The Thing to Do. An exchange ayes: It has been the constent in the Aster family for three generations to deposit $100,000 in bank at the birth of a son or daughter, the minorey and interest to be given to the child when he or she became of age. To which the New York Sun very earnestly adds: The custom is an admirable one, and should be followed in all wall-ordered families. We suggest, however, that a liberal parents would deposit at least a million dollars at every birth until his family got up to ten or a dozen. After that he might be justified in leaving off a few hundred thousands. Still, no one is justified in making it less than one hundred thousands.
