

THE TERMS of subscription to the Hammonton Republican are as follows:
$3.00, a year, in advance,
$2.25 paid during first six months;
$2.00 paid after six months.
When subscribers request the discontinuance of the paper at the expiration of the time paid for, the request will be complied with.
In all cases the Republican will be sent to the subscriber, and all arrears paid according to law.

DORUS B. SNOW,
Editor and Publisher.

South Jersey Republican.

VOL. 4.—NO. 23.

HAMMONTON, N. J., SATURDAY, JANUARY 12, 1867.

2.00 PER YEAR

ELWOOD!

NEW JERSEY LANDS
FOR SALE.

TRACTS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

21,000 Acres

Of Superior Soil
on Camden & Atlantic Rail Road,
IN ONE BODY,
IN THE BEST LOCATION.

EN SOUTH JERSEY.

LANDS SHOWN FREE OF EXPENSE.

Apply to
E. WRIGHT,
Elwood.

At Adelphi, N. J.
Also many thousand acres of Cranberry lands—Circumloc or other information cheerfully forwarded.

F A R M S !
AND FRUIT LANDS!
AT LONG ACOMING.

SITUATED

15 Miles
FROM PHILADELPHIA:
ON THE CAMDEN AND ATLANTIC R. R.
And the HARRISON & DELAWARE R.
R. Between the two great thoroughfares between New York and Philadelphia. The lands are in close class to be within the reach of all; they are among the most fertile in New Jersey; and most admirably adapted to every species of fruit culture, and market gardening, grass, grain and stock growing.

The Climate Is Unsurpassed.

Being a little removed from the arid air which prevails in the central part of South Jersey.

PURE, SOFT WATER,
STONE QUARRIES, MARLBEDS,
MILLS,

And every facility for extensive manufacturing
are found here.
The best of Schools,
The best of Stores, and
The best of Mechanics.

These in search of HOMES will find their ideal here by inquiring of

F. KIMBALL,
Longacoming,
CAMDEN CO., N. J.

Peruvian Guano Substitute.

BAUGH'S
RAW BONE

SUPER-PHOSPHATE
OF LIME.

After more than twelve years of constant use,
this highly concentrated manure has attained a wide-spread reputation as a

SUBSTITUTE FOR

PERUVIAN GUANO,

Being found active in its operations, and of great durability. It does not exhaust the soil, but on the contrary, permanently improves it.
The increasing sales annually, abundantly prove the high popular value of this manure, and establish the fact of its being relied upon by a wide circle of agriculturists to supply all wants in the direction of manure for every crop.

BAUGH & SONS,

Sole Manufacturers and Proprietors,
Office, No. 20 So. Delaware Av., PHILADELPHIA.

BAUGH BROTHERS & CO.,

General Wholesale Agents,
No. 181 Pearl St. cor. of Cedar,
NEW YORK.

Price $56 per 200 lbs. Cash.

Jesse P. Patterson, the fifth edition of our new pamphlet "How to Maintain the Fertility of American Farms and Plantations," furnished free upon application to us or our Agents.

BAUGH & SONS,

HAMMONTON!

HAMMONTON, N. J., SATURDAY, JANUARY 12, 1867.

THE TRIBUNE!

For 1867.

Bare Opportunity to Secure

A HOME

To All Wanting Farms.

In the great Hammonton Fruit Settlement, the best inducements are offered to all wanting farms in the most delightful and healthy climate, with a good productive soil, being among the best in the garden State of New Jersey; only thirty miles from Philadelphia on the Camden and Atlantic Railroad, and but few miles to the New York Railroad. These lands are sold to the actual settlers at low prices and easy terms, in five, ten, twenty acres and upwards to suit. The title perfect; warranty deeds, clear of all incumbrances, given when all the purchase money is paid.

The Soil

is a fine sandy and clay loam, suitable for all grains and grasses, and is pronounced the finest quality for gardening and fruit raising. It is a marine deposit, with a marl substance mixed all through it in a very comitted form, and in the exact condition to support plants with proper farming. It is very productive and profitable, easily worked, and warm and early. The lay of the land is slightly undulating, and is called level; it is free from stones or rocks. It is the best fruit soil in the Union.

Peas, Pachos, Apples, Quinces, Cherries, Blackberries, Raspberries, Grapes of all kinds, and all other fruits are raised here in immense quantities, and they are sought after by the dealers and command the best prices in the markets.

Hammonton is already celebrated for its fine fruits and wine.

From two hundred to five hundred dollars is cleared, free from expense, per acre in the fine fruit culture. Sweet Potatoes, Melons, and all the finer vegetables delight in this soil; this branch of farming pays much better than grain raising, and is much easier work.

The Market

is unsurpassed; direct communication twice a day to Philadelphia, New York, and Atlantic City. The Railroad Company leaves cars here to be filled with fruit every day in the season; they are filled in the afternoon, and the same night or next morning by daylight are in the market, where the highest cash prices are obtained, without any other trouble to the producer than delivering the produce to the car. None of the land now offered is over one and a half miles from the Railroad.

The Climate

is mild and delightful—the winters being short and open, out-door work can be carried on nearly all winter, whilst the summer is no warmer than in the north. Persons wanting a change for health will be satisfied—the mildness of the climate is soon beneficially felt by delicate persons and those suffering from Dyspepsia, Pulmonary affections, or General Debility, as hundreds here will testify. This section has long been known for its health, and during the summer months tens of thousands flock for health. No Malaria, Chills and Fvers in this section.

The Water

is pure and soft, of the best quality. It abounds in streams and is bound by digging from ten to thirty feet. Wells are abundantly made here, as there is no rock to go through. We have the best stores in the country, where goods are sold as cheap as they are in Philadelphia or New York. Good schools with competent teachers—Cherubs of all denominations reside here, some of them in charge of congregations, others cultivating the fruits; also a number of retired physicians. The Methodists, Presbyterians, Baptists, Universalists, have their services regularly. Mills convenient, Reliable practical nurserymen who furnish all kinds of trees, plants, and vines at the low price of

The population of the settlement is large and rapidly increasing; it is composed of the best classes from New England, the Middle, and Western States—Intelligent, industrious and moral. The buildings are new and handsome, and some of them fine. All materials for building, improving, &c., at hand; also reliable mechanics who will give satisfaction. Every convenience to be had that can be found at any other place. Persons owning property here obtain tickets of the Railroad company to and from the city at a discount of twenty-five per cent on the regular fare.

The lands have been reclaimed for some of the best agriculturalists and fruit growers in the country, who pronounce them the best in the U. S. for fruit growing. Mr. Solar Robison, the agricultural editor of the NEW YORK TRIBUNE; Dr. L. P. Trimble, the State Entomologist; Mr. John G. Bergen, member of the American Institute of New York; and others, reported that they never saw finer groves of fruit, grain, and grass, than they have here, and recommend this settlement to persons desiring to till the soil, for pleasure or profit.

These lands are being rapidly sold, and from the rapid and extensive improvements property will certainly increase in value—apply for R. J. Byrnes, the founder of the settlement, who will show the lands free of expense. For further information inquire at address.

R. J. BYRNES,

Hammonton, N. J.

For all letters unanswered.

Several very desirable improved fruit farms for sale.

20 South Delaware Avenue.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Franklin's Magazine.

BY MISS FLORENCE V. ROGERS.

(Concluded.)

Her sole anxiety was for her, knowing I was a perfect duck in the water. Frank grabbed Miss Melbourne first by the waterfall, but alas! her one hundred and ten avoidups could not be held by a dozen hairpins; and there Frank stood in the boat, with a waterfall in his hand, nimbly a head! Quick as thought he threw it overboard and grabbed Miss Melbourne's front hair. Alas! off that came, and Frank standing in the boat, looked like an Indian chief fresh from a scalping expedition; and Miss Melbourne, looking like anything but a water sprite, threw her head back on the bosom of uncle's white coat, which was red with pink with the fastly-disappearing bloom of Miss Melbourne's cheeks, and faint.

Her mouth opened, and Frank, in his frantic endeavor to save her, somehow or other got his finger into her mouth and extricated both sets of her teeth, and Miss Melbourne, incapable longer of suction, let the plumpers roll out on uncle's thumb.

I guess the spark of uncle's love went out with the plumpers, for he actually smiled and said:

"Frank, if you can find a place that will hold, pull her in."

"Better let her drop?" ventured the saucy Frank, pausing a moment as if for consent, and then took her in his arms and laid her in the boat's bottom.

Uncle and I were in a jiffy, there laid Miss Melbourne shorn of all her glory, and I just thinking I would tell uncle about the other artificial article, some time, when Frank exclaimed :

"For heaven's sake, what is that?"

There was Miss Melbourne's artificial leg lying two feet away from her, on the bottom of the boat and under uncle's foot! In the rush it had become unfastened!

"Good heavens!" exclaimed uncle, "will this woman come all to pieces before we find her home?"

"I'll run home and bring down a bushel basket to convey her in," said the cruel Frank. "I guess there is about two pecks of her, when we come to gather up the fragments."

We landed before Miss Melbourne came to herself. Uncle had gone for the carriage. I guess he did not care to be present when she revived. She partially opened her eyes, saying, "where am I?"

"O, nothing," answered, "only Frank says you—look younger than I do; and I know I am twenty-two years your junior."

Frank, sotto voce, "If not fifty."

Miss Melbourne smiled sweetly on Frank, but much frowned. He knew Frank thought anything but that, and did not relish the "goat."

But the plan! let it unfold itself.

We had dined; and I was in my chamber attired for the sail.

Usually, I should have worn my pretty lace boots, and made Frank carry me over the wet places; but now I put on my rubber ones. Usually, I should have worn my new gipsy hat with its vine ornament leaves; but now I wore my summer concert affair, and took off my ornate head-dress, ring and watch; for I had a part to perform.

"I'll run home and bring down a bushel basket to convey her in," said the cruel Frank. "I guess there is about two pecks of her, when we come to gather up the fragments."

We landed before Miss Melbourne came to herself. Uncle had gone for the carriage. I guess he did not care to be present when she revived. She partially opened her eyes, saying, "where am I?"

"O, nothing," answered, "only Frank says you—look younger than I do; and I know I am twenty-two years your junior."

Frank, sotto voce, "If not fifty."

Miss Melbourne smiled sweetly on Frank, but much frowned. He knew Frank thought anything but that, and did not relish the "goat."

But the plan! let it unfold itself.

We had dined; and I was in my chamber attired for the sail.

Usually, I should have worn my pretty lace boots, and made Frank carry me over the wet places; but now I put on my rubber ones. Usually, I should have worn my new gipsy hat with its vine ornament leaves; but now I wore my summer concert affair, and took off my ornate head-dress, ring and watch; for I had a part to perform.

"I'll run home and bring down a bushel basket to convey her in," said the cruel Frank. "I guess there is about two pecks of her, when we come to gather up the fragments."

We landed before Miss Melbourne came to herself. Uncle had gone for the carriage. I guess he did not care to be present when she revived. She partially opened her eyes, saying, "where am I?"

"O, nothing," answered, "only Frank says you—look younger than I do; and I know I am twenty-two years your junior."

Frank, sotto voce, "If not fifty."

Miss Melbourne smiled sweetly on Frank, but much frowned. He knew Frank thought anything but that, and did not relish the "goat."

But the plan! let it unfold itself.

We had dined; and I was in my chamber attired for the sail.

Usually, I should have worn my pretty lace boots, and made Frank carry me over the wet places; but now I put on my rubber ones. Usually, I should have worn my new gipsy hat with its vine ornament leaves; but now I wore my summer concert affair, and took off my ornate head-dress, ring and watch; for I had a part to perform.

"I'll run home and bring down a bushel basket to convey her in," said the cruel Frank. "I guess there is about two pecks of her, when we come to gather up the fragments."

We landed before Miss Melbourne came to herself. Uncle had gone for the carriage. I guess he did not care to be present when she revived. She partially opened her eyes, saying, "where am I?"

"O, nothing," answered, "only Frank says you—look younger than I do; and I know I am twenty-two years your junior."

Frank, sotto voce, "If not fifty."

Miss Melbourne smiled sweetly on Frank, but much frowned. He knew Frank thought anything but that, and did not relish the "goat."

But the plan! let it unfold itself.

We had dined; and I was in my chamber attired for the sail.

Usually, I should have worn my pretty lace boots, and made Frank carry me over the wet places; but now I put on my rubber ones. Usually, I should have worn my new gipsy hat with its vine ornament leaves; but now I wore my summer concert affair, and took off my ornate head-dress, ring and watch; for I had a part to perform.

"I'll run home and bring down a bushel basket to convey her in," said the cruel Frank. "I guess there is about two pecks of her, when we come to gather up the fragments."

We landed before Miss Melbourne came to herself. Uncle had gone for the carriage. I guess he did not care to be present when she revived. She partially opened her eyes, saying, "where am I?"

"O, nothing," answered, "only Frank says you—look younger than I do; and I know I am twenty-two years your junior."

Frank, sotto voce, "If not fifty."

Miss Melbourne smiled sweetly on Frank, but much frowned. He knew Frank thought anything but that, and did not relish the "goat."

But the plan! let it unfold itself.

We had dined; and I was in my chamber attired for the sail.

Usually, I should have worn my pretty lace boots, and made Frank carry me over the wet places; but now I put on my rubber ones. Usually, I should have worn my new gipsy hat with its vine ornament leaves; but now I wore my summer concert affair, and took off my ornate head-dress, ring and watch; for I had a part to perform.

"I'll run home and bring down a bushel basket to convey her in," said the cruel Frank. "I guess there is about two pecks of her, when we come to gather up the fragments."

We landed before Miss Melbourne came to herself. Uncle had gone for the carriage. I guess he did not care to be present when she revived. She partially opened her eyes, saying, "where am I?"

"O, nothing," answered, "only Frank says you—look younger than I do; and I know I am twenty-two years your junior."

<p

The Republican.

Hammonton, Atlantic Co., N. J.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 12, 1867.

The Suffrage Bill.

The President's Veto Message on the Plaintiff Suffrage bill was sent to the Senate on Tuesday. It was read, and the Senate voting but failed to sustain the speech making but did not vote. Mr. McDonald had voted in the contrary, but he was 20 votes to 10 nays. Senators Corwin, Dixie, Douglass, Foster, Nation, Van Winkle, Webb, and Patterson, Neasey and Henry, all voted to sustain the veto. This last vote was given by the members of the Senate who were in the city.

Mr. McDonald was in the Senate, but did not vote. Mr. McDonald had been absent from his seat for some time, and did not get even to the Senate Chamber. Messrs. Catell and Evelyn were present for the debate.

There were more contestants in time than have been since Mr. Johnson's inauguration, but that is all that can be said in his favor.

As an argument it is founded on an absurd sophistry, or more properly, perhaps, on a previous assumption.

The assumption is, that Congress is bound with the right of the people to abolish slavery.

It is true that the first section of the Constitution gives to Congress the power to prohibit slavery in the District of Columbia.

But the right of the people to

abolish slavery is not in the Constitution.

But the right of the people to

abolish slavery is not in the Constitution.

But the right of the people to

abolish slavery is not in the Constitution.

But the right of the people to

abolish slavery is not in the Constitution.

But the right of the people to

abolish slavery is not in the Constitution.

But the right of the people to

abolish slavery is not in the Constitution.

But the right of the people to

abolish slavery is not in the Constitution.

But the right of the people to

abolish slavery is not in the Constitution.

But the right of the people to

abolish slavery is not in the Constitution.

But the right of the people to

abolish slavery is not in the Constitution.

But the right of the people to

abolish slavery is not in the Constitution.

But the right of the people to

abolish slavery is not in the Constitution.

But the right of the people to

abolish slavery is not in the Constitution.

But the right of the people to

abolish slavery is not in the Constitution.

But the right of the people to

abolish slavery is not in the Constitution.

But the right of the people to

abolish slavery is not in the Constitution.

But the right of the people to

abolish slavery is not in the Constitution.

But the right of the people to

abolish slavery is not in the Constitution.

Advertiser from "Occasional" to "Republicans."

ANSECON, Jan. 6th, 1867.

Mr. EYTON.—I see by your issue of today, that some one who signs himself "Republican," has become considerably excited over other people's dinners,

which it appears, happens by invitation.

My opinion is, that the President

is to be considered for defending an institution to his appetite.

Now, I am

an intelligent public judge,

and have no personal

influence,

but I am

not

so

badly

off

as

he

is.

He

is

not

so

badly

off

as

he

is.

He

is

not

so

badly

off

as

he

is.

He

is

not

so

badly

off

as

he

is.

He

is

not

so

badly

off

as

he

is.

He

is

not

so

badly

off

as

he

is.

He

is

not

so

badly

off

as

he

is.

He

is

not

so

badly

off

as

he

is.

He

is

not

so

badly

off

as

he

is.

He

is

not

so

badly

off

as

he

is.

He

is

not

so

badly

off

as

he

is.

He

is

not

so

badly

off

as

he

is.

He

is

not

so

badly

off

as

he

is.

He

is

not

so

badly

off

as

he

is.

He

is

not

so

badly

off

as

he

is.

He

