From the Capital.

TRENTON, Jan. 18, 1872.
INAUGURATION OF THE GOVERNOR.
The ceremonies attending the inauguration of Gov. Parker, were carried out according to the programme announced. Notwithstanding the snow storm which prevailed during the morning, the streets were crowded with spectators, all the early trains bringing in visitors from abroad. Flags were displayed at various points, the entrance to the United States Hotel, where Gov. Parker has quarters, being handsomely festooned.

The Third and Sixth Regiments—the former from Elizabeth and the latter from Camden—arrived about ten o'clock, and at once proceeded to the rendezvous assigned them. Both were accompanied by bands of music. The Camden battery also arrived during the morning, attracting considerable attention.

The military procession was formed about eleven o'clock and marched over the designated route.

The procession reached Taylor Hall shortly after twelve, where the Senate and House had assembled half an hour before—the members of the former body occupying the stage, which was finely decorated, and of the latter seats in the parquette. Among those on the stage were ex-Govs. Vroom, Randolph and others. The hall was crowded with spectators, admission being regulated by ticket. Among those present were many well known politicians, many of the Democratic persuasion. Gov. Parker's family occupied a private box.

The ceremonies were opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. Hall, of this city, after which the official oath was administered to the Governor elect, and the Great Seal of the State was delivered into his keeping. He was then formally introduced to the Senate and House of Assembly, and proceeded to read his Inaugural Address.

At the conclusion of the Inaugural ceremonies, the Committee of Arrangements and a number of officials dined together at the Trenton House.

THE AIR LINE AGAIN.
A bill to incorporate the New York, Philadelphia & Memphis Railway Co., was introduced in the Senate on Monday. The company is authorized to construct a railway from some point on the Hudson river to some point in Camden city, passing near Trenton, and to connect with any road that is or may be built in Pennsylvania, and also to lay out and build a branch from this line to the Delaware river. This bill is generally considered as a hoax, gotten up for black-mailing purposes.

THE COMMITTEES,
were announced on Monday evening by the speakers of the respective Houses. It appears that your Senator, Hon. Wm. Moore, is to be kept at work as hard as when he was in Congress. He is on four committees, and if the members of all the committees are as well selected, there has been a study of the general fitness of things in their make-up. Mr. Moore is on the committees on Agriculture, Revision of Laws, Commerce and Navigation, and Industrial School for Girls, being chairman of the three. Your Representative, Hon. S. H. Cavileer, is assigned to the Com. on Miscellaneous Business.

JUDGE WOODHULL.
It is believed that Judge Dupuis, of Newark, will be re-appointed to the Supreme Bench, and that of the other Republican Judges whose terms expire during Gov. Parker's administration, but one at most will be supplanted by a Democrat. Possibly Judge Dalrymple in that case would be the victim, but there are many who think that not his head, but that of Judge Woodhull, of the South Jersey Circuit, would fall into the basket. Both are capable and high-toned Judges, but the Republicans of South Jersey, who stick for the retention of Woodhull; all in speculation in regard to the Chief Justice and Chancellor. The Republicans will demand some concession from Parker before confirming his appointments. There is no reason why, with a large Republican majority in each House, all the vacancies should be filled by Democrats.

MISCELLANEOUS.
Mr. Moore, on Monday, introduced a supplement to the Millville Insurance Company, authorizing it to increase its capital stock to an amount not exceeding $250,000.

A concurrent resolution in the Senate was adopted, urging the Representatives in Congress to urge the passage of a law making Jersey City a port of entry.

A concurrent resolution was introduced by Mr. Rodgers of Mercer, requesting the Senate and Congressmen of New Jersey to urge the passage of a bill by Congress to appropriate $300,000 for the building of public buildings at Trenton.

Mr. Leslie, of Camden, introduced a bill to incorporate the Alden Fruit Preserving Co. of Camden.

The bill to create the county of Landis has been introduced in the Senate and is identical with the bill defeated last year.

Mr. Bourquin introduced a bill to revise and amend the charter of the City of Camden relative to taxes; also to regulate and control the sale of spirituous and other intoxicating liquors in the several wards of Camden, giving in fact a local option law to each.

The bill for the extension of the South Branch Railroad from Flemington to the Delaware river will be introduced in the Senate within a day or two.

The speaker of the House introduced on Tuesday a concurrent resolution asking our Senators and Representatives in Congress to urge the repeal of the franking privilege, and acknowledging the benefits and advantages of the Civil Service Reform.

Asa Packer's bill for the construction of a coal railroad across New Jersey, is here in the hands of Mr. Baltus Pickett, and will be introduced in a day or two. It is said to confer a roving charter, and will no doubt provoke a vigorous opposition.

Gov. Parker has appointed Mr. John Hall, son of Rev. Dr. Hall, as his Private Secretary.

Gov. Parker will occupy the Attorney General's room at the State House, until the work of erecting the new executive apartments is completed—abandoning the rooms on State street occupied during the Summer by Gov. Randolph.

THE LEGISLATURE will get fairly to work by the beginning of next week, and those who have business in that quarter should remember that the time for the presentation of private bills is limited.

HAMMONTON!

A Few Facts Concerning It.

Mr. Editor: When I came to this country, being in the winter season, the general aspect of the land had to me such a sandy and barren appearance, it was a long time before I could convince myself that the soil was good for anything; soils of the same general appearance being really good for nothing in the north British Provinces from which I came. After a few months had run their course, however, after the genial spring (which sets in here early in the month of March) had dispersed the chilling frosts of winter, which are never very severe in this country, I found that the soil with all its sandy appearance was good for something; that in fact it very readily responded to a moderate share of cultivation and manuring; that everything had a very rapid growth, far beyond what I had witnessed in countries farther north with a heavier soil, and apparently much more fertile.

As already stated the soil here very readily responds to a fair amount of cultivation and fertilizing. It requires a little manure of course, but not more in the aggregate than would be required in a stony, heavy soil, to produce a good crop. And let it be always borne in mind that less than one half the labor necessary in working a heavy soil is sufficient here to make it yield successful. One horse will till as much land in this place, as could possibly be accomplished in a different kind of soil with a pair of horses.

The land in South Jersey is principally adapted for fruit growing purposes, and in average good years more can be made from the soil in growing fruit than in any other way; yet it is highly adapted for farming purposes. With a considerable degree of culture and fertilizing it can grow very good wheat, a first quality rye, good corn at all seasons; potatoes of all varieties. As for sweet potatoes both in quantity and quality, I should think they were unsurpassed the world over; the nature of the soil being such as to produce them dry and nutritious, even as flour itself. In rare instances 300 bushels have been produced to the acre; and from 150 to 200 bushels can generally be obtained.

Clover readily takes root in this soil. New land in its first years' tillage, by putting upon it from 20 to 30 bushels of lime per acre, will grow good clover with rye or any other grain. And this is the way in which large portions of farms in this place ought to be disposed of; because in the absence of sufficiency of other manures, the land by this method would soon fertilize itself. In this more genial climate vegetable matters ploughed down decompose in far less time than in countries farther north. In our North British Provinces green sod must be ploughed down the year before, in order that the first crop may get the benefit of it, but here decomposition is so quick that it is sufficient to plough sod land, at the time of sowing the crop, and the full benefit derived therefrom is quite available for that crop.

Hitherto settlers in this region have given their chief attention to the cultivation of fruit, but although some years the profits realized in this way are greater than could otherwise be obtained, yet as a permanent thing, taking one year with another, it is thought that by laying out a larger portion of small farms in grass and clover, which would enable the farmer to keep more stock, would in the long run remunerate even better than the method first spoken of. The healthfulness of our climate in South Jersey is scarcely to be equalled anywhere. Having abundance of clear, pure water to drink, and a pure bracing air to breathe, and extremes of temperature being far less than in many other places, the mercury in winter very rarely going down to zero, and not being hotter here in summer than it is in the month of August in more northern countries, all these circumstances conduce largely to make this place healthy. Chills and fever in this central or inland part of South Jersey are scarcely known; and if brought here exist but a short time. Many cases of periodic fever in consumption have been cured here. Very aggravated and long standing cases of asthma have been thoroughly cured. Sufferings from rheumatism have been greatly alleviated. Chronic diarrhoea has been cured almost without number. For years before I came to this country I endured considerable from dyspepsia, I had also weak lungs, which caused me to cough almost incessantly during the winter months; but now I can safely and candidly state that I have been cured of both. The improvement brought about in my health has by no means been accomplished by medicine alone, but by a pure and bracing air; by using freely the different fruits in their season; by vegetable diet; and other hygienic measures. I conceive my health has been restored. Feeling grateful then to the land of my adoption for the many benefits it has conferred upon me; and desiring that many others whom it might suit to emigrate to this part of the world might be equally benefited. I have adopted this plan of giving publicity to these candid and honest sentiments. Candid and honest I wish to be, for I would be sorry to mislead any person by publishing and holding forth inducements to individuals which they were not likely to realize after coming here. I will therefore briefly state the classes of persons whom I consider would be chiefly benefited by coming to this place.

The class of persons whom I consider would be chiefly benefited by coming here, are: 1st. Those of some means who could bring some money with them, from $2,000 to $4,000 in hand, or a yearly income equal to the interest of that. This would be sufficient to purchase a comfortable home for them, and a little industry, knowledge and tact in farming on a small scale would ensure for them comfort and competency. 2d. Persons not enjoying very good health where they live and would wish to improve it. 3d. Persons who would regard their health rather than their wealth. 4th. Persons who would rather live quiet, easy lives with a competency; rather than toilsome, hazardous lives with the chance of breaking one's health or making a fortune. 5th. Those who wish to engage in a manufacturing business; rents and labor being cheap.

Fruit growing and farming on a small scale although requiring constant attention, have nothing in them of the same toil and labor that is required in newly opened up countries to clear land and farm on a large scale. But I must not forget that it may so happen in this place when fruits turn out favorably, not too plenty nor too scarce, which medium I consider is most likely to realize a good market price, that many persons have made and still may make little fortunes. There are many things to be had in the inland parts of South Jersey which cannot fail to make this place very congenial to the ways and habits of a large number of persons. The climate may be said to be almost temperate all the year round. Not only that the winters are never very severe, but there are other circumstances in connection with this region which ensure dryness of atmosphere, more genial weather and sunshine all the year round, than is to be found in many other countries. The land being of a sandy nature is very absorbent, so that let it rain all night or all day, or even for days and nights together, wet and moisture soon disappear. Mud and muddy roads are unknown in this region, although they often prevail on the outskirts of the State and along the Delaware, which causes chills and fevers to prevail at certain seasons of the year in those localities. What a rich boon is this of itself to be free from muddy roads spring and autumn which are so prevalent in other parts of the world.

Snow storms are never very severe or of long duration in these parts, and the weather generally is not so cold in winter, but almost every kind of labor can be carried on; not excepting even tilling and ploughing the soil. As a general thing whatever snow falls at night is melted away by the warmth of the sun before mid-day. Of suchness we have a great deal here even in the winter season, and the rays of the sun falling on the soil which is sandy, soon causes a very genial warmth to arise. How agreeable must all this be to persons who appreciate mild weather in winter. Persons, for instance, fond of gardening. Early as the very beginning of March, they may make their hot beds, not with a view, as in many other places, of the seed lying dormant for a month or more, but with a hope of its almost immediately taking root and growing rapidly; and gardening of every description soon follows. And then persons have a long summer of open weather before them (which although pretty hot but at times is not more so than is to be found in more northern latitudes in the month of August.) This enables a gardener not only to produce one crop, but two if desirable.

And then of all places in the world this is the quietest and most penitent. Although persons here, differ considerably both in religion and politics, yet there is this one thing peculiar, that one man so rarely recognizes the civil rights of another, that each may quietly sit under his own vine and fig tree, none having the power to make him afraid. Although few persons in this region now fence their farms or even their gardens, it is a rare occurrence that fruit or anything else is carried away. I could identify in many instances pears and peaches on trees along the very pathway, and allowed to come to maturity, then to be safely gathered by their owner.

Hammonton, which is 20 miles south of Philadelphia contains from 3,000 to 4,000 inhabitants in a compact township. This place abounds with neat cottages and well laid out streets, in many places beautifully ornamented with trees along the sidewalks. There are quite a number of elegant residences with small farms of from 10 to 20 acres for sale throughout the Hammonton tract. There could be bought on reasonable terms to suit almost every variety of purchasers. Hammonton, from its healthfulness and nearness to one of the principal cities in the States is destined ere long to become thickly settled. Persons can find good society and churches, Episcopal, Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist, are represented.

I am very truly, W. BRUNNAN.
Late Minister of the Episcopal Church at Hammonton and Waterford.

HAMMONTON.

The railroad was an object of great interest to the public, and it was not until the late fall of 1829 that it was opened to the public.

The history of locomotives is perhaps more instructive than that of any other class of machinery. It is the history of the progress of human industry.

The author of the work under review states that "being familiar with railroads from their first construction, he has much labor and expense collected the important facts in relation to their construction and to the development of the locomotive machine in this country."

We venture to say that Mr. Cooper has become more widely known than his public benefactions, since the period referred to, than by his connection with the introduction of locomotive engineering in America and his other inventions.

The experiments referred to described in the following extracts from a letter to the author by Mr. Ross Winans, who was present on the occasion:

"On the 17th of August, 1828, the engine last, 1830, the first of the August 1828, from Baltimore to Elliott's Mills, and tested a most important principle—that the fact of a steam engine being a rather prolific inventor and not a quiet waller of industry as he has through his generous gifts of money for education purposes."

"The experiments referred to described in the following extracts from a letter to the author by Mr. Ross Winans, who was present on the occasion:

Various reports have come from Richmond during the past few weeks concerning the progress of the archaeological investigations which have been lately undertaken by the late Professor L. B. Ricketts, of the University of Virginia.

The Commission of Antiquaries, created by the Virginia Legislature in 1868, was appointed by a Board of six counsellors appointed by the Italian Government, two of whom were artists, Professor L. B. Ricketts, being among them.

Close to the Tiber's left bank have been opened some chambers and an altar, which were discovered by the commission of the Via Sacra from that centre to the Coliseum, the renovation of the long-neglected Forum of Augustus and the extension over the whole of the Palatine Hill of the works of the Emperor Trajan.

"At that time an opinion had become prevalent that the road was ruined for steam locomotives, by reason of the short curves found necessary to get around the various points of rocks found in their course. Under these discouraging circumstances, many of the principal stockholders were about abandoning the work."

"The boiler of Mr. Cooper's engine was not as large as the kitchen boiler attached to many a range in modern mansions, but not much more than half as high. It stood upright in the car and was filled above the furnace, which occupied the lower section, with vertical tubes. The cylinders were three and a half inches in diameter and were connected by a gear, no natural draft could have been sufficient to keep up steam in so small a boiler, and Mr. Cooper used, therefore, a blowing apparatus, driven by one of the four horses which were harnessed to work a pulley on the shaft of the boiler."

"In this car, Mr. Cooper had his engine, and here steam was first raised; and it seems as though it were within the last week that the speaker saw Mr. George Brown, the treasurer of the company, one of our most estimable citizens, his father, Mr. Alexander Brown, Mr. Philip B. Thomas, and one or two more, which Mr. Cooper, as with his own hands, had opened the throttle, admitted the steam into the cylinder, and saw the crank-substituted operate successfully, with a clicking noise, while the machine moved slowly forward with the by-standers who had stopped upon it."

"The Hon. John Taylor, a resident of Hammonton who witnessed the trial, says that not only the great abundance of steam, but also the interest of the community, who were interested in the propriety of the country."

POETRY.

When I was in the twilight of life,
When the world was in the sunset of day,
When the stars were in the sky,

NEWSPAPER ERRORS. The writer, who had cautioned his readers against mistaking his pearls before swine, was amused and grieved to perceive that the compositor had misread the publisher's name before printing. This was corrected in the proof, but the reporter who defiled a certain new story that it had "sixty fancy windows" was even more indignant than the workman when he saw in his paper the statement that the establishment contained "sixty fancy windows." And there was the poet in Maury, who sought to smooth the wounded feelings of a bereaved family by publishing a "poem" in the "Daily Tribune" to the deceased daughter, Emily, in which he declared that "we will follow her grave with our tears."

THE MANUFACTURERS OF THE
RELIANCE WRINGER
Have had an opportunity of ascertaining the general opinion of the public on this new machine. They have brought out an entirely new WRINGER which they call the
"PROVIDENCE."

Now 1871 Perfect
A GREAT IMPROVEMENT
Over All Other Wringer!

"It saves the Clothes,
It saves the Time."
It will save its Cost Every Year.
It saves faster than any Hand.
We consider the Providence superior to all others for the following reasons:

1st. The HOLLERS, of large size and best quality of White Rubber, are all secured to the shafts in the most permanent manner by the Moulton Process, making the best roller in the World.

2d. The PATENT METAL JOURNAL
CASINGS prevent any wear upon the journals.
The wooden journals in which the iron shafts
of other machines, run soon wear, and the eficiency of the wringer is thereby greatly reduced.

3d. The DOUBLE SPIRAL COGS used on this wringer give the most exact and steady in working, while the double stop prevent them from bottoming or being thrown out of gear.
We furnish either single or double geared Providence as desired.

4th. The ADJUSTABLE CURVED CLAMP
readily adjusts this machine to tubs of any size or thickness, making a perfect fastening. No wooden pegs or rubber straps on this Clamp.
5th. SIMPLICITY, STRENGTH and LEA-VITY are combined in this machine, with all the requisites of a first class wringer.

and any of its number. Its columns contain the most interesting and readable matter that can be printed. Its illustrations are numerous and beautiful, being furnished by the chief artists of the country. Boston Traveler.

HARPER'S WEEKLY is the best and most interesting illustrated newspaper. Not does its value depend on its illustrations alone. Its reading matter is of a high order of literary merit—varied, instructive, entertaining and un-exceptionable. N. Y. Sun.

Romanism as it is!
This high, an elegant octavo volume, containing 730 pages, and 101 first class engravings, is an exhaustive and standard work, em-tirely adapted to the times. It fully unveils the Roman system from its origin to the present time, exposing its baseless pretensions, its frauds, its persequit, its gross immorality, its opposition to our public schools, and civil and religious liberty, it shows its heinous crimes which surely tend to bring this country under full Romish control. Propaganda and books ready on application. G. W. N.

"Questionably the best sustained work of the kind in the world."
Harper's Magazine.

Notices of the Press.
There are few intelligent American Families in which Harper's Magazine would not be an appreciated and highly welcome guest. There is no monthly magazine an intelligent reading family can less afford to be without. Many Magazines are accumulated. Harper's is edited. There is not a magazine that is printed which shows more intelligent pains expended on its articles and mechanical execution. There is not a cheaper magazine published. There is not, confessedly, a more popular magazine in the world. New England Homestead.

A repository of biography and history, literature, science and art, unequalled by any other American publication. The volumes are as valuable as a mere work of reference as any encyclopedia we can place in our libraries.
Harper's Magazine is a record of travel everywhere since the "cur of its establishment. Livingstone and Gordon Cumming in Africa, Straal
among the Andes, and Ross, Brown in the East Spoke on the Nile and Magregor on the Lad-dan—indeed, all recent travelers of note have seen their most important discoveries reproduced in these pages. Most of our younger and many of our older writers find here their literary biography. Our artists see the best evidences of their genius and the most enduring specimens of their work in the Magazine. N. Y.
Standard.

It is one of the wonders of Journalism—the editorial management of Harper's.—The Nation.

PURIFY YOUR BLOOD
AT ONCE.

Wherever Poke Root grows, it has a local reputation for curing Rheumatism and as a Blood Purifier. With all this local reputation and the praise of distinguished Physicians, Dr.
Geo. Leo King, Wilson M. Hunt, Griffith, Copland
and others, who have tested its medicinal powers,
it has been neglected by the profession at large,
as much through a want of a proper appreciation of its merits, as a knowledge of its proper way to prepare for medicinal use. Dr. Oliver Crook, a physician of some thirty years' experience, and who has spent the majority of his professional and private life in the largest hospital of any city, has found in Poke Root a valuable and reliable remedy for all the various forms of Blood Poisoning.

Application for Rule to Show Cause &c.
Hannah Robinson, administratrix of Roxin Robinson, deceased, having exhibited to this Court, under oath, a true and correct account of the personal estate and debts of said deceased, whereby it appears that the personal estate of said Roxin Robinson is insufficient to pay his debts, and requested the aid of the Court in the premises; It is ordered that all persons interested in the lands, tenements and real estate of said deceased, appear before the Court, at the Court House, in May's Landing on the ninth day of April next, to show cause, why so much of the said lands, tenements and hereditaments and real estate of the said deceased should not be sold as will be sufficient to pay his debts or the residue thereof as the case may require.
S. R. DEVINNEY, Surrogate.
