FASHION'S FANCIES

9184-9192. COSTUME FOR MISSSES AND SMALL WOMEN.

Comprising Waist Pattern 9184 and Skirt Pattern 9192—King's blue voile with plait of green satin and fancy buttons used for the development. Dotted net was employed for under sleeves and yoke portions. The waist and skirt patterns are cut in 5 sizes: 14, 16, 18, 20 and 22 years. It will require 6 yards of 44 inch material for the 18 year size for the entire costume, with 2 yards of 27 inch material for the tuck.

This illustration calls for TWO separate patterns, which will be mailed to any address on receipt of 10c FOR EACH pattern.

WHY NOT BE AN EXPERT?

There are undoubtedly thousands of mediocre stenographers employed in the world. Why do they not become experts?

There are offices where not more than fifteen or twenty letters a day are turned out. Why do not the women employed in such offices use their spare time to perfect their shorthand?

Yet they complain of the monotony of their work, but monotony does not prevail in the company of the expert. It is more often the companion of the inefficient and discouraged woman.

The woman whose soul is truly pierced by the iron of monotony and unbecoming work will use all her powers to fit herself for something better. She may have to endure the iron for a time, but only for a time. She soon rises to better things.

It is the same in other spheres of life. It is rarely the excellent and perfect housekeeper who complains of monotony of domestic life, but the woman who is an incompetent and careless housekeeper nearly always does.

That monotony is deadly everyone acknowledges, but so are complaints. The best way to avoid both is to work up and out of them.

BUTTERMILK IS BEAUTIFYING.

A far better offering at the shrine than a dozen hats would be an order for a daily supply of buttermilk and rain water. The woman who lives in the city is apt to think that rain water is quite beyond her reach, but we send far and wide for much less important things, and there is really nothing very outrageous in having one's own sealed and labeled can of rain water sent from the country.

If, however, a rain water supply is thought impracticable, a good substitute may be made at home. Four ounces of alcohol should be stirred into an ounce of ammonia, and to perfume the whole a drachm of oil of geranium should be added.

Many women wait until the scorching days of July before resorting to buttermilk as a skin beautifier, but there really is nothing better to counteract the roughening effect of March winds. If buttermilk is not to be obtained, ordinary curdled milk may be used, but it has not the delicate astringent effect of buttermilk.

BLACK BUTTONS.

Jet buttons are shown on some of the new light-colored frocks and on coats of tulle.

9229. A NEW COAT STYLE.

Ladies' Jacket—Any of this season's popular coatings, also silk, linen, cotton corduroy and serge may be used for this model. It is fitted with the usual seams, and the collar forms wide pointed revers over the front. The pattern is cut in 5 sizes: 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches bust measure. It requires 2 3/4 yards of 44 inch material for the 32 inch size.

The gift without the giver is bare. The home is the bulwark of civilization. Within the extreme limits of wealth and poverty a home may be good or bad, irrespective of social position or property.

Our homes are what we choose to make them. It is a question of what we admit and what we keep out of them. Our best selves and the best we have to give should go into the home life to a large degree determine the character of children.

The home tends to make us better or worse. Thus the home becomes the chief factor in determining the character of the community and the nation. The trend of our times is away from the home into the constant amusements and interests of modern life.

WITH THE COOK IN THE KITCHEN.

Waterlike slices of bread, spread with butter, sprinkled with lemon juice and salt, make tasty sandwiches.

Hanging the oven door is responsible for half the heavy bread and cakes. The door should be closed very gently.

For spring suppers sliced oranges and shredded coconut, put into a dish in alternate layers, is appetizing.

Macaroni prepared in any of the various ways in combination with cheese, butter and tomatoes is nourishing.

Lace washed in skimmed milk should not be rinsed in water. It should be ironed while still damp with the milk.

9169. A NEAT AND STYLISH MODEL.

Blooms for Misses and Small Women. Reiped abacross with trimming of plain color was used for this model. It is suitable for velvet, cloth or wash fabric, and will be found simple in the making and pleasing when finished. The pattern is cut in 5 sizes: 14, 16, 18, 20 and 22 years. It requires 3 1/4 yards of 38 inch material for the 16 year size.

9195. A NEW AND STYLISH MODEL. Costume for Misses and Small Women. (With Chemise and Long or Shorter Sleeve, and With or Without Facing on Skirt).—This attractive design holds many good features. The skirt may be finished with high or normal waistline, and the waist, which is cut with shoulder seams, may have a deep cuff, or be finished with a trimming cuff, in shorter length. The separate panel on the skirt may be omitted. The back of the skirt is finished in panel style. The facing may be omitted, or made of contrasting material. The pattern is cut in 5 sizes: 16, 17 and 18 years. It requires 4 yards of 44 inch material for the 16 year size.

THE INFLUENCE OF THE HOME.

The ideal home is not self-centered. It is a center of service. So far as circumstances will permit, the old-time ideals of hospitality should be maintained. In view and uplifting ways the home should be shared. It is a good practice to invite young people who are away from home. It is a source of self-interest, discouragement and temptation. Remember it: "Not what we give, but what we share."

The gift without the giver is bare. The home is the bulwark of civilization. Within the extreme limits of wealth and poverty a home may be good or bad, irrespective of social position or property.

Our homes are what we choose to make them. It is a question of what we admit and what we keep out of them. Our best selves and the best we have to give should go into the home life to a large degree determine the character of children.

The home tends to make us better or worse. Thus the home becomes the chief factor in determining the character of the community and the nation. The trend of our times is away from the home into the constant amusements and interests of modern life.

An expert housekeeper gives us her method of caring for the top of her range. Says The Michigan Christian Advocate: When my range is warm, but not hot, I rub a piece of paraffine over the top, covering the whole surface with a thin coat of melted wax. Then I take an old stocking, which I call my "paraffine rag," and rub the top good and hard. The paraffine softens up any spots on the stove and makes them come off easily. When I open up jolly I put the paraffine from the top into a certain can, so as to have it ready for cleaning the stove. Then I keep my "paraffine rag" handy and give my range a little rub-off almost every day, and a thorough cleaning every Saturday. My range has a polished top, which makes it easier to clean, because it is not porous and greasy cannot penetrate into it, but unpollished stoves may be cleaned in the same way. I have used paraffine instead of stove polish on the top of my range for over a year now and would not go back to the old way for anything. The Irishman said he comb of his hair only once a year, and then it almost killed him. It is something the same with the kitchen range. If it is cleaned daily the task is light, but if neglected for a time the task is then one to be dreaded.

TO AVOID CONSUMPTION.

Avoid dust. Avoid alcoholic drinks. Cultivate the outdoor life. Do not neglect a cold or a cough. Keep your windows open night and day. Take a nourishing diet of plain, wholesome food. Do not kiss anyone suffering from consumption. Do not sleep in the same room with a consumptive. Keep your room clean and always use a damp duster. Under no circumstances share the towels or linen of a consumptive.

THE QUIET HOUR.

That it is good for all of us to be alone every once in a while is the truth that is growing very fast among the sensible part of American womanhood. More and more are we hearing of the "quiet hour" as being a bit of discipline imposed in homes by busy mothers, not only upon their children, but also upon themselves. The "quiet hour" means a certain period set apart, about the same time every day, when the mother or child retires from contact with all animate things. It may be spent in reading, or in taking a nap, or in looking out of the window, or in sewing, or in play; but whatever is done must be done by one's self in complete seclusion. The human mind, temper, body all demand, and are better for one hour of solitude in every twenty-four. It refreshes spirits that have begun to droop and dispels the false color in one's surroundings.

As "absence makes the heart grow fonder," so the separation of a human soul from all companionship, if only for a brief interval every day, tends to revive a zest for the society of one's fellows when the term of retirement is over.

CHAUTAUQUA AT HAMMONTON

A Meeting Was Held at Mayor F. C. Burt's on Wednesday Evening, April 10th, and the Subject Thoroughly Explained By a Representative of the Chautauqua Association.

For the information of our readers we have secured the following information in regard to this splendid opportunity for Hammonton and vicinity:

This is an organization, chartered as a "non-profit corporation" for the purpose of extending the Chautauqua movement into the communities of Delaware, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and adjacent territory.

The financiers who are backing the organization are "soldiers of the common good" who are anxious to be of service to their fellowmen. The director of the association is Dr. Paul M.

best avenues through which to reach the ear of the people.

But the Chautauqua is not all sentiment and lectures. It is a practical organization that stands for the sacredness of truth. It ministers clean, pure, elevating entertainment to lives overburdened with cares and labors. While it instructs, it entertains; while it makes us think, it also makes them laugh. And it stands for music—good music, and lots of it; the best music, rendered so perfectly that the popular audience forgets its inherent prejudice against the classics.

Thus, while it entertains, it also instructs. Chautauqua appropriates every device for brightening and broad-

The association is organized in an efficient manner to accomplish the big purpose it has undertaken, and the personnel of its staff insures that its standards will be the highest.

This association proposes to make it possible for our community to have such institutions in our country, mostly in the middle west, where there are frequently two or three to the county.

These Chautauqua—many from the small organization, holding an average of three or four days, to the great Chautauqua Institution at Chautauque Lake, N. Y., where thousands of men and women spend a season of their days.

A Community Need Supplied.

This widespread adoption of the Chautauqua proves that it fills a real need in the lives of the people. As a matter of fact it is the only unsectarian, non-political platform in our land. Nowhere else can the great questions of our day be presented so frankly and so freely. The speakers on the Chautauqua platform are of all creeds and no creed, of all parties and no party. They are simply men and women with a message, and the Chautauqua affords them an untrammeled forum for its utterance. The opportunity presented by the Chautauqua platform has been appreciated by our greatest men.

Roosevelt calls Chautauqua "the most American thing in America," because of its unfeigned liberty of discussion. Bryan, La Follette, Champ Clark, the late Senator Dilliver, Sen. O'Neil, Cullen, Hiram, and many other men of public opinion have found the Chautauqua one of the

TAKE EACH OTHER BY THE HAND.

(By Leonard Everett, Greenback, Tenn.)

O come ye farmers, men and all,
The fat, the thin, the shabby, the fat,
The rich, the poor, the weak, the strong,
And help each other move along.

Come let us work together now,
Let every one here, while others glow;
Through the land we all should go,
To plow and hoe and reap and sow.

For if we all together cling,
And labor for one certain thing,
Our harvest days will soon be past,
And we shall win the race at last.

But if we try to work alone,
Our power will never then be known;
For in this land of fruit and grain,
We can't afford to work in vain.

Then let the strong uphold the weak,
And let us all together work;

general, who will lecture on "Pickett's Charge at Gettysburg."

Of special interest to the people will be a great lecture on the African Currency Plan, by William H. Berry, into Kentucky's heavy candidate for governor of Pennsylvania, and who is an effective speaker, will attack the plan; and some speaker of national prominence, probably Robert E. Irwin, the editor of Financial America, will defend it.

Furthermore, the platform manager, who will be one of half a dozen talented speakers who are under engagement for such service, will deliver a series of lectures on a literary, religious or economic theme. Then there will be an illustrated lecture on "See the American Flag," Chautauqua is intensely patriotic, and believes that our own country contains treasures of scenery as worthy of visitation as the beauties of the old world.

Superior Musical Features.

If the lecture program is incomplete, the musical offerings are at least of equal merit. The opening day will be one of half a dozen talented speakers who are under engagement for such service, will deliver a series of lectures on a literary, religious or economic theme. ## During the latter part of July I had tomatoes to slice for the table, from the stalked row of tomatoes. The others came on more than a week later and were scattering. I usually pick the tomatoes as they are ready to eat, and the vines never stop growing until the heavy frost of October 8 caught them. Then they had reached the top of the stalk, and were laden with fruit, settling, maturing and ripening. Besides having received a much larger yield of tomatoes than from the trailing vines, I gathered almost three bushels of fine, large, green tomatoes, which ripened afterward, while the prostrate vines were late.

While I found an occasional larger tomato on the trailing vines, they had lost their fruiting vitality when yet strong, fruit of the stalked tomatoes was uniform in size, smooth and ripe to the stem. This was scarcely true of the others.

There are four arguments in favor of staking tomatoes for family use or for market, that matter, viz.: Economy of space, rapid fruit maturity, more abundant yield and longevity of the vine and fruitfulness. If you like to raise fine uniform and well-flavored tomatoes, prune and stake them. The results of it are of small consequence when you consider your reward. Try it.
