Egg Harbor City, N. J.

The product of above vineyards consists of pure brands of the celebrated "Egg Harbor Wines." For domestic use and sick room, they are fast taking place of all others. Attention is directed to our speciality, which consists of the sweet juice of the grape being kept in the condition as it leaves the press, by entirely preventing the usual fermentation, thus obtaining a permanent

"MUST." For this roduct we retain the original name of unfermented grape julce, as it is not a "wine" on account of possessing no spirituous or olcoholic properties. It is needless to speak of the delightfulness of this beverage, as all will readily perceive, that it is equivalent to consuming the delicious grape in liquid form. For invalidation has proven most exhibitating and highly beneficial to which numerous Physicians can testify. Temperance people can have no objection to the use of Must, and will certainly hall it as a promoter of their cause. Churches are using it for sacramental purposes in preference to the various boiled juices, as they begin to discover the positive keeping qualities of Must. TRIP LIGHTLY.

Trip lightly over trouble, Trip lightly over wrong; We only make grief double By dwelling on it long. Why clasp Woe's hand so tightly? Why mgh over blossoms dead? Why cling to forms unsightly?

Why not seek joy instead? Trip lightly over sorrow, Though all the days be dark, The sun may shine to-morrow And gaily sing the lark, Fair Hope has not departed, Though poses may have fied; Then never look down-hearted,

But look for joy instead. Trip lightly over sadness, Stand not to rail at doom; We've pearle to string of gladness On this side of the temb. Whilst start are nightly shining, And heaven is overhead, Encourage not repining. But look for joy instead.

Starbird's Feat on Skales.

At the time of our trouble with the Uncapapas, six years ago, Company. Goi the-th regiment, was stationed on the Upper Missouri at Fort Galpin, where

The first hostile act was to capture soldier who had received his discharge, and was on his way east with a party of teamsters. He was waylaid while antelope shooting at a distance from his party, and taken (still wearing his uniform) to one of their villages, was tortured and killed after the situation at once. He had been

For the Unespapas were now being joined by numbers of the worst characters from other neighboring tribes of Siony who like neighboring tribes of Sioux, who, like up stream. ungry wolves, were drawn to the place where there was a prospect of bloodshed. Meanwhile cold weather came on, and the river froze over. There was not much snow, but just a thin layer of it over the hard frozen ground and ice. For more than a month no coursers from below had clubbed their guns and ran to meet him: come to us, nor had I dared to send out messengers. But at length it became neces-sary, in view of the threatening hostility of the Indians, to communicate with Forts Union and Buford, at all hazards. On the morning of the nineteenth of November, the men were called together, and after telling them of my dislike to detail one of them for such a service, I inquired whether either of them would volunteer to take a dispatch to Fort Union—a distance of nearly of quite one hundred miles.

There was hesitation, as I had expected.

To one responded for some minutes. Presently a private named Freeman A. Starbird stepped from the line and said he would try it if he could be furnished with a good pair of akates. Starburd was a young man of about twenty-three, from some of the Eastern States, New Hampshire, 1 think. His name was Freeman Amariah Starbird. I remember the middle name distinctly, because the boys used jocosely to call him "Ann Maria" from the similarity of the

"Can you skate, Starbird?" I asked.
"Oh, I used to skate a little," said he.

"I rather guess I can get down to Fort Union by night—if I don't come to too many open stretches?'
"And the redskins don't shoot you from the bank," some one in the line added,
