Our Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May, 9th, 1874.

The absurd report of the Ways and Means Committee on the Sanborn contracts is beginning to find an explanation. Mr. Dawes allowed the chief part in the investigation to be played by Mr. Foster of Ohio who made the report in his own way to which no objection was made by the Democratic members. The district of Mr. Foster has been within the past four years gradually turning Democratic and by the time of the next campaign it will be found that the district cannot change politics any quicker than Mr. Foster. His intense opposition to the administration has been shown all through both the Sanborn and the District investigations. The report against the Treasury officials is therefore merely a Democratic attack permitted by weak-kneed Republicans. With no caucus among Republican members, and no live organization here that can be held responsible, the interests of the great cause are now adrift, and the very best use is being made of the knowledge of this fact by its vigilant foes.

Secretary Richardson returned to his post this morning. His health is greatly improved, and the attack of the Committee of Ways and Means upon him is generally attributed to the envious anger of Dawes against Senator Boutwell and his friends of the Treasury Department. The injustice of such an attack by the Legislative branch of the government against the leading executive branch is recognized by all who are posted in such matters. It is not generally thought that such terms of censure coupled with a declaration that no corruption is shown is a sufficient ground for the retirement of the Secretary. The right of the House to impeach does not include the right to attack without impeaching by which an executive officer may be heard in his own defence, and cleared if the case be not made out.

The efforts of the "American" and "National" bank note companies of New York to secure a monopoly of printing United States notes, bonds and other securities, have ended disastrously to their hopes. The company here can do the work equally well, and save very largely in express charges—$500,000 being the estimated reduction of cost during the year, besides the saving in convenience of the Treasury officials and in security from loss by theft. But the pertinacity of the New York lobby was in a fair way to succeed, when a series of letters from officers of the companies showing their traitorous secret complicity with the rebellion carried on for some time after the firing on Fort Sumter had opened the war. These letters are now published here dated March 24, and 22d, 1861, April 6th, 8th, 12th, 15th, and 16th, 1861, and are among the interesting collection in the War Department obtained from the Rebel archives. At it had been known at the time that letters from these companies had been sent to the Secretary and Treasurer of the Confederacy three or four days after the fire upon Sumter, there would not now exist any such companies with any such officers. As it is they have gracefully retired from the Capital.

A bill has been introduced in the House for the amendment of the charter of the Freedmen's Savings and Trust Company. It requires the trustees to make loans to the extent of half their deposits on real estate in the vicinity of the agency or branch worth upon cash appraisement at least double the amount loaned and the other half in United States bonds or kept on deposit in some National Bank. It otherwise directs the management in the interest of depositors.

A caucus of Republican Senators has been held to determine the order of business in the Senate and to decide as to the proper action on the pending civil rights bill. It seems that it is not yet satisfactory to many Republicans in some of its features. Equal advantages are proposed instead of mixed accommodations in schools, inns, theaters, &c.

The Centennial bill was yesterday re-committed to the Centennial Committee. It will not be likely to be presented again this session. There is no other argument save that of economy against the appropriation; but just now patriotism and national pride are at a very low ebb in the House.

The invitations to Miss Nellie Grant's wedding being now prepared, the upper ten of Washington are on the tip-toe of curiosity to know to whom they will be sent.

The Washington Monument Association, which owns thirty acres of land containing a very valuable water-front and perhaps worth nearly the cost of completing the monument, have held a meeting, and formally offered to surrender their charter and all their assets including about $15,000 in money to the United States upon the conditions proposed in the bill of General Chipman for the early completion of the monument. The bill should pass, and the work of completion be at once begun, so as to consummate it by the National Centennial day.

The Supreme Court of Arkansas having decided upon the validity of Governor Brooks' claim to the office of Governor there will be nothing left to be done if the Governor finds further opposition in his way to the peaceful execution of the law of the State but to call on the President, and receive the aid of the Federal forces to put down the Baxter rebellion.

The fact that the very best safety paper used in the Departments here is liable to be "cleaned" by chemicals in the hands of expert rascals, has induced an examination by some of our government officials of an invention intended to afford absolute protection from the "raising" of checks, drafts, &c., from a small to a large amount, which has latterly grown into quite a business. Mr. R. B. Carls, of Chicago, the inventor, shows how this class of forgery is done on tinted, lined and other safety paper. His explanation is quite interesting, and he shows that millions of money are annually lost by alterations of paper over genuine signatures which can be readily prevented by stamping the figures with his geometrical check protector. The Treasury and Post Office Departments are looking into the merits of this patent stamp which certainly appears to be all that is claimed for it.

Here is a field of inquiry that is new to most of those who have escaped being victimized, while the thousands who have suffered from experts will be interested especially in anything that may save them from future losses. American experts have altered revenue bills in their transit from Congress to the President and the legal rolls, so as to save millions of revenue, in case discovery had not been made in time. They have also "stuck" the Bank of England within the past year for more than a million dollars in the same way.

D. M. Pratt has sued Commissioner Leggett of the Patent Office for libel, in publishing over his signature in the Zinesville Daily Courier that his paper, the Sunday Capital is a black-mailing sheet, and he a black-mailer. If attacking men in a way to grossly injure them, and when called upon to correct misstatements, charging libel cepts a line for a reply constitutes black-mailing, it will not be difficult for Mr. Leggett to prove him a black-mailer. But then, when caught in the act, he will disclaim responsibility for what is done by the business manager, on the ground that he is a salaried editor, and does not control the business part of the paper. A court will probably not look at the matter in the irresponsible light of this luminous editor who thus reduces his salary.

LIFE.

Civil Service.

As in all branches of Government service, the talent employed in this Department has notably deteriorated since 1865. We could name a dozen persons in the Department previous to 1865 who are now earning in private life double and quadruple the salaries they received as clerks. A few have been compelled to leave on account of old age or sickness, after many years of faithful service. The places made vacant are necessarily filled by young men, most of whom will in turn give place to either inexperienced persons. Before the war few died and none resigned. The Department for years was overfilled by the same men. With the war came a fearful advance in the cost of living, with no increase of salaries. The consequences are apparent in every department.

In a recent number of the Review it was stated that of the thirty principal clerks in the office of the Secretary of the Treasury in 1869 only seven now remain. It is only by extraordinary measures that the United States Treasurer retains a sufficient number of clerks competent to perform the responsible duties of the office.

WHO HAVE BEEN SECRETARIES.

Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Adams, Clay, Webster, Calhoun, Everett, Marcy, and Seward are among those who have been at the head of this Department. Indeed, almost every eminent statesman of the past has at some time occupied this position. We only miss from the roll Hamilton, who was Secretary of the Treasury, and John Jay, who was Chief Justice, and John Adams, who was Vice-President in Washington's Administration; Fisher Ames, Josiah Quincy, Benton, Wright and Rives. Two men who filled the office—Robert Smith and John Nelson, both of Maryland—seem nearly forgotten. In making up a complete series of portraits recently of the Secretaries, considerable difficulty was encountered in finding one of Nelson or of Smith. The Department is in possession of oil paintings of Jefferson, Webster and Seward; the remainder of the series are photographs taken mostly from engravings. All these portraits should be transported to canvases. Thomas Jefferson held the office four years and four months—i. e., from September 26, 1789, to January 2, 1794; Timothy Pickens, for four years and five months; James Monroe, five years and eleven months, and John Forsyth, six years and nine months. No others exceeded four years, excepting James Madison, John Quincy Adams, and William H. Seward, who were each in office as Secretary of State precisely eight years. Hamilton held the present office, has held the office now over five years.

Virginia has furnished the Premier twenty-one years, and New York over nineteen; Massachusetts next in order, thirteen years—eighteen if we include Timothy Pickens, who hailed from Pennsylvania, but was really a Massachusetts man. From 1841 to 1861 there were twelve changes in the office of Secretary of State—an average of less than two years for each occupant. John Nelson was Secretary but one week, in 1844, and Eliza Wigham for six days in 1869. Presidents Jefferson, Monroe and Lincoln had each but one Secretary, while John Tyler had five, although in office less than one term.

REMINISCENCES.

The earliest recollections of former Secretaries in the Department, now are of Martin Van Buren, in 1829. During his Secretaryship, William Hunter, now the esteemed Second Assistant Secretary, entered the Department as a clerk. For forty-five years Mr. Hunter has been in continual service, fourteen years as chief clerk, under eighteen different Secretaries and twelve Presidents. Always faithful he is still a valued public servant, in vigorous health. Mr. Chew, who died in office a few months since, was nearly forty years in the Department, and several now there count more than twenty years of service. Most of the Secretaries have left pleasant memories among the Clerks who survive them. Webster, Marcy and Seward were all great-hearted men, genial and kind in all their intercourse with their subordinates. Their relations partook very much of that of a family. Mr. Webster was not above borrowing money of the clerks and messengers, nor of occasionally lending to them. The President one day sent a needy friend to Mr. Seward with a note requesting the Secretary to give a place to the bearer which involved the removal of a faithful messenger, who was named in the note. Mr. Marcy read the note and gave Mr. Pierce's friend to understand that the President could not have the place of this messenger for his friend, and that there was only one place in the Department he could have—that was his own. Other Secretaries were cold and distant in their manners, exacting and impractical. General Cass, although a suffragan, was noted for his penuriousness. He berated the expense of living, the inadequacy of his salary, often saying he should die a poor man. Mr. Seward, without complaining, remarked that "it cost him three times his salary to be Secretary of State, and had his throat cut in the bargain." Mr. Fish is remarkable for the labor he performs himself, and the great amount he exacts from all his subordinates in the Department. The smaller details of official business are known to him and under his immediate direction. He is a faithful public servant.

Republic.

Work has already commenced for the Centennial buildings. The pride of Pennsylvania and her citizens forbids that there shall be such a thing as failure, notwithstanding the shabby and unpatriotic action of Congress.

The Democratic State Executive Committee met in Trenton, on Tuesday, to consult together upon matters relating to the coming campaign. Well, let them squint. This shows a necessity for Republicans to be wide awake, and ready for action.

THE GEORGI PIANO-FORTES. LATE NEWS REGARDING THEM.

The Georgi Piano-Fortes have taken the first premium over all competitors at the State Fair of West Virginia, in Kentucky, and at all other fairs and expositions where they have been exhibited.

Their durable build and refined expression of tone causes them to be the favorite instrument in seminaries of learning.

From Rev. L. VAN BOKKELEN, Rector of Holy Cross Seminary, Mt. Morris, N. Y., August 14th, 1873.

"I have pianos of other celebrated makers in the Seminary, but the Georgi was selected and used at the concert as a best. It is appreciated by teachers and pupils."

From Rev. W. F. MORRISON, Rector of St. Luke's Church, Buffalo, N. Y.
"On leaving town, I was reluctantly obliged to part with my Georgi Piano Forte. When I settled in Buffalo, one of my first cares was to provide my family with one of the same manufacture. It fully sustains the high reputation the Georgi instruments have in all parts of the country."

Mr. JOHN ZUNDEL, Organist of Henry W. C. Church, Brooklyn, says:
"The Georgi has an exquisite action, and every thing about it shows thorough workmanship and indicates durability."

Rev. S. H. MCCLISTER, President of Biometrical College, certifies:
"We have been using two of your organs the past year in our college. They have given great satisfaction. We regard them as superior instruments."

From the New York Independent:
"As they were highly recommended to us, we bought one for our own use, and we find that they are worthy of all the praise they have received."

The above are only a few selections from letters continually coming in.

The Georgi to be the Leading Piano of the day. I guarantee entire satisfaction and never fail to give it.

We paid a visit to Mr. David Lake's Reservoir, near Pleasantville on Wednesday, and took a look at the many large and fine strawberry fields in the vicinity. We were well pleased with what we saw and heard. Mr. Lake's enterprise, if successful and we cannot see why it should not be, is the beginning of a new system of irrigation, which must prove a saving of thousands of dollars yearly, in any neighborhood where the land will not bear a drought better than in that section. The windmill has almost a perpetual motion, and the pump is at work, and water running into the reservoir all most constantly. He has a convenient arrangement for filling his water carrier, and his acres of strawberries, and, by sprinkling them at evening, with this water, warm from the fountain, it must help to perfect the whole crop of fruit, even to the last berry, and give it size. His sprinkler will go over five rows at a time. So that it will not take a long time to go over his field of 15 acres.

The finest field of strawberries that we saw is that of Mr. Nathaniel Risley, of some eight acres. If all the fruit now in blossom, and budding should mature, he will get 4,000 or 5,000 quarts to the acre, and of a size that would make lovers of this delicious fruit go into ecstasies. Simon Lake has a lot of 21 acres that also look well, as did those of Lucas Lake, J. H. Lake, Mr. Davis, and Mr. Pardon Ryan, who has a field of eight acres. Mr. Isaac Collins has a field which also looks fair for a heavy crop as has Mr. Ireland, Mr. C. Doughty, Mr. Disbrow, and others.

We saw but few Blackberry canes, and those we saw have had but little care. In fact we were told that those who had them were trying to get rid of them. Mr. Lucas Lake has a small field but very thrifty looking variety of Raspberry canes which we were informed were the "Pearl" but hardy and good bearers. Most of the crop last year brought him 50 cents a quart. Mr. Isaac Collins has a fine field of this variety.

We see number of the farmers in that vicinity are preparing to supply Atlantic City with truck; a thing which ought to pay well. The soil and location is well adapted to this kind of agriculture. We believe it is but a few years since those farmers commenced trucking and fruit growing, and a progressive spirit has spread among them until now they can compete even with Vineland, in everything but brag and bluster, and a few years will make this the very garden of South Jersey.

Still there are thousands of acres of good land uncultivated and uncared. Farmers who want good and cheap lands, good markets, good homes, with good schools, with the convenience of churches, etc., no better place is offered than Atlantic County. Farmers North, East and West, are coming here, and others will follow, when they find the advantages here offered.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PHILADELPHIA, May 9.

NEW ARCHBISHOP.
A convention of Roman Catholic Archbishops was recently held at Cincinnati, and it is reported that Philadelphia is to be made an archdiocese. Of course, nothing definite as to the result of the deliberations can be obtained, until the proceedings of the convention have been approved at Rome. In case an archdiocese is approved for this city, it is very probable that the venerable Bishop Wood will be exalted to the responsible position.

THE SALVAGE CASE.

Captain Brady is still going on with his suit against the American Steamship Co. for salvage in saving the Pennsylvania from foundering at sea. Many persons are of the opinion that he cannot recover; his suit, because salvage can be lawfully claimed, only when a vessel has been abandoned, and this was not the case with the Pennsylvania. The unfortunate steamer of America was a legitimate subject for salvage, and there can be no dispute whatever in that instance.

SINGULAR MURDER.

A young girl has committed suicide to a very strange and original manner. She was seen betrouthed walking in the street with another fair dame, and the first of jealousy at once broke out into a flame, making her feel very unhappy, and in-pulling her to self-destruction. The poor deluded creature, who, the coasted, ends of her matches, and died in horrible agony. If she could not succeed in making a match during life, she seemed resolved to meet her death by a match. Let all young ladies beware of her sad fate, and not be so foolish as to commit suicide because a lover proves false to them. It should be a source of congratulation rather than of regret, that the deceitful one has shown his true character. There are many fish in the boundless ocean, and no tender heart need be broken in our days.

HYDROPHOBIA.

A most melancholy death has recently taken place from this frightful disease. A month ago, several little children were playing in the street, when three of them were bitten by a dog. Immediate attention was given to the sufferers, and the most approved appliances of modern surgery were used. No serious results were anticipated, until one of the children manifested symptoms of hydrophobia a few days ago, and at last death ended his sufferings. This must be a source of intense anxiety for the parents of the other children who were bitten.

What use are so many dogs, and particularly in a large city? They run promiscuously through our streets, seem to have no owners, and are often almost destroyed to death. It would be better to destroy every dog than have a single human life sacrificed by them.

MUNICIPAL SECURITY.

Strangers can now walk through our streets, at any hour of the night, without being molested. The police are always at their posts of duty, and the robbers and murderers who formerly attacked persons in the streets, are now obliged to emigrate to places more congenial to their calling. Philadelphia is one of the safest cities for the stranger to visit.

AN ACCEPTABLE VERDICT.

In the case of the suit brought by the heirs of the man Snyder (who was found dead in Monocacy Creek, near Bethlehem,) against the New York Mutual Life Insurance Company, and to which we referred in a previous letter, the Jury returned a verdict in favor of the heirs for thirty-one thousand eight hundred dollars, being the full amount claimed. The verdict called forth applause from the large assembly present. Whilst it is very desirable that Insurance Companies are protected from fraud, the disposition shown by them recently to dispute payment in so many instances, must damage them in the end.

THE CENTENNIAL.

The failure of Congress to pass the Centennial bill on Thursday, produced deep disappointment with many of our citizens, and sharp indignation with many more. Some are still unwilling to despair, hoping that the opposition of the measures, who have been making unavailing efforts for themselves, and manufacturing humiliating paces for the country's history, may yet see the error of their way. The general state of feeling seems to be, that while Philadelphia and Pennsylvania are willing to bear the brunt of the work, they are, neither singly nor jointly willing to shoulder unaided the entire responsibility of a celebration, the chief credit and glory of which go to the nation as a nation. Confidence is felt by not a few, that the city and State will see to it that the project will not fail, but will simply be modified to meet the new condition of things. "If necessary," says one of our leading dailies, "the exhibition will be entirely Philadelphia and Pennsylvania in its management, and in the payment of the expenses." So, you see, the Old Keystone is getting her back up, and is showing a disposition to "do alone independence" of her neighbors, even on the occasion when the "Declaration of Independence" by all the States is to be solemnized.

MINIATURE REQUEST.

The late John Holben, of this city, has bequeathed $100,000 to charitable purposes. This is a most excellent example for other wealthy gentlemen, to "do likewise." The late Joseph Harrison, Jr., whose estate was appraised at six millions of dollars, did not count to any institution whatever. How dwelleth the love of mankind in the heart of a person who cannot give a little of his great wealth to benefit his fellow creatures?

ANOTHER LAUNCH.

On the 13th of this month, there will be another large ship launch at Chester. Mr. Kew will, at that time, have a new and handsome vessel ready for the Pacific Mail Steamship Company. This ship is intended to be a companion of the City of Peking, which was recently and so successfully launched at the new place. The new vessel was to have been named the City of Yedo, but it has been changed to the City of Tokio, after the present capital of Japan.

The port of Philadelphia is beginning to make its mark in the mercantile world. During last month, of the one hundred and five vessels which cleared from this port for foreign ports, forty-five were of American build. No other port can boast as much. The American steamships are now sailing with full complements of passengers.

RELIEF FOR LOUISIANA.

The subscriptions from this city have now reached $20,000, and there is no doubt that this amount in full will benefit the sufferers.

SAFE OF A RAILROAD.

On last Tuesday the Suburban and Lewistown Railroad was sold in this city at public auction. This road runs from opposite the borough of Selinsgrove, in Snyder county, to Lewistown, in Millin county, a distance of forty-two miles. The purchasers were Samuel M. Zalkoff, Joseph Hart, Daniel Buck, Joseph D. Thornton, and W. Budd Dacon, and the price paid was $551,000.

THE NEW CHURCH MOVEMENT.

A second meeting of persons in favor of founding a Reformed Episcopal Church in Philadelphia has been held, and nine vestrymen were chosen. The new organization is to be called the Second Reformed Church of Philadelphia. The movement seems to be growing in favor, and some of our most prominent Episcopalians are taking an interest in it.

THE TEMPERANCE CRUSADE.

"All is quiet on the Potomac," and our female crusaders are now smoking the pipe of peace, having wisely resolved to visit the drinking saloons no more. Some persons have been arrested for selling liquors to minors, and if convicted, the full extent of punishment will be meted out to them. Our Mayor is determined to suppress this accursed traffic, and he has instructed his police to arrest every man who sells rum to minors. It is to be hoped that this will have the desired effect of breaking up the entire system, and thus saving the lives of our young men. In the House of Correction ninety per cent. of the inmates are sent thither through the influence of liquor, and many of these are young girls. We are greatly in need of a lasting reform.

MONEY.

The money market continues very quiet, and first-class borrowers find no difficulty in obtaining all the funds they require. Call loans rate at 4 1/2 per cent. First-class commercial paper from 6 1/2 per cent. per annum.

The gold premium stiffened from 1123 to 1125, and closed at 1121. The shipment of $500,000 in gold on Wednesday last has excited the hopes of the speculators, who imagine they see in this the commencement of the usual summer drain to Europe.

The stock market was moderately active and prices generally were higher.

Government securities were a fraction higher.

The markets generally have been dull during the past week, but prices of the leading articles are without material change.

Truly thine, B. B. B. B. B.

THE GRANGE INITIATION RITES REVEALED.

Persons who are about to become members of the Order of Patrons of Husbandry, should read the following account of the terrible ordeal through which they will have to pass as revealed by the Handful, (Ohio) Enterprise.

On being brought into the ante-room of the lodge (Orange or Temple, No. 101) it was told that I had been badly and severely injured by a horse, and was to be kept in bed for some time.

My informant, who was severely injured by a horse, was to be kept in bed for some time.

My informant, who was severely injured by a horse, was to be kept in bed for some time.

My informant, who was severely injured by a horse, was to be kept in bed for some time.

A dined pumpkin-pie is put in his mouth for a bit and bridle—he is made to get down upon all fours, the guide takes the bridle, and urged on by a granger, applies the reins, and the candidate is galloped three times around the room. While making the circuit the candidate is to sing:

Get up and dust you bully boy—
Who wouldn't be a granger?
If the thistle's prick don't cause you joy,
To feeling you are estranged alo.

After this violent exercise he is made to dry his coat, and, bristled where bristled, and brought standing up before the great chief—the most worshipful pumpkin head.

M. W. P. H.—"Why do you desire to be a granger?"

Candidate—(answering for himself)—"That I may learn to extinguish sewing machines."

M. W. P. H.—"Have your hands been washed with soap?"

Candidate—"Not extensively, but then I am not running for office."

M. W. P. H.—"Is this well, for our lodges contain several who are supposed to be ready to sacrifice themselves for their constituents. Do you feel pretty smart this evening?"

M. W. P. H.—(Savagely)—"Give me a show of tobacco!"

Candidate searches himself thoroughly, but as there is no place about him to stick a pocket, tries to explain, but the most worshipful pumpkin head interrupts him with:

"Never mind, my young friend—I am well aware that, in your present condition, you can no more furnish your friends with the weed than Adam could be comfortable in a plug hat, and that is the only reason why you are here."

"The candidate is now conducted to the most eminent sage-producer who this evening is 'My worthy brother, I will now present you with the order of the Festive Ploughboy, which you have well won by your heroic achievement while harassed—may you, in your journey, be guided by the stars and planets, and may it be a means of terror to your enemies."

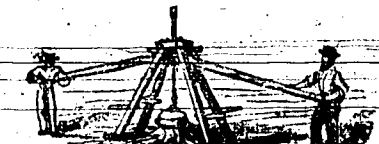

The M. E. S. P. then proceeds to invest the candidate with the order of the Festive Ploughboy, which you have well won by your heroic achievement while harassed—may you, in your journey, be guided by the stars and planets, and may it be a means of terror to your enemies."

The first is a large letter S on which you will please add while the other is applied to the stomach. The letter S, my worthy brother, signifies scooped, and refers to railroad water-pipes. It is also supposed to indicate the seat of affections—the spot where the old time coacher hunted for brains with a ferule. The second letter is C, and is applied, as I said before, to the stomach. It has a double meaning. First, the C signifies an agricultural course, and secondly, it has reference to the stomach as being the great receptacle for Bourbon whiskey. Life Insurance at Actual Cost
THE NATIONAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF CHICAGO, it gives the attention to those contemplating insuring their lives to its Mutual or Reciprocal PLAN, which enables even the poorest man provide for his family in case of death, without depriving them of the necessities of life, as do many who on leave to pay the high premiums of old line companies, who charge for Assurance Double Losses When Never Occur, and then add a heavy loading for extravagant expenses. On this plan you only pay for the actual cost actually experienced, and as they grow with a small fixed sum for expenses. Call on the agent for circular fully explaining this system.

The Practical Results!
Since its organization, in 1870, the NATIONAL has paid in death losses $57,760, at a cost to the deceased of $701,000 in premiums. Old line Companies would have paid or the same premiums $21,224, showing a gain by insuring in the NATIONAL of over $365,000.
The Capital and Securities of this Company are sufficient to comply with the Insurance Laws of any State in the Union.
