The County C. E. Convention, held in the Presbyterian Church, Elwood, on Tuesday, was said by many to be the best the County has ever had.
About thirty-five delegates attended from the Hammonton societies, and the way we were entertained showed that Elwood people were "whatsoever" Endeavorers. The address in the afternoon by Rev. A. W. Spooner "Essentials to Success in C. E. Work," was full being illustrated by practical observations. Singing, under the leadership of Edw. E. L. Tice, was a happy feature of the day. The following officers were elected:

President, Rev. J. C. Killian, of Hammonton (re-elected).

Vice Pres., Rev. J. B. Adams, Elw'd.

Rec. Secretary, Miss Bessie Moore,

Atlantic City (re-elected).

Cor. Secretary, Miss Georgia Townsend, Absecon (re-elected).

Treasurer, Miss Ida Custer, Ham-monton.

The evening session opened with a crowded church. Ten minute conferences, on Literature, Rev. A. Jagers, of Victoria; Missionary, Miss Minnie Morse, Atlantic City; Junior, Miss Georgia Townsend, Absecon; Prayer Meeting, Miss Minnie Bischoff, Elwood, were given, many helpful suggestions on the various topics being made. The principal evening address was made by Rev. Jos. Bennett, of Philadelphia. His theme was the Lord's Prayer, giving a clear interpretation of its meaning, thoughts worth remembering. There were many other inspiring features, besides those mentioned. An earnest consecration service was then held, after which the convention adjourned with the Mizpah benediction.

About noon on Monday last, one of two fancy soap pedlars who were canvassing the town called at the residence of J. T. French. He was a gentlemanly appearing young man, but when Miss Ida answered the bell and informed him that his goods were not wanted, he pushed his way into the house and insisted that she show the soap (a wonderful "bargain—50 cents" worth for 25 cents, for introduction) to her mother. She did so, and the door blowing shut, the young man was left alone in the hall. He was given a dollar, went away to get change and returned with it. Shortly after, Mrs.
French's gold watch, which had been left on the parlor mantel shelf, was missed. As the soap man had been the only caller, complaint was made before Squire Atkinson, who later arrested the man. He gave his name as Harry Barnard, of Philadelphia, professed entire ignorance of the theft, was searched by Constable Bernshouse and nothing found, so was discharged. It is suspected that while out for change he passed the watch to his confederate who then took the 12:30 train, as he could not be found in town. Of course, the evidence is all circumstantial, but strong. Moral,—don't patronize these peripatetic gents; and don't leave valuables lying around loose, even in your own house.

The social given by the Junior C. E. Society of the Presbyterian Church, on Monday evening, was a pronounced success. The following programme was rendered:

Vocal Duet, Elizabeth Hoffman
and Mildred Randall
"Merry Birds of Spring," John Walther
Recitation, "A Daniel Come to Judgment," Viola Adams
Selection, "A True Heart," Elizabeth Hoffman
Solo, "The Willow Lesson," Edith Hoffman
Recitation, "Neddie's Thanksgiving Visit," Mary Roberts
Selection, "The Use of Flowers," Pearl Adams, Edith Hoffman, Inez Lance, Elizabeth Hoffman
Song, "No, Sir!" Edith Hoffman
Recitation, "My Brother Will," Stuart Whitton Selection, "A Suggestion to Teachers," By All Hinging, "America."

The gentlemen were then invited to take the ladies into the "Art Gallery," which caused no little amusement.

The Board of Education met on Tuesday evening, all the members being present.

The following bills were paid:

Tilton & Co., wood for Magnolia, $0.80 Hoyt & Sons, printing, 19.09 Lippincott & Co., books, etc., 21.70
Jacobs Brothers, stationery, 5.10 $46.69

The committees on the various schools reported, commending in nearly every case the teacher and the work being done.

Committee on Books recommended procuring boxes to store the text books used by the outside schools. On motion committee instructed to ascertain cost of same, and report.

Committee on Rosedale school-house reported that at least three lots were needed, and but two offered; hence no progress had been made, except in the preparation of plans.

Chester M. Crowell was elected to take the school census this year.

Mr. H. C. Krebs was unanimously re-elected Supervising Principal for the next year at same salary as this year.

The Board then went into "executive session" for the selection of teachers, and the REPUBLICAN representative retired; but the following were elected:

Miss C. P. Weston,
Miss Alice Price,
Miss Nora Monfort,
Mrs. D. B. Berry,
Miss Nellie Tudor,
M. B. Pressey,
John B. Roberts,
Miss K. E. High,
Miss Belle Carthoff,
Miss Nettie Monfort,
Mrs. G. D. Coleman,
Miss Mabel Dorphley,
James H. Scullin,
Miss Sara H. Stretch.

All vacancies were left for consideration at a future meeting.

Mr. Editor: We have among us for a visit of a week or two, one of the busiest men that America has ever seen. He has literally done the work of more than twenty men. I refer to Rev.
William Harrison DePuy, A. M., D. D., L. L. D., of New York City, a brother of Mr. M. D. DePuy. In his earlier days he was assigned to a backwoods town in Pennsylvania—a lumber town: he left them with a fine academy, as one result of his labors. He has since filled prominent positions, including long terms in Buffalo and New York City, leaving his stamp as minister, journalist and author. For nearly twenty-five years he held the position of Associate Editor of the Christian Advocate, New York; is editor of the "People's Encyclopedia," and supplementary volumes of the "Encyclopedia Britannica." Although over "Three Score Years and Beyond," (the name of one of his most popular books), he has ten other books ready for the press. It is to be regretted that his physical health is very poor. His mind, however, is as active as ever. Dr. DePuy seems to have that wonderful gift of being in a dozen places at once, with his brain, pen, and kind acts.

At the meeting of the Delphi Literary Society last Friday, the following officers were elected for the remainder of the term:

President, Miss Daisy Mathis,
Vice-President, Miss Olive DePuy, Treasurer, Miss Myrtle Smith.

The vote for secretary resulted in a tie between the Misses Bessie Jones and Phoebe Newcomb, and Walter Herbert.
The election will be decided at next meeting.

The program for the next meeting is as follows:

Reading, Walter French, Gertrude Thomas
and Leontine Jones, Recitations, Ada Galt, Josie Garton, and Leonard Rogers,
Essays, Ernest Jackson, John Walther,
Alma Berry, Debate, Resolved, That the explorers of Africa suffer more hardships than the colonists of America did.
Ethel Jacobs, Pearl Adams,
Jay Brown, Charles Black.

The Republican.

[Entered as second class matter.]

SATURDAY, APRIL 18, 1896.

At the Republican State Convention, on Thursday, at Trenton, 814 delegates were present. Wm. J. Sewell, Garrett A. Hobart, Franklin Murphy, and John Kean were unanimously chosen delegates to the National Convention. They go unopposed, though it was evident that the Convention was decidedly in favor of McKinley for President, and Garrett A. Hobart, of New Jersey, for Vice-President.

The Second District Convention elected Ferdinand W. Roebing, of Trenton, and Capt. A. M. Bradshaw, of Ocean County, delegates to National Convention, with Henry J. Ireck, of Burlington, and Geo. Clinton (colored), of Atlantic City, as alternates.

Burglars made a raid in Hammononton Monday night, but evidently didn't make wages.

They entered Mrs. L. W. Cogley's residence, on Bellevue Avenue, by a bay window, which they opened, carefully removing a lot of potted plants, then ransacked the house at leisure, up stairs and down, rummaging bureau drawers and searching a writing desk, and apparently partook of a cold lunch in the dining room. Mrs. Cogley and her youngest daughter heard some one moving about, but thought it was one of the family. Nothing whatever was missing.

At J. B. Small's residence, on Egg Harbor Road, they forced open a front window, and searched the lower part of the house, leaving many things scattered. All that is missing is a dollar or more taken from Miss Blanch Jones' purse, and a basket containing nine eggs.

At P. H. Brown's residence, at Third and Peach Streets, they tried a south window, upset a plant jar, then went around and entered a north window, but seemed to have walked through the house to the back door, unlocked it and walked out. They passed within two feet of a dish containing eleven dollars or more, and a quantity of valuable silverware. Mr. B. heard the footsteps, thought it was his son, and after waiting half an hour for him to come in, went to his room for an explanation. Nothing was missed.

Note the fact that none of this occurred within the night watchman's beat. Note the further fact, that the soap pedlar referred to elsewhere had in his note-book a list of names and residences of prominent citizens of the town. Perhaps he expected to make the sale of soap at half price a paying investment.

Wednesday was Harry Hinchman's twelfth birthday. A surprise party was given him in the evening, which all enjoyed, of course. Among those present were: George Wilson, Miss Olla Lear, Ernest Jackson, Miss May Lindertiz, Roy Jackson, Miss May Williams, Harvey King, Miss Beckie Hilsbald, Arthur Pigott, Miss Joanne Lane, Harry Pigott, Miss Mary Fitzpatrick, Johnnie Diller, Miss Edith Saunders, Willie Howie, Miss May Myers, Adeline Howie, Miss May Pigott, Harry Hinson, Miss May Myers, Herman Plozier.

The West Jersey Presbytery holds its regular Spring meeting in the Hammononton Presbyterian Church Tuesday, April 21st, at 10 a. m. The meetings during the day will be devoted to business, but the evening services will be of a more popular character. There will be short sermons by the moderator, to be followed by brief addresses on interesting topics of Church work. The public are especially invited to the evening service.

Miss Nellie Laver was visited by twelve young misses, Wednesday eve, it being her tenth birthday. A jolly time was had, and refreshments served. Miss Nellie received several fine presents. The following presents were present: Sadie Cunningham, Lizzie Cunningham, Margaret Prescott, Edna North, Robert Smith, Josephine Smith, Elmore Logan, Mary Logan, Carrie Davis, Nellie Thomas, Roscoe Hinton, Helen Barry.
