W. O. T. U.

The ladies have taken this space by the year, and are responsible for all that it may contain.

Science has established that alcohol destroys first and most those parts which are most delicate, and most recently developed. These are those wonderfully delicate brain-cells, upon the proper formation of which the difference between men and beasts chiefly depends.

These delicate structures are undeveloped in the very young child, or are only just beginning to unfold.
The child is at first, therefore, deficient in speech, reasoning power, in-tellection, judgment, and all higher moral sensibilities which govern our thinking, feeling, and willing.
How the drunkard, by paralyzing these brain structures, can sink to the level of the animal, and lower, is well known. Whoever, then, gives wine and beer to a child, injures these delicate structures in their formation, and thoughtlessness, flightiness, passion, coarse sensuality, and all base characteristics attain domination.

The Price of a Drink.

"Five cents a glass!" Does any one think that that is really the price of a drink?
"Five cents a glass," I hear you say.
"Why, that isn't very much to pay."
Ah, no, indeed; 'tis a very small sum.
You're passing over 'twixt finger and thumb;
And if that were all that you gave away,
It wouldn't be very much to pay.

The price of a drink? Let me decide
Who has lost his courage and lost his pride,
And lies a groveling heap of clay,
Not far removed from a beast, to-day.

The price of a drink? Let that one tell
Who sleeps to-night in a murderer's cell,
And feels within him the fire of hell.
Repentant wiles, love and truth,
All the glory and pride of youth,
Hopes of manhood, the wreath of fame,
High endeavor and noble aim,
These are the treasures thrown away.
As the price of a drink, from day to day.

"Five cents a glass!" How Satan laughed
As over the bar the young man quaffed
The beaded liquor; for the demon knew
The terrible work that drink would do!
And ere the morning the victim lay
With his life-blood swiftly ebbing away;
And that was the price he paid, alas!
For the pleasure of taking a social glass.

The price of a drink? If you want to know What some are willing to pay for it, go Through that wretched tenement over there,
With dingy windows and broken stair,
Where foul disease, like a vampire, crawls
With outstretched wings o'er mouldy walls.
There poverty dwells with her hungry brood,
Wild-eyed demons for lack of food;
There shame, in a corner, crouches low;
There violence deals its cruel blow;
And innocent ones are thus accursed
To pay the price of another's thirst.

"Five cents a glass!" Oh, if that were all,
The sacrifice would indeed be small!
But money's worth is the least amount
We pay; and whoever will keep account
Will learn the terrible waste and blight
That follows the ravenous appetite.
"Five cents a glass!" Does anyone think
That that is really the price of a drink?

The County Sunday Schools.

To the Sunday School Workers of Atlantic County, N. J.

The work of another year is closed.

Atlantic County Sunday School Association has completed its work and reports 82 schools in the County Association, with reports from 80.

There are 905 officers and teachers, 7,753 scholars, with a total enrollment including Home Department members of 9,234,—a gain of 1,348 over 1900.

391 have joined the church, a gain of 61. 57 of the schools contributed $114.83 toward county, state and international work.

The Spring conference was held at Central Church, Linwood; attendance was good. The addresses, and conferences were helpful. Township associations were held, with one exception, and the meetings were means of social gatherings and exchange of methods of work.

There was much difficulty experienced in getting some of the reports.
It is hoped that the officers will assist the Township and District Secretaries and make prompt reports.

The County Convention, held in
First Presbyterian Church, Atlantic City, Nov. 8th, was a spiritual convention. The speakers were Rev. L. O.
Manchester, Miss Josephine Baldwin,
State Supt. Primary Work, Rev. J.
W. Lyell, D. D., Rev. E. Morris Fur-guson, and Rev. Willard Gage. The ladies of Atlantic City furnished entertainment in Odd Fellows Hall.

The plans for 1902 have been outlined by the President and Secretary at a conference held Dec. 13, 1901, and we ask for your prayers and co-operation.

We want an increase of enrollment;
a home department in every school;
more conversions among the scholars;
a larger attendance at Spring conference and annual convention; two meetings held by each township organization; prompt report and liberal collection from each school toward county and state work.

The officers are anxious to accomplish better results this year than over before attained. We will accept invitations to attend meetings throughout the county, and will give our services free of charge toward the advancement of the Sunday School work in Atlantic County.

We want your help. May we have it? Yours truly,
E. D. RILEY, Secretary.

torpedo. It is hardly necessary to say:

The fruit usually splits open lengthwise. If plucked before maturity and allowed to ripen in a warm spot, it opens gradually from apex to base, making, as it were, a pair of diverging horns starting from the same point. If left to ripen on the plant, since the pro-ture greater, the opening is sudden and accompanied with a slight noise, though this is much less than that which takes place when it has been placed in water. In this case the dry but porous tissue of the surface of the fruit quickly absorbs the liquid, especially at the grooves caused by the junction of the two valves or outer shells of the fruit. The internal tissue, being very elastic, exerts upon the latter a tension that soon results in the violent bursting already described. The curious property of explosion is given the little plant for the dissemination of its seeds, which would otherwise stand a poor chance of propagating the species.—Montreal Witness.

"I'm sure I don't know, dear," replied his mother. "Why do you think he has?"

"Because," answered Tommy. "He said the two weeks you spent at grandma's seemed like heaven to him."

Wanted the Lord to Persevere.

Much to the astonishment of her mother—a little 4-year-old-miss recently concluded her evening prayer as follows: "Please, Lord, make me a good girl, and if at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

"Mamma," said little Willie, as he watched her transforming one of his father's old coats into a new one for himself, "is that what they call a curtain?"

WINTER FUN IN THE OLD DAYS.

Reminiscences of Good Times Boys Used to Have.

"Boys don't see fun in winter nowadays, as we used to," an elderly farmer-lawyer, or lawyer-farmer, maintained. "Why, when I was a boy, out in the country, we used to set snares, and catch as many as twenty rabbits every night. I remember one night I played with rabbits' heads about that time. My uncle had a blacksmith's shop and I had to work nearly all day in it just making horseshoe nails—awfully tiresome work for a boy who would rather be out in the woods setting rabbit snares.

"One day I had thirty rabbits' heads—the proceeds of two nights' snares; not quite as many as usual. I had heard my uncle say that Farmer

Hobbs was coming in the afternoon to get his horse rough shod. So at the noon hour I slipped off down the road, out of sight of the shop, taking my bag of rabbit heads with me. In the road I made a big pyramid of those heads, the long ears all sticking out "every which-a-way." It didn't look like anything that human eyes had ever beheld - it rather scared me, I remember, although I knew I had made it myself. Then I hid in the fence corner, old salt fence, wind nest, and

"Well, sir, Kitty came pacing along very decently, and all of a sudden she stood on her hind legs and pawed the air, then jumped off the road sideways, then waited around, and tried to run away. Farmer Hobbs had a hard time of it. He whipped KITTY and he said bad words at her, but go ahead she wouldn't and didn't. He had to dismount, tie her to the fence—the very corner behind which I crouched, snickering in a whisper. Then he walked up the road to the rabbit monstrosity, which he inspected and then kicked all to pieces, saying

"Of course," continued the farmer-lawyer, according to the Detroit Free Press, "I slid off through the bushes and was hurt at work making horse-shoe nails long before he got to my uncle's door."
