HUDSON RIVER R. R.

Conductor Melius Says Something of Interest to all Travelers.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Feb. 22, 1884.

Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.:
DEAR SIR: I have used your medicine, called DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY, for Indigestion and Dizziness, to which I was subject at times, and know from experience that it is worthy of all that can be said of it for disorders of that kind.

Respectfully, W. S. MELIUS.

69 Harrison St.
That Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is extensively used along the line of the Hudson River Railroad, is shown by the following from Tarrytown. The writer is none other than Mr. DeRovere, the Station Agent of the Hudson River Railroad Company at Tarrytown, a man well known in that community.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Feb. 22, 1884.

Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.:
DEAR SIR:—For a long time I was troubled with severe attacks of Dizziness and Blind Sick Headaches. I thought it was due to impure blood and a disordered state of the system. I was advised to try Favorite Remedy. I did so and have been completely cured. It's the best thing I ever heard of for any disorder of that nature, and I've recommended it to many with like success.

A. DeRovere.
Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is not confined to the sphere of its usefulness to one state or locality, but is hailed as a boon by hundreds in every state, as the following letter from Millville, N. J., will show.

MILLVILLE, N. J.

Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.:
DEAR SIR:—I had been a sufferer from Dyspepsia for the time I was sixteen years old. I had consulted various physicians, but could find no relief; therefore had almost given up in despair of ever regaining my health, when Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy was recommended, which I tried and have been cured. It's the best medicine I ever knew of, and worthy of the greatest commendation.

Mrs. S. C. Dougherty.

MALARIA!

As an anti-malarial medicine

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

FAVORITE REMEDY

has won golden opinions. No traveler should consider his outfit complete unless it includes a bottle of this medicine. If you are exposed to frequent changes of climate, food and water, Favorite Remedy should always be within your reach. It expels malarial poisons, and is the best preventative of chills and malarial fever in the world. It is especially adapted as a trustworthy specific for the cure of Kidney and Liver complaints, Constipation and all disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. To women who suffer from any of the above named troubles, Favorite Remedy is constantly proving itself an infallible friend—a real blessing. Address the proprietor, Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., or bottles, 50 cts. per bottle, by all druggists.

LIFE'S SUNNY SIDE.

What—you are dull to-day?

In a sad dull to-day?

Up and be social and stirring, I pray.

Why so lugubrious?

Take a salubrious

Walk, and we'll talk, for I've something to say.

Verily, verily.

Things will go merrily

When you are merry and busy and brave.

But if not cheerfully

Tempered, but tearfully,

Life is a tyrant, and you are its slave.

If you go willfully,

However skillfully

Nursing your moods and your delicate whims,

Life will be dumb to you,

All things will come to you

Touched by a shadow that saddens and dims.

Life has two sides to it,

Take the best guides to it.

Look at the best and the brightest, my friend.

Be a philosopher,

Don't look so cross over

Matters you never can alter or mend.

Look not so dimly

Down the abysmally

Dark—hanging over the precipice brink.

Worst of all bias is Hypochondriasis—

Sunshine is healthier than shadow, I think.

If you would drive away

Gloom, and would drive away

Honey-like peace in your innermost cell,

Work—like the humble bee,

Soft let your grumble be,

Burn your own smoke and the world will go well. C. P. CRANCH.

General Grant treated his family and household to another surprise, Tuesday, by the marked improvement in his condition. Dr. Douglas said: "It is simply wonderful." The General worked on his book for several hours, and wrote twelve pages of manuscript himself.

The centennial anniversary of the organization of the New Jersey Diocese of the Episcopal Church was celebrated at New Brunswick, Tuesday.

Among the bills which the Governor of New Jersey has failed to sign is the High License measure.

POOR FELLOWS.—Prostrated, debilitated, enfeebled, they feel as if they were hardly worth picking up. They would hardly give the toss of a bright penny for a chance between life and death. But even such forlorn people can be renewed by the use of Brown's Iron Bitters. It vitalizes the blood, tones the nerves, and renovates the system. Mr. Isaac C. Weed, Burr's Mills, O., says, "I used Brown's Iron Bitters for general weakness, and helped me greatly."

By the fall of the walls of a factory on State Street, Brooklyn, Tuesday, and the subsequent fire, four persons are known to have perished; twelve persons are missing, and are supposed to have been killed.

In the trial of Short in New York, for attempt to kill Captain Pheland, the latter testified that on his way to Rossa's office he had put his pistol in his overcoat pocket, and said that Rossa should not publish things about him with impunity. The defense will begin to-day.

Admiral Jouett has been instructed to send home from the Isthmus of Panama one-half the marine force if he thinks it prudent.

Many ladies admire gray hair—on some other person. But few care to try its effect on their own charms. Nor need they since Ayer's Hair Vigor prevents the hair from turning gray, and restores gray hair to its natural color. It cleanses the scalp, prevents the formation of dandruff, and wonderfully stimulates the growth of the hair.

The President was shown over the battlefield of Gettysburg on Monday by veterans of both armies.

James R. Osgood & Co., the well-known publishers of Boston, have made an assignment.

The Massachusetts Senate defeated the bill for the taxation of church property.

No other preparation so concentrates and combines blood purifying, vitalizing, enriching and invigorating qualities as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Quality should be considered when making comparisons.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS —THE BEST TONIC.

This medicine, combining Iron with pure vegetable tonics, quickly and completely cures Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Weakness, Impure Blood, Malaria, Chills and Fever, and Neuralgia.

It is an unrivaled remedy for Diseases of the Kidneys and Liver.

It is invaluable for Diseases peculiar to Women, and all who lead sedentary lives. It does not injure the teeth, cause headache, or produce constipation—other Iron medicines do. It enriches and purifies the blood, stimulates the appetite, aids the assimilation of food, relieves Heartburn and Belching, and strengthens the muscles and nerves.

For Intermittent Fevers, Lassitude, Lack of Energy, &c., it has no equal.

The genuine has above trade mark and crossed red lines on wrapper. Take no other. Made only by BROWN CHEMICAL CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am enabled to give my gratitude to AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL saved me."

HORACE FAIRBROTHER.

Bookingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,

Mrs. EMMA GEDNEY."

120 West 12th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried."

Lake Crystal, Minn., March 12, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL."

JOSEPH WALDEN.

Byalls, Miss., April 8, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles."

PALESTINE, TEXAS, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

THE VIOLET AND THE ROSE

What came from her low'ly to bring,
To the one who was waiting for spring?
Did she come to me with a gift?
With a basket of her own gift?

To bloom, I saw, upon her breast,
To glow, I saw, upon her breast,
And caught when in that fair, pure glow,
The fragrant, luscious of her soul.

Your moist face came to tell,
Your touch me with the subtle spell
Born of her presence—far from here
Her nature in your tender eyes.

I knew, too, on her yielding lips
Sweet words of her own lips,
And in each touch, most softly bland,
The message of a kiss is sent.

Then welcome, guest, from farthest shrine
You fill my heart with glad sunshine,
And in this dear room the grace
Of her who wears the flow'rs face.

BRIDE LITTLE TRUDE

Gertrude May is my sister-in-law,
A bright little fairy of 19, with a pair
Of eyes like stars, and a merry, thrifty way
About her calculated to make a man
Forget that this is a hard world—a day
World, full of vexation and disappointment.

When Annie and I were married we Took Gertrude to live with us. I could
Not bear the thought of the lovely girl
Going to meet the world in some mental occupation, and Annie was thankful
to have her sister with her.

Gertrude—"Trude" we always called,
The dear child—paid her way, I assure
You.

After the birth of our baby Grace she Took the office management of the household upon her young shoulders,
and though we never kept a servant my wife scarcely knew what it was to have a car in the world.

So we went on for a couple of years
as happy as birds in a nest, making
much of the blessings we had, thinking
little or nothing of our privations.

Alas, I never dreamed that the first
reverse would come to us through me.
"Yet was I to be blamed?"

Ever a hard worker, one particularly hot summer I had double duty to perform at the bank, and I had over-taken
my ability.

I remember falling with a dull crash beneath my desk one day, and it was weeks ere I was conscious that I lay at home in my own bed, carefully tended
by Annie and Trude.

I had been stricken down with brain
fever, and the doctor said the struggle back to health and strength would be long and arduous, for my system was completely debilitated by overwork.

After about six weeks, and I had been declared out of danger, I awoke
one evening, after taking a long nap to find the room dead in twilight and very silent.

I lay some time in a drowsy state,
when suddenly I was aroused by the unmistakable sound of a sob close by me, followed by the low, earnest voice
at Trude.

"Don't cry, Annie dear," she said
soothingly, "you're making him."

"Oh, Trude, what are we to do?"
I asked.

"We shall pull through all right,
dear, never fear!" was the brave reply.
"But every cent of the money is gone! There's a month's rent due and so end of little outstanding bills. Besides the doctor won't be coming much longer, and then, of course there'll be
the bill."

Heaven help me! her words almost killed me!

But even then little Trude was equal to the occasion.

"We must make some money, Annie,"
she said firmly.

"How?" in despair.

"It is the height of the blackberry
season, and the fruit is unusually fine.
I shall go out at 5 o'clock to-morrow morning, pick several quarts, and sell
every one of them at the hotel before noon. I shall do the same as long as the berries last; you will then see whether we can make a little money or not!"

I could have arisen and fallen at her feet in worship of her heroism; but
poor Annie took life more seriously,
she seemed proof against Trude's hopefulness.

"Oh, that could never succeed," she sighed.

"Well, I'm going to try, anyway!"
was the undaunted rejoinder.

After a short pause Annie said, suddenly:

"Trude, we are in a desperate strait;
why couldn't you write to Gerald Dayton and ask him to lend us some money?"

"Annie,"

"Well, he was in love with you before mother died; he is very rich, and I'm positive you would have been his wife to day if you had let him ask you;
so why—"

"Oh, hush! hush!" Gertrude cried.
"Not a word more of that! Let me save my own way. Believe me, I shall succeed."

World, full of vexation and disappointment.

When Annie and I were married we Took Gertrude to live with us. I could
Not bear the thought of the lovely girl
Going to meet the world in some mental occupation, and Annie was thankful
to have her sister with her.

Gertrude—"Trude" we always called,
The dear child—paid her way, I assure
You.

After the birth of our baby Grace she Took the office management of the
household upon her young shoulders,
and though we never kept a servant my
wife scarcely knew what it was to have
a car in the world.

So we went on for a couple of years
as happy as birds in a nest, making
much of the blessings we had, thinking
little or nothing of our privations.

Alas, I never dreamed that the first
reverse would come to us through me.
"Yet was I to be blamed?"

Ever a hard worker, one particularly
hot summer I had double duty to perform at the bank, and I had over-taken
my ability.

I remember falling with a dull crash
beneath my desk one day, and it was
weeks ere I was conscious that I lay at home in my own bed, carefully tended
by Annie and Trude.

I had been stricken down with brain
fever, and the doctor said the struggle
back to health and strength would be long and arduous, for my system was completely debilitated by overwork.

After about six weeks, and I had
been declared out of danger, I awoke
one evening, after taking a long nap to find the room dead in twilight and very silent.

I lay some time in a drowsy state,
when suddenly I was aroused by the unmistakable sound of a sob close by
me, followed by the low, earnest voice
at Trude.

"Don't cry, Annie dear," she said
soothingly, "you're making him."

"Oh, Trude, what are we to do?"
I asked.

"We shall pull through all right,
dear, never fear!" was the brave reply.
"But every cent of the money is gone! There's a month's rent due and so end of little outstanding bills. Besides the doctor won't be coming much longer, and then, of course there'll be
the bill."

Heaven help me! her words almost
killed me!

But even then little Trude was equal
to the occasion.

"We must make some money, Annie,"
she said firmly.

"How?" in despair.

"It is the height of the blackberry
season, and the fruit is unusually fine.
I shall go out at 5 o'clock to-morrow
morning, pick several quarts, and sell
every one of them at the hotel before noon. I shall do the same as long as the berries last; you will then see
whether we can make a little money or
not!"

I could have arisen and fallen at her
feet in worship of her heroism; but
poor Annie took life more seriously,
she seemed proof against Trude's hope-
fulness.

"Oh, that could never succeed," she sighed.

"Well, I'm going to try, anyway!"
was the undaunted rejoinder.

After a short pause Annie said, suddenly:

"Trude, we are in a desperate strait;
why couldn't you write to Gerald Dayton and ask him to lend us some money?"

"Annie,"

"Well, he was in love with you
before mother died; he is very rich, and
I'm positive you would have been his wife to day if you had let him ask you;
so why—"

"Oh, hush! hush!" Gertrude cried.
"Not a word more of that! Let me
save my own way. Believe me, I shall succeed."

About 10 o'clock on the following

THE VIOLET AND THE ROSE

What came from her low'ly to bring,
To the one who was waiting for spring?
Did she come to me with a gift?
With a basket of her own gift?

To bloom, I saw, upon her breast,
To glow, I saw, upon her breast,
And caught when in that fair, pure glow,
The fragrant, luscious of her soul.

Your moist face came to tell,
Your touch me with the subtle spell
Born of her presence—far from here
Her nature in your tender eyes.

I knew, too, on her yielding lips
Sweet words of her own lips,
And in each touch, most softly bland,
The message of a kiss is sent.

Then welcome, guest, from farthest shrine
You fill my heart with glad sunshine,
And in this dear room the grace
Of her who wears the flow'rs face.

BRIDE LITTLE TRUDE

Gertrude May is my sister-in-law,
A bright little fairy of 19, with a pair
Of eyes like stars, and a merry, thrifty way
About her calculated to make a man
Forget that this is a hard world—a day
World, full of vexation and disappointment.

When Annie and I were married we Took Gertrude to live with us. I could
Not bear the thought of the lovely girl
Going to meet the world in some men-

An old gentleman, who was a boy fifty years ago, says that it was very uncommon to see a young man with store-clothes on, and that a young man considered himself handsomely dressed with a pair of clean copper pants and a blue homespun sack coat. The first pair of boots he ever had was when he was 17 years old, and it took a pair of No. 12 brogans to fit him. He bought them on Saturday, and the next day he went to church and thought himself handsomely dressed with his new boots, copper pants, blue sack coat and wool hat. In those days it was fashionable for gentlemen to wear stags under their boots to keep their pants down. He cut him some strips of leather about an inch wide and strapped his pants (which were very tight) down under his boots, and when he made his appearance at church next day, thought he was very much admired. He thinks if a young man, dressed similar to what he was then, that he would attract the universal attention and ridicule of the public. He says he would willingly give $5 for a picture of himself at that time.

Arrangements are being made for a grand picnic in Hammonton Park, on Saturday, May 10th, in which all the schools in town will unite, and the families of all pupils are to be invited.

At the Workingmen's Loan and Building Association, last Monday night, $3,800 were sold, at rates averaging about 75 cents. This means a continuance of the building and improvement boom that struck Hammonton over a year ago.

Persons wishing to take the first or second grade certificates, for a teacher's certificate, can do so Saturday, May 9th, at Egg Harbor City. The regular quarterly examination of teachers for third grade certificates will be held on Saturday, June 6th, at Egg Harbor City. All applicants should be present at 8 A. M., if they expect to take all the questions.

Ladies, remember Memorial Day, May 30th. Flowers come likely to be very scarce; but please save all you can for decorating the soldiers' graves. We find new mounds in the cemeteries every year, and the number of those who survive, in rapidly growing number. Help the living to honor the memory of those who are at rest, by planting the such-angel's ovals on the glad resurrection morn.
