Study of the speed of fishes is em barrassed by unavoidable difficulties It is not possible, as with birds, to set up tail poles at intervals of a quater of a mile, and, with the help of stop watches, time them as they go by Nevertheless, recent investigation o the subject goes to show that the mackersi, if not the champion racesof the briny deep, comes pretty near to carrying off the honors. Unques tionably it travels sometimes as fast as an express train at high speed—say, at the rate of sixty or possibly seventy

Other things being equal, the larger the fish the faster it swims-just as the huge steamship is able to travel at speed much greater than the little harbor tug. Undoubtedly the energy imployed by a fish of great size, such as a thirty-foot shark, when traveling at its best gait is something tremendous. An ordinary tug, which repre sents a maximum of energy in a minimum of bulk, utilizes about 200 horse power. Of course, it is only a guesa but it would not seem to be over the mark to suppose that a seventy-foot whale makes use of 500 horse power when it propels its huge bulk through the water at a rate of thirty miles an hour.
