Old Point Comfort, Richmond, and Washington.

The last of the present series of personally conducted tours to Old Point Comfort, Richmond, and Washington via the Pennsylvania Railroad, will leave New York and Philadelphia Thursday, April 7th. Tickets, including transportation, meals en route in both directions, transfers of passengers and baggage, hotel accommodations at Old Point Comfort, Richmond, and Washington, and carriage ride about Richmond—in fact, everything necessary for a period of six days—will be sold at rate of $35 from New York, Brooklyn, and Newark; $34 from Trenton; $32.50 from Philadelphia, proportionate rates from other stations.

OLD POINT COMFORT ONLY.

Tickets to Old Point Comfort only, including one and three-fourths days' board at that place, and good to return direct by regular trains, within six days, will be sold in connection with this tour at rate of $16 from New York, $15 from Trenton; $14 from Philadelphia, and at proportionate rates from other points. At a slight additional expense tourists can extend the trip to Virginia Beach, with accommodations at Princess Anne Hotel.

Decoration Day Tour.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has arranged for another of its popular seven day personally conducted tours to the battlefield of Gettysburg, Luray Caverns, and Washington, to leave New York and Philadelphia by special train Saturday, May 28. Rate, $27 from New York, $24 from Philadelphia, covers all necessary expenses. Proportionate rate from other points.

For itineraries and full information apply to ticket agents; tourist agent, 1196 Broadway, N. Y.; 789 Broad St., Newark; or Geo. W. Boyd, Asst. Gen. Pass'r Agt., Broad St. Station, Phila.

THE VERNAL EQUINOX.

The buzzard morn, a gleaming silver Crests thro' deep cordons of unstable Shrill winds, unheeded, like hounds in Scourge the lean woods, and sough with The frenzied surge, sighing in vain for Shadows along the bar and mooning Clutched by the snarling reef, evens That potent draught, food Nature's offering.
In which she pledges her retreating
The wild March, fell Winter's dis-crowned king.
Who steals the hills and seeks in bal-ful quest
The queen-regnant of awakening Spring.
Whose feet are staid in some dim woodland rest.
—Woman's Home Companion.

MRS. WALTON

along the landing-stage to the hotel, and as we have seen, entered her name in the visitors' book at the request of the proprietor.

"Mrs. Walton! Why, she must be a widow!"
He thanked his stars that he was planted in the same hotel with her.

Then began the maddest, happiest time in all Edward Brogden's career.
He let himself go. In proportion to the discretion in all previous affairs of the heart was the abandonment and recklessness of this wild infatuation.

He cast all prudence to the winds. He knew nothing about Mrs. Walton, nor did he wish to know anything.

He was sick of prudence. He had been prudent and cautious all his life, and here he was at 30 years of age unloved and unloving. Yes, he would let himself go for once.

It would appear that all the unattached men in the hotel had come to a similar decision, for before many days were over they were all her devoted slaves.

She smiled through her gold-rimmed glasses on all impartially, and she showed no invidious preference as to the person with whom she walked or talked.

The ladies, too, fell under her spell, and declared that she was a charming young thing, so gay, so untroubled.

"Mrs. Walton is quite delightful, of course," said one matron to another,
"but I must say she is a little bit coquet, and may in herself open to misconstruction."

"I suppose she is what one might call an emancipated woman."

"But even an emancipated woman might discriminate; she accepts attentions from all sorts and conditions of men."

"And yet one cannot say she encourages them; she is quite pleasant with men, too, and will accept a whole morning playing with the children."

Mamma's Help.
"Yes, Bridget has gone to the city,
And papa is sick, as you see,
And mamma has no one to help her But two-year-old Laurence and me."

"You'd like to know what I'm good for,
"Cept to make work and tumble things about?"
I guess there ain't no little things
At your house at home, Dr. Brown.

I've brushed all the crumbs from the table,
And dusted the sofa and chairs,
I've polished the hearthstone and fender,
And swept off the area stairs.

I've wiped all the silver and china,
And just dropped one piece on the floor,
See, doctor, it broke in the middle,
But I expect it was cracked before.

"And the specs that I save precious mamma!"
You'd be s'prised, Dr. Brown, if you
She says if it wasn't for Bessie
She couldn't exist the day through!

"It's Bessie, bring papa some water!"
And Bessie, dear, run to the door!
And Bessie, love, pick up the playthings
The baby has dropped on the floor!"

"Yes, doctor, I'm 'specially tired,
I've been on my feet all the day;
Good-bye well, good-bye, I will help her When you old Bridget goes off to stay!"

Fred Thier's Clothes in Winter.
When the boys and girls are putting on more clothing to keep out the cold leisurely rock crab that lives in the salt water along the New England coast sheds its shell. These little creatures begin casting their hard shells in December, and the shedding process continues for two months. After the hard shells are cast the crabs are quite soft, and are considered very desirable for the table.

A Writer Whom Boys Love.
Julius Verne, the French author who wrote "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," and many other tales of adventure, said almost nothing, but "yes" and "here," it is said. He is now nearly 70 years old, and is in good health, living in Amiens, France. He has written six books more than he is years old. He writes early in the morning and works steadily all day. He is strangely enough, though he has written many books of travel, Mr. Verne has not traveled much, but has secured his information from reading stories of the travels of others.

An Ostrich with Appetite.
An ostrich will eat almost anything, it avails oranges, small turkeys, hens, chickens, and even a small African writer tells of one swallowing a box of pencils, tennis balls, several pairs of fencing wire and half a dozen cartridges. One followed the workman and picked up the wire as they cut it.
Most frequently the ostrich does not swallow each thing separately, but swallows them all at once. Sometimes it is strangled. Its windpipe is then cut, the ostrich dies, and the windpipe is sewed up, when all goes well again.

Two Mosquitoes.
These two unique and snaky doings fall from Australia. They have the size of a mosquito, but are much more than that. They are very small, but they are very dangerous. They are very small, but they are very dangerous.

Treatment of the Alaskan Dog.
The Alaskan dog is almost human in intelligence. It weighs about 100 pounds. Heavily laden, he will travel 30 miles a day.

With twenty dogs in a team no two of them are in a straight line from the driver. When unhitched for the night they pile upon the first blanket that is thrown upon the snow, and there they stay. When you crawl into your sleeping bag and pull a rope over it the dog will get under the rope. Unless you are careful he will be inside of the bag in the morning. Their endurance is phenomenal and they are capable of strong affection. They are great fighters.

A traveler who recently returned from Alaska says of the treatment accused these faithful animals.
"The ship that I was on in the terriblest kind of the kind that is known to man. Thirty feet in length and two inches thick near the short end. It has a high top for the crew, but it is like a knife. The windmill about it. It When a dog is struck you hear a sharp yelp, and then your sleds will be a lot of for or possibly a piece of black. The lying on the snow." — Forty.

MARK TWAIN'S PLAN.

A Certain Way of Proceeding the Following Instructions.

Mark Twain has found situations for many a man in a unique way, which is described in McClure's Magazine.
When any one asked him for help along
that line, he would write the following instructions. In every case, where they were carried out in good faith, they landed the worker at the top of the ladder. Here they are:

(1) By a beneficent law of our human nature, every man is ready and willing to employ any young fellow who is honestly anxious to work for nothing.

(2) A man once wanted to be an employer and asked with him, is loath to part with him and give himself the trouble of breaking in a new man.

Let us practice upon these follies.
Instructions: (1) You are to apply for work at the office of your choice.

(2) You are to go without recommendations. You are not to mention my name or any one's but your own.

(3) You are to say that you want no
pay. That all you want is work; any kind of work you make up your mind
to; you are ready to sweep out, paint
the pencils, replenish the inkstands, hold copy, tidy up, keep the place in order,
run errands—anything and everything;

(4) You must not sit around and wait for the staff to find work for you to do.
You must keep watch and find it for yourself. When you can't find it, inquire. The American market is a good turn whenever they can. When you are on the street and see a thing that is worth reporting, go to the office and tell about it. By and by you will be allowed to put such things on paper yourself. In the morning you will notice that they have been edited, and a good many of your words left out—the very strongest and best ones, too. That will teach you to modify yourself.

(5) You will be offered the place, at current wages. You will report to the good fortune to your city editor, and he will offer you the same wages, and you will stay where you are.

(6) Subsequently, whenever higher
pay is offered you on another paper, you are not to take the place if your original employer is willing to keep you at a like price.

Some Statistics on Shaving.
The statistician who had been busy
with his pencil looked up at the man who had been looking at him.

"Didn't have anything to do, and thought I'd figure a little. You know that if I were cast on a desert island
with a bundle of lead pencils and pencils, I could make a fortune."

"Well, suppose that you have twelve a month. That costs 15 cents a shave, and you get rid of one-eighth of an inch of hair. That will be a quarter of an inch a week, or one inch a month.
To get rid of that hair you pay $1.20.
An inch a month is twelve inches a year, costing you $14.40.

"Now," and the statistician drew a long breath—"twelve inches a year for fifty-two years is 624 inches, or fifty-two feet. It will cost you $748.80 to get that amount of whiskers out of your system. Then suppose you give a nickel every time to the man—"

But the fellow who had drawn had not. New York World.

Feasible Business.
A new use for peanuts is becoming understood. This product of the pen-nut is in the place of ordinary butter for table use, and is said to be excellent for shortening purposes, and for gravies, sauces, etc. It is in the place of butter. It is in the place of butter. It is in the place of butter.

What Paper is the Latest Oddity.
The zinc is attached to the wall by a cement invented for the purpose, and is made to imitate marble. The surface is enameled so as to render it perfectly smooth and washable. It is designed for the use of restaurants, where this new departure in decorative art will be of great service. It is a permanent and it is much cheaper, and can be so easily put on an ordinary wall paper.

Some Statistics on Shaving.
The statistician who had been busy
with his pencil looked up at the man who had been looking at him.

"Didn't have anything to do, and
thought I'd figure a little. You know that if I were cast on a desert island
with a bundle of lead pencils and pencils, I could make a fortune."

"Well, suppose that you have twelve a month. That costs 15 cents a shave, and you get rid of one-eighth of an inch of hair. That will be a quarter of an inch a week, or one inch a month.
To get rid of that hair you pay $1.20.
An inch a month is twelve inches a
year, costing you $14.40.

"Now," and the statistician drew a long breath—"twelve inches a year for fifty-two years is 624 inches, or fifty-
two feet. It will cost you $748.80 to get that amount of whiskers out of your system. Then suppose you give a nickel
every time to the man—"

place of butter. It is in the place of

MARK TWAIN'S PLAN.

A Certain Way of Proceeding the Following Instructions.

Mark Twain has found situations for many a man in a unique way, which
is described in McClure's Magazine.
When any one asked him for help along
that line, he would write the following instructions. In every case, where they were carried out in good faith, they
landed the worker at the top of the ladder. Here they are:

(1) By a beneficent law of
our human nature, every man is ready
and willing to employ any young fellow who is honestly anxious to work
for nothing.

(2) A man once wanted to be an employer and asked with him, is loath to
part with him and give himself the
trouble of breaking in a new man.

Let us practice upon these follies.
Instructions: (1) You are to apply for
work at the office of your choice.

(2) You are to go without recommendations. You are not to mention my name or any one's but your own.

(3) You are to say that you want no
pay. That all you want is work; any kind of work you make up your mind
to; you are ready to sweep out, paint
the pencils, replenish the inkstands, hold
copy, tidy up, keep the place in order,
run errands—anything and everything;

(4) You must not sit around and wait
for the staff to find work for you to do.
You must keep watch and find it for yourself. When you can't find it, inquire. The American market is a good turn whenever they can. When you are on the street and see a thing
that is worth reporting, go to the office and tell about it. By and by you will be allowed to put such things on
a good many of your words left out—the
very strongest and best ones, too. That will teach you to modify yourself.

(5) You will be offered the place, at current wages. You will report to the good fortune to your city editor, and he will
offer you the same wages, and you will
stay where you are.

(6) Subsequently, whenever higher
pay is offered you on another paper,
you are not to take the place if your
original employer is willing to keep
you at a like price.

War Seems Probable.

On Monday, President McKinley sent to Congress the report of the commission in regard to the destruction of our battleship "Maine," in Havana harbor. This report gave us nothing really new, but stated plainly that the disaster was caused by the explosion of a mine under the ship, causing the explosion of one or two magazines inside. It says that officers and men of the Maine were entirely blameless, as discipline was strict and everything on board in perfect order. They could not fix responsibility for the mine, as absolutely no evidence in that direction was obtainable. With the report was a special message from the President, courteous and dignified in tone, stating that a copy of the report had been sent to Spain, and that it was hoped her sense of honor and justice would prompt proper action.

Many good men of all parties in Congress were dissatisfied with the President's action, and on Tuesday several resolutions were introduced, recognizing Cuban independence and declaring war against Spain. But wiser counsels prevailed, and Congress agreed to wait a few days, giving Spain time to reply to the President's demand that the war in Cuba shall cease immediately by withdrawal of Spanish troops and abandonment of the island.

We admire President McKinley more than ever. With the weight of responsibility resting upon him for peace or war, with friends and foes bringing all possible pressure upon him to move for Cuban liberation, he stands firm, and exhausts every peaceable means to gain the same end, yielding criticism and abuse in silence, yielding to neither.

It is said that next Monday, at the latest, Spain's reply will be received. If not, or if not satisfactory, our government will assume the duty of rescuing the starving people in Cuba, and putting an end to the brutal warfare now waged by Spain.

Friday morning's papers stated that Spain had made another proposition for peace, which the administration cannot entertain; and the probability now is that war will be declared inside of five days.

Town Council Meeting.

First meeting of the new Council on Monday evening, March 28th. All the members present. — Messrs. Michael K. Boyer, J. Howard Brooks, Wm. Cunningham, P. H. Jacobs, Henry Liebfried, A. H. Sisson. Called to order by Town Clerk J. L. O'Donnell.

Mr. Sutton, elected Chairman. On taking his seat he spoke briefly: "It is our duty to work for the best interests of Hammonton, without regard to any party or person."

Ordered, that the rules of last Council govern this meeting, and a committee be appointed to report a code of rules at the next meeting. Messrs. Jacobs and Boyer appointed.

Letter from Telephone Company read, granting permission to use their poles for electric light wires to Independent fire house.

J. H. Marshall tendered his resignation as Fire Chief. Laid on the table until next meeting.

Messrs. D'Agnostino and D. D. Fox presented petitions for lun and tavern license, numerous signed, mostly by Italians. Both referred to the License Committee.

Petition from property owners, asking that First Road be gravelled from the cemetery to Tenth Street. Referred.

D. D. Fox, goods to poor, 8.00 Minutes of Annual Town Meeting read, by request.
On motion of Mr. Jacobs, the following resolutions were adopted:
The Committee of the Town Council of Hammonton, for the year ending the last Monday of March, 1898, shall be as follows:

Committee on Highways.
Committee on Fire, Water, and Light.
Committee on Licenses.
Committee on Law and Order.
Committee on Property.
Committee on Finance and Printing.
The Committee on Highways shall perform any and all duties assigned to it relating to the highways.
The Committee on Fire, Water, and Light shall perform any and all duties assigned to it relating to fire companies, water supply, and light.
The Committee on Licenses shall perform any and all duties assigned to it relating to the granting of licenses to keep taverns or for other purposes. Any application for license to keep a tavern shall be referred to this committee, who shall thoroughly investigate the fitness of the applicant for keeping a tavern, and his character, and shall also investigate regarding the signers of such petition. The committee shall report at the next meeting of Council after receiving the application, or may call a special meeting of Council through the agency of the Clerk, giving at least three days' notice thereof.

The Committee on Law and Order shall perform any and all duties assigned to it relating to the duties of Town Marshal or police, draw ordinances, investigate complaints of citizens relating to law and order, and have charge of all officials employed by the town to preserve the peace.
The Committee on Property shall perform any and all duties assigned to it relating to property belonging to the town, have charge of the same, and at least once a year, before Jan. 1st, report to Council the condition of such property.
Committee on Finance and Printing shall audit the accounts of the town, and have charge of all matters relating to finance; also to consider any subject relating to printing, and perform any other service connected with their duties. It shall also make a report of the finances of the town, and recommend estimates for the ensuing year.

Each and all of the committees shall perform any other services than those mentioned, when required, to each committee being assigned all matters which require supervision during the interim of meetings relating to their duties, but which are not in conflict with the duties required of Council as a whole.

All bills shall be referred to proper committees, and no bill shall be passed that is not properly signed and certified according to law. Nor shall any bill be considered that does not plainly specify the time, place, nature of service, and by whom performed.

Ordered, that a new tax duplicate be procured for the assessors.
A. B. Davis, Collector and Treasurer, tendered his bond for $10,000. Having been elected in 1897 for three years, a question arose whether his last year bond is not good for the whole term. Referred to Finance Committee.

Voted, that in cases of diphtheria, where parties are not able to pay for the treatment, Board of Health are authorized to provide anti-toxin treatment.
By Mr. Brooks, that the bonds of Constables be fixed at $300. Carried.
Clerk read the following resolution, handed him by Mr. —, but it was not adopted:

In order to foster the poultry industry a rebate of $5 taxes will be allowed each person who keeps 100 hens, the breed to be Light Brahmas, and to be purchased of a Hammonton breeder.
A petition signed by residents near Bellevue and Valley Avenues, that the grove hedge on that corner be cleared of brush, and hedge being badly infested and damaging all surrounding vegetation. Clerk instructed to notify owner to abate the nuisance at once; Law and Order committee to see that it is done.

Chairman appointed the following standing committees:
Highways, Liebfried, Boyer, Jacobs, Fire, Water, and Light, Cunningham, Liebfried.
Licenses, Brooks, Cunningham, Boyer, Jacobs, Liebfried.
Law and Order, Jacobs, Brooks, Property, Boyer, Cunningham.
Finance and Printing, Brooks and Cunningham.

On motion, voted to hold a special meeting on Saturday evening, April 9, to transact any business that may be introduced.

Voted, that regular meetings be held the last Saturday night of each month. Debate on subject of electing a Town Marshal. Moved to pay $300 a year. Question of legality raised. Finally referred to Law and Order Committee, to report at special meeting.

Clerk instructed to present bill to Freeholders for one-half of the Spring election expenses.
Adjourned.

CANDY PRIZE Strawberry and Miller Raspberry Plants for sale by J. N. ROGERS.

The publishers announce that with every copy of to-morrow's (Sunday April 3) Press will be given a fine picture of the cruiser Philadelphia. It will be larger than the Maine picture, printed in eleven colors, and will be worth framing. To-morrow's Press will be 50 pages with an 8-page comic section in colors, so that altogether the offer is remarkable. The publishers announce that the supply of Philadelphia pictures is limited, so that it is well to place orders at once.

FOR SALE: A fine brick residence in Hammonton, eight rooms, heater, broad piazzas, with nearly five acres of suburban land. Immediate possession. Part cash. Inquire at REPUBLICAN'S office.

There seems to be an impression in town, among parents, that pupils who have been out of school during the "diphtheria scare" are too far behind in their studies to catch up. Such need be the case. The attendance has been so small (not more than thirty per cent being present) that all advance work of the past two weeks will be reviewed, and pupils be given a chance to make up what they have lost. It is hoped that parents may see fit to send in their children soon, and keep them in school regularly. Only seven weeks before promotion, and every day now is precious. From the best authority we learn that diphtheria has been in but three families, and has been confined to them. Unless some new developments appear, there seems to be no danger that it will become epidemic. School officials have been closely on the watch, to guard their precious charges, and will continue the same vigilance until all danger is past.

REPAIRING, cleaning, and drying done at my residence, 107 Bellevue Ave. (Building under on upper Bellevue Ave.) Clothing made to order—good stock of cloth on hand. GEO. STEELMAN, Tailor.

A very pretty home wedding took place on Tuesday afternoon, 29th inst., at the residence of the bride's uncle, Mr. A. J. Wood, at Orchard and Horton Streets, Hammonton. The contracting parties were Miss Alice Mae, the accomplished and only daughter of Mrs. Allen and the late Walter W. Wood, and Dr. Ralph E. Jones of Toms River, N. J. — Rev. G. B. Van Dyke, of the Presbyterian Ch., officiated. The bride was given away by her uncle, Miss Blanche Jones, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, and Mr. George T. Bickley, of Owego, Pa., acted as best man. The bride received many handsome gifts. Following the ceremony, a reception was held, after which the bride and groom left, on the evening train, amid showers of rice, for Toms River, their future home. The guests were as follows:

Rev. G. B. Van Dyke and wife, Miss and Mrs. J. N. Jones, Miss Blanche and Helen Jones, Master Edward Jones, Mrs. and Rev. H. Shunkert and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Russell, Mr. Allen Wood, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Bickley, Mr. G. T. Bickley, of Trebleton, Pa., Mr. J. M. Bickley and son, Elva, Mr. A. J. Wood, who acted as best man, Mr. G. B. Wood, who acted as best man, Mr. H. B. Russell and daughter.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

To the Boston Cut Leather Company, John R. Evans, Caleb B. Ridgeway, George A. Smith, Robert D. Smith, and Gustavo A. English:

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein Mary N. Crumpton, Kate Crumpton, and Margaret L. O. Nicola are complainants, and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer, or demur to the bill of said complainants on or before the ninth day of May next, or said bill will be taken as confessed against you. The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by Jesse Whiffen and wife to said complainants, dated the thirtieth (18) day of September, eighteen hundred and ninety-three on lands in the town of Hammonton; and you and each of you are made defendants because you hold judgments against the said Jesse Whiffen et al., whereby you hold liens on said lands.

Dated the eighth day of March, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight (1898).

CHARLES H. KING, Solicitor.

305 Market Street, Camden, N. J.
