BANK BROTHERS' STORE
Bellevue Avenue, Hammonton, New Jersey

EDITORS:—The Hammonton Branch of the Socialist Party of America issues a challenge to any party, or anybody who is opposed to Socialism, to a debate. Time and place to be arranged later. Address, Charles Guber, Hammonton, N. J.

We are requested by the secretary to state that the ladies of the Needlework Guild have plenty of garments on hand; and anyone needing them, or knowing of anyone who is in need, should notify Mrs. Wm. Bernhouse or Mrs. Samuel Anderson.

The "Music Makers" encountered bad weather for their concert, last Friday evening, but gave the audience an entertainment thoroughly enjoyable. We have heard nothing but hearty commendation of their performance.

The weather was decidedly warm early this week—mercury standing up in the sixties. On Wednesday afternoon a brisk wind blew open the frigid gates, and everybody was shivering on Thursday, and the temperature dropped into the teens—a fall of over forty degrees.

At the M. E. Church, tomorrow, Class Meeting at 9.30; Preaching by the pastor at 10.30 and 7.30; Bible School at noon; Junior League at 3; Epworth League at 6.45, led by Mrs. H. C. Doughty, subject, "Obedience, the open door of Spiritual certainty." Special evangelistic services will continue each night next week. Rev. J. E. Shaw, a former pastor, will preach on Monday and Tuesday evenings.

The time:—8 p.m., Wednesday, January 16, 1913. The place:—Union Hall. The play:—"The New Mayor," founded on one of the greatest plays of our time, "The Man of the Hour," fourteen characters depicted by The Girl, Miss Ida Jenness Moulton, of Beverly, Mass. All of which is for your benefit, and incidentally of Hammonton Orange, No. 3, Patrons of Husbandry. Don't miss this treat.

L. C. Albertson died on Friday last, aged something over seventy years. He has been County Collector for a number of years, was long postmaster of Atlantic City, and very highly esteemed everywhere. Never a hint of dishonesty or graft was directed his way; his stalwart honesty was known to all. A man of unusual ability, with keen common sense, he was a sage adviser, valued highly by our Board of Freeholders. His funeral was very largely attended.

The communion of the Lord's Supper will be observed in the Presbyterian Church, tomorrow at divine worship, 10.30 a.m. Sabbath school will follow. Christian Endeavor at 6.45 p.m. Evening worship at 7.30; theme: "The God-Man," which will seek to establish the divinity of the Man of Galilee, Jesus Christ. Prayer meeting on Thursday evening at 7.30.

Eugene Coggey fractured his right arm, above the wrist, last week Tuesday, while assisting in the survey of the Hammonton-Mullica line. The axe which he was using twisted, and he felt the hurt, but completed his day's work, and supposing it to be a muscular strain, treated it himself until Sunday, when he consulted a physician and learned that the bone was broken.

On Monday morning, as Miss Rae Mangold was about to cross the Pennay tracks, the gate was lowered. The bell startled A. E. True's horse, and in his frantic motions he struck Miss Mangold, throwing her forcibly to the ground. She was taken to the station waiting room and a physician summoned. Happily, the only injuries were the shock and a few bruises.

Wm. H. Thomas, an old soldier, resident here for many years, died early Thursday morning, at his home in Nesco, aged about seventy years. Without a family, with no known living relatives, he lived alone; but in his quiet way he had made many friends. His remains were cared for by Undertaker Prusch, and will be buried at Pleasant Mills to-day,—members of the G. A. R. Post leaving here about noon.

The "Week of Prayer," conducted by two of our churches, was quite well attended, and the interest very good. The pastors and several of the laymen had charge.

Wm. F. Lehman, of Waterford, brother of our townsman, died on Friday evening, Jan. 3rd, aged 49 years, after many months of ill health. The funeral took place on Tuesday.

Rev. Dr. King reports that his son, D. Harlan King, is improving in the hospital. The young man desires to "thank the good people of Hammonton for all their kindness" to him.

Last Saturday, J. Murray Bassett, Jr., thirteen years old, fell while climbing a fence, fracturing his right arm at the elbow, which was then dislocated. He is recovering rapidly.

Joseph Melino was, on Thursday, convicted, at Mays Landing, of an attempted assault on his daughter, a summer. His term at State Prison will be from eighteen months to three years.

Chief robbed the gas Co. Tony Lenard's residence, last Sunday,—took the safe apart, and secured seven cents. Small reward for apprehension.

Annual meeting of the Stockholders of the Hammonton Telephone and Telegraph Company, for the election of directors and the transaction of such business as may properly come before them, will be held at the office of the Company, 3000 Bellevue Building, Monday, Jan. 13, 1913, at 10 o'clock a.m.

I will save you that much and more if you are looking for a piano or player piano. What's the use of buying a second-hand piano when you can have a new one of better grade at the same price? What's the use of buying cheaper quality, when you can have the best direct from the factory at the same cost, or less?

Satin charmeuse in a beautiful shade of old rose, velvety with a chiffon and embroidered in pastel shades, was used for this design. It is composed of Ladies' Three Piece Skirt Pattern 9400, cut in 5 sizes: 22, 24, 26, 28 and 30 inches waist measure, and Ladies' Waist Pattern 9483 cut in 5 sizes: 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches bust measure. The flaps of the waist are arranged in deep rucks and the rounded yoke outline is especially graceful and attractive. The draped tunic, shown one of the latest style features. The skirt may be finished in round length or sweep. It will require 14 yards of 27 inch material to make the entire gown for a medium size.
This illustration calls for two separate patterns which will be mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents per EACH pattern in silver or stamps.

THE BEST WAY.
To set colors in laundering, soak pink, green, aniline reals, lavender, blue and blue in a tub of water into which two ounces of alum have been dissolved. Dark blue, gray and black may be set by soaking them in salt water.
To keep books from yellowing expose the pages to the sunlight occasionally.
A couple of tablespoonsful of borax in the water in which they are washed will remove the leather from the feet of light-colored stockings.
To overcome difficulty in peeling potatoes, wash them and put them in unsealed water to boil. When parboiled remove and peel—the peeling will be easy. When put them in boiling water, seasoned with salt, and dash cooking them. This not only saves trouble and time, but it quickly turns the potatoes into the quality of the potato.
To wash lamp chimneys use a string dip mop, which will go into globe too small for the hand. Bearing and reach all portions of the glass easily.

9466. A PRACTICAL APRON.
A useful apron of generous housewife also designed to protect the entire dress. The back is held in position by a strip of material that is laced to the front at the waistline. A pocket is a useful addition that will be appreciated by the wearer, although it may be omitted if desired. It is suitable for the housewife, the traveling woman, the hotel and cabin. It is all suitable for the making, and finishing hand or narrow edging may be used for trimming. The medium size requires 3 1/2 yards of 36 inch material. The pattern is cut in 3 sizes: small, medium and large.
A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents in silver or stamps.

9460. GIRLS' DRESS WITH ADDED YOKES.
If preferred, the yoke portions may be omitted. The dress is simple but becoming to the growing girl, and the unique yoke shaping is most pleasing. The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. It requires 4 yards of 44 inch material for a 12 year size. FABRIC FINISHES.
Fabrics with brilliant surfaces are much liked.
BATHING.
There's a lot in it.
There's tremendous stimulation.
Too many people slight this care-mony.
In the morning they "bathe at night," they say.
At night these procrastinators are often too tired.
Youngsters especially are likely to slight this important detail.
Yet, all told, there's no luxury to compare with that of the bath.
As to the sort of bath, that depends upon one's preference, condition and the amount of time to be consumed.

FURRY.

ACCESSORY KINK.
Stoles—with edges of fur or feathers—are very modish.

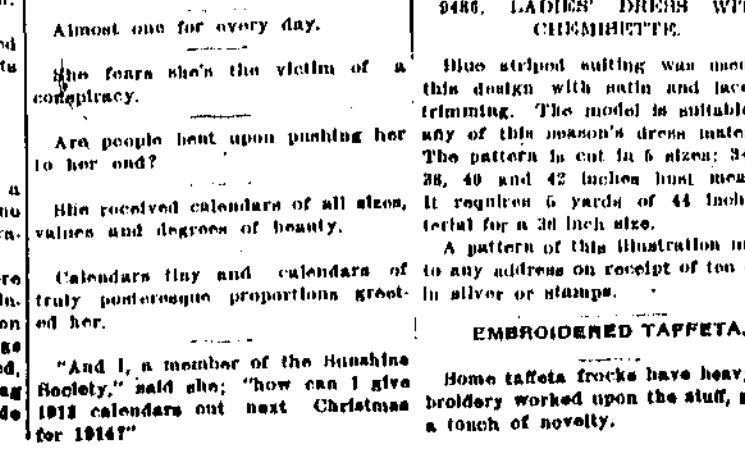

9468. LADIES' DRESSING OR HOUSE SACK.
French flannel in blue with white dots, and with trimming of white silk, and blue ribbon is here shown. The design is also suitable for lawn, percale, dimity, nainsook, and flannel-ette. The pattern is cut in 5 sizes: 22, 24, 26, 28 and 30 inches bust measure. It requires 2 1/2 yards of 27 inch material for a 26 inch size.
A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents in silver or stamps.

9481. GIRLS' ONE PIECE DRESS WITH LONG OR SHORTER SLEEVE.
Galatee, percale, cashmere, serge or cotton may be used to develop this simple little dress. The yoke portions could be of contrasting material. The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. It requires 3 yards of 10 inch material for a 6 year size.
A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents in silver or stamps.

9482. GIRLS' DRESS WITH GORED SKIRT AND LONG OR SHORTER SLEEVE.
Checked woolen in pretty brown tones, relieved by white ruff collar, cuffs and belt would develop this design very effectively. It is suitable for wash or woollen. The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. It requires 3 1/2 yards of 44 inch material for a 10 year size.
A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents in silver or stamps.

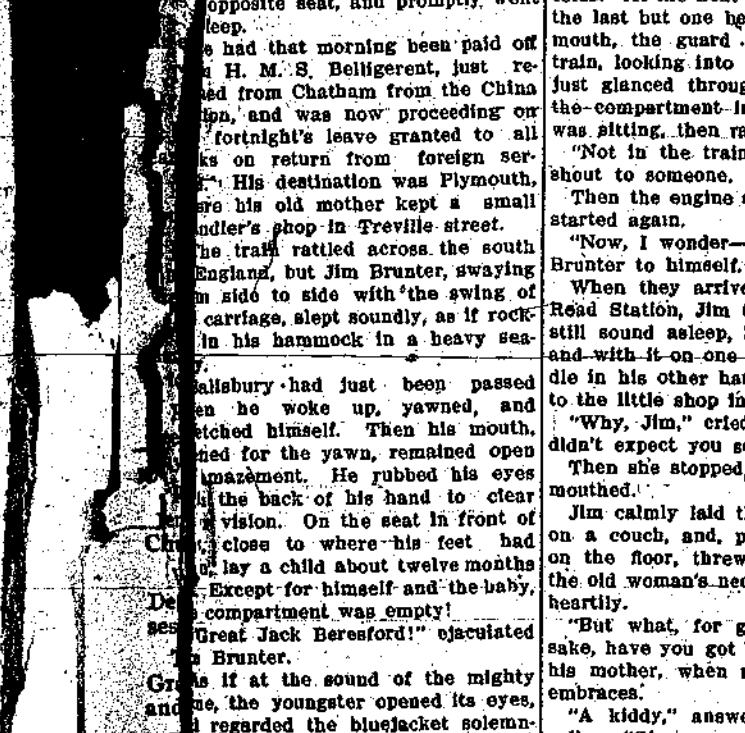

9486. LADIES' SKIRT (IN RAISED OR NORMAL WAISTLINE).
Blue velvet, with self-covered buttons, or taupe brocade cloth with simple stitching for a finish, would be suitable for this design. Which is also appropriate for velveteen, cashmere, taffeta, charmeuse, panama or serge. The pattern is cut in 5 sizes: 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches waist measure. It requires 3 1/2 yards of 44 inch material for a 24 inch size.
A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents in silver or stamps.

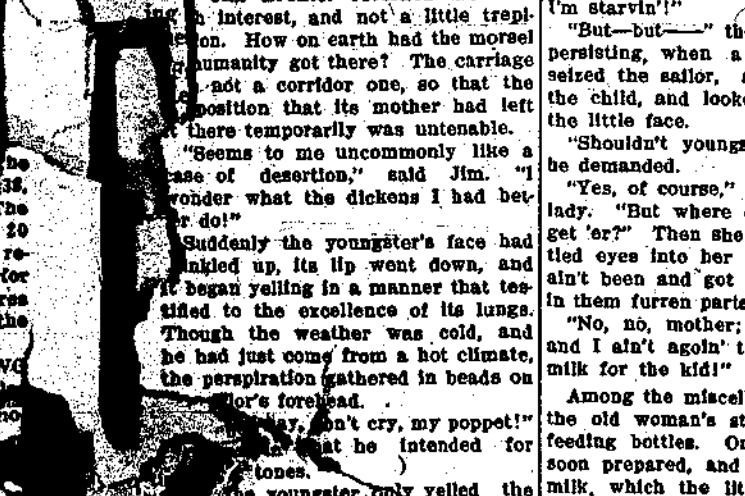

9488. LADIES' DRESS WITH CLOTHES.
Blue striped suiting was used for this design with satin and lace for trimming. The model is suitable for any of this season's dress materials. The pattern is cut in 5 sizes: 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches waist measure. It requires 4 yards of 44 inch material for a 24 inch size.
A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents in silver or stamps.

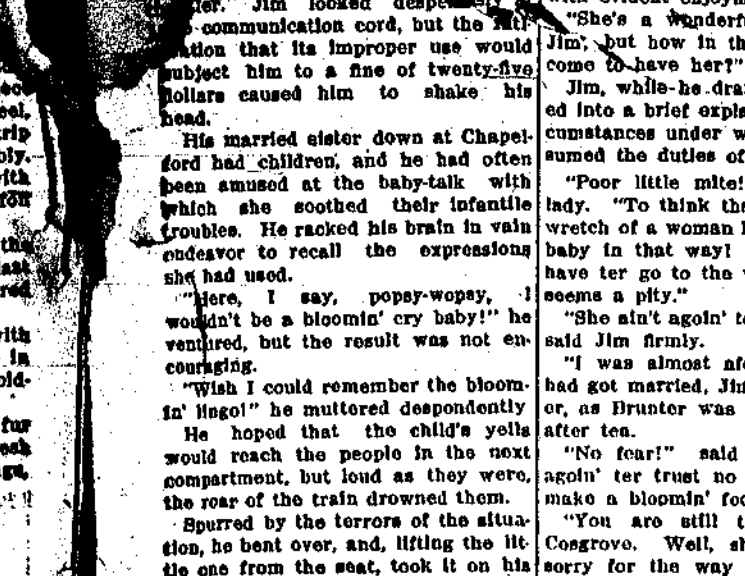

EMBROIDERED TAFFETA.
Some taffeta works have heavy ornate worked upon the stuff, giving a touch of novelty.

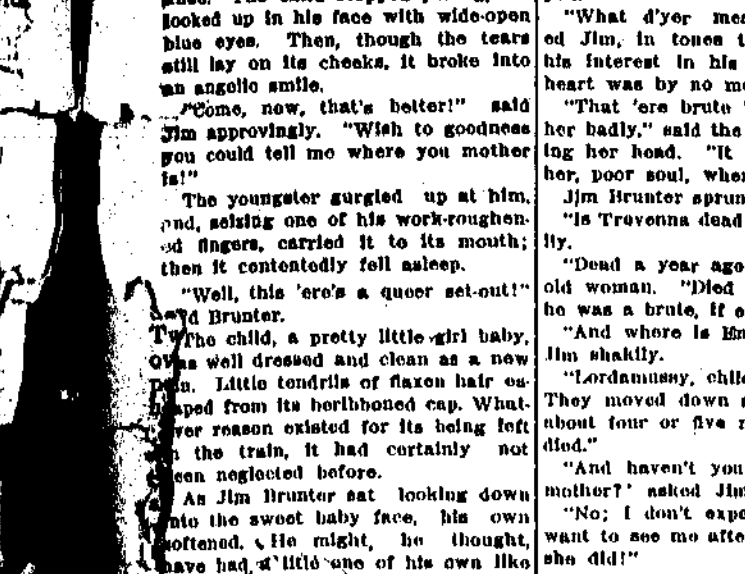

9484-9485. A STYLISH HOME CALLING GOWN.
Brown broad cloth braided in color with vest of white bengal and chemise and under slip lace is here shown. The skirt especially well with the shaped and buttoned plait, and the waist most pleasing. Blue taffeta bordered in oriental colors, of cashmere with green or white lining, would be equally effective. Ladies' Waist Pattern 9484, Ladies' Skirt Pattern 9485 furnish models for this attractive gown.
The skirt is cut in 5 sizes: 22, 24, 26, 28 and 30 inches bust measure. The skirt requires 4 yards of 44 inch material for a 24 inch size and the waist requires 2 1/2 yards of 36 inch material for a 24 inch size.

PENNSYLVANIA!

I was born in Pennsylvania, and I state the fact with pride; I am proud of all her mountains and her fertile valleys wide; Proud of her majestic forests, of her placid rivers blue; Proud of all her wealth of blossoms, of her sons and daughters true.
Happy is the man or woman who, like me, can proudly say,
"I was born in Pennsylvania, tho' I've wandered far away."

Oh, those Pennsylvania mountains, rugged, rocky, high and steep! They are solemn in the twilight, when the somber shadows creep; They are fairest in the morning, when the rosy sprays of dawn Lay her finger on their summits, ere the shades of night are gone. Oh, those mighty, purple ranges, looming high and stretching far, Hiding-places of evening sunbeams, and of morning's latest star!

Oh, those Pennsylvania forests—slender maple, stately pine, Mighty oak and beech and chestnut, 'round whose trunk the wild vines twine!
And the scarlet-fruited cherry, and the locust, white with bloom, And the willow, drooping sadly, o'er (perchance) a forest tomb. Oh, those leafy, silent forests, with their sunbeams sifting through, Where soaring wild birds send their songs far-echoing to you!

Oh, those Pennsylvania rivers, and the lesser mountain streams Dashing madly down the hillsides, bright with many hues and gleams! Dear old Lehigh, "peaceful water," fair as any meadow-rill, Moaning, sighing, laughing, singing, in my dreams I hear you still! Quaint old Pennsylvania rivers—each still bears its Indian name, Famed in legend, and deserving, to the utmost, of their fame.

Oh, those Pennsylvania blossoms! Sweet arbutus, in the Spring—Mountain laurel—rhododendron—these in turn their offerings bring. Daisies, white and blue and yellow, lilies red and lilies blue, Honeysuckle, sweet of odor—gentian, with the sky's own hue, And, in Autumn, glowing fields of gleaming golden-rod, By the lavish hand of Nature strewn upon the woodland sod.

I was born in Pennsylvania—in the greatest, grandest State—In the Keystone of the Union—best of all the forty-eight; For the gift the King of England gave to good old Father Penn Was the finest gift e'er given to the worthiest of men. And proud and happy is the man or woman who can say, "I was born in Pennsylvania, tho' I've wandered far away."
—Lydia M. D. O'Neil, In The National Stockman and Farmer, Pittsburg, Pa.

A PRAIRIE HAIL-STORM.

An account of a remarkable hail-storm in the prairie, recently published in "The Companion," has just one of our readers to recall a memorable visitation of the sort that occurred in Dubuque, Iowa, in 1883. This state had the heaviest hail on record, and the hail was so large that it was as big as a man's fist. The hail was so large that it was as big as a man's fist. The hail was so large that it was as big as a man's fist.

CAUTIOUS LOVE LETTERS.

Lovers' ardors—at least those which find expression through pen and ink—are at their most earnest and personal in the most guarded of letters. The average lover's letter is a masterpiece of caution. The average lover's letter is a masterpiece of caution. The average lover's letter is a masterpiece of caution.

IDENTITY UNMISTAKABLE.

Dull and gray was the afternoon. Slowly, with reluctant footsteps, Walter and William made his way towards the Sunday school. If the truth be told in one fell swoop, he was not a lover of Sunday school. What he did not for parental compulsion, would have found some other way of congenitally passing the time.

EMBROIDERED TAFFETA.

Some taffeta works have heavy ornate worked upon the stuff, giving a touch of novelty.

HIS ONE SQUARE MEAL.

Before the entrance to a Boston restaurant a baker's delivery wagon had stopped. It was a cart of the usual sort, with the interior filled with shelves for the sliding trays that hold the pastry, and the rear end closed by double doors. In it was a part of the day's supply of sweet from the bakery, which is in another part of the city. The driver hung his reins on the book overhead, climbed down from the wagon, opened the doors, and drawing out two trays, went with them into the restaurant.

Hardly had he disappeared when a second cart belonging to the same establishment drew up immediately behind the first one. This driver also got down, opened the rear door, and carried in an armful of trays. Both of the horses were poor, ill-fed beasts, and at first both let their heads drop in a discouraged fashion. The one in front saw nothing to lead him to change his attitude, but upon the one behind a more influential lead was made. He felt his head was only a few feet away from the rear of the cart in front, and the careless driver had left the door open. Delightful odors floated out. The horse raised his head and began to sniff. His ears shifted forward, and he took a step or two in advance. He sniffed again, and liked the sensation better. Two more steps carried his head inside the cart. When it came out, a vanilla odor was protruding from his mouth, and he was munching contentedly. A man who was passing, saw, laughed, and stopped to watch. One of two others heard the laugh, looked, and also stopped.

Again the body of lead went into the cart. This time two cream-cakes and part of a chocolate éclair came out. The little crowd began to cheer, and others, hearing the noise, crossed the street to see what the fun was all about.

"Old Dobbin was making the most of his opportunity. Every time he dipped into a tray he got about half the contents, and spoiled most of the remainder. The crowd was cheering him heartily."

"Go it, old boy!" "Hurry on the horse!" "What's the matter with the squash face?" "Help yourself to those doughnuts—they're perfectly fresh."

The uproar seemed to surprise the old horse, but not to discourage him or to detract him from the business in hand. He would withdraw his head from the cart, chewing calmly on a cream-cake, and with eyes that seemed to hold the wisdom of the world, gaze calmly at the noisy spectators as if to say, "What is all this excitement about? Can't a gentleman eat his breakfast without being stared at?"

But at last the noise and the growing crowd attracted the attention of the driver. He pulled the reins, and pushed his way through the crowd, saw the suit, and with an angry about, raised his arm and pointed to the old horse in the face. But a man who stood near enough leaned forward and caught the unbridled animal. "Just a moment, will you?" he said. "Cats are high, and so is hay; but I reckon they're chewing on the cream-cakes. Take my advice and buy him some!"

The crowd yelled with delight. The old horse looked blankly round, and the same bystanders said they saw him wink.

SPONGES OF GLASS.

Nothing is less like a living creature than the common bath sponge. Yet the fact remains that sponges do form a very important species of the animal kingdom, eating their food and living their lives much as any other animal would do.

The actual existence of a sponge commences with the separation from the parent of a tiny particle of protoplasm, which, through agency of a ciliated cell, eventually attaches itself to a piece of rock, and from that time it seeks its own livelihood.

At the very commencement, with none of the sponge family, the baby sponges feed upon yolk cells, in which are stored food supplies. Fly and by, as the young develops, the currents in the water sweep into a kind of bag the minute particles of food required, and the same currents carry off undigested matter.

There are many varieties of sponges found at different levels of the ocean, some clinging to rocks, others to mud.

Recently it has been discovered that some sponges have silica entering into their structure, and are therefore really glass. Japanese fishermen had mounted specimens on wood, and Professor Henslow at first supposed them to be the product of remarkably capable glass spongers. It was only when he realized the mechanical impossibility of creating forms of such delicate artistry that he found the conclusion afterward corroborated by his examination of freshly caught glass sponges.

These he discovered to be true sponges with body walls of glass instead of fibre. When the strange creatures were dried in the sun and cleaned of all the softer parts—as is the process with the sponges of commerce—Henslow held in his hands variations of the same delicately beautiful forms which had so often struck his curiosity. These forms of actual glass were the skeletons of the sponge animals, just as the familiar sponges in the kitchen of the house are the skeletons of the sponge animals. The beginning is an egg having the form of a thin glass needle.
