A FIELD FLOWER'S COMPLAINT.

If I had been a snowdrop, the first one of the year, Would you have thought me beautiful, being the first, my dear? If I had been a royal rose grown higher than your heart, Would you have bent your face to mine, and drawn my leaves apart,

Until they dropped about your feet, and all my heart lay bare A broken heart, a golden heart, for you to leave or wear-Would you have gathered in your hand each fallen rosy leaf, And said a gentle word for Hie so beautiful and brief?

But I, that fain would be a rose and wear her royal red A field flower among field flowers, I lift my loveless head; Among the tall dead nettles, white campion who will heed? White campion shrinking faintly mid dock and silverweed? -Black and White.

Women Wage-Earners,

HE entrance of women in large numbers to occupations which were once almost exclusively restricted to men is one of the distinguished furacteristics of the present industrial age. Its effect upon social conditions has become the subject of anxious inquiry. Competition for employment in gainful callings is no longer to one sex, and heads of families find it increasingly difficult to maintain their charges unless their daughters become wage carners. Thus the ranks of labor at all mitable for women are constantly recruited. Many women, married and unmarried, are obliged by ecensity to seek employment from which they were forerly excluded by custom. Others desire financial inde Dispatch.

The Cobbler is a Man Without Ap

One of the trades in which you will not find an apprentice is that of the cobbler, and thank goodness it is so. Did you ever see a more forlorn looking spectacle than the poor cobbler, with dull and hopeless eye, hammering away at morning, noon and night, day after day? He is the poorest paid mechanic we have. If he is a magried many he suffers, if he is a bachelor he exists

Machinery has eliminated the shoe maker as an economic necessity. Understand a shoemaker is a man who makes shoes. A cobbler is one who repairs shoes. The man, who builds shoes in a factory is not a shoemaker, he is a factory hand.

Thirty years ago, when all shoes were made by hand, the shoemaker sarned a fair mlary of from $12 to $16 per week. Every shoe shop had from ive to ten shoemakers working. Shoes and boots cost from $5 to $15, and they received much more repairing than do the shoes of to-day. Now girls are working in the factories and hundreds of good shoemakers are looking for

of business, and making more money, A journeyman cobbler seldom makes

One may wonder why it is that the cobbler nearly always finds a mean, dirty hole to crawl into and to call it a repair shop. The fact is, he cannot afford to pay much rent. In the average shoe shop in the good seasons spring and summer-he can do $4 worth of repairing a day, and not more than $6 if he works in the night time. Four dollars per day and six days a week make $24 per week.

In order to do $24 worth of work he will require $9 worth of leather, etc.
