MAY'S LANDING, ATLANTIC CO., N. J., SATURDAY, AUGUST 10, 1878.

OUR OWN:

If I had known in the morning How wearily all the day The words unkind Would trouble my mind, I said when I went away, had been more careful, darling Nor given you needless pain : But we ver "our own' With look and tone We may never take back again

VOL. I.

For though in the quiet evening I may give you the kiss in peace, Yet it might be That never for me The pain of the heart should cease ! How many go forth in the morning That never come home at night And hearts have been broken, By harsh words spoken, That sorrow ne'er can set right

We have careful thought for the strange And smiles for the sometime guest, But oft for "Sour own " The bitter tone. Though we love "our own" the best. Ah ! lips with curse impatient Ah ! brow with that look of scorn ! 'Twere a cruel fate, Were the night too late To undo the work of the morn.

It was by the untidy habit of a ser-vant, who, when trimming the lampe, always wiped his oily hands on his scanty looks, that the effects of petroleum upon the growth of the hair was noticed. In a short time this old servant, bald and gray-headed as he was, be-gan to show a good head of hair, and the se-cret was out '2. But the best refined petro-ieum cannot be used as a hair dressing and the chemist's art had to be employed so as to destroy the offensive odor, and at the same time retam the subtle qualities which gave health to the scale and natural color and vigor to the hair. But the skill of one of our chemist has overcome the difficulty, and by a pro-cess known only to himself, he has, after very costly and elaborate experiments, succeeded in deodorising refined petroleum, which renders it susceptibles of being handled as daintily as the famous KAU DE co-LOSEE.
