Creamery's Defence.

MR. EDITOR;—There are just nine weak points in Creamery's notes on oleo, in the REPUBLICAN of May 14th.

1st, "Did not Oleo know that the tax was two cents per pound?" Just where the whole complaint is based.

2nd, "There is no law to prevent Oleo from buying if he wishes." What's the tax for then?

3rd, "The inspectors do not look for the interests of buyers." What are they for, to draw pay? O creamery!

4th, "Cannot sell it for butter." I hope not—the twenty-five cent kind,—but how does Creamery know that Oleo does not like good butter? Who told him so? Certainly not Oleo.

5th, "The law simply protects me and others." Then comes the bald statement—"I know that it is made of every kind of filth of the slaughter house." No answer is required to such a groundless statement.

6th, "If I eat rancid butter, I know it is rancid butter." No doubt of it; others besides Creamery know it, too; but elegant margarine he does not want—rancid butter is what Creamery likes best! "Unprincipled sharpers shall not sell it to me."—Not while he can get the elegant rancid butter.

"Let it stand alone on its own merits." Is that what the tariff is put on for?

"No objection to oleo, so long as it is oleo, and sold as such." Oleo need not proclaim its merits, it stands alone!

7th, "The reason the law was passed was because innocent people had to be protected, they could not tell margarine from genuine creamery." What a defence of the old butter-men is here! "Why sell the angelic article for rancid butter?" Sure enough, why!

8th, "The law was also made to take care of people's health, to keep them from 'tape worms.'" Did the tape worms come in with the margarine? Also typhoid fever and other dangerous diseases, all, of course, traced to this "innocent stuff." Please note that no kitchen compounds of rancid butter can be charged with any of the above complaints!

9th, "The hungry people can buy all the oleo they want."—Yes, if you will take off the tax! But they can have the privilege of buying good rancid butter at thirty-eight cents per pound. "They now get what they ask for." Yes, when they are not cheated!

OLEO.

EASILY CONVINCED.—A single dose of Tutt's Expectorant will convince any one that it is the most valuable lung balsam ever placed before the American people. Very pleasant. Children love it. Sold by all druggists.

FASHION NOTES.

the safest colors for cheap porcelains—olive-green and brick-red.

The woolen tissues are strewn with dots, small squares, triangles or squares, and a small pattern of dots, clove-leaves, or small circles of silk, imitating embroidery. The most interesting are over upon the ground.

Generally, probably, the colors of the new fabrics are not so brilliant as some European and American ones; they are less of their natural tint; they cover the capotes entirely, with the exception of all puffed silk, and of the skirts of the new lady's wools. The materials for the spring and summer we remark that small white and blue dots are scattered sparingly in fabrics irregular white stripes and spots of choice patterns, the others while dots are scattered over the entire surface.

Some of the new woolen novelties are woolen grounds in light or dark colors, and some in white, made of pure colors, on which in high and low tones are scattered lines in many colors and realistic to the eye in treatment. These goods are cheap, and intended only for plain and simple dresses.

While combinations of plain and colored or figured goods, often in strongly-contrasted colors, remain extremely popular, many handsome dresses are made of the combination of a broad, stout, and two fabrics, and for these retailers exclusively fine cashmere novelties are especially favored.

English walking-uate, in fine colors, is still one of the fancies in broad ornament in Tuscany are shown in "golden-brown," and all the dark colors of the season. The popular English urban is shown in Milan crown, with heavy roll in front of fancy Italian times a year—in March, June, September and December—the Dutch braid fancy filian and fancy straw popular is an English writings art, quite as on one end of the stick and g downward at the back. No thing novelties are shown in the of hats, and it is probable that of the season will be popular again.

They are always on the look out for new ideas, and placed when we have thing new and pretty to introduce to the room. The result is that we have the very elegant vests of colored-ribbed silk which have come into fashion. These dandy vests are grown to be worn with sweeping toilets; they combine comfort with elegance, for they are very useful-proteectors for the east which the gloves have been the year even when one is on the sunbath seat. One model is of pale blue trimmed with a peaked shoulder-cape, and another of white and red in ecruel with silk. Another is trimmed down the front with three of white tany lace insertion.

Handsome Roman-striped satins and velvets, and also the new cross-plated skirts of fall. France and also for garnitures on coats of fine cloth or wigwag. Velvets also combined with the new Roman skirt, very frequently horizontally, and among elegant gowns are Rembrandt and velvet petticoats, with "Romaine" and also the above mentioned Roman skirt, one plain color of Russe, in fawn, nut-brown, silver or violet—which last named color is the most abundant of colors, and very purple. This stylish overdress very long, with full draping at the sides, and a very graceful adjustment to the bust and hips, favorably over in that with one of the colors the Roman-shaped petticoat.

Among the new skirt draperies are directly opposing styles, the bell skirt, and the Roman skirt; the latter designed for ladies inclined to dress, which shows the back of the skirt draped with an effect of extreme fullness, and the former, which as it nears the back of the hips tapers. The extreme of this style slender woman, the fullest contrast below to the waist, the folds are usually

10 pounds, and when a couple of fuls make a nice cup of tea, look moderation, is excellent. Beyond it is not only fantastic but often ludicrous grotesque, especially when the fabric is light or when the color is too saturated, thus giving the appearance of an inflated balloon. They destroy all natural symmetry, and often impart to a very graceful figure an altogether grotesque and unbecoming appearance.

Models for summer bonnets sent from Paris are made of silk, tulle, Persian gauze in exquisitely varied tints, and zephyr silk muslin combined with raised velvet flowers. The brim of the bonnet is covered with velvet in black, golden-brown, or a tulle or Japanese red, and the flowers are of silk or tulle with or without flowers. Pretty day bonnets, to worn at 5 o'clock tea, etc., are of very rough straw trimmed with velvet in high shades of French floss, and also of dainty nets worked with beaded heads in shaded effects; and weathered shirred silk bonnets trimmed with gold fringe and large gay sprays of white lilac in soft velvet. Huge butterflies, both of gauze and gold-powdered gauze, are also used upon summer hats by the Parisienne. The round hats in red color and mushroom shades are trimmed with golden-brown pivot velvet, ribbon loops mixed with golden-brown tulle, and a large bow of scarlet Japan poppies.

LOCAL MISCELLANY.
Strawberries!
Council meeting to-night.
Memorial Day, next Monday.

Mrs. Bliss is making her home with her brother, Mr. Robbins.
Born,—on Friday, May 20th, to Mr. and Mrs. Gideon Lyman, a son.

Hammononton Loan and Building Association meeting on next Thursday evening.
We expect to publish, in a week or two, the annual financial report of the county.

Several fine showers this week. They were greatly needed for developing strawberries.

Every member of the Post should be at headquarters to-morrow morning, by half-past nine.

Berry picker tickets printed at the REPUBLICAN office, at fair prices. Send in orders early.

Mrs. Fish is adding a good-sized conservatory to her residence. Jones & Lawson are the builders.

The Grand Army Post expect to attend Memorial Services, at the Baptist Church to-morrow morning.

Mr. Barna Bemis and his sister, Mrs. Cynthia Clark, of Worcester, Mass., are visiting Hammononton relatives.

Take the children to hear the little folks in the Noss Family's concert, next Friday evening, at Union Hall.

Members of the Fire Company are looking with commendable pride at the goodly proportions of their new building.

Look on this picture, then on that!—was Hamlet's admonition. You can now do this at Page's, and you'll find them all good.

Harry L. Slape, of Atlantic City, is very sick with what the friends fear is Bright's disease. At last report he was slightly better.

Mr. Bernhouse's men have the Fire Company's building nearly enclosed. They have also begun work on the Town Lock-up.

The name of Samuel D. Miller should be added to the list of graduates from the Hammononton High School, in the Advanced Course.

The Hammononton boys and a nine from May's Landing expect to play a game of base-ball, Monday next, on the Hammononton grounds.

Mr. William P. Miller, a printer from Millville, expect Sunday at Mr. Pressey's, and gave us the pleasure of a hand-shake on Monday.

Rev. Paul F. Langell will attend the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, to be held in Manitoba, —starting thither next week.

Decorations day, next Monday. The Post will meet at 2:00 o'clock P. M. Services at Greenwood Cemetery at 2:30; at Oakdale at 4:30 o'clock.

The Grand Army Post has so amended its by-laws as to hold monthly meetings during the summer—the first Saturday evening in each month.

Mr. A. J. King started, Tuesday, for Breckinridge, Colorado, intending to remain all summer. Mrs. King is now with relatives in Binghamton, N. Y.

The Noss Family at Union Hall, next Friday evening, June 3rd. 25 cts. for general admission; 35 cents pays for a reserved seat. They come highly recommended.

Grand Worthy Patriarch Van Aiken visited Atlantic Division, Sons of Temperance, last Monday evening, and made the session very interesting for the members.

Notwithstanding the complications growing out of the Inter-State Commerce Bill, Page still continues to make photographs that are unequalled in style and price.

We tender thanks to Miss Helen Miller for a bouquet of beautiful roses; also to those who have kindly favored us with plants and shrubs for the adornment of our new home.

The concert, last Saturday evening, given by Prot. W. R. Seely's class, drew a full house—nearly all reserved seats,—and more than fulfilled the expectations of the most hopeful. The program was sufficiently varied to prevent monotony; and that the audience was pleased was evident, for applause was hearty and more frequent. We believe that a repetition would be well patronized.

Strawberry short cake!
Mr. Underwood and daughter, Alberta, and Miss Nellie Fogg, started for their homes, in Maine, Monday.

Mr. Michael K. Boyer, the genial editor of the Poultry Guide and Friend, Clarendon, Virginia, made us a friendly call, this week.

As usual, Mr. Field brought us of the first fruits of his strawberry field, last Monday—the first ripe ones we had seen, of home production. They trimmed up a short-cake on Tuesday.

This entertainment (Noss Family) is novel, versatile, amusing, chaste, and catching.—Morrisstown (N.J.) Chronicle.

Will H. Bernhouse and his crew of carpenters returned home the latter part of last week, having completed a handsome cottage at East Orange, and received high commendation from the owner—Mr. Starr, of Camden.

The Grand Army Post request all citizens of Hammononton who have cut flowers or potted plants which they are willing to donate for decorating soldier graves, to leave the same at Mr. Kutherford's office, not later than noon on Monday next.

A wonderful family (Noss) gifted with rare musical talents. The public can patronize the Noss Family without fear of disappointment.—Altoona (Pa.) Morning Tribune.

Yes, our Reading Room is free; and every one is welcome there. It must be a mean person indeed who will abuse the freedom afforded there, by carrying away valuable periodicals, magazines, etc. A word to the wise ought to be sufficient.

The repainting, the ornamenting of the front, and the tower recently put upon Dr. Peebles' house by Messrs. Jones & Lawson, in connection with the two inviting groves in the rear, make his residence one of the most desirable and beautiful in our growing town.

Just notice the make-up of the new lock-up, as it is being put-up; so that if you should chance to be shut-up within its innermost recesses, you would realize the futility of any attempt to cut-up the building in an endeavor to relieve your pent-up feelings. There, now, please let-up.

Noss Family, one of the best that has been in this place for years. The performance of little Berna was remarkable for one of her years.—Washington (Pa.) Daily.

The berry train for Newark and New York, on the Camden & Atlantic Railroad, will commence running on Monday next, May 30th, leaving Hammononton at 5:40 P. M., arriving at Jersey City not later than one o'clock A. M.

The Philadelphia train will make its first trip on the same day, leaving at 8:00 o'clock P. M.

Dr. Peebles' illustrated lecture upon the Holy Land, delivered in the Methodist Church on Monday evening, was deeply interesting. It was for the benefit of the Sunday School. Lectures of this character, while intellectually enlightening, confirm Christian faith. The audience would have been much larger had it not been for the visit of the Grand Worthy Patriarch and other attractions that evening.

Last Friday evening, we believe, the schooner Marietta Steelman, commanded by Capt. Alfred Kendall, of Hammononton, was run down and sunk by the Clyde Line steamship Cherokee, during a heavy fog. The steamer rescued the crew and carried them on to Charleston, her own destination. Mrs. Kendall was with her husband, and her sister, Mrs. John Murdoch, received a card, Wednesday night, stating that they were all safe, and would probably be home on Saturday (to-day).

The most wonderful entertainment of its kind ever given here. Delightful from beginning to end. We consider the Noss family 100 per cent. superior to any musical family we ever heard.—Bellevue (Pa.) Daily News.

The union school picnic was an unequalled success, last Friday. The Park presented a lively appearance, as the many scores of young folks flitted hither and thither among the trees and on the banks of the lake. Bots were provided, and all who wished were permitted to row about the beautiful little sheet of water. It was a hungry company that gathered at the dinner table, and it was fortunate that the food supply was not small. The preliminary exercises,—recitations, singing, etc., were entertaining, and therefore listened to with commendable patience by an audience composed chiefly of children who might be expected to be impatient for dismissal. The skating-rink was open to the evening, and many remained to enjoy the sport.

Remember the Noss Family.
On Thursday next, Dr. Peebles sails, by the "Georgia," from New York to Glasgow, on his way to Edinburgh and London. He takes this tour as the medical adviser of Elmer F. W. Evans, who goes on a lecture-mission to England in the interest of "Co-operation," "Land Reform," "Vegetarianism," etc.

Dr. DeWitt, the celebrated optician, of New York, Prof. Dalton, of Cincinnati, and Dr. Geddes, of St. Louis, a famous specialist in chronic diseases, sail by the same steamer; also, Mr. John A. Burroughs, who has worked for Dr. Peebles for several years, will accompany the party. When not otherwise employed, the doctor, so he informs us, will spend his time in the medical hospitals of Glasgow, Edinburgh, and London.

There has never been a troupe visited our town that was more highly appreciated and more deservedly popular than the Noss Family. They are not only superb musicians, but are highly refined and intellectual.—Fassett (N.J.) Times.

On account of the picnic last week Friday, we printed our paper early. After all were done, the morning mail brought news of a change in the Post Office. We then folded in the Hammononton bundles a tiny "supplement," containing the following:

Lighting has struck Hammononton at last,—the political lightning. We mean. Official notice has been received that our Post Master—Mrs. Annie Elvins—has been removed, and Mr. Cyrus F. Osgood appointed her successor. The people of Hammononton, irrespective of party, were well satisfied with the postal facilities here, and with Mrs. Elvins' management of the office, every possible need being anticipated and provided; but, very naturally, the Democratic administration desires to fill all governmental positions with men of its own political faith; and, since a change seemed inevitable, we congratulate our people upon the appointment of so worthy a man. Mr. Osgood was a soldier in the last war, is very popular with all classes, is a section master in the firm of C. F. Osgood & Co., the prosperous shoe manufacturers, and a gentleman of ability and culture.

Mr. Osgood will take possession of the office July 1st, and will continue the business without change of location.

City Hall, for the fourth time in its history, was entirely sold in reserved seats for the Noss Family. Many were turned away. This, too, was their second appearance here, and no greater compliment could be paid any troupe. The program offered is exceedingly attractive and popular, and the packed audience was delighted from opening to closing.—Monongahela City (Pa.) Daily Republic.

The Noss Family will be at Union Hall one night only,—Friday, June 3rd. Admission, 25 cents; reserved seats, 35, for sale at Cochran's.

There was a ripple of excitement in the vestibule of the Methodist Church last Sunday afternoon. An Italian, Francesco Fiella, has for some time manifested an unreasonable regard for Miss Ella Wilson, a young English girl living in Mr. John Trafford's family, and on several occasions has made himself so obnoxious that members of the family were compelled to drive him from the premises. Last Sunday, as Miss Wilson was on her way to Sunday School, the Italian appeared, and followed her, acting in such a manner that the girl was very much alarmed, and reached the church in an exhausted condition. The Italian still followed, and in the vestibule threw his arms about her, and attempted to drag her out. The struggle and her screams called out a number of persons, among them Mr. H. G. Newton, who was acquainted with all the circumstances, and falling in his efforts to make the fellow desist, felled him to the floor with his fist. This sort of argument was convincing, and the Italian left, but was afterward taken before Squire Atkinson, and a loaded revolver and a razor being found on his person, he was sent to jail in default of one thousand dollars bail, on a charge of assault with intent to kill. He is evidently of unsound mind, and not a safe man to be at large.
