THE ROOTS OF THE ROSES.

The leaves are fading and falling,

The winds are rough and wild,

The birds have ceased their calling.

But let me tell you, my child-

Though day by day as it closes,

Doth darker and colder grow,

The roots of the bright red roses

Will keep alive in the mow.

The boughs will get new leaves,

The birds come back to the clover,

The swallow back to the caves;

The robin will wear on his bosom

The vest that is bright and new.

And the liveliest wayside blossom

Will shine with sun and dew.

So, when some dear joy loses It beauteous summer glow,

Think how the roots of the roses
