The Beautiful Days Gone By.

Oh! sweet were the days that quickly fled,

Though jeweled with many a tear;

But we soon forget the Winter's snow,

When the blossoms of Spring are here.

We know that the flowers though fragrant now,

Seem sweeter when they die;

And memory touches with colors bright,

The beautiful days gone by.

The touch of a hand long laid at rest,

The sound of a voice now still;

The glance of an eye we loved of yore,

That once through our being thrilled,

Are memories we heard with jealous care,

Though thought of with many a sigh,

Are the golden links that bind us fast,

To the beautiful days gone by.

Oh! the beautiful days of childhood's joys,

They never will come again;

Oh! the beautiful days of manhood's prime,

They have passed with their joys and pain;

Oh! the beautiful days of the future,

From our gaze they hidden lie,

But they soon will pass in their beauty

To the beautiful days gone by.

In the beautiful days of Heaven

The Past and Present shall meet;

We shall know the joys we dream on earth,

The loved ones gone shall greet.

There will be no parting or sorrow,

In the beautiful days gone by,

But the soul be filled with greater joys.

Than the beautiful days gone by.

JAMES NORTH.

Our New York Letter.

New York, May 3, 1878.

In the death of President Orton, the Western Union Telegraph Company lost one of those men of affairs whose force and foresight are a success. He found the company harassed with rivalries, and made it, in thirteen years the controlling telegraph of the country.

WILLIAM ORTON,

left home in Cuba, N. Y., at 16, to make his fortune, was printer first, taught school and educated himself at a normal school. Was in the book business, with Miller, Orton and Milligan, and Secretary Chase made him a collector of internal revenue, where his ability in securing a reversal of a decree from Judge Nelson in a suit for revenue on express company stock, convinced Mr. Orton of the United States

Telegraph Company that Mr. Orton was the man for the position. He was fortunate in the company. He consolidated it with the Western Union, and the same of the latter, and at his death, it had absorbed 200 smaller companies, and by its union with Atlantic and Pacific, and the lease of the Central Pacific lines made that winter it held control of the telegraph in the country.

BRIEF LIFE AND DEATH.

Though very large and corpulent in person, and a high liver, Mr. Orton imposed an amount of work on himself too much for brain and nerves to carry. He had been warned of overwork, and was to sail for a holiday in England in June. But it was too late, he complained late of great fatigue, and need of rest. Early Sunday, he went to church with his wife and large family, and at night was seized with apoplexy, which was soon fatal. He carried the immense business of which he was President, always saying it was easier to do the work than to train other men to it. A scathing comment on the inefficient, half way sort of men of whom public offices are full, who learn a routine and draw salary with distinguished promptness, but have neither head nor hand outside of their narrow limits. Invaluable chiefs like Mr. Orton must not only make schemes but carry them out in detail, for want of men who can think beyond the toes of their boots.

IN PERSON.

Mr. Orton was large and portly, with black hair streaked with gray and a strong face, the feature of which was the intensely black eye.

large, bright and piercing. He was pleasant of approach, easily accessible, and warmly liked by his subordinates who have many stories of his kind interest to tell.

THE NEW YORK POST OFFICE.

Mrs. Lamb's rather labored account of the city post office in the May Northern, gives an outline of the best model of civil service in the country. Whatever they may complain of in city government, New Yorkers are justly satisfied with their post office service. Postmaster

James is at the head of a force of 1200 employees, and an office which sends out 84 mails a day and receives 85, which distributes mail to 20,000 boxes in its buildings, and sends out 15000 weekly letters in its general delivery, and yet, out of a million and a half of packages, letters etc., in the last yearly report not one was lost. A monument of and efficiency, faithfulness, than which no man need wish a better.

CIVIL SERVICE IN HARMONY.

Postmaster James has done away with the system of removals for political cause, and his men are appointed and advanced solely for honesty and ability in the service. The standard of character, despatch and correctness is high, and it would be hard to find a better or more contented force than those in the city mail service. A temperance society has been formed

Among the men, and in the country, in every way by Mr. James.

After the trial type of overdone, vigorous officials it is a pleasure to come into the presence of this frank, clear-eyed, kindly, simple mannered chief, with square clean built for strength and activity, whom the end man of a township board could discount in the matter of air, but who is a condensation of sense and energy, may heaven send us more like him.

Reported instances are named where he has out of simple justice and honor, done what we rarely hear of any officer, made up the loss occasioned by mistakes which will occur even with the best employees, out of his own pocket.

A performance so remarkable that there is very little doubt of its remaining a peculiarity of the New York post office.

THE MARKETS.

Prices at the metropolis usually govern those all over the country, but I am afraid that the country is hardly so cheap to live in at present as in New York, in all save rents. The prices quoted by city papers are given by dealers to produce an outside impression; still a thrifty householder can go to Washington market, and buy the best steaks for a shilling a pound, and roasts for 8 cents, poultry dressed for a shilling, potatoes for $1.50 a barrel, and sweet potatoes for $2.25, with mackerel and mutton for 5 cts.

a pound, strawberries are 30 cents a box, and new peas, 75 cents a peck, eggs 12 cents a dozen, and good butter 30 cents. The best dairies adopt the Boston plan of sending butter to market in small packages as fast as made,

No. 4, same as No. 3, except plain boards, not painted..... 8 00

EARTH CLOSETS, their construction and use

The Earth Closet is a modern improvement which takes the place and supercedes the Water Closet in the house, and dispenses with the cesspool and other repulsive features of the same.

It is perfect in its operations, and not liable to get out of order.

In case of sickness it is invaluable, as it can be used by the sick or in any room in the house without inconvenience from bad odors.

For those living in the country, where the out-house is at a distance from the dwelling, it is indispensable, and no family should be without one if only used in stormy weather, when ladies and children so much dread going out.

We are also Agents for the UNION EARTH CLOSET,

which is somewhat larger and stronger than the Woodruff's and equally simple.

Price of Black Walnut.....$20 00 Price of Pine..... 15 00 A liberal discount to the Trade.

This invention can easily be applied to Privies at small cost.

We are also prepared to sell shop, county and state rights. For further information send for Descriptive Circular to

CUMBERLAND MUTUAL

Fire Insurance Company.

BRIDGETON, N. J.

Conducted on strictly mutual principles, of saving a perfectly safe insurance for just what it may cost to pay losses and expenses. The proportion of loss to the amount insured being very small, and expenses much less than usually paid, nothing can be offered more favorable to the insured. The cost being about ten cents on the hundred dollars per year to the insured on ordinary risks, and from fifteen to twenty-five cents per year on hazardous properties, which is less than one third of the lowest rates charged by stock companies, on such risks—the other two-thirds taken by stock companies being a profit accruing to stockholders, or consumed in expenses of the companies.

The guarantee fund of premium notes being now Three Millions of Dollars.

If an assessment had to be made of five percent, only, twice within the ten years for which the policy is issued it would yet be cheaper to the members than any other insurance offered. And that large amount of money is saved to the members and kept at home. No assessment having ever been made, being now more than thirty years, that saving would amount to more than

One Million Five Hundred Thousand Dollars

The Losses by Lightning.

Where the property is not set on fire, being less than one cent per year to each member, are paid without extra charge, and extended as to cover all policies that are issued and out standing.
