HUDSON RIVER R. R.

Conductor Mellus Says Something of Interest to all Travelers.

Foramkings, N. Y., Feb. 22, 1881.

Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR: I have used your medicine, called DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY, for Indigestion and Dyspepsia, to which I was subject at times, and know from experience that it is worthy of all that can be said of it for disorders of that kind.

Respectfully, W. S. MELLUS.

60 Harrison St.

That Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is extensively used along the line of the Hudson River Railroad, is shown by the following from Tarrytown.

The writer is none other than Mr. DeLore, the Station Agent of the Hudson River Railroad Company at Tarrytown, a man well known to that community.

Tarrytown, N. Y., Feb. 22, 1884.

Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR:--For a long time I was troubled with a severe attack of Dyspepsia and Biliousness, and a disordered state of the system. I was advised to try Favorite Remedy. I did so and have been completely cured. It is the best thing I ever heard of for any disorder of that nature, and I've recommended it to many with like success.

A. DeLore,

Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is not confined to its sphere of usefulness in one state or locality, but is hailed as a boon by hundreds in every state, as the following letter from Millville, N. J., will show:

MILLVILLE, N. J.

Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR:--I had been a sufferer from Dyspepsia from the time I was sixteen years old. I had consulted various physicians, but could find no relief; therefore had almost given up in despair of ever regaining my health, when Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy was recommended, which I tried and have been cured. It is the best medicine I ever knew of, and worthy of the greatest confidence.

Mrs. S. C. Dougherty.

MALARIA.

As an anti-malarial medicine

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

has won golden opinions. No traveler should consider his outfit complete unless it includes a bottle of this medicine. If you are exposed to frequent changes of climate, food and water, Favorite Remedy should always be within your reach. It expels malarial poison, and is the most preventative of chills and malarial fever in the world. It is especially forced as a trustworthy specific for the cure of Malaria and Liver complaints, Constipation and all disorders arising from an impure state of the blood. So women who suffer from any of the above peculiarities, their Favorite Remedy is constantly proving itself an unfailing friend--a real blessing. Address the proprietor, Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. 60 Harrison St. Sold by all druggists.

Vineland began as a prohibition town, and has grown up in that faith. Out of seventeen indictments found by the Cumberland county Court at its present term, nine were against citizens of Vice-land for illegal liquor selling, and eight out of the nine pleaded guilty, and were sentenced to pay a fine of forty dollars apiece.

James Reilly, a granite worker, of Camden, has received the contract for erecting a monument on the spot occupied by the Twelfth New Jersey Regiment at the battle of Gettysburg. It is to cost $800 and is to be erected by July 15, when it is to be unveiled, with appropriate ceremonies, by the old soldiers of that regiment.

THE OLD, OLD STORY.--Why do we hear so much about dyspepsia? because so many people have it. Why are so many people talking about their cure from this dreadful disease? Simply because they have been taking Brown's Iron Bitters. Mrs. Taylor of Lynchburg, Sumter Co., S. C., who says, "I have used Brown's Iron Bitters for dyspepsia with most favorable results. I believe this medicine all that it represented." Dyspeptics, and sufferers from neuralgia, weakness, etc., should try it.

Mark Twain told the Vassar College students that his usual price for reading was $500, but that he was satisfied to take fifty cents and get the other $450.50 in looking at the girls.

Job Vansant, one of the most prominent shipbuilders of South Jersey, is dead. He was engaged in the business for fifty years and built many large coasters at his yard at Somers Point.

The first Presbyterian Church of Woodbridge, N. J., is one of the most venerable in the country. It is now two hundred and ten years old. Its Sunday School will celebrate its sixty-eighth anniversary on the third Sunday of June next.

The Republicans of Ohio show no disposition to dodge the liquor question in their next platform. It will undoubtedly contain a pronounced resolution in favor of taxing the traffic.

Harry A. Garfield, son of the late President, has accepted a position as teacher in St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H.

Notwithstanding much has been said about the importance of a blood purifying medicine, it may be possible that the matter has never seriously claimed your attention. Think of it now! If by the use of a few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla you avoid the evils of scrofula, and transmit a healthy constitution to your offspring, thank us for the suggestion.

In the House of Commons the bill for the construction of a tunnel under the English Channel, between France and England, was defeated by a vote of 231 to 99, after Mr. Chamberlain had stated that the Government as a whole were opposed to it.

A few days ago a delegation of Democrats from Michigan called upon President Cleveland and presented him with a list of the Democratic patriots in that state who wanted and deserved offices. A few days later the President looked over the list, found that the name of one Michigan Democrat, Mr. Lothrop, was not down on it, and promptly appointed that gentleman minister to Russia. There is a moral for office seekers in this episode, but the man who cannot extract it without having it printed for him in the newspapers doesn't deserve an office anywhere.

By land or at sea, out on the prairie, or in the crowded city, Ayer's Cathartic Pills are the best for purgative purposes, ever since convenient, efficacious, and safe. For sluggish bowels, torpid liver, indigestion, bad breath, flatulency, and sick headache they are a sure remedy.

The business of the courts in the District of Columbia has been brought to a standstill, owing to the lack of money with which to meet expenses, and an appeal is to be made to the Attorney General to find funds until the appropriations for the next fiscal year become available.

A MARVELOUS STORY

TOLD IN TWO LETTERS.

FROM THE SON: "28 Cedar St., New York, Oct. 23, 1882. 'Gentlemen: My father resides at Glover, Vt. He has been a great sufferer from Scrofula, and the enclosed letter will tell you what a marvelous effect has had in his case. I think his blood must have contained the humor for at least ten years; but it did not show, except in the form of a scrofulous sore on the wrist, until about five years ago. From a few spots which appeared at that time, it gradually spread so as to cover his entire body. I assure you he was terribly afflicted, and an object of pity, when he began using your medicine. Now, there are few men of his age who enjoy as good health as he has. I could easily name fifty persons who would testify to the facts in his case. Yours truly, W. M. PHILLIPS."

FROM THE FATHER: "It is both a pleasure and a duty for me to state to you the benefit I have derived from the use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Six months ago I was completely covered with a terrible humor and scrofulous sores. The humor caused an incessant and intolerable itching, and the skin cracked so as to cause the blood to flow in many places whenever I moved. My sufferings were great, and my life a burden. I commenced the use of the Sarsaparilla in April last, and have used it regularly since that time. My condition began to improve at once. The sores have all healed, and I feel perfectly well in every respect--being now able to do a good day's work, although 73 years of age. Many inquire what has wrought such a cure in my case, and I tell them, as I have here tried to tell you, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. Glover, Vt., Oct. 21, 1882. Yours gratefully, HIRSH PHILLIPS."

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Itches, Sores, Bolls, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system.

A high-contrast, black and white image showing a dense, textured surface, possibly a wall or a large object, with a dark, irregular shape on the right side. The image is heavily degraded with noise and artifacts, making it difficult to discern specific details. The dark shape on the right appears to be a large, irregular object, possibly a piece of furniture or a wall feature, but its exact nature is unclear due to the poor image quality. The overall appearance is that of a very old, low-quality scan or photograph.

Animal Signs & Symbols:

all northern Indiana town at the time I first met him. You know how the inhabitants of small places go wild over anything of a freakish nature, and the reigning sensation just then was the work of a blind sign painter. Every one was viewing fakirs has just struck the village, who decorated the dead walls and fences in the most gaudy way imaginable, the finishing and artistic touches being done by a member of the party who was known as the "Blind Sign Painter of Earth." Business with them was rushier, every merchant in town coming around and wanting work done, for when the blind sign painter, who was none other than Kilroy, felt his way up a ladder and dangled his sign from above, the inhabitants of the place turned out to witness the feat.

The scheme of the fakirs which was an original one and calculated to catch the multitude, all depended on the histrionic ability of the Hoosier poet. He had a large square gray area, and the vision of an eagle, When the surface was selected he was brought out and led to the foot of the ladder. A part of the business was to go up a step, carefully feeling his way, then turning, stare into faces gray area, and soot of style, and bring to bear on the crowd a face full of pain and pathos. This rarely failed to draw expressions of sympathy, and what was more to the point, additional advertising contracts. Slowing climbing the ladder the fingered end of each arm, with hands the dimensions of letterfets, and then, suddenly seizing the brush, the sign was reeled off, much more rapidly than the average painter could do it.

Another catching bit of "business" was to stamper something down when closed of each gave him a shoving below, with an imprecation and a brutal order to be more careful.

"Shame, shame! Some one ought to take the poor man away from those ruffians," were sample remarks from the crowd of whole libraries. One day, when was up the ladder, I caught his eye. My suspicions had been aroused, and he saw it in my face. Slowly and deliberately, with owlish solemnity, he winked that gray eye of his in the white which spoke of whole libraries. After that, no more was taken in his confidence, and finding that he was a gold mine of talent induced him to leave the painters and go to work in my office, a task which was not difficult, for he only regarded the "Blind Painter" dodge as a joke. His aim was getting out of the fun. That was the beginning of his newspaper career.

Europeans in Peking.

A French writer gives this picture of the life of Europeans in Peking: There are sixty of them at the largest computation, and Chinese society is absolutely shut to them. Communication with the mandarin class is limited to the exchange of news from Europe comes so slowly to the capital of the Son of Heaven that they seem distant echoes from another world whose existence is of very little account. Life would be dull indeed did not Peking offer one greater resource against the monotony of all kinds, old books, old pots, old ivories, old enamels, and even odd clothes. From midnight to night, in the small circles which the Europeans form, there is no other talk but of family virtue, family rage, painted and cloisonne enameled. After breakfast the clerks of the larger brigades brace shops enter with a load of things, hoping that a good state of digestion will dispose you to more optimism—and to put your foot in a trap—quite as sure as measuring with a tradesman as for their colleagues in the west.

The shops open to Europeans are incumbered with a great mass of things—useless and ugly to our eyes; a visit is hardly worth while unless there are some articles of particular make at his inauguration. Daniel Webster usually wore a suit of snuff-brown color, with large soft necktie. Martin Van Buren was very fastidious about his clothes, and always appeared during the summer in mid whistles of white duck trowsers. His clothes were cut in the latest styles and he wore very high stock neckties out of which peaked his standing collar, making his head look like that of John the Baptist on a charger. Andrew Jackson also dressed well, though he did not mix himself with the great matter. Henry Clay wore a swallow-tail, and a standing collar extravagantly high. James Buchanan was always very precise in his clothes.

They Were Deceitful.

Washington, who died in 1799, wore ruffles on his sleeves, and half of the men who signed the Declaration of Independence wore powdered wigs. Jefferson sported knee breeches, and Madison was proud to wear a top hat. These are some of the pieces of partisan make at his inauguration. Daniel Webster usually wore a suit of snuff-brown color, with large soft necktie. Martin Van Buren was very fastidious about his clothes, and always appeared during the summer in mid whistles of white duck trowsers. His clothes were cut in the latest styles and he wore very high stock neckties out of which peaked his standing collar, making his head look like that of John the Baptist on a charger. The scales for weighing gold in the Assay Office at New York are so delicate that, when a single grain is added to either side, a piece of paper of equal size in the pan, or the mere writing of the name on one of the pieces of paper will add enough weight to the paper to turn the scales in its favor.
