State Game Commission is Doing

Good Work New Jersey has long been regarded as one of the choice hunting grounds of the Middle states, and has suffered more than any-other Rastern State from the forays of sportsu from neighboring jurisdictions. The report of the Board of Fish and Came Commissioner for 1904 shows that estimactory progress ha been made in the prestivation of New Jerse game and fish of all kinds by the vigorous execution of stringent protective statutes as the liberal restoking of the forests, Selds and waters of the States. The com declare that with an ever-increasing popula ion, and the consequent reduction of th areas in which game may live great care must be taken lest through lack of proper recautions all game disappear in many the counties. The commissioners and wardens have been alive to this danger, and are doing all in their power to avert it. Hen ersey is within easy reach of the sportsmen of New York and Philadelphia. Hunters who have not respected the New Jersey game laws have doubtless realized the force of the com missioners' assertion that the game protector have been "diligent, untiring and efficient to the discharge of their duties; that the State sectured that illegal shooting has been reds o a great extent, with the result that game

The restocking of he region with this variety of his same is sel much appreciated as anything that her been done by the commission. The farmers have taken every precaution to have the deer pro

The commissioners call attention to the evil of changing the laws every year, and strongly advocate uniform regulations, sthat New York, Pennsylvania and New Jerse: may work in conjunction, so far as may practicable, for the propagation and protec tion of game and fish. The commission can discover no reason why this cannot be ac complished.

The attraction of New Jersey as a bunting ground for Philadelphians is indicated by the fact that, under the act requiring non-resi dents to secure licenses before hunting of gunning within the State, more licenses were imued in Camden in 1904 than in all the other

That to the eye are fair. One trail ascends, and day by day You climb you cannot rehand one is down hill all the way-It's up to you, my son.

Stern duty guards the upper trail-Exacts obedience, too-And he who treads it cannot fall To win, if he be true: But fickle folly, gay with smiles, Rules o'er the other one And leads to ruin with her wiles It's up to you, my son.

At the end of one long trail you'll find That all the tears and moans And galling cares you left behind Were needed stepping stones; And at the other's end you'll see Your pleasures, one by one, But led you on to misery-

It's up to you, my son.

At partings of the trails you stand, At early manhood's gate; Your future lies in your own hand-Will it be low or great? If now you choose the trail of Right, When you the height have won You'll bask in Honor's fadeless light-It's up to you, my son. -Denver Post.
