church, recitations and readings, and all present voted the occasion one of the most pleasant ever held in the Parsonage.

First Married in Choir Received Gift.
In fulfillment of a mutual promise made several months ago by the members of the Presbyterian Choir, the first member married would receive a wedding gift from the Choir, the members, arrayed as ghosts, gave Mrs. Walter Mahne, nee James, a handsome silver candelabra Thursday evening following the service at the home of the couple, Dr. and Mrs. H. G. James. The evening was spent in an enjoyable manner and all present extended best wishes to Mrs. Mahne. At ten o'clock the ghosts at dinner to a table of "ghost" food brought by the visiting spirits, who silently slipped away just before the hour of twelve, when all good ghosts must disappear. Those present were: Mrs. Harrison Wilson, Mrs. Etta Beach, Mrs. E. C. Shaner, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hollis, Mrs. Theresa Denman, Miss Marjorie Shand, Alexander Denman, Dr. and Mrs. H. C. James and Mrs. Walter Mahne.

Magistrate Isard Treated Friends to Venison.

A doe killed by Schmidt, Maubach, of Hoboken, for which he paid a fine and cost amounting to $104.50, caused a controversy Thursday as to who should have the deer. The Attorney-General sent word to Magistrate Isard that it was at his disposal and the Magistrate accordingly cut the doe, giving half of it to Mr. Maubach and treating his friends and himself to venison steaks with the balance.

Hallowe'en Festivities at Gravelly Run.
Young folks and old folks numbering more than a score gathered in the yard of Hallowe'en at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Newcomb on Gravelly Run Avenue and celebrated the Eve of All Saints with games galore. Wilches seven were there, with ducks and geese and many more, all on pleasure bent and none were disappointed. 'Twas a joyous event and everybody forgot care and joined heartily in the evening merrymaking.

Striking Hallowe'en Costumes.
Many striking Hallowe'en costumes were seen Saturday and Monday evenings along the avenues of the town, from disguises worn by little tots to the more elaborate imitations of the grown-ups. Dealers in Hallowe'en goods declare there never was a sale for masks and fancy cloth for dresses before in the history of the said old County seat.

Former Physician a Visitor.
Dr. C. E. Sauters, formerly a local physician, now practicing in New Brunswick, N. J., was a visitor Wednesday and was cordially greeted by his many friends. Dr. Sauters was out after deer in the morning, but failed to bag his game, securing only one long shot at a large buck.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES IN METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

Series of Evening Meetings With Prominent Clergymen Will Mark
Opening of Bethel's Sixty-second Year.

The sixty-first anniversary of the laying of the corner stone of the Methodist Episcopal Church here will be observed by a week's services, beginning to-morrow evening at 7:30 p. m. The program of the Rev. S. K. Moore, Pastor, the program of the week, in which special attention will be given to musical features, will be highly interesting. The services for the week will be as follows:

Sunday, November 7, 8:30 a. m.—Class Meeting.
10:30 a. m.—Sacrament of the Lord's Supper followed by a short sermon by the Pastor, Rev. S. K. Moore.

Friday, 7:30 p. m.—Preaching by Rev. M. E. Snyder, of Atlantic City.
Saturday, 7:30 p. m.—Pentecostal service led by Exhorter Daniel W. McChlain.
Everybody is cordially invited to attend the anniversary services during the week. Special music will be rendered at all the services. New songs will be sung during the services from hymnals recently purchased, containing bright, pleasing music and all the good old Methodist hymns.

REV. SPENCER K. MOORE,
Popular Pastor of Bethel Methodist Episcopal Church.

Death of Mrs. Emma Peterson.
The funeral service of Mrs. Emma Peterson, aged 61 years, of Bridgeport, was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of her son, Mr. Peterson, who was made. Mrs. Peterson was a sister to Scott Champlin, of this place, and was well known here.

A Warm Election.
Election Day, as regards temperature, was the warmest experienced here in many years. Rain fell part of the morning and the air during the day was mild, with southerly winds.

A Youthful Trapper.
Fred Vienger, aged twelve years, of this place, holds the record for trapping thus far this season, having captured one otter and three foxes.

FINED FOR KILLING DOE

Opening Day of Season for Deer
Marked by Frequent Violations of Law—Wardens Made Several Arrests—Many Hunters Abroad.

After a closed season covering a period of ten years it was again lawful Wednesday last to shoot deer in the gamefields of New Jersey, but the sport is so hedged about with restrictions intended to prevent the wholesale slaughter of the animals that but comparatively few were shot. Of those which were captured the greater number were probably does, which are easier to approach than the bucks; but as it is unlawful to shoot these several hunters in South Jersey had to pay heavy fines for violating the law.

Seabird Maubach, of Hoboken, was arrested by State Warden Fred J. Hall with a doe in his possession. He was taken before Magistrate D. E. Isard and after a long hearing paid a fine of $100 and costs.

Hunters from all parts of the State gathered here Tuesday evening and on Wednesday morning, before daylight, they invaded the woods and fields between this place and Weymouth. Howard Schenk, of Weymouth, and Harry Moore, of this place, each brought down a large buck and others were killed by visiting sportsmen, while a number of does and fawns fell victims. Sportsmen say it is difficult to keep within the law in this respect as in the brush it is next to impossible to distinguish one deer from another.

One of the features of the new law is that provision prohibiting the use of dogs in hunting deer, which many hunters, who have not been used, sportsmen say many wounded deer that cannot be trailed are slowly dying in the woods.

Eight wardens patrolled the woods and fields of Atlantic County Wednesday watching for violations of the law and many arrests were made, but on the whole the opening day may be said to have been very successful. No injuries were received by sportsmen so far as can be learned.

It will again be lawful Wednesday next to take a buck deer and on each succeeding Wednesday of November. Those who go abroad after the game should have their hunting licenses with them and avoid violating the law in respect to killing does and fawns, for there will be wardens in almost every gamefield of the County. The deer are plentiful, but the bucks are reported shy and fortunate is the hunter who secures a shot at one. The favorite stands are in the vicinity of Weymouth.

Hallowe'en Guests in a Motley Array Enjoyed Merry Games.
A masquerade party was held Hallowe'en at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. G. Ritchie for their daughter, Florence. The evening was spent with Hallowe'en games and other amusements after which refreshments were served. The dining room was decorated with Japanese lanterns and autumn leaves. Among those present were: Miss Pearl Jenkins, Yellow Kid; Mary Jenkins, Flower Girl; Pearl Applepie; American Girl; Susan Smith; Gypsy; Etta Blackson, American Belle; Lena Sauters, Atlantic City; Florence Ritchie, Sauters Lady; Penny Barrett, Indian; Marjorie Wigglesworth, Clown; Susie Gaskill, Japanese Girl; Laura Shand, Black in costume; Elks Hendon, Clown; Reba Seall, Atlantic City; Fanny Dress; Reba Dawson, Fairy; Grace Dawson, Lord Fauntleroy; Emily Sauters, Atlantic City; Fanny Dress; Bessie Dawson, Old Woman; Josephine Pack, Queen of Hearts; Maude Remmey, Black Domino; Charles Hill, Cow Boy; Robert Barrett, Old Man; Harry Gault, Old Woman; Raymond Keans, Chinaman; Carl Pack, Negro; Charles Kelly, Indian; Chas. Morris, Tramp; Raymond Abbott, Cook; Lormer Wild, Negro.

Million Dollar Pier.
The vaudeville bill presented at the popular playground by Capt. John L. Young for the entertainment of his thousands of patrons is one of the best ever offered in the resort. The known vaudeville acts are secured weekly by Manager Dawson and the popularity of the pier theatre is steadily increasing with seashore visitors. In addition to the vaudeville performances Capt. Young has provided many other attractions for the amusement of young and old, including dancing, tennis, basketball, children's games, etc., all for the small price of admission, ten cents. The big pier is comfortably heated and its roomy sun-parlors are the meet of visitors on cold autumn days. Do not fail to visit the pier when you are next in Atlantic City.

Horse Chews Tobacco.
John Babcock, of Gravelly Run, is the owner of a horse that chews tobacco with a selfish can get away with a great quantity of the weed than the average man. The animal devours a plug in short order and his capacity and liking for the weed seems to be unlimited. Mr. Babcock says the horse must have some new feed on New Year's day as the cost of satisfying the animal's craving for the weed is beyond his pile.

Freeholders Postpone Monthly Meeting.
Owing to the fact that the regular date for the November meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders fell so early in the month, and also the election day, the meeting was adjourned Wednesday until the 10th inst. The monthly meeting will be held on Wednesday, November 10, at 7:30 p. m. Consider all bills presented before reporting them to the Board.

Residents of Hampton Progressive.
Evidence of the progressiveness of Hampton residents is seen in the recent acquisition of a town vacuum cleaner, which is rented out to residents to clean their homes. The purchase of the cleaner is the result of the Civic Club's good work in the municipality.

Red Men and Band Made Splendid Showing in Parade.
Narragansett Tribe No. 101, I. O. R. M., and the Capital Cornet Band, who participated Saturday evening last in the Hallowe'en parade in Ocean City, made a splendid showing and at the head of the procession received continuous ovations along the line of march.

Campaign for Better Phone Service.
The installation of many more phones in private residences and places of business in May's Landing is inevitable since the Bell Telephone Company has reduced the cost of service to $3.50 monthly. Phones are fast becoming a household necessity.

Death of Mrs. Emma Peterson.
The funeral service of Mrs. Emma Peterson, aged 61 years, of Bridgeport, was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of her son, Mr. Peterson, who was made. Mrs. Peterson was a sister to Scott Champlin, of this place, and was well known here.

Impressions of a Visitor.
Editor of The Record.
DEAR SIR:—Some fifteen years since I had occasion to visit May's Landing, where I spent several days searching records in the office of the County Clerk. At that time there were poor accommodations and in order to devote myself to the work I was obliged to remain in the village overnight.

In the course of my rambles I made the acquaintance of many people, and long walks about the town made with families with advantages and the many attractions that had been afforded it by nature. At that time land was selling rapidly in this part of Atlantic County and I remember the vivid impressions of the rapid growth in store for May's Landing. Surely, thought I, this village, with its beautiful river and lake and its abundant healthfulness would not long remain in obscurity.

Shortly after my visit, I was called to the West, where I remained until recently, when I determined once more to visit the village and see what changes time had made. Needless to say, I was greatly taken aback to find practically the same town that I left fifteen years ago. There were some improvements, but the old village had been preserved, and it was to all appearances, the same village it was at that time. The waterworks have been erected, others remodeled, waterworks have been installed and other changes made, but it was, to all appearances, the same village it was at that time. The waterworks have been erected, others remodeled, waterworks have been installed and other changes made, but it was, to all appearances, the same village it was at that time.

SUNDAY SCHOOL INSTITUTE.

Big School of Instruction to Be Held in Camden November 17-19.

Sunday school workers are planning to hold a large summer school at the New Jersey Conference Sunday School Institute, in First M. E. Church in Camden, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, November 17th, 18th and 19th, under the auspices of the Board of Sunday Schools of the Methodist Episcopal Church. This will be the first school of instruction held in the East by the Board and live Sunday school workers in this State are looking forward to the institute as a very choice opportunity. While the school is to be conducted by the Sunday School Board of the Methodist Episcopal Church it will not be sectarian and Sunday school workers of all denominations are privileged to attend.

MASQUERADE MERRY EVENT

Hallowe'en—Costumes and Disguises at Jackson House Ball
Were Quaint, Curious and Fantastical.

There was a notable gathering of people of all ages and nations at the Jackson House Monday evening last, where one of the most enjoyable masquerades that ever occurred in this place was held. The costumes, quaint, curious and fantastical, worn by the guests presented a not unusual array of weird, uncanny beings such as one seldom meets with on terra firma. Devils and nuns, ages and folk, robust youth and grim death made merry together until the stroke of twelve.

Space does not permit the description of the costumes, each of which displayed striking originality and effectively disguised the guests until, after several dances, word was given by mine host, William W. Jackson, to unmasks. Then followed an evening of unbroken merriment, except when the masqueraders kept quiet long enough to permit a photograph to be secured a flashlight record of the strange assemblage.

The decorations, consisting of Jack-o'-lanterns, oriental lamps and other oddities appropriate to the occasion, were beautiful and made a fitting background for the revel of the weird gathering. At the end of the ball the festive band, fairly groaning with its weight of fruits, candies, nuts, elder and other Hallowe'en delicacies, offered refreshment to the guests. Music was furnished for the dances, which included several old fashioned numbers, by Miss Grace Estel.

The characters impersonated by the guests were as follows: The colored twips, Miss Virginia C. McClintock and Mrs. Grace E. Ham; Ching Lee, Mrs. E. L. Johnson; Nuri, Mrs. Charles D. Makepeace; Old fashioned girl, Miss Rebecca Bourgeois; Colonial dame, Mrs. Walter Mahne; Baby doll, Mrs. W. W. Jackson; Quakeress, Miss Ellen Baker; Bicycle girl, Mrs. H. C. James; Country belle, Mrs. G. L. Harker; Quaker maid, Miss Marie Harker; Fat baby, Mrs. E. C. Shaner; German peasant girl, Miss Marjorie C. Shaner; Gypsy maid, Miss Shand; Miss Taggart, of Philadelphia; Pajama girl, Miss Julia Kirkman, of Philadelphia; Old fashioned belle, Miss Jennie Yetter; Girl of 20 years old, Miss Alma Yetter; Billy boy, Miss Marion Shaner; Death, Miss Helen S. English; Clown, Sheriff E. L. Johnson; Clown and Spanish Cavalier, Russell Kibbey; Negro dude, Charles D. Makepeace; Gentleman of Eighteenth Century, Ralph Davidson; Dinah, the colored nurse, William W. Jackson; French peasant girl, Edward W. J. Bunn, of Philadelphia; Black Domino, George Ripley, of Atlantic City; Missusman, John E. Isard; His Satanic Majesty, Albert C. Abbott; Country dude, Dr. Wilmer Abbott; German Jew, Dr. G. L. No Extra Session Says Governor.
That there will be no special session of the Legislature has been practically agreed upon by Governor Fort, following a conference with Attorney General Edmund Wilson. The Governor says he will make a further announcement as to the recalling of the Legislature but it is thought that the whole proposition is off for the present. Opposition of South Jersey Senators is said to have killed the extra session movement.

Season for Duck Opened Monday.
The season for duck, geese and all web-footed wild fowls opened Monday, November 1, in South Jersey but was not marked by any great slaughter of this game. Sportsmen say the ducks, which were very plentiful in early October, are now few in number, although some fair bags were made during the week. Local gunners are unanimous in the opinion that the season for duck shooting should open in September before they have left for the South.

Teachers' Institute at Hampton.
The teachers' institute opened yesterday at Hampton and will conclude to-day. The program to-day includes an address by Dr. Myron T. Scudder, of Rutgers College, "A Broader Course of Study for Elementary Schools;" "Method Inspection;" by Dr. L. C. M. Halsey, of Williamsport, "Work and with Boys;" Dr. Scudder. The institute will have with an organization of the members of Boards of Education. Several teachers of this Township are in attendance.

Building Up-to-date Chicken Farm.
One of the finest chicken farms in the County will be that of E. Wayne Evans, which he is building at Clarkstown. The large "coop" now under course of construction includes "sun-parlors" and all up-to-date conveniences for its inmates. The building is one of the finest and most modern of its kind in this part of the State.

For Sale or Rent.
House and farm known as Champion place, consisting of twenty-five acres of good land, can be purchased or rented on reasonable terms.

MAY'S LANDING, NOVEMBER 6, 1909.

Proudly struts many a turkey gobbler foredoomed to certain execution within the month.

Coming events cast their shadows before. Prophets again foretell the end of the world preceding the reappearance of Halley's comet which will sweep through our orbit early next Spring.

Dangerous decayed limbs on the trees along Main Street threaten the safety of residents and should be removed without delay before winter storms increase the menace to life and limbs of pedestrians and drivers.

Once more the people of Atlantic County have demonstrated their faith in the administration of the Grand Old Party by registering a heavy majority at the polls in favor of its candidates. 'Tis the party that governs according to the liberal principles of the people, for the people and by the people.

The comparative scarcity of ducks along the waterways of the County on the opening day of the season, November 1, emphasizes the contention of sportsmen that the season in South Jersey should open earlier in the Fall, before the ducks have flown South to be killed after fattening on Jersey meadows. The season should open in October.

No mistake has been made by the people of Atlantic County in the election of Walter E. Edge as Assemblyman. He is an upright, progressive, liberal-minded citizen and will devote his services unselfishly to promoting the prosperity of his constituents. He will faithfully guard the interests of Atlantic County in the lower branch of the Legislature.

"Newspaper talk" is a term characterizing the sensationalism of so-called "yellow journals" of the day, detrimental to the public and to the good influence of the newspapers indulging in this barbaic taste for notoriety. For news clean in tone and strong in moral fibre, calculated to advance the interests of all and injure nobody, the average "country weekly" can give its city cousin a worthy receipt.

Not that the Fall political campaign and the election are over, let everybody get together for the advancement of general prosperity. The wheel of Fortune, a term as applicable to municipal progress as to that of individuals, may turn slowly; but if everybody will take hold of it and push for all they are worth it will soon turn our way. The only way for a municipality to advance is for its people to work in harmony towards that end.

The Xenia, published at Egg Harbor City, appeared Saturday last as an all home printer and the editor and publisher, Frank O. Breder, deserves much praise for his progressiveness. Brother Breder realizes that improvement is the order of the day and sets a shining example for his many subscribers and patrons to "brush up" their own business and put their shoulders to the wheel of progress. Egg Harbor City is an up-to-date municipality and The Xenia is the standard bearer for further progress.

In olden times they "grogged" public morals and gossip, a punishment which might not do any great harm in these modern days, when some people are prone to "enlighten" their neighbors of everybody's business except their own and to find fault with everyone but themselves. If people would only follow the rule, "talk good of your neighbor or not at all," how much better would it be for all. As the sage has said, "There is so much good in the worst of us, and so much bad in the best of us, it is not wise to talk about any of us."

Perhaps some people do not know that to throw glass or other material on the public highways where it will cut the tires of automobiles is a criminal offense. If such is the case, it would be practical to place them under arrest and impose the penalty provided by law, for experience is the best teacher. The automobile has as many rights on the road as anything that goes on wheels and those rights should be respected and protected. Glass is oftentimes thrown on the roads through carelessness, but even this is not excusable. It is almost as great an offense to place glass or other such materials on the public roads as it is to spike a railroad switch or place obstructions on the tracks.

The political contest at the polls is over, the result conclusive, and everybody should now bury factional differences and work in harmony for the best interests of Atlantic City and Atlantic County. Atlantic City is enjoying the greatest popularity with people from all parts of the country it has ever known and its great prosperity should be fostered by the unanimous efforts of its residents, not deterred by party strife. The Queen Westcott now asks her citizens to be men; to forget what is past and look to a greater, better city in the future; to get together in a spirit of compromise and establish a municipal government free from jealousy and contention that shall be at once the envy and admiration of every city in the United States. Atlantic City has much in the public eye, and her prosperity depends so largely upon public favor, that all should strive for a perfect administration of city affairs. Everybody join hands and hearts in union for the best interests of the resort, which is entering upon a new era of prosperity. And what is good for Atlantic City is good for the County at large.

Gods of Joy

In the Comfort of Philip's Strength Jackie Rested Content.

erary Press.

Out through the Dorringtons' Japanese garden fled the Little White Lady. There were lotus lilies on the pond, and two great gray lagooned posts green lighted, guarded the gates. Then came the white driveway and the stretch of dark pines, and in the pines the Little White Lady paused.

"There!" she whispered and laughed deliciously. "He'll never find me." But he did find her, looming like a great ghost in his white linen suit. "You can't get away from me," he chanted. The Little White Lady sat down on a log. "If you follow young women into a dark stretch of woods you should bring a chapman with you," she reproved him.

"Mrs. Dorrington is asleep." "Asleep!" Jacqueline said. "Why, it's only 9 o'clock." He laughed. "Don't let us quarrel any more, Jackie."

"It isn't I who quarrel," she said indignantly. "Then let us say it is I," he murmured, "and, having made of myself the culprit, we will return to the original subject."

"No. You will ask me to marry you again, and I won't." "And yet you will give me no reason," he said gravely, coming close to her. "If you will say once with your eyes meeting mine that you do not love me I will promise not to ask you again for a fortnight."

Her eyes fell. "I want to be free." He drew a long breath. "Oh, Little White Lady," he said, "would you feel caged to come to me? I have loved you so long, and you are only nineteen now. I was such a big boy when you used to flutter through the garden next door and peep through the hedge and beg for our roses."

"And even then you called me the Little White Lady," she reminded him. "Yes, and when I went away two years ago I thought you would give me your heart, Little White Lady. But ever since my return you have evaded every question."

"Father needs me." "That night Philip Walford had a long talk with his host. "Is the father still daff on plant parasites?" he asked. "Yes, and Jacqueline reads to him every night because his eyes are bad."

"It's a beastly shame," Philip gazed out. When Jackie went home she refused to talk to Philip.

"Of course I saw him," she told her sisters wearily the first morning at breakfast, "and he's just the same old Phil."

"Did he make love to you?" Minette demanded. "I should hope not." It was their father who spoke. "You know Jacqueline is already promised."

"Oh, that," laughed Minette, "of course! But that wouldn't keep her from flirting with Philip."

Jacqueline's face flamed. "It would," she declared. "I wouldn't flirt with Philip for anything in the whole wide world. He is too good, too true, to flirt with."

Minette looked at her curiously. "After that defense," she said, "the beast had better watch out for a rival."

The goggles were turned toward her. "Minette," her father asked in a heavy voice, "whom do you call the beast?" "Von Puttkamer," said Minette saucily.

And now the goggles were turned on Jacqueline. "My dear, I have given my word to my friend."

Jackie stood up and faced him. "But I haven't said that I would, father," she said.

And with that she fled from the room and to the foot of the garden, where there was an old sundial that marked the dividing line between the two places. Beyond was the Walford rose garden, and on a stone bench overruled with ivy, Philip was sketching.

"Ah, my Little White Lady," he said and made room for her, and then, as he saw her face, "What troubles you, dear?"

"Is anybody happy, Philip?" she asked, and she was very white. He shook his head. "Who knows?" he murmured. "But all the rest of the world might weep if only I could make you smile."

"Let me sit by you and watch you," she said, "and don't ask me any questions."

With his charcoal he sketched the bench on which she sat, and, smiling whimsically, he drew her figure, changing her modern gown of dainty to one of flowing classic lines, and on her head he put a wreath of poppies. Then he drew himself at her feet clad in a leopard skin and laurel crowned, and on their faces was the radiance of love and of youth. And underneath the picture he wrote, "The Gods of Joy."

"There," he said as he showed it to her. "I have changed the faces so that no one will know. But you must hang it in your room, and when you think that the world is dark look at it and remember that the day you tell me you love me that day will you and I be gods of joy, Jackie."

After that he saw little of her, and he busied himself planning the great yearly festival that the Walford family always gave to their neighbors. This year it was to be a costume ball, held on the lawn.

"I shall go as 'Spring,'" Minette told Jacqueline, "and Lucia wants to be a 'Slipshodness,' and you might be 'Beauty' and have Von Puttkamer as the 'Beast.'"

"Don't joke about it, Minette," pleaded Jacqueline. "I hate!"

"Hush!" Minette warned. "Here he comes with father."

Von Puttkamer was big and burly and foreign. He stammered a little when he spoke to Jacqueline. "Your father has been telling me that it is all arranged—that I am to have much happiness."

"Oh," said Jacqueline, trembling, "I am not sure!" "You are sure," said the old man impatiently. "It is all arranged. Von Puttkamer. You are to live here, and we will experiment together, and—I with my knowledge and you with your practical experience—together we shall astonish the world!"

Minette followed Jacqueline up to her room. "You are crying," she said. "Why don't you say that you won't do it, Jackie?"

"You know father," Jackie responded. "When he is crossed he stays up late and drinks, and I promised mother I would watch over him."

"I know," Minette said. For a moment the two girls clung together. But after a little while they talked of other things, and Minette's eyes, noting about the room, fell on the sketch that Philip had made.

"What a beauty! Why—why, the girl looks like you, Jackie!" "Does she?" asked Jackie listlessly. But when Minette had gone she studied the picture carefully, and all that night she sat up, fashioning a gown of clinging white and wearing pale pink poppies into a wreath.

And so it happened that Philip Walford, searching among the guests for the one who meant everything to him, found her on the bench in the rose garden.

"Jacqueline," he whispered. "Philip," she said, "tonight I want to be one of the gods of joy."

"You mean?" "Oh, not what you think! Let me tell you, Philip. Let me tell you now. I don't want to marry some one else, and you must forget me."

Then she told him, leaving the worst until the last. "I wouldn't marry him only—only father drinks when he is unhappy, and he has his heart set on my marrying Von Puttkamer."

"You are burning for martyrdom," said Philip hotly. But she was very firm. "I told you so that for tonight, I might feel free. And now let's eat, drink and be merry for tomorrow—who knows?"

He fell in with her mood, and they went back to the ballroom and danced and laughed, but all the time their hearts were heavy and their eyes were sad. At midnight he left her for an hour, and when he came back he took her to the stone bench.

"Oh, Little White Lady, you are going to marry me!" "No," she whispered. "Yes," Philip said, and all at once he smiled down at her. "Oh, Jackie, Jackie," he said, "why didn't you tell me long ago? Von Puttkamer was one of my classmates. He is in love with a pretty fraulein, but they couldn't marry because neither of them had a penny. And he gave her up and came to America. He thought that your money would mend his broken heart, and he let your father arrange the match. But now he's going to send for the little fraulein. I have offered him a place on my North Carolina estate, and wedding bells shall ring for both of us."

"But my father?" Jacqueline whispered. "We will send him down south with Von Puttkamer. Those great old forests will heal all disorders of mind and soul and body, and some day we will follow them and work out all our problems together, dear heart."

And in the comfort of his great strength Jacqueline rested content. "I am so happy," she whispered. "Oh, Philip, Philip, has the moment come at last when we are really the gods of joy?"

Student Co-operation. In every college there are numbers of good upper class men who are eager to co-operate with the faculty in starting freshmen along the right path, and it is amazing that thus far so little advantage has been taken of their services. Each of these upper class men should be given a list of from five to ten freshmen whom he would make it his duty to know. He would talk over with them their work and their play, their study, their amusements, their athletics. He would make sure that each, outside of his lessons, was given a sane interest, something to do for the college, whether participation in football or in debating or in writing, or in the college papers. He would see to it far more effectively than the dean, or even than the advisers, that each was getting his fair chance socially. He would report cases where financial aid was needed or admonition or encouragement. As it is at present, many fellows are lonely. Many, especially from a distance, miss the recognition they deserve merely because they ignorantly roam outside the sphere of undergraduate life or know no one at first, fall in with un congenial classmates and, becoming discouraged, withdraw into themselves. To such lonely men the dangerous pleasures existing outside of college appeal as substitutes for what they have missed in college. These tragedies would be far less likely to occur if all members of the class were thrown together through the provision of upper class men and advisers.—William R. Castle, Jr., in Atlantic.

Elastic. Riggs and Briggs are two Montreal citizens more or less interested in municipal affairs. They differ on several burning questions, but unite in a strong dislike for O'Flaherty (which is not the gentleman's name). The same O'Flaherty has a positive gift for manipulating votes and is capable of looking after a larger band of the "faithful" than any other Montreal politician. "It's men like O'Flaherty who give this city a bad name," said Riggs warmly. "He's got no principles at all. In fact, he doesn't think of anything but getting himself in."

"That's so," responded Briggs. "If I had a conscience as elastic as O'Flaherty's I'd make it into a rubber trust."

He-I suppose if I kissed you, you would never speak to me again?" She-Why do you always look on the dark side of things?

Very Narrow Escape.

A queer reminiscence gleam crept into the eyes of the barber with the long, low, rakish forehead as he suddenly rested his razor while shaving the Adam's apple of the lean, nervous looking man in the chair.

"I was King Louis XIV. of France last night," said the barber suddenly, the razor still poised about half an inch above the lean customer's Adam's apple.

The customer blinked and breathed hard, the shaved side of his face being nearly as white as the still lathered other side.

"Wait a minute," he said, placing a shaking hand on the barber's shaggy arm. He sat up straight in the chair with a wild look and then made a bolt for the door.

"Where?" he yelled as he went. "What an escape! King Louis XIV. Bughouse! He wouldn't have done a thing to me! And, with a towel streaming in the breeze and one side of his face still lathered, he leaped down the street."

"Well, I'll be dabbled!" muttered the barber. "Now, what kind of cogs has that fellow got in his cone? I was only trying to tell him that I was King Louis XIV. at the barbers' masquerade ball last night, and look at him going after the mile record!"—Detroit Free Press.

The Friend. "Every man, in my theory, will get just what he deserves in the long run." "Heaven pity you, old chap!"—Cleveland Leader.

The Knight Rejoiced. We believe that kissing is an English custom. We read in ancient history of a knight who visited the Field of the Cloth of Gold and who on being invited to a local castle was addressed by the "kynde lady" of the establishment, who remarked:

"Forasmuch as in England ye have such a custom as that a man may kysse a woman, therefore I will that ye shall kysse me, and ye shall also kysse these my maidens."

"Which thing," adds the old historian, "ye knyghte straightway did and rejoiced greatly thereat."

The Oldest Book. The oldest book in the world, so far as present information goes, is that by Ptah-Hotep, the Egyptian, compiled in the reign of Assa, about 3300 B. C. The manuscript of this ancient work is preserved in the Bibliotheque Nationale, Paris. It is written on papyrus, in hieratic characters, and is made up largely of political, moral and religious aphorisms.

Reptiles With Two Thousand Teeth. Many herbivorous reptiles of the mesozoic period had enormously long hind legs, on which they were able to wade far out into the deep water after seaweeds and other food. These creatures were particularly extraordinary inasmuch as each of them had about 2,000 grinders to chew with, arranged in magazines of 500 each, like cartridges.

"Lucky dog, that man Bosworth." "Has he come into a fortune?" "No, he has secured a certificate from his doctor showing that he has organic heart trouble. When an insurance agent attacks him hereafter he will merely have to show his certificate."—Chicago Record-Herald.

"Is he a good watchdog?" "Best I ever owned, but you've got to learn to understand his signals. When there's any suspicious character prowling around he sticks his tail between his legs and puts up the mournfullest howl you ever heard."

Roll of Honor. The attendance of pupils in the several departments of the May's Landing Public School at all of the sessions for the month of October, 1909, follows:

$100.00 In Cash Free to the Most Popular Organizations Commencing Thursday, November 4, 1909.

This store will make contributions in gold to the three leading lodges or organizations in a voting contest as follows:

We will inaugurate a voting contest at this store by issuing coupons with each purchase of 25 cents or over. The purchaser being entitled to 1 vote for every 25 cents purchase; 15 votes with $2.50; 35 votes with $5.00 in favor of lodge or organization you are a member of or friendly toward.

$60.00 in gold for the Organization receiving the majority of votes.

$25.00 for the Second

$15.00 for the Third

Thus you will see that out of the great volume of votes cast that will surely come in during this contest three lodges will be given substantial cash award. Of course, you buy things, and by being a buyer here, you are eligible to enter the contest.

We have now been in business in Atlantic City a little over one year and feel like showing our appreciation for the hearty support we have received by making a substantial offering to the Lodges and Organizations of Atlantic City, a goodly number of whose members deal with us. Of course in some cases we will be inviting the trade of some who have not dealt with us in the past.

In doing so we feel that we are justly entitled to your patronage from a pure business standpoint. Our business has been doubled since taking this store. There must be some reasons for this increase, and we sincerely believe for those not acquainted with our methods that you will find merchandise and business methods that you will find a HIGHER GRADE OF CLOTHING, FURNISHING GOODS and SHOES for the money than where you have been dealing heretofore.

Very truly yours,

Bernstein Clothing Company,

Successor to Bacharach & Sons,

Kentucky & Atlantic Avenues,

Contest will Close December 24th; 10 P. M., 1909.
