CORNERS.

Since Commander Peary cornered the Pole They've sprung up in every quarter, ultogether bold. There's a corner on the steer, from his horn to his heel.

And also the "whole bog," all but the squeal, Mary's little lamb so oft heard in song, Has at last in skyhooting values gone; The baker has "rie" the loaf, as well 22 the roll.

the roll.
Also the doughnuts,—except the little hole.

As to which side our daily bread is buttered. That is the statest joke men ever uttered; For creamery print, 'tis certainly no go,' For we're greasing our whistle with a little oleo.

They've cornered most everything by kind
Providence given.
They've jacked up the Bible that points
you to Heaven.
And should you reach that Heavenly goal.

And should you reach that Heavenly goal, They would, If they could, corner your Soul —Free Lance.

The Civic Club

One of the most interesting and in structive meetings held by the Civic Club, was Tuesday afternoon, in the parior over the Trust Company. Fifty four members were present, besides a number of guests. Through the efforts of Meedames Whillen and Meade, Miss Florence Sanville, Secretary of the Consumera' League of the State of Pennpylvánia, gave a talk on "Child Labor," Louching briefly the conditions in mills, factories and collieries. She spoke of the unsanitary conditions, the long and tedious-bours, and the low-wages paid to boys and girls ranging in age from eleven to sixteen years. Also of the grave necessity of the public discouraglog any, business that employs these children, and that we, as Americans, assist in this grand movement. She suggested that we purchase our necessities where the proprietors are also in sympathy with this work.

- Mesdamus Setley and Crowell served quinty refreshments,

Two members of the club will attend the Conference of the New Jersey State Charmes and Correction, to be held in Camden, Feb. 13th to 15th.

Each month the Club expects a talk on many of the leading questions that are brought before the public to day. Let every member attend. SEC X.

Another from "Economy."

MR. EDITOR: "Tax Payer," after quite a preamble of what he intends for instructive moralizing on the subject of kicks, proceeds to take up the topics in my article, published two weeks ago.

He excuses himself as not being a Councilman, and says he won't but in, then contradicts himself by continuing to butt in all along the line, and takes up the cudgel to defend the efficiency of the Town Treasurer. I made no kick against the Treasurer, but protested against Council's action in increasing the salary, thereby adding to our taxes, which I and others think was not at all necessary.

He tries to be sarcastle over my little attempt at ammement over the item of an animal buried, or rather, the fee paid,—which, by the way, is only one of several similar items, as shown in the xeport for 1908 0. He will also find several amounts, paid for killing dogs, yet the number of cantnes running at large does not soom to diminish.

He admonishes me to be careful, as expert accountants come high; as the?

my favoring it would influence Council to coupley an expert.

Hote right when he guesses that I am not a smoker, and I wish there were more like me in that respect.

Here he switches off to a line of his own kicks, and avidently strained himself in kicking at the efficiency of our massengers; but I procume he will go to the polls and vote for the famin men if they are nominated by the party.

If a wishes some one to do his kisking for him, saying, "when you have included the assessors," etc. Why not induce them yourself, Mr. Tax-payer, and also register those good intelligent hicks that you have in storage?
