Good for Rheumatism.

Last Fall I was taken with a very severe attack of muscular rheumatism which caused me great pain and annoyance. After trying several prescriptions and rheumatic cures, I decided to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I had seen advertised in the South Jerseyman. After two applications of this remedy I was much better, and after using one bottle was completely cured.—BETTIE HARRIS, Salem, N. J. For sale by J. S. Rogers.

The Anti-Swearing Club.

The "Boys Reform League" met last Friday evening in Union Hall, 15 new members joining. They have adopted rules expelling any member using profane language. Having organized a base-ball club, and intending to add other amusements, they will be in position to make it desirable to others to join them, the condition being "no profanity." Of course, all of these boys are not addicted to the use of improper language, most of them being of excellent reputation in that respect, but all seem determined to abide by their rules.

Council does not consider it advisable to allow the use of Town Hall, as damage to the desks may result; and it must be admitted that Council acts wisely in so doing. It is believed that the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will allow the use of its hall, provided some adult will be present at each meeting to protect the property and guard against danger from lamps, etc. This will create a demand for adult help. The credit for organizing the boys belongs to Messrs. Coggey and McAnney.

The boys have a committee to consider the advisability of giving an entertainment for the purpose of securing funds with which to equip their base-ball club. Here is a chance for the young ladies, and others, to assist.

The boys desire adults to be present. At the last meeting, the young President surprised the few adults in attendance by the gentlemanly manner in which he conducted the meeting, especially as it was his first attempt. At the opening, there was some difficulty in getting the boys to be orderly, but before adjournment they had become educated to the propriety of rising in their places to speak or make motions. They are learning parliamentary law, and a few more meetings will witness a marked improvement in that respect.

Here is a field for missionary work. I am free to confess that while I am willing to do more than my share, I have no more time to give than some others, and unless the people are interested nothing can be done. It is not necessary to go to foreign lands, or among Kaffirs or Hottentots; on the contrary, a few workers to relieve each other, by being present at the meetings, is all that is necessary, as only three men cannot always make it convenient to attend. Prayers satisfy those who are not active, but half a dozen earnest workers can find profitable employment one evening in the week. I believe in hard work in cases of this kind.

Any financial assistance to the boys' league will be appreciated.

At the last meeting of the Men's Anti-Swearing Club I concluded that the town was reformed, as I had the honor of presiding over empty seats. Perhaps, however, it may be that I am the only one who does not swear. There are always two sides to all cases, and I prefer to conclude that, as no one was sufficiently interested to attend, there will in future be no swearing in Hammonton. It was quick work for the club to do so much good in such short time.

Now, let us all turn out and get the boys reformed. P. H. JACOBS.

WATER COMING.

Yes, we are to have a public water supply; and when we get it—be that six months hence, or a year,—it will be a plant to be proud of. This we have reason to believe. But don't be in too much of a hurry. This business is not to be done in a day, and the result is to last a century. The Commissioners have been studying the plans furnished by an engineer, and are not entirely satisfied with them, in several respects; hence, have submitted them to an experienced man in that line, for criticism and amendment. This takes time, of course, but it will pay to wait.

It would be folly to expend our hard-earned cash for a water-plant that would not prove a water-supply; and the Commissioners are to be commended for making haste slowly.

Post-Check Notes.

Do you ever have occasion to use a Postal Money Order? They are convenient and safe, when making remittances; and Uncle Sam has been experimenting for nearly forty years, seeking the best form, with the least trouble to postal clerks and their patrons. But, at best, it is bothersome. You call at the proper window in your Post-Office (provided they have the money order system), call for an application blank, fill it out, deposit your money, pay for the order, and enclose the document in your letter. The receiver may have to be identified at his Post-Office; then, if all parties have done their duty, his postmaster has the letter of "advice" from the issuing office, he compares the two, and if they correspond in number and amount, the order is received, and your correspondent gets the money. But not all Post-Offices are "money order offices," and you must fall back on a registered letter. Or, somebody may have made a mistake, and delay occurs. There is often vexation in the business.

There is now a bill before Congress providing for the issue of national notes in the denominations of one, two, and five dollars, to be called "Post-Check Money." These will be in all respects like the present treasury notes, except that they will contain spaces to write on. When you wish to remit, you take one of these notes, fill it out as indicated, sign your name on the back, put on a two-cent stamp, and it becomes a check upon the United States Government, which the receiver can collect at the Post-Office named. These bills being in general circulation as money, you can do the business at home, or in your office, and do it yourself, at any time. There will also be fractional notes of ten, twenty-five and fifty cents.

We have been watching the scheme and it looks to us like a good one. We hope that the Government will give it a trial.

Try one of our half-a-cent-a-word ads. They are little hustlers.

A Nearly Fatal Runaway
Started a horrible ulcer on the leg of J. H. Orner, Franklin Grove, Ill., which defied doctors and all remedies for four years. Then Bucklin's Arnica Balm cured him. Just as good for boils, burns, bruises, cuts, corns, scalds, skin eruptions, and piles. 25 cents at Rogers' drug store.

The Great Dismal Swamp
Of Virginia is a breeding ground of malarial germs. So in low, wet, or marshy ground everywhere. These germs cause weakness, chills and fever, which in the home and muscles, and may induce dangerous malarial fever. But Electric Bites never fail to destroy them and cure malarial troubles. They will surely prevent outbreaks. "We tried many remedies for malaria and stomach and liver troubles," writes John Charleston, of Haverhill, Ohio, "but never found anything as good as Electric Bites." Try them—only 50 c. Rogers, the druggist, guarantees satisfaction.

ELWOOD NOTES.

A terrible fire swept through this place on Wednesday, starting in the dwelling of W. A. Richmond, completely destroying it, with the home of Mrs. M. McMillen and the post-office building adjacent. Very little was saved from the dwellings, but the post-office was the last building in the block, and all its valuables and furniture and most of the personal property were rescued. Everybody worked as though his life was at stake. Men, women, and children were seen carrying articles from the burning building, and depositing them at a safe distance.

A brisk wind was blowing, and the fire spread with alarming rapidity. J. D. Carver's saw mill burned before and could be extended. Bozarth's mill took fire in many different places, but with the combined efforts of the chemical engine and firemen from Hamamton, extinguishers from Egg Harbor, and willing citizens, it was saved. The residence of Mrs. J. H. King was in great danger, being surrounded by fire, but a timely rain saved it.

The fire spread into the forest and burned over toward Columbia. At 11:30 p. m., however, no signs of it could be seen from here.

Charles Ford, one of the teamsters Pleasant Mills, was on his way home when he found his road blocked by the fire, and had a narrow escape, being badly burned about his head and hands.

Mr. Richmond had a hard fight to save his three-year-old son, who was asleep up-stairs. He climbed up on the porch, broke in a window, found the boy, but had to have help, as flames were overtaking him.

The post-office was temporarily located in the W. J. & S. station; but will be moved into the building formerly occupied for the purpose.

Mr. Maurer "didn't know it was loaded," but in some way the gun he was handling was discharged and exploded, cutting his lip, broke dishes, and did other damage.

Mrs. Walter Richmond has gone to spend the summer with her mother, in Ancon.

Robert S. Smith spent a few hours in Elwood.

A Card:—I wish to extend sincere thanks to all who assisted in subduing the fire on the 23rd, and in saving personal property.

All did well, citizens, and neighbors from Hamamton and Egg Harbor. This is the best means I have to reach you, and I hope all who took part in the work will feel that they are being thanked individually.

MARY HOLDEN, Post Master.

ADVERTISEMENTS in this size type, one-half cent per word for each insertion. No charge less than ten cents.

"A neighbor ran in with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy when my son was suffering with severe cramps and was given up as beyond hope by my regular physician, who stands high in his profession. After administering three doses of it, my son regained consciousness and recovered entirely within twenty-four hours," says Mrs. Mary Haller, of Mt. Crawford, Va. This remedy is for sale by Rogers.

A Doctor's Bad Fright.
"Two years ago, as a result of a severe cold, I lost my voice," writes Dr. M. L. Scarborough, of Florence, Ohio. "Then began an obstinate cough. Every remedy known to me as a practicing physician for 35 years, failed, and I daily grew worse. Being urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Croup, I found quick relief, and for last ten days have felt better than for two years." Positively guaranteed for throat and lung troubles by Rogers. 50 cents and $1. Trial bottles free.

Judging from appearances, the Hamamton Glass Works Blast-Ball team will undoubtedly present a strong line-up for the coming season, and they expect to make a good showing through the summer months. Chas. Black, who has made himself popular during the past season, as a basketball player, will take care of the pitching, and also Captain the team. Ed. Jones, a well-known base-ball player, of Elm, will receive Black's delivery, behind the bat. The boys will average about nineteen years old, and are to line up as follows: Black, pitcher; Jones, catcher; Priestley, short-stop; F. Weyler, first base; O. Percin, second base; Wm. Keyser, third base; L. Rogers, left field; Harry Thoms, center field; A. Skinner and E. Heavens, right field. The team will play a practice game on the Hamamton ground, to-day, and will open the season with their first regular game, May 10th, at Blue Anchor.

A Valuable Medicine for Coughs and Colds in Children

"I have not the slightest hesitancy in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to all who are suffering from coughs or colds," says Chas. M. Cramer, Esq., a well known watchmaker of Colombo, Caylon. "It has been some two years since the City Dispensary first called my attention to this valuable medicine, and I have repeatedly used it and has always been beneficial. It has cured me quickly of all chest colds. It is especially effective for children, and seldom takes more than one bottle to cure them of hoarseness. I have persuaded many to try this valuable medicine, and they are all as well pleased as myself over the results." For sale by J. S. Rogers.
