

THE ITEM PRINTING CO. ATLANTIC CO. N. J. SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1872.

National Union Rep. Convention. The undersigned, constituting the National Committee designated by the Convention held at Chicago on the 20th day of May, 1868, hereby call a convention of the Union Republican party at the city of Philadelphia, on Wednesday, the 4th day of June next at 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the offices of President and Vice President of the United States.

Executive Session. The following is a copy of President Grant's letter to Colonel Ferry in reply to his resignation: "I have received your letter of the 10th instant regarding your resignation of the office of Collector of the Port of Philadelphia, and in reply to inform you that I have accepted of your resignation."

The Freeholders' Investigation of the Mullica Tp. Charges. Mr. Editor:—For the last six months the newspapers of the county, have been filled with communications, and the county has been deluged with pamphlets emanating from what the authors style the "People's Committee," the people consisting of 22 disaffected and demoralized individuals, residing in Mullica township.

Senator Cameron is talked of for the Vice-Presidency, and probably he would be the man for the Republican nomination, should Mr. Colfax fail to get it. Pennsylvania has given but one Vice-President to the country—Mr. G. M. Dallas, in 1845—and now a world like to give another to the country, and we suppose Mr. Cameron is her "favorite son" for the occasion.

President Grant has a practical way of getting about civil service reform which is not acceptable to office-holders of a certain description or to those who are simply political reformers. When the resolution of the general order business were proved to his satisfaction, the President went to the root of the evil by ordering the abolition of the system. Now that the abuses existing in the New York Custom House are exposed, he wastes no time in beating about the bush, but begs his game at once by ordering the United States District Attorney to proceed against every officer who has been shown to have received a bribe and against every person who has offered to bribe an official.

Tom Scott, the Pennsylvania railroad king, having been President of the Southern Pacific Railway Company, it may be safely conjectured that the late snow blockades on the Union Pacific have satisfied him that there is a "mine" in this Southern line, and that he "means business."

A WORK OF MERCY.—$150,000.00 in 3000 Cash-Prizes is to be distributed Legally, March 15th, 1872, at Omaha in aid of the Sick, and Destitute, at Mercy Hospital. This Enterprise is endorsed by the Governor and best business-men of Nebraska. The Tickets are $5 each, or two for $5. For full particulars, address Pattee & Gardner, Business Managers, Omaha, Neb.

My Dear Colonel: Your letter of the 10th instant regarding your resignation of the office of Collector of the Port of Philadelphia, and in reply to inform you that I have accepted of your resignation. I have received your letter of the 10th instant regarding your resignation of the office of Collector of the Port of Philadelphia, and in reply to inform you that I have accepted of your resignation.

On page 7 of pamphlet, we read: "At the time and place stated in the notice, your committee appeared, previously supposing ourselves a constituent part of the committee to investigate and find out the truth, etc." Now as the committee of the Board of Freeholders, consisting of three and the so-called people's committee, who believed themselves a constituent part of the Freeholder's committee, consisted of two, suppose one of the Freeholder's committee by false charges prejudicial to his honesty and fairness, should decline acting on the committee until the charges were cleared up, and Wright and Farrell the instigators of the charges against Stille, in fact the accusers, should have been allowed to sit on that committee, leaving the committee probably about three-fourths right. Who can doubt the result? But "the nice laid plans of mice and men gang aft a-gley," and the investigation by the Freeholder's committee proceeded.

The only positive evidence offered on the part of the petitioners was that of Mr. McCurdy, whose evidence was substantially as given in the book with the "yellow cover." On the bill appeared the name of Jacob M. Stille, No. 100 North Main Street, Jersey City, N. J. The witness swears that Jacob McCurdy has been absent from the county over 25 years; he also swears that his brother, Samuel McCurdy, died about 3 years since.

After the evidence of the petitioners was all in and a part for the defense had been heard, the people's attorney stated he was obliged to take the cars for New York, and asked permission to make his closing speech which was granted. The evidence for the defense being heard, after a speech from counsel on that side, the committee adjourned to meet at May's Landing, Mr. Stille and myself taking the petitioners and closing their case, and only remaining for the committee to sign the evidence and make up their report.

On May 30th, the committee met at the Landing. I refused to sit longer as a member of that committee unless the charges of the people's attorney were refuted. He coming into the Court-house stated that he was willing to qualify that he had signed all the bills in my possession. Mr. Rape was sent for, and ordered to swear the witness, Mr. Colwell, who had been enquiring around about the missing bills, came into the Court-house and told the witness he was ready to swear the bills had been returned.

After the committee got to work, the petitioners asked to have the case reopened. Mr. Colwell asked that it might be allowed by a court. I finally consented to an adjournment for two weeks, provided that now evidence only should be offered, and that the parties should give Dr. Stille due notice of what they intended to prove. Some few days after this meeting, feeling uncertain of the propriety of reopening the evidence, I called upon an attorney of Cumberland County and asked his advice in relation to it, and what practices would be in a court, and what how it would act unjustly to either party. His reply convinced me that it would be unjust to hear further evidence after a lapse of time, and non-appearance of the parties, and it was decided to adjourn until the August meeting of the Board for their action.

He then read the balance of the evidence and took the witness after reading the report, John W. Farrell rushed excitedly up to the table, exclaiming, "I am as good of an accomplice as you are." He presented a minority report, etc., and taking a vote the report was unanimously adopted, and the committee discharged. After this, and during the transaction of other business, slips of paper were circulated among members, one of which was shown me, written in pencil, under the words, "I move the committee on Mullica to be allowed to address the Board."

I have briefly, as possible given facts which are necessary to the full understanding of an investigation which personally I conducted, and which I believe were at a time when my only motive was to do justice, and to do justice to the people's attorney, who addressed the Board, in turn, and I closed in behalf of the committee. The result of these speeches failed to convince the Board that the interests of the county required the investigation reopened.

After the committee got to work, the petitioners asked to have the case reopened. Mr. Colwell asked that it might be allowed by a court. I finally consented to an adjournment for two weeks, provided that now evidence only should be offered, and that the parties should give Dr. Stille due notice of what they intended to prove. Some few days after this meeting, feeling uncertain of the propriety of reopening the evidence, I called upon an attorney of Cumberland County and asked his advice in relation to it, and what practices would be in a court, and what how it would act unjustly to either party.

When the committee was called at the morning session Mr. Colwell being absent, I asked and obtained leave to request, after dinner, before the afternoon session was called. The committee, Mr. Colwell having arrived during the morning, was in session at 12 o'clock in Clumpton's Hotel. The report was submitted to him; after reading it carefully he said, "I cannot sign it; I approved it, but I cannot sign it; I asked him why, if he approved of it, he refused to sign it. He answered, 'because it did not contain the evidence.' I replied that I had no objection to the Board having all the evidence, but as I did not believe in signing the evidence from my notes alone, he refused to sign it, leaving me the opportunity to compare notes. I went and made the report as signed by Mr. Reed and myself, and call upon him to read the evidence from his notes.

men are popular and their character is too well known in this community to be injured by the attacks of these disappointed office-seekers and sordid. Their motives are so evidently malicious, that one who runs may read. Their frantic effort to injure Mr. Rich will make him many friends, as he notices their attacks about as much as a big Newfoundland dog would the barking of a dog's poodle. The people here are satisfied with Mr. Rich and will endorse him every time, he is a law-abiding man. He threatens nobody, although we hear some of the reformers threatened to shoot him if they got a chance. Several are willing to be qualified that they heard certain parties say that they hated Rich like hell, and damned if they would not shoot him, first chance they got—and these are the men who have put the county to so much expense to gratify personal spite.

J. W. DeForest contributes to the March Galaxy sketch of "The Colored Member," in which he introduces us to some of the luminaries of politics and legislation at the South under the operation of the Fifteenth Amendment.

"Corea and What Shall We Do With Her?" by William Speer, gives us an entertaining description of this country as well as an insight into the disregard of the national peculiarities and prejudices of the Orientals.

In this number of the Galaxy we have also a second paper on Tyler's Administration, in which we were treated to a variety of personal anecdotes of the great men of the past generation.

In the department of fiction Anthony Trollope's story of "The Eustace Diamonds" reaches the 30th chapter, and we have a short story from Frank Lee Benedict.

The poetry of the number is contributed by Grace Appleton, Nora Perry, Bayard Taylor, whose poem entitled the "Excoade" has, we hear it hinted, a history similar to that of Coleridge's famous "Kubla Khan."

THE ALDINE FOR MARCH.—With this number the full scope and resources of the American Art Department begin to be fairly manifest and we turn its pages with a proud consciousness that, at last, we are to have a periodical that shall do credit to the taste and talent of our country.

HERO WE have the heroine of "Hood's Bridge of Sighs," as she stands in her desperation, undeterred by the minor terrors of "the black arch of the dark flowing river." The artist has with wonderful power fixed "the daring look of despairing" yet the face is that of a woman, one endowed with the, to her, almost fatal gift of beauty.
