

YOUTH'S COLUMN.

Child Woe.—A most amusing account of child-woe is told of a little boy who was so much spoiled by his mother, that he was unable to do anything but cry. On one occasion, when some of his friends were playing with him, he was so much annoyed by their teasing, that he began to cry. His mother, who was in the room, saw this and immediately ran to him, and began to cry with him. The friends, seeing this, began to cry also, and in a few minutes the whole room was in a state of commotion. The mother, seeing this, began to cry again, and in a few minutes the whole room was in a state of commotion. SCIENTIFIC.

The California Gravel.—In an interesting sketch of the California Gravel, by W. A. Goodyear, before the California Academy of Sciences, the author claims that the whole character of the gravel proved that it was of glacial origin. The gravel, he says, is composed of rounded stones of various sizes, and is found in all the valleys of the State. DOMESTIC.

Washing Day.—Whether to wash clothes on Monday or Tuesday is a question which has long puzzled housewives. Some say that Monday is the best day, while others say that Tuesday is the best day. The question, however, is not so simple as it seems. The day of the week, the weather, and the state of the laundry all have to be taken into consideration. AGRICULTURE.

MANURE ON PIGS.—Mange on pigs is a disease which is caused by a minute insect, and is characterized by the appearance of small, raised, itchy spots on the skin. The disease is most common in pigs which are kept in dirty, unwholesome surroundings. The disease is most common in pigs which are kept in dirty, unwholesome surroundings. HUMOROUS.

His Manner.—While Mrs. Johnson was washing her clothes, her husband, Mr. Johnson, was sitting in the parlor, reading a newspaper. He was so absorbed in his reading, that he did not notice that his wife was crying. He was so absorbed in his reading, that he did not notice that his wife was crying. CONSUMPTION.

Consumption.—An old physician, retired from practice, having placed in his hands a new and simple remedy for the cure of consumption, he has decided to publish it. The remedy, he says, is composed of natural ingredients, and is perfectly safe and reliable. The remedy, he says, is composed of natural ingredients, and is perfectly safe and reliable.
