NATURE'S LESSON.

FLAVEL SCOTT MINES.

The pink apple blossom is just out of reach.
Though you stand on the tip of your toes—A lesson has Nature she wishes to teach You will learn it before autumn goes.

Strive not for the blossom, nor weep at defeat, But patiently wait for a while—All things come in time—and the moments are fleet.

Soon your frown will give place to a smile.
The blossoms will die, but the good fruit will grow.
It will ripen in sun and in rain,
The weight of the apple will bend the bough low—
And the waiting will be to your gain.

Seek not the bright buds that will fade in a day, But await the sweet fruit God will send—The buds may be high and be out of your way,
While the boughs at the harvest will bend.

—May Ladies' Home Journal.

Jottings from Town Hall.

The meeting of Town Council, last Saturday evening, was very interesting, and quite a surprise it was when the loving mothers and affectionate wives, sisters and daughters of some of our citizens entered the hall with a petition.
That they were respectfully received, and shown every courtesy by councilmen and male visitors, need not be mentioned, as our people are at least unanimous in their esteem for women, and they showed it particularly on this occasion.
Mrs. E. S. Packard presented a protest against license, and the Clerk read the names of over 300 signers.

A majority of the ladies left about two minutes too soon, as they had but just filed out before the ordinance was read. Council suspended the regular order of business and took up "reports of committees," to oblige the ladies, but as some of them did not understand the order of proceedings, I will explain how the matter stands.

The report of the ordinance committee was in obedience to an imperative resolution passed at the previous meeting of Council, that "the ordinance committee report an ordinance in favor of license, and also to repeal all ordinances conflicting therewith." Not in that exact language, but such was the order. The committee obeyed, and the report was made. Nothing further could be done, but pass it to a "second reading" at next meeting, and the only chance was to make a motion to "lay the ordinance on the table," which motion I made.
This would have killed it; but my motion was defeated by a vote of 4 to 2, under a demand for a call of the roll.

At the next meeting, May 20th, the ordinance will come up to be amended by sections. It must then be passed as a whole. It requires four votes to pass it. I am in hopes that something may happen to change the views of those who favor the ordinance, as the fact the new Council was supposed to be for license induced applications for license from several, which certainly showed that there are some people who suppose that the town needs something more than a "respectable hotel."

I wish to state that while I had the duty imposed upon me (in connection with Mr. Ballard) of drawing the ordinance, it was simply clerical work thus assigned me; but on reporting the ordinance I gave notice that I would claim the right to vote against it.

Council will probably pass three excellent ordinances soon, — one creating a park commission, one to tax dogs, and one to prevent defacing trees along the sidewalks with patent medicine signs, etc.

P. H. JACOBS.
[Mr. Jacobs is mistaken as to the status of the license ordinance. Council did not even accept the committee's report; it did not pass "first reading"; action was postponed until next regular meeting, and the proposed ordinance submitted to Messrs. Stephens & Son, attorneys, for examination. It cannot be passed at the May meeting. — Ed.]

Three glasses of beer a day, at 5 cents each, will cost you $1.05 a week, and $31.00 a year, — enough to buy a good cow.

The May Ladies' Home Journal uniquely reflects the sentiment and spirit of spring. "In An Old-Fashioned Garden" fairly emits the season's fragrant flavor, as do other contributions in prose and verse. Hon. John Russell Young recalls the notable incidents—fetes, receptions and pageants, etc., of General Grant's memorable tour of the world, and ex-President Harrison gives highly interesting glimpses of the President's home and home life in an article on "The Domestic Side of the White House"— the concluding one of his admirable series. Edw. K. Bok editorially presents the really practical side of the crusade against the slaughter of birds for their plumage, and forcibly protests against the pernicious habit of spitting in public places. A reminiscent article by Mrs.
Raymond Maude, "My Mother as I Recall Her," gives some delightful glimpses of the personal side of Jenny Lind, especially of her home life.

Herbert D. Ward's serial, "The Bungalow Who Moved Paradise," reaches its conclusion, maintaining its quaint humor to the end. Also in the lighter vein are a remarkably well-drawn character sketch, "Old Gabe Carter's Company," and the second of "The Colonel and Me," papers. Dwight L. Moody, in his Bible Class Lesson, writes on "Faith" with characteristic directness. The May Journal contemplates directly and practically every feature of home life, and appeals to every member of the household. The Curtis Publishing Co., Philadelphia. One dollar per year, ten cents per copy.

AN ORDINANCE to License and Regulate Inns and Taverns.

Introduced April 26, 1897.

Section 1. Be it ordained by the Town Council of the Town of Hammonton, State of New Jersey, That licenses to inn keepers and tavern keepers to sell, keep, and expose for sale spirituous, vinous and malt liquors, may be granted at any regular stated meeting of said Town Council, and that the said Town Council, in granting such licenses, shall proceed in the same manner, and be subject to the same provisions as the same may be lawfully done by the Court of Common Pleas of the State of New Jersey under an act entitled "An Act concerning Inns and Taverns," approved April 17, 1846, and the various supplements thereto or revisions of the same, as well as under such further provisions in it as ordinance as may appear in the sections following this; Provided, however, that only one license for the keeping of an inn or tavern shall be granted for every five thousand persons in the said Town of Hammonton, which population shall be determined by the latest census of inhabitants enumerated by the State.

Sec. 2. And be it ordained, That all applications for license shall be made in the manner and form as prescribed by the Act of Assembly mentioned in the first section of this ordinance, and shall be signed by at least twelve reputable freeholders of the Town of Hammonton, after which shall follow the affidavits of the applicant according to law.

Sec. 3. And be it ordained, That the Town Clerk of the Town of Hammonton shall, upon any application or application being granted in accordance with the several provisions of this ordinance, issue to each applicant a license to sell spirituous, vinous, and malt liquors, the said license also specifying that the applicant shall keep an inn or tavern, as provided by law, and subject to the provisions of this ordinance, for which license the said Town Clerk shall demand a fee of Five Hundred Dollars, which said fee the Town Clerk shall pay to the Collector and Treasurer of the Town of Hammonton within three days after receiving the same; said Town Clerk shall not issue any license granted by said Town Council until the said fee of five hundred dollars shall have been fully paid to said Town Clerk by the applicant to whom the license may have been granted by said Town Council; the said license fee of five hundred dollars to be appropriated by said Town Council to the municipal, poor, or contingent fund, or in any manner provided by law.

Sec. 4. And be it ordained, That no license shall be granted for a longer term than one year, and that all licenses, whenever they may have been granted, shall, each and every year, expire on the first Wednesday in June ensuing.

Sec. 5. And be it ordained, That should any licensee to keep an inn or tavern be granted by said Town Council after the first Wednesday in June of any year, the applicant receiving the license shall be required to pay only such portion of the fee of five hundred dollars as may be proportionate to the duration of the license granted, and which may expire on the following first Wednesday in June.

Sec. 6. And be it ordained, That no license issued to any inn keeper or tavern keeper under the provisions of this ordinance shall be transferred by the applicant receiving such license to any other party or parties, without first obtaining the consent of the said Town Council, and not then until a application for such transfer be made at least sixty days before such transfer is made.

Sec. 7. And be it ordained, That no license as provided for in this ordinance shall be issued to any applicant who is not a resident of the Town of Hammonton.

Sec. 8. And be it ordained, That all ordinances, or parts of ordinances conflicting with this ordinance be, and the same are hereby repealed.

Sec. 9. And be it ordained, That this ordinance shall go into effect immediately.

Packard, with a few eloquent sentences of introduction, presented a petition signed by three hundred and forty "wives, mothers, and daughters, of Hammonton, who are not allowed to express their opinions at the polls," asking Council to refuse to grant any license for the sale of intoxicating drinks. Clerk O'Donnell read the petition, including the signatures. On motion of Mr. Anderson, the petition was received and filed. Property owners on Main and Plymouth Roads and Grape Street asked for needed improvements. Referred to Committee.

WORK RESUMED ON THE PANAMA CANAL

WILL the Panama canal be built, after all? Dredges are ordered and paid for, and about 8,000 men on the pay-roll have to earn their money by good, honest toil. There are no shrews for anybody, no taint of scandal attached to the new regime, and the company is paying Colombia $10,000 a month to police the sections of the canal that are completed or building.

Seven years ago it looked as though the hardy work of some 800,000 French working people had been engulfed by the sea and the big ditch, and the company had been ordered to build the canal, and the confidence restored in the company so covered with scandal, and the company so covered with scandal, and the company so covered with scandal.

Where the canal was to be built, and the company so covered with scandal, and the company so covered with scandal, and the company so covered with scandal, and the company so covered with scandal, and the company so covered with scandal.

Early in 1889 the De Lesseps Company found itself unable to shoulder another dollar out of the French public, which had invested $200,000,000 in its shares. Of this vast sum of money, obtained in the year 1889, only $100,000,000 had been put into the canal, the balance, $100,000,000, had been swallowed up in Paris by the company promoters, subsidized newspapers, politicians, and out-and-out thieves.

Subsequently the receiver of the company sent an able commission to Panama, including Dutch and Belgian as well as French engineers, and the report it submitted in May, 1890, was very important, because it was the basis of all that has since been done. The main points were that the canal could be built, and the company so covered with scandal, and the company so covered with scandal, and the company so covered with scandal.

Many French engineers who read this report say it was conservative, and they believed its estimates were reduced, however, before work was resumed in the fall of 1891.

The new company was legally constituted in Paris on Oct. 21, 1894, just in time to save the concession. Stockholders representing 72,000 of the old shares met in Paris and authorized $4,000,000 with which to begin work.

QUANTRELL'S RENDEZVOUS.

Where the Noted Guerrilla Was Wont to Retire with His Men.

Nelson County, Kentucky, was the favorite haunt of Quantrell, and one of his associates during and immediately after the civil war. The man who stood closer to Quantrell than any other man in the history of the state was the late Captain A. B. Pence, for many years sheriff of Nelson County. He possessed many relics and mementoes of his old commander, the most notable among which was the sash worn during the war by the famous guerrilla chief. Quantrell captured the sash from the Federal general, Blount, near Lexington, Mo., in 1862. He prized it highly and wore it until he was fatally shot in 1885. It was a custom with the guerrillas, when one of their number was killed, to divide his possessions, each of the guerrillas receiving something as a memento. When Quantrell was shot his effects were divided, and his sash fell to the lot of Frank James, who afterward gave it to Captain Pence. It was made of blue, heavy silk, and the ends were richly ornamented with beautiful tassels. Quantrell was wearing the sash when mortally wounded, and the silk was stained with his blood.

Quantrell was a man of many talents, and he was a very good companion to his husband. He was a very good companion to his husband, and he was a very good companion to his husband.
