Fire Alarms

About 12.30, last Sunday alternoon, both Fire Companies (and hundreds of others) were called to the barn of "No. 45," beyond the Union. Fire had broken out in the barn, the loft of which was filled with hay, which required bard fighting and tons of water through twelve hundred feet of hose. The first story of the barn was saved, and much

The second fire occurred at 7.40, Monday evening, in Watkis & Nicholson's propagating house. Mice and matches are supposed to have been the cause. Fire had broken out near the water spigot, hurning the hose completely off, and in attaching a new hose. Mr. Watkis burned his right had severely. His own outit put out the blaze, and left-no-work for the fire laddies. About $70 will cover the loss on stock Easter plants and flowers.

The third hiarm, up to time of going to press, had not taken place.

No one should ride on the fire apparatus or teams hauling sume, excepting members, and had the men police authority, this could be inelisted on.

LESSONS OF LIFE.

Fullilly of Glying the Toons th Most Coatly Thing on Earth. I wonder if you realize that it is rather a solemn moment for any one of my age to come face to face with boys at your age, said Lord Rosebery in an address at Edinburgh, according to an exchange. I suppose between the eldest of you and myself some fiveand-forty years intervene. Looking back on that period between the termination of one's school life and the period at which one has arrived, one reviews it with a sense of one's own great shortcomings, of one's waste of time, of one's opportunities missed. No one is wholly satisfied with his life. The best of men-that you could think of cannot have felt any complete sat-

The Liquor Business

We mentioned that deplorable ciumstance of five young men-intoxicated on a Sunday afternoon, and woodered where they obtained the liquor.

A few hours after the paper was mailed, a lady called us on the telephone and said: "Those young men were seen a that day, at ——'s place, on the road to Nesco; not these only, but many more, any day, and they find there lrink in pleaty."

Supposing that this was news, we aedat to a member of Council To our surprise, he said: "Oh, yes, that has been_well-known_for_a_long_time. We have been endeavoring to secure evidence against the party but in vain. They are very smart, and detectives cannot do a thing with them. We know of two other places in another part of own, and have bired men to obtain necessary evidence, but they falled." Now, isn't that a business to be proud f? A trade that flourishes in spite of score of laws to prevent it; that inspires men with a keen smartoose that rill defeat the brightest of detectives; that will hide in the dark and flourist despite every attempt to crush; that makes men lie without blushing; that respects neither human per divid authority, and defles both. When Hammonton voters decided t legalizo "Inne and tavorne," it was promised that men who paid for license to sell rum would crush out speak-sasies being fluancially interested, they would naturally resent competition that cost the competitor nothing, and engerly do their best to prevent it. But not one move has been made by licensed men to aid in suppressing illegal sales.

The whole business is too disgusting for words; \and these Sunday revols destructive of body, mind and coul, for the sake of a few dimes, juring men t buy that which unlits him for home

An Old Horse's Lament.

Have pity, do, for me, An old horse sad to see, listen to come words I wish to say. Twould fill your eyes with tears

To know how many years ... I've been a slave, and cannot break away.

From early dawn till sight
From early dawn till sight
I work with main and might,
Or stinging blow will make my duty plain.
Some Sundays, but not all,
I rost within my stall,
In solitude to think and eat my grain.
Name of ma kind I hope.

None of my kind I know;
Alone through life I ge
The nature willed that horses herd

A Surprise Reception

March 19th, 1910, will be long renembered in Bruddock, N. J., by about 200 people, who gathered to welcome the return of Mr. and Mrs. Wright Smith and their two sons, Leonard and Vincent, who left some five years ago for England. Everybody's face wore a emile; all were glad, for no one could be more highly respected than Mr. Smith and family.

The reception was held, in the School llouse, and as the guests arrived, all joined in singing "Should Auld Acquaintance be Forget," after which came a general handshaking, tollowed by remarks from Mrs. Chas. Croft, Mrs. Crabtree and Messrs. Brimfield, Balley Thorpe, Thornton, Croft, Howarth, and Gradam. A violin solo was ren dered by Mrs. Du Bourg; songs were rendered by Mrs. Price, Mrs. Scranton Mrs. Brimfield, Miss A. Hollis and Mr. Crabtree, all being encored. Glocs and quartettes were sung by Mr. W. Brimfield's Oboir; a pretty quartette by Mre. Price, Miss Helen Brimfield and Mesers, Brimfield and Thornton. A number o ladies were busy gotting ready a collation, consisting of sandwiches, cakes, ples, crullers, tea and coffee, which was groutly enjoyed,

Mr. Smith had such a had cold that he could not favor his friends with a song, but he managed to make a few remarks, although much affected, as shown by his voice and manner.

Let us hope they will not leave us again. May they have long life and hanniness-among-us-la-the-wish-of-all

GOLDEN TEXT.-Jesus went about all Galilee teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the Gospel of the Kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people. (Mutt. 4:4-23.)

A review of a quarter's lessons is a much to be crowded into so little time. viewed one can go over the main oc-currences and show something of their relation to one another. But to review Gospel, is to go over the whole thing again. How can one review the Sec-mon on the Mount, from which our lessons have been taken, except by studying it all afresh? The thoughts which Jesus uttered came from Him red hot, and in condensed form. We cannot summarize or abbreviate them. One of the very best ways to use the review lesson would be to make sure that the scholars had thoroughly learned the Beatitudes and some more of the practical sayings of Jesus in this great sermon. The exceeding wisdom of Hi-teachings cannot be at once appreciated y young people, or even appreciated y-the-most-cultured-minds. "WHEN I WAS YOUNG."

There is a land where storm and calm and sun Follow each other with fast flying feet; A land of hope, whose hours are fair and fleet, Where life seems long, and always just begun.

With eager feet we press along its ways, Nor pause to watch the rainbow tinted skies; Another land of hope before us lies, And in our dreams it holds still fairer days

So slowly fades the brightness from the sky. So slowly hope turns backward from our side, We know not when we leave those highways wide, Till we have passed the pleasant places by

Gladly would we that flowery path retrace, And breathe that hope inspiring air again; But none among the weary sons of men Has found, once passed, the portals of that place

Still memory bears us to that magic strand, With every year still dearer, brighter grown, And oft we speak its name with tender ione, "When I was young," oh, dear, enchanted land! -New_York Sub.
