Union Hall was full last Wednesday evening, at the Century and it was a satisfied crowd. Miss Broun, eloquent, did her part perfectly, especially in child impara-tion. The harpist, Miss Reed, a train for Hammontonians, was also repeatedly cheered. Miss Roberts, vocalist, possessed rich voice, true tone, but not loud, and pleased her audience in each appearance. Many with whom we have spoken refer to this as the best concert of the series, and regret it held the last one.

No Spring Election.

[Through courtesy of Hon. Thos. C.
Elvins, we publish below the new laws concerning elections and assessments. They were signed by Gov.
Stokes, and are now in force.]

Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

1. Hereafter, in all towns, townships, boroughs and other municipalities in this state, all officers required to be elected therein at any municipal or charter election shall be voted for and elected on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November in each year, and with the same registration and upon the same official ballots required by law for the election of state and county officers, and not otherwise;
and the said ballots voted as aforesaid for such officers shall be canvassed, and the result of any election therefor shall be determined as now provided by law in the case of county officers and certified to the clerk of such town, township, borough or other municipality, it being the intention hereby to consolidate the municipal or charter election in towns, townships, boroughs and other municipalities with the general or state election;

Provided, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to affect the election of any member of any board of education or school trustee, [and all members of such boards of education and school trustees shall be elected or appointed at the same time and in the same manner as heretofore].

2. The term of office of every such elective officer (except justices of the peace) heretofore elected in any town, township, borough or other municipality, and holding office at the passage of this act, shall be and hereby is extended from the time when his term would otherwise expire until twelve o'clock noon of the first day of January next succeeding the date at which his term of office would otherwise expire; provided, that this section shall not apply to any officer whose term of office now expires by law on the first day of January in any year.

3. Every officer heretofore appointed or chosen by township committee, mayor, or other governing body of any town, township, borough, or other municipality, and holding office thereat the passage of this act, shall continue in office, and his term of office shall be and hereby is extended from the time when his term would otherwise expire until twelve o'clock noon of the first day of January next succeeding the date at which his term of office would otherwise expire; provided, that this section shall not apply to any officer whose term of office now expires by law on the first day of January in any year.

4. The terms of office of all officers (except justices of the peace) hereafter elected in any town, township, borough or other municipality shall commence at twelve o'clock noon on the first day of January next succeeding their election, and continue for the respective terms of years now fixed by law; and the terms of office of all officers hereafter appointed or chosen by the township committee, mayor or other governing body of any town, township, borough or other municipality, except to fill vacancies, shall commence on the first day of January of the year in which they are appointed and continue for the respective terms of years now fixed by law, when said term is for a definite period; provided, however, that no appointment of any officer shall be made by the township committee or other governing body, or by the mayor of any borough or other municipality, for a term of office to commence after the expiration of the term of any member of said township committee or other governing body, or by the mayor of any borough or other municipality, for a term of office to commence after the expiration of the term of the said mayor.

5. All vacancies in offices in any
municipality of this state arising from or created by any other cause than expiration of term of office shall be filled for the unexpired term only-- vacancies in elective offices shall hereafter be filled at the next general or state election, and not otherwise.

6. The powers, duties, and authorities of every officer whose term of office is extended by this act are hereby continued in full force and effect for and during the period of such extension.

7. Every officer now or hereafter holding any office covered by the provisions of this act, except justices of the peace, shall continue to hold such office and to exercise the duties thereof notwithstanding the time limited for such continuance shall have expired, until his successor has been chosen and qualified, unless sooner removed in the manner provided by law.

8. All acts and parts of acts, special or general, inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

9. This act shall take effect immediately.

About Money.

Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

1. In every municipality of this state where tax levies are raised or fixed by vote of the people at the local or charter elections, the said tax levies, for each annual tax levy for the succeeding taxing year, shall be hereafter voted for by the people on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November in each year, and with the same registration and upon the same official ballots required by law for the election of state and county officers, and not otherwise;
and the said ballots, voted as aforesaid, for such tax levy, shall be canvassed, and the result of any such election determined as now provided by law in the case of county officers, and certified to the clerk of such town, township, village or other municipality.

2. It shall be lawful for the town council, township committee, trustees or other governing body of any such municipality to provide, by ordinance or resolution, at any time before July first next for the moneys required to be raised for all lawful purposes, and placed in the tax levy for the year nineteen hundred and five; provided, that such appropriation or levy, for any item or purpose, except for interest moneys on any outstanding municipal obligation or sinking fund purposes, shall not be more than fifteen per cent greater than any like appropriation for the preceding year, and shall be only for the same items or objects voted for by the people at the last charter or local election in such municipality.

3. This act shall take effect immediately.

A SCHOLARLY SUNDAY SERMON BY THE REV. HERBERT M. MOIT.

Subject: Can a Man be a Slave? (Col. 3:1-4).
Boston, Mass.—The following sermon was contributed to the Christian Register by the Rev. Herbert M. Moit. It is entitled "Can a Man be a Slave?" and the text is: "Can a man be a slave who will serve?"—Col. 3:1-4.

On a man do as he likes? Of course not you say. All sorts of barriers hedge him round. He would like to fly as the birds fly, but the weight of his flesh and bones would be too much for him. He is too poor or stupid; consequently he can neither fly nor swim. He is too poor or stupid; consequently he can neither fly nor swim. He is too poor or stupid; consequently he can neither fly nor swim.

How It Feels.

An Electrician Describes the Sensation of a Severe Shock.

The sensation of an ordinary severe shock of electricity is familiar to the majority of people, and it is especially so in the case of a lightning bolt.

The current is something entirely different.

I was splashing a connection in a power-house and mistook an ac-current for a direct current.

Then all of a sudden I had a most extraordinary sensation. I felt as if my blood were expanding and swelling every vein in my body to the last pitch of tension.

The great arteries in my neck seemed to stretch until they were as big as ship cables, and were vibrating with their pressure—and I had the same bursting feeling in my eyeballs.

My tongue felt as if it were being pulled out of my mouth, and even in the roots of my hair.

All this came over me with a terrible swiftness, but it was nothing like a stroke of lightning or the twinkling of an eye.

My experience was a most extraordinary one, and I have never since been so completely different from what I had always imagined it would be.

Then, as nearly as I can describe it, my overstrained tissues appeared to give way, something exploded in my brain like a small dynamite charge.

Everything became black. Almost immediately I seemed to open my eyes and found myself on the floor, fully conscious, but very weak.

It is a matter of fact that I had been hurt a dozen times. What I imagined had consumed at least a tenth of a second had possibly occupied a thousandth of a second.

Music from the Hills

I walk alone the country road And in the distance see The hills that rise like giants To point out God's hand;
And on the quiet summer air Angelic music floats—
The music from the distant hills, Soprano, joyous notes.

Alone I walk, yet not alone,
For he is by my side;
The music from the distant hills Reminds me of my Guide.
This friend, the best I ever knew, He rules in that glad land.

I long to gaze across those hills;
I strain my eyes to see
The ones I loved who went before
And there await for me.
And some day—some day I think I'll learn that music sweet,
And sing it to my dearest friend,
While sitting at his feet.
—Brooklyn Eagle.

I long to gaze across those hills;
I strain my eyes to see
The ones I loved who went before
And there await for me.

I long to gaze across those hills;
I strain my eyes to see
The ones I loved who went before
And there await for me.
And some day—some day I think
I'll learn that music sweet,
And sing it to my dearest friend,
While sitting at his feet.
