The Baptist Y. P. S. C. E. has secured a program of music, responsive readings, etc., which they will use to-morrow evening,—it being Christian Endeavor Day. Service will commence at 6 o'clock on this occasion.

We noticed, yesterday, teams were hauling good eight-inch ice from the lake. By the way,—wouldn't it be a safe plan for those cutting ice to place warning signs, so that venturesome skaters will have no excuse for taking sudden cold baths, or something worse.

Mr. Israel Jones died on Monday evening, Jan. 29th, at his home on Egg Harbor Road, near Maple Street, Hammonton, aged eighty-four years. Mr. Jones has resided here with his daughter, Miss Emily Jones, for the past few years, and although not known to many, was esteemed by neighbors and friends. He had not been well for some months. Funeral was held on Thursday, and burial in Old Fellows Cemetery Philadelphia.

George Enders, third, only son of George Enders, Jr., whose father is George Enders, Sr., was so badly injured last week Friday afternoon, in the Skinner & Son glass factory, that he died early on Saturday morning, in Cooper Hospital, Camden. As near as we can learn, as George was hurrying along the grinding room, preparing to leave for home, his foot caught in a belt, and in his effort to release himself the belt was set in motion, and the young man drawn up to and around the shaft, with fatal result. There were plenty of witnesses, but the accident occupied only a moment, and no one seemed able to prevent it. The Enders family have resided in this vicinity many years, are well known, and have popular sympathy in their sudden affliction.

How to Care for your Watch.

There is nothing that will spoil your watch quicker than Dirt and Old Rancid Oil.

Cleanliness is economy in a time-piece. The delicate parts, doing indescribable work, will soon wear themselves to ruin if permitted to run in accumulating dirt and old oil.

We will Examine your Watch, and if necessary, clean it.

Let my twenty-five years of experience serve you.

Address:—
Mr. John T. Sproull, President New Jersey C. E. Union

Dr. Stephenson will meet, informally, Sunday School Councils, Superintendents, etc., at the Baptist Church, on Monday evening at eight o'clock.

A convention has been in session, in Washington, in the interest of Federal aid to good roads. Why not good roads, as well as deepening channels in certain rivers.

Representative Henry of Texas has proposed, in the House of Representatives, a Constitutional amendment making the last Thursday of April, instead of March 4, the date for inaugurating presidents and vice-presidents.

The recommendation of Postmaster-General Hitchcock that the Government appraise, take over and operate the telegraph companies has produced much discussion.—The New York World has suggested ironically that, for efficiency, it might be better for the telegraph companies to operate the Postal department.

FASHION'S FANCIES

9106. A SMART AND SERVICE-ABLE MODEL.

This design is exceptionally attractive for general or business wear. The waist is closed at the side, and has a panel or skirt piece, below the belt, that may be omitted. A broad skirt collar outlines a chemise of contrasting material, over the front. The skirt is "up-to-date," with its panel back and shaped front. The Waist Pattern 9106 is cut in six sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. The Skirt Pattern 9106 is cut in five sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches waist measure. It requires 11 1/2 yards of 44 inch material for the entire costume for a 36 inch size.

This illustration calls for two separate patterns which will be mailed to any address on receipt of 10c for each in silver or stamps.

IN CASE OF ACCIDENTS.
Burns and scalds—Cover with cooling ointment and lay wet cloth over it; white of egg and olive oil.

Mad dog or snake bites—The cord tight above wound, suck wound, and cauterize at once or cut out with sharp knife.

Venomous insects sting, etc.—Apply weak ammonia oil, salt water or iodine.

Fainting—Place flat on back, allow fresh air, sprinkle with water.

Cinders in the eye—Roll soft paper up like a finger and, wet the tip to remove; rub the other eye.

9095. CHILD'S DRESS WITH LINING.

Maid styling in green, brown and red, with facings of plain brown material was used for this model. The undergarment may be of the plain material or of the garment in made of silk, velvet, the sleeves and collar may be of lace or of any other material. The pattern is cut in four sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. It requires 4 1/2 yards of 37 inch material for the 8 year size.

TO PRESERVE THE EYESIGHT.

The woman who wishes to look youthful and beautiful should not neglect the care of her eyes and incidentally the brows and lashes. There is a peculiar fascination about a pair of fine, bright eyes that no woman can afford to ignore. The first thing to look after is their health, as no eyes can possibly be beautiful that are not healthy. If there is anything wrong with your eyesight consult an oculist, and never allow any but a skilled person to tamper with them. It is bad economy to save money at the expense of one's eyesight.

If you have nice eyes and wish to keep them so, here are a few simple don'ts to remember:

Hold the book on a level with the eyes.
Don't read on a moving train.
Don't tax your eyes when you are tired or hungry.

9132. A Dainty Little Apron.

New designs in aprons are constantly looked for by the mothers who make their children's clothes. Here is one that is very pretty, yet simple and "refreshingly dainty and attractive." The back shoulder edge is extended to form pointed tabs which are buttoned over on the front. The apron is attached to the undergarment seams that hold the fullest in place in the back, although they may be dispensed with if preferred. The apron could be made after this design in cross-barred muslin or dimity, but linen gingham and percale are also appropriate. The pattern is cut in four sizes: 3, 5, 7 and 9 years. It requires 2 1/2 yards of 36 inch material for the 7 year size.

9095. A MODEL FOR "EVERY DAY OR DRESS" OCCASIONS.

Ladies' One or Two Piece House Dress, in High or Normal Waistline, and with or without Panel Trimming—This design may be developed as a simple comfortable house dress, that may be the addition of the panel trimming, be transformed into a more formal gown, for dinner, visiting, etc. The panel is cut low over the front, and the waist underneath may be cut to correspond, for square neck opening. The skirt is made with a panel back and a centre front seam. The pattern is cut in six sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. It requires 3 yards of 36 inch material for the 36 inch size with panel, and 6 yards without panel.

FLAME COLOR IN VOGUE.

A positive future is noticeable now for flame colors. The glowing red tones that are seen in the feathered deck hats of the winter season are repeated in the ball room, where flame, carnation, rhododendron, rose, celadon and current shades make vivid splashes of color.

In simple lustrous velvet softened about the bodice by silver lace or cream net these red frocks are especially effective for midwinter entertainments, and while the dancers and young married women choose this fabric and satin the debutantes appear in chiffon and mousseline de sole that are equally bright, in some cases made up over white and usually touched with silver, crystal or cut steel embellishments.

Don't use your eyes when they smart. Smarting means that it is time to give them a rest.
Don't unnecessarily face the bright. Don't read while you rock.

9150. A "CHIC" COSTUME.

Costume for Misses and Small Women (With Sir Gore Skirt and Waist in Surplus Effect).—This design is attractive as well as practical. The neat reverse collar over the surplus fronts outlines a chemise, that may be of lace, chiffon or net. The skirt has the popular panel back, and it is cut straight up-to-date lines. A trimming belt so popular this season, flatters the upper edge smartly. The waist has above seams extending over the top of the arm to the neck edge, the sleeve being cut in with the waist. Any of this season's popular dress fabrics may be used for this model. The pattern is cut in five sizes: 14, 16, 18, 20 and 22 years. It requires 5 1/2 yards of 44 inch material for the 17 year size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

9159. A PLEASING PROCK FOR MOTHER'S GIRL.

Girls' Dress With or Without Rovers and With Long or Shorter Sleeve—Plaid suiting in shades of red and brown with facings of brown in plain material, made up this design most effectively. The style of closing will appeal to the home dresser and busy mother, as a desirable feature. The waist portions are cut in peasant style, with body and sleeve combined, but with the outer sleeve seam extending to the shoulders. The sleeve may be finished in full or shorter length. The pattern is cut in four sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. It requires 3 3/8 yards of 36 inch material for the 8 year size.

Another characteristic that is always found in these songs that fathers and sons and mothers and daughters alike and pleasure in it, is that they have no element of vulgar suggestion in their composition. ## Songs The People Sang Yesterday

The other evening a tenor with good voice and a fair degree of musical intelligence sang two songs to an audience that crowded a moving picture theatre to the doors in a large New England city. The audience was made up of "the plain people" whom Lincoln thought "the Lord must have loved because he made so many of them."

The first song was a selection from one of the old operas. Remembered in Italy, it was not enjoyed by many in the audience, and it got but little applause. But the next number was followed by a tremendous burst of hand-clapping. It was "Marguerite." The older persons went into raptures as they heard the song that had been dear to a father or mother some time ago. The young folks did what their fathers and mothers had done before them. Hearing the song for the first time, they promptly fell in love with it.

If any concert singer were to give a program made up entirely of the sentimental and humorous songs that were favorites 20 and 30 years ago, he would probably get from an audience of the ordinary rank-and-file type such an ovation as falls to Caruso and Calvé at the great opera houses. The next time you meet a friend whose age is in the neighborhood of 40 years just ask him if he remembers "Marguerite" and "Wait Till the Clouds Roll By," and you will know his eyes will light up and how his voice will take on a warm tinge as he replies. Then ask him about "McNulty" and "Ta-Ra-Ra Boom-de-ay" and he will break into a broad smile.

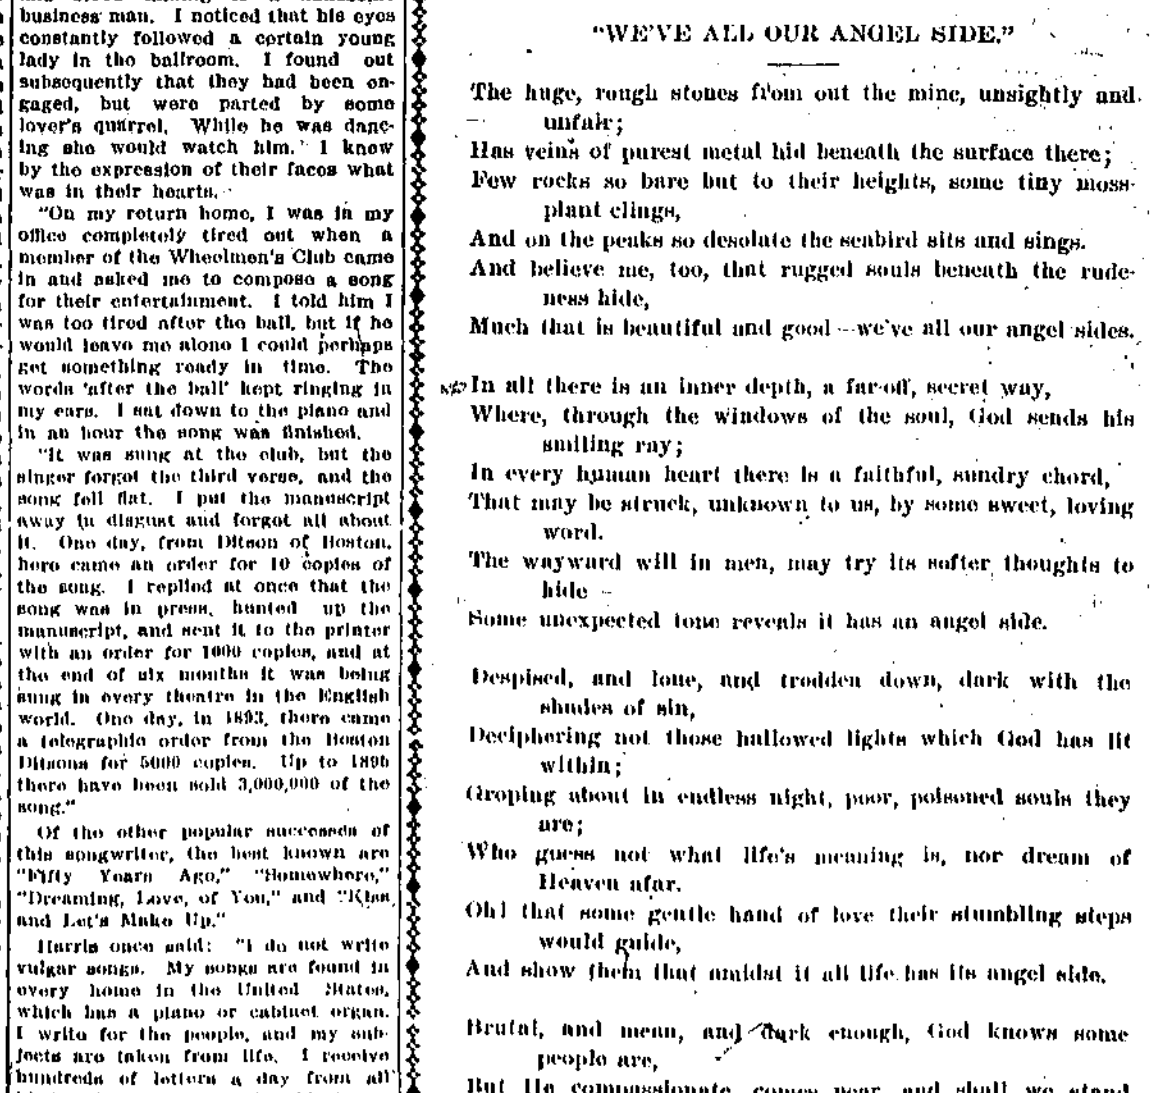

The liking for those old songs was not merely a fleeting fancy. They took hold in a permanent way upon the affections. This they were able to do because they had certain characteristics which were lacking along from one generation to another. For one thing, they appealed in a direct and simple way to some sentiment that is common to all humanity. It might be the love of home or of mother, or pride in the flag of land. They might express something of the romantic yearning, lovers usually contrive to attach to their sweethearts experience.

Another characteristic that is always found in these songs that fathers and sons and mothers and daughters alike and pleasure in it, is that they have no element of vulgar suggestion in their composition. The plain people of whom Lincoln used to speak have never cared to annex as a permanent treasure song to their collection. One cold winter morning a young man emerged from the door of a box car in which he had been riding all night. He was thinly clad, dirty and hungry.

The little village where the young man alighted was his home town. On the outskirts was a cottage and a few acres of ground where his mother and sister lived and where he was born.

When he departed he was heedless of the entreaties of his sister and the tearful eyes of his mother.

He was a youth, but thought he was a man. He was headstrong and impetuous and the desire to go obsessed him.

He went, and for four months he was buffeted about in a maelstrom of human activity. He was not able to succumb to many temptations. For a time he worked as a waiter in a cheap restaurant. He spent the greater part of the night in pool rooms. He spent his money faster than he earned it and was penniless most of the time.

Finally he reached the level of vagabondage. His clothes became soiled and ragged. His appearance was against him. He looked and felt guilty of some crime.

He had no friends; he was homeless, homeless and miserable.

It was then that he decided to go back to home and mother.

It was about an hour before dawn that the first train whistled, and he stepped alight at the village, stopping at a rapid pace for home, enrolling the town as a place of being seen by some early riser.

There was a thin layer of snow on the ground that chilled his feet where he stepped alight. He was shivering through. As he approached the cottage he decided to go around the house and enter the kitchen.

He wondered what his mother would say. He had not written to her, but once during all the time he was away.

As he neared the cottage an intense feeling of anxiety for her overcame him. For the first time since he had left home, he felt that he was not alone.

A Case of Insanity

On Friday last, Jan. 26th, about 12.30, there was a police call, that Ettore Quartino, of Middle Road, had guns and knives, going to kill everyone in sight. Chief Adams and Constable Pinto went up. Dr. Cunningham being there. About a dozen of the neighbors were waiting for the Police to arrive. The Doctor, Pinto and Adams, with three neighbors, went into the house. Ettore was alone. The doctor examined him and told Chief Adams he had better take him back with him, which he did, and locked him in a cell. He made no resistance whatever.

About 4.50 that afternoon Adams went around to the Hall. Ettore was quiet. He phoned for Dr. Cunningham, who came, talked to Ettore, then let him out of the cell, examined him, and offered him medicine, which he refused to take. Then, quick as a flash he struck Adams a blow on the side of the head, and kept right on fighting like a wild animal. The doctor and chief had their hands full trying to protect themselves from the mad man. In the scuffle the door came open, Ettore seeming to get renewed strength, it was impossible to hold him. He broke away and fairly flew down the street.

Adams came down to Bellevue Ave and Second St., and heard another police alarm which he answered. They said a crazy man was at the Catholic Church, demolishing things. He met Henry Nicolai and, together, they started for the church. They found Officer Myers with several others, holding Quartino down. They handcuffed him, tied his feet together, and carried him around to the hall and locked him up. Later in the evening, Mr. Nicolai employed James Fitzpatrick to stay all night, keep the hall warm and administer to his wants.

Next morning Justices Strouse and Demarco gave the man a hearing, and committed him to the County Insane Asylum. Overseer of the Poor C. F. Crowell, and Constable Pinto took him to Smith's Landing in an automobile.

Guy Brothers Big Minstrel will arrive this morning, and will give a high-class entertainment this evening, in Bellevue Hall. Aside from the fine band and orchestra, to hear which is worth the price of admission, they have a good first part, enhanced with electrical devices, funny end-men, jokes with the chestnut flavor eliminated, sweet-voiced vocalists rendering latest ballads, special scenery and fine costumes, making in all one of the finest minstrel productions on the road to-day. This organization has given several exhibitions in Hammonton, and will be welcomed again. Reserved seats now on sale at Red Cross Pharmacy; prices, 35 and 50 cents.

Miss Gay Zenola MacLaren, "America's most original entertainer," has been procured by the Senior Class of the H. H. S. to present "The Man from Home," in Bellevue Hall, Wednesday evening, Feb. 21st. Dr. Willett, dean of the American platform, says that Miss MacLaren was born to her work, and is a regular genius. "She is an unusually gifted young lady," said Mark Twain. General admission, 25 cts.; reserved seats, 35 cts. All welcome; all come.

This has not been a delightful week in the sense of pleasant weather. Sunday was the best of the seven, —temperature moderate, sun shining; but the slush! Rained that night and most all of Monday, and froze, —sleety and slippery all day. Tuesday thawing, with streets a glare of ice, but just a little sunshine. It was hard work for pedestrians, and more so for horses. Wednesday snowed for a while, the sun shone some of the time, moderate temperature. Thursday fair and cold; mercury 18 at seven o'clock.

Mrs. D. H. King, for whose recovery so many have been wishing, died early on Monday morning, in Jefferson Hospital, Philadelphia. Though a resident in Hammonton but a year, Mrs. K. won hosts of friends, and her unlooked for decease came as a shock to us all. It is one of the things that we cannot understand; but one year married, with pleasant surroundings, good business prospects, Mr. and Mrs. King naturally looked forward to many years of happiness with their twin girls. In this we must trust to the wisdom of Him who never made a mistake, and await the day when "we shall know." Funeral services at their former home, Vineland, where both families reside.

In the "Herald," of Sumter, S. C., of Dec. 20, 1911, just received, we find the following: "Mr. Andrew K. Bernshouse, of this city, was happily married last Thursday night, December 14th, to Miss Elizabeth Holladay at the Methodist Church in Summerton, by Rev. J. T. Major. The groom is the efficient bookkeeper at the First National Bank, and has many warm personal friends. The bride is a charming young woman, and numbers her friends by the score. They have the sincere wishes of their numerous friends in Sumter and Clarendon." Andrew still has many friends and well wishers in Hammonton.

Persons calling for any of the above will please state that it was advertised. THOS. C. ELVINS, Postmaster.

A good washing machine costs from five to eight dollars, but a washboard can be bought for twenty-five cents. This kind of economy gives a good many men a chance to look for a second wife.

Money is a good thing, especially in these times, but there is something much more valuable. It is character, the consciousness of a pure and honorable life. This it should be a young man's first aim to preserve at any cost.

There is a demand for good boys. The boy who is honest, earnest and industrious, will not be long out of a job. There are lots of prosperous business men, merchants and mechanics, who are constantly on the outlook for boys. They do not look for them on the streets, however, but in some sort of employment. They have no use for an idle boy. He is too apt to make an idle man.

Men and women don't need to swing clubs to threaten home concord. The husband armed with a sneer, and the wife who carries waspish tongue, are just as well compared for death-dealing battle, as though they pounded each other with base-ball bats.

Fine clothes and costly jewelry do not convert a rough into a gentleman any more than a stovepipe hat and a cigar make a man of a monkey. A few smart, well-learned quotations from eminent authors will not convey the impression that you are conversant with literature.

Quality Paint Like Pure Gold is Standard

Don't delude yourself or let others fool and humbug you with cheap paint. The material and labor that goes to make up a really good paint has as much a standard of value as gold. When anyone gets below that standard, something's wrong. You are just as likely to get good paint at the so-called low and cheap prices as you are to get real five dollar gold pieces at 50c each.
When you pay a Lucas price you can't expect to get gold.
Lucas Tinted Gloss PAINT
ONCE USED ALWAYS PREFERRED
is not cheap in the sense that the price is below standard. It costs enough to make possible the use of the very best materials and expert workmanship in its manufacture. It is good paint and covers so much more surface per gallon, lasts so much longer and is so very much more satisfactory in every respect that it is actually much cheaper than cheap paint.
