A Dilettante.

Can you recall an ode to June
Or lines to any river,
In which you do not meet "the moon,"
And see "the moonbeams quiver?"
I've heard such songs to many a tune,
But never yet to never—
Have I escaped that rhyme to "June,"
Or missed the rhyme to "river."
At times the heart from his refrain
A moment's respite catches,
The while his over-cogitated brain
At some new jingle catches:
Yet long from the unlucky moon
Himself he cannot sever.
But grows once more that rhyme to "June,"
And seeks a rhyme to "river."
Then let not indolence be blamed
On him whose verses show it.
By shunning "moonbeams" (rightly named
For neither moon nor river),
For rhymes must fall him late or soon,
Nor can he deal forever
In words whose sound resembles "June,"
And resembles "river."
When "moon" has been used, and "moon" and
"river" sounded "river."
Think of a bard reduced to "moon."
And left to rhyme with "river."
Ah, then, how blessed were the boon!
How doubly blest the giver.
Who gave him one rhyme more for "June,"
And one more rhyme for "river!"

Our Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 24, 1880.
Senator Morgan's bill providing for the electoral court is now before the Senate, and Senator Morgan has made a lengthy speech in favor of it. The bill is wholly in the interest of the Democratic majority in the two Houses, and enables them to manipulate returns to suit party needs, and actually enables them to reject the vote of a State or any elector in a State, by a simple vote of the majority, whether such action be just or not. There is no remedy provided. In view of the facts it becomes a question, and a serious one, too, is the will of the people to be respected, should the election go Republican by a small majority, will not the Democrats by the arrangements they are now perfecting find some means to defeat the choice of the people as they came from the polls in 1876. These things demand of our leaders in Congress serious attention, and a thorough exposure of all the methods to be used by the Democrats in their President stealing scheme.

The last of the appropriation bills will be reported to the House on Tuesday, and will be passed through without delay. The Senate has passed the Bayard-Mandall bill, and the House will act upon it this week. The Senate has also passed early amendments to the legislative appropriation bill.

An attempt will be made in the House to-day to tack the proposed expenditures for public buildings—on to the Supply Bill appropriation bill. It will probably fail. Senator Davis, the "Independent party of Illinois," has rushed into print with his platform as a Presidential candidate. It is the general impression that he is willing to take any nomination that may come to him without regard to party affiliation. The impartial mind he appears more anxious for Presidential honors without much solid hope to justify his expectation.

William F. Chandler reads out a prediction that Senator Blaine will have 265 votes in the first ballot at Chicago, and he was nominated on the equal ballot. This is based upon the supposition that he obtains nearly 15 votes from New York and 18 from Pennsylvania, although Republicans from these States say he will receive more, and none from Ohio or Illinois, although it is claimed that the Convention will seat the 14 Blaine and six Washburn contestants from Illinois.

One Senator told me last night that they would adjourn in one week, but another said it was an impossibility. The business is being pushed as fast as possible, and it looks as though the early adjournment would succeed.

What We Like to See.

A man worth $50,000 who says that he is too poor even to take the local paper.

A man who takes the local paper, and at the same time sponge on his neighbor the reading of it.

A man who runs down his local paper as not worth taking, and every now and then begs the editor for a favor in the editorial line.

A woman who refuses to advertise in the local paper, and yet expects to get her share of the trade the paper brings into town.

A man who complains when asked to subscribe for his home paper, that he takes more papers than he reads now, and then goes round and borrows his neighbor's or leaf about until he gets all the news from it.

Above all, the rich, miserly man, who will not pay for his local paper, yet who is always around in time to read the paper at the expense of a friend, not worth the tenth part what he himself is, yet who is enterprising enough to support the paper.

We like to see these things, because they are indicative of economy, thrift and progress—in a town.

Something New and Much.

How to get on in the world, and find comfort, endures every one. We ought to get on, but we may not find comfort if we do, any more than if we do not. Success in business and peace of mind lies in the direction of a well regulated and disciplined desire and purpose. Naturally we have a great fondness for new things and many things. We want far too much aid, too many changes. A great deal of time and money is lost in securing what we would be better off without and in making changes of no profit. Our natural horse-leech propensity must be checked. We must put a bit on our morbid cravings. We must say to our desire, "so far shalt thou go and no farther." If we reduce our wants to great simplicity, if we learn to be content with little, then we will always have something to spare, and we will accumulate by a natural consequence and with it all have abundant joy. It is the craving man who never finds comfort in the things of this life. No matter how much he gets, he wants more, and is not content while there is anything to seek, and we suspect if he got all the world he would, like Alexander, weep because there were no more worlds to conquer. And the person who indulges his fondness for new things is not any more sure of happiness than the craving man—the man who wants much. He will eat aside what is valuable and useful and spend his means for what is only the duplicate of what he had, and this is money once spent for naught. By this he goes a step backward, and just as soon wants something else, so financial loss, and discontent of mind are his only reward. The fondness for change has been the poverty and misery of many. In consequence they don't stick any length of time at one business, or in one place. We don't mean that any man should be indifferent as to whether he gets along. That would not be in harmony with the laws of life and God. But he must learn to be content while he is ambitious, a hard lesson, but it must be learned if he would get along right. Make your wants like your absolute needs—few. That is nature. Bring your mind down to what your physical condition requires, only then what you have will be worth much and whatever else comes to you will bring and add comfort. Some one says, "I want but little and I want that little long." With such a want we will live long and keep what we have.

It is said that it takes all kinds of people to make up the world we live in. Nevertheless if that be so it is humiliating to be compelled to live under the administration of so-called principled men, or of men that have not got the backbone to administer justice and stand up for the right in the face of opposition. Such is the case as regards the various officers of the Fruit Growers' Union. There are all colors and stripes among them. I shall not comment upon them but will state a few facts and let the people judge of the soundness of our officials: First, the Board of Directors hired their agent, who is a commission agent and who promises to do his best for himself, as it is his last year, and voted him $4.50 per day for his services. Again, when the new law was enacted he refused to serve for said pay and then they hired him over again and increased his pay to the modest sum of $6.50 per day, he being all the time supposed to be the success of the Union, the Board all the while knowing the above facts. Once more; our by-laws say the Union shall assume the position of agent for the various commission merchants. That is, our agent shall be the agent and with no one else to interfere with the projectors of the same intended as stated above. As far as I know the various merchants still have their agents, and some of our New York merchants think it unfair for some to have agents and others none, under present management. If we vote for such officers as we have with our eyes open, we should hardly be in obedience. In short, the whole fabrication is nothing but a patched up job.

Out in the lumber regions of Wisconsin recently, a wood-chopper wanted to have a raftman arrested for beating him, but the backwoods justice of the peace had no warrant blank, one subpoena, and one summons blank. He couldn't make these do for a warrant, so at last he said to the complainant, "See here, mister, this court is bound to see justice done in this township. You pay me two dollars and a half, costs of court, show me the man, and the court will look the mischief out of him in two minutes." Complainant paid the cost and pointed out the accused, and the magistrate went for him in short order, fistout fashion, till he bellowed for mercy, and the other fellow was satisfied. The court then put on his coat and remarked that "he was a peace officer, and wished it understood that this court would preserve the peace, and any man who thought he could raise thunder in that neck of woods would have to try the case with the court personally." Peace has reigned in that neighborhood since that code of law was established.

New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station.

The Directors of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station met at Rutgers College Library on Monday, the 17th inst. In reporting on the work of the Station, Prof. Cook mentioned that on a recent visit to the farm of the late Calkley Alberson, near Haddonfield, his attention was called to a deposit of "poison mud." This mud destroyed all vegetation when applied in the ordinary way as a top dressing for crops. He was also informed that piles of the mud which has been lying out and exposed to the weather for some years, were now covered with a luxuriant growth of cranberries. A visit to the locality showed the cranberry plants with the fruit still on them in April, and that the plants were healthy and on digging into the earth on which they grew it was found to be of a rusty red color for four or five inches down, and from that on, downwards, to be dark colored and almost black. It was composed mainly of sand with a very little loam in it. It had a strong ink-like odor, and the amount of sulphate of iron in the earth resulted as follows: surface earth contains 0.638 per cent. sulphuric acid. Earth twelve inches down contains 0.628 per cent. sulphuric acid. This acid is combined with iron forming the common crystallized green vitriol, or copras, and what is known to chemists as proto-sulphate of iron and as ferrous sulphate of iron and as ferrous sulphate. The surface layer on an acre contains in the first six inches of depth 1,375 pounds of this ferrous sulphate, and the lower layer for the same area and thickness contains 1,381 pounds of the same substance. It is quite certain that many of the bugs in which cranberries thrive contain sulphate of iron, and it will be an interesting question, for this reason, to ascertain whether all the good cranberry bugs are acid from the presence of that substance or from some organic acid. And also to ascertain whether those bugs where the cranberry fails most, completely are not lacking in this acid property.

A soil containing the smallest traces of acid will cause blue litmus paper, if moistened, to turn red the moment the paper touches it. (To those who wish to try the experiment, some of the litmus paper will be sent from the Station.) For the purpose of testing the fact as to whether sulphate of iron will cause the cranberry plants to grow more vigorously, it is recommended to be experimented. Take five pounds of sulphate of iron and dissolve it in one hundred gallons of water and use this impregnated sprinkling on a square rod of cranberry bog. It may be that less than this will be sufficient, but one pound in a forty gallon of water may be used on a square rod, and this be repeated as often as it appears to be needed.

OUR BOOK TABLE.

We have received from the Publisher, A. J. King, Esq., two volumes (24 and 34) of a work entitled "The Principles of Nature," described as "discovered in the development of the structure of the Universe. The Solar System, Laws and Methods of its development. Earth, history of its development." "Law of Evolution. Origin of Life. Species of Man. Pre-historic Man," claiming to be given inspirationally by Mrs. Maria M. King. Mrs. King is well known by many of our readers as a lady of intelligence and education. In the second volume the earth is taken in its infancy, by the author, and traced through the various stages and ages of formation till ready for habitation by man, embracing the various elements, water, light, organic life, minerals, vegetables, etc., and down to the early historic ages of our race. The third volume embraces a wide range of subjects, "The Universe, The Solar System, the law and method of its development," and finally elucidating "Material and Spiritual Magnetism Forces. Laws of Spiritual Manifestation and Mediumship, Spiritual Planes and Spheres."

Mrs. King has given us a work full of interest from beginning to end. It is finely written and the thoughts are clearly and tersely expressed, and that portion relating to perfect health, physical, mental and spiritual development, marriage, etc., is scientifically sound, and so diametrically opposite to much of the trash that is poured out by many modern writers, we would gladly see the work in the hands of all good and right-minded persons. The teaching of the book are obedience to law, moral, civil and natural. In concluding her remarks on marriage she uses language that all morally civilized people will appreciate, and to which they can say amen—"It is not spontaneous in the majority of unions, and hence it appears, that the married are under obligation to study to adapt themselves to each other, and grow up into that perfect union which is true marriage. The home is the sanctuary to be guarded from disturbing, inharmonious conditions, as severely as the inner sanctuary in the Jewish temple. It is the Holy of Holies, whence regenerating, saving influences emanate, as Divine as those invoked by the High Priest in the sacred place. The results upon families and society, of promiscuous association of the sexes, and early divorce, as contrasted with the opposite rule, illustrate the real effect upon all Nature of the waste and contamination of forces by the practical disregard of the law of Monogamy. There is no mistaking the meaning of this lesson; it can be readily known and read of all men."

Copies can be had of A. J. King, Colby & Rich, Boston, and of the Religious Philosophical Publishing House, Chicago.

We have received a Circular from the Mansion House, Long Branch, which gives the house a place among the best in that beautiful watering place. It has had many decided improvements, and is a pleasant and comfortable seaside home for families. It is near the great iron pier, and gives special attention to children's comforts and amusements. Address—M. J. Butler, for circular.

Lippincott's Magazine for June presents an unusually rich and varied table of contents. Dr. Weir Mitchell's paper, the first of two, on the Yellowstone Park, gives the most vivid description of that land of marvels which we remember to have seen, and narrates the incidents of the expedition with spirit and humor. "The Career of a Prairie Farmer," by Mary Hartwell Catherwood, is one of those faithful pictures of life which enables us to understand the condition and sympathies with the struggles of the pioneers of civilization in the Great West. Dr. Felix Oswald concludes his series of "Summerland Sketches" with a beautifully illustrated chapter on the "Virgin Woods of the Alleghenies." The rugged English scholar, Mr. Carpenter, a child of the people, in whose career success and misfortune were strangely blended, is the subject of an interesting paper by Olive Logan, with illustrations. Just give a good idea of the characteristics of his work. Helen Campbell continues her series of "Studies in the Slaves." Dr. Laurey Elliott has a timely paper on Lawn Tennis, giving a full description of the game. "Our Young Kindergarten," by a writer who is evidently versed in the science and practice of the Froebelian system, will have a deep interest for parents and for all to whom the best method of educating young children is a subject of anxious thought. "Social Aspects of the Forties" is a well-written paper, suggestive of the progress we have made during the last four decades, and "German Boys and Men," by Marriot Paine, gives a good notice of the social foundations of the greatest military empire of modern times.

The poetry of the number deserves especial mention. "Old St. David's of Bathor," by Longfellow, is in his happiest manner, positive in tone, limpid in diction, and striking in imagery. Paul Hayne has a few sonnet entitled "Spiritual Illumination," and Mrs. Caroline A. Mason one almost equally good, called "An Open Secret." There are several good short stories, while the "Glossary" contains some anecdotes about Carlyle, and other notable matter. This issue closes the twenty-fifth volume.

The National Trusting Association at its recent meeting, made a number of new rules. They impose the penalty of expulsion forever from the Association for false driving, pulling, or kind of any kind. Supervisors will be appointed to attend all the fairs to watch the trotting and see that it is conducted fairly, and also to report all cases of fraud.

A New York ex-wholesale grocer, who retired rich, says he used to make it a rule when he sold a bill of goods, to immediately subscribe for the local paper of his debtor. So long as his customer allowed him liberally and vigorously, he acted; but as soon as he began to contract his advertising space, he took the fact as evidence there was trouble ahead, and invariably went for his debt. He said that "the man who was too poor to make his business known, is too poor to do business."—Ex.

The contract for building the new railroad from Haddonfield to Medford was awarded on Saturday, and the work is to be completed by the first of September.

TEMPERANCE.

Not to Poor to Get Drunk.

However poor a man may get—he may be without friends, ambition, hope; he may be ragged, repulsive, desperate, outcast—he is never too poor, at least in any city or town, to get drunk—disgracefully drunk. New Yorkers must be particularly, painfully impressed by this fact. At least half of the miserable men who solicit alms of them for starving wife and children, for a night's lodging for a loaf of bread, under other fixed assumptions, show symptoms unmistakable of a greater or less degree of intoxication. If they would, or could, keep sober; if they would let liquor alone, few of them would be obliged, or could be persuaded to beg; they beg because they drink; drink and begging are direct causes and effect, and mutually sustain one another. The uninitiated often inquire, "How can such wretches get money to buy liquor with?" "Do rum-sellers and bar-tenders give them liquid poison out of kind malignity?" "Do they wish to hurry them into paupers' graves?" Nothing of the sort. Bar-tenders let them have liquor only when they pay for it. It is the public that hands them the wherewithal that purchases drink, either deceived by their piteous tale or desirous to get rid of them. Any man or woman accustomed to drink will not go without it so long as mendacity, or any other of self abasement can secure it. Urged by morbid thirst, he also begs of every passer by until enough be gained to gratify it. It is a great pity that men cannot become so poor as to be unable to get drunk. If they could their poverty would, with their mendacity, steadily decrease.

N. Y. Times.

Beware of That Trap, Boys.

Let me tell you a tale of a little gray mouse That had left his snug nest at the top of the house. To out-capers and play on the old kitchen floor, Where he danced with delight for ten minutes or more.

But at last little mousey, while rolling a ball, Caught sight of a box standing close to the wall: Such a snug little box with its half-open door, And its windows of wire behind and before. So he looked and he he longed for that morsel of cheese.

Which he saw on the floor—he could get it with ease; And then he'd go home to his nest (so he thought), Silly mousey! He went in—the door shut—he was caught.

You are in, little mousey, but how to get out? Is a question you never need trouble about: You may creep through the bars, and tremble, and wait 'Till the trap is untrapped and you meet with your fate.

O, my boy, you may laugh at the poor little mouse; But my tale has a moral—keep far from the house Where temptation assails you, and riotous brawl!

The public-house bar is the trap for the youth.

An Ashamed Dog.

There are many facts which indicate that dogs have a sense of shame. But the Reno (Nev.) Gazette tells of a dog which exhibited shame for his drunken master:

The other day a rather well-dressed man reeled down Commercial Row in a state of brutish intoxication. At his heels trotted a little shaggy terrier whose shame for the condition of the master was both pitiful and amusing. He kept close to the drunken, following his stagger, but so utterly mortified and miserable that he would not raise his head, and let his tail hang wretchedly. Occasionally the man would stop and clutch a railing, and standing there would sway to and fro. This increased the misery of doggie, who sat himself down on his haunches and cast sneaking glances to the right and left to see if any one was observing.

"The most potent weapons of the temperance workers are facts and figures. The latter do it sometimes, notwithstanding the saying, to the contrary, but the record in its mildest form is but enough to communicate to a Michigan Medical Society, states that during 1879 there were in that city 27,693 arrests and 255 registered deaths, caused by the use of strong drink. The number of the latter would be largely increased if the certificates always correctly stated the causes. This is a lamentable showing, and while there is no seeming method possible by which the traffic can be materially curtailed, there should be at least a strong effort made in that line."

It seems as if it would only require a little examination into facts like those above stated, to convince any one that the only safe road to travel over is a temperance road. Yet people read statistics like these every day and go right along in the same old way, utterly regardless of the danger that ever menaces them. When all sober and quite temperate, yet thoughtless people, awaken to the responsibilities of their position, then we may expect to see the temperance boom rush forward with a renewed impulse.

The Republican.

[Entered as second class matter.]

H. E. BOWLES M. D., Editor & Prop.

H. C. DOLZ, Associate Editor.

HAMMONTON, ATLANTIC CO., N. J.

SATURDAY, MAY 20, 1880.

Will it be Blaine, Grant or a dark horse?

The Republican National Convention meets in Chicago next Wednesday, June 2nd, at 12 o'clock noon.

The ninety-seventh annual convention of the Episcopal Diocese of New Jersey, Bishop Scarborough presiding, was held in St. Mary's Church, at Burlington, on Wednesday and Thursday.

"United we stand, divided we fall" is as true in political parties as in anything else. The Republican party owed its success in the beginning to its unity. Now let every good Republican look to it that it does not owe its defeat, if not down fall, to internal divisions. Too much precautionary care cannot be taken in this respect.

The ways of political conventions are mysterious, yet we have high hopes that the Chicago convention, next Wednesday, will result in the nomination of a man who will poll the full party vote in the fall. Blaine will do it and there are many other good Republicans who will do it likewise. That one of these strong men may be nominated is our most earnest wish for the necessities of the times demand it.

If the weather continues as hot through the summer as has been during the past week we may look to see an unusual number of cases of sunstroke—particularly among that class denominated as politicians.

Though Coughlin, Cameron and Logan have succeeded in muzzling the majority of the Republican voters after a fashion in New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois, still they have by no means achieved their victory yet. Next Wednesday may tell altogether a different kind of a story from what they anticipate. It remains to be seen whether or not their ingenious, ly contrived machine is going to grind its out the winner to be sang by the Republican party of this country during the campaign, against the wishes of a majority of the voters composing the party.

We have received Vol. 1, No. 1, of the Ocean City Journal which is speaking with the vivid descriptions of the health of the new seaside summer resort on Peck's Beach. It is located in Cape May County, six miles south of Atlantic City. It is a frontage on the ocean of seven miles, and said to be unsurpassed by any beach on the coast for bathing, sunbathing and the fishing and boating privileges equal to any other resort. The avenues are from 65 to 100 feet wide, with lawns running between them. Arrangements are already made for Camp Meeting, on Aug. 6th, to last 10 days.

It is a very noticeable fact that the Democrats everywhere are highly jubilant over the prospect of having Grant to fight against. It isn't a sure sign that they consider him a weak man then we would like to know what. If the Democrats could nominate the Republican candidate, we are assured they would select Grant without any hesitation. We do not believe in playing into the hands of the Democrats, hence we have opposed his nomination, but we shall do our best to support the Republican candidate who ever he may be.

Vennor is Prophecying Again. In a note to the Albany Argus he says: "I believe that June will be an intensely hot month on the whole, but the end of the present month, and probably the first of June," will be fall-like, with frost again. July will be a terrible month for storms, with terms of intense heat, but another fall-like relapse, with frosts, will in all likelihood occur a few days before the 20th. I fear the storms of thunder and hail will be of unusual severity during July. I must claim the verification of my prediction relative to a cold wave with frosts over a large portion of the United States between the 10th and 15th of May."

At the Louisiana State Republican Convention, on Monday, the Grant element bolted from the regular organization because they could not run things to suit them, and forming a little convention of their own. This movement is said to have been caused by a telegram from Senator Logan, telling them to send Grant delegates at any cost and they would be defeated. However, it is highly improbable that the solid Grant delegation selected by the bolting faction will be admitted at Chicago. Logan is a bricky horse.

The organization of the Chicago Convention will probably be finished by the 10th of May. It is almost certain for each state and territory names one member of each of the three committees on credentials, organization and resolutions. The Grant men have not a majority of the delegations by States, and consequently they will not be able to name the President of the Convention, or to decide on the admission of contesting delegates. This will give the anti Grant men a decided advantage, and this, taken with the influence given in this aid by Republican Representatives and Senators, will give them a good hold to begin with. It is stated on reliable authority that three-fourths of the Republican Representatives in Congress and nearly all the Senators are opposed to Grant's re-nomination. That looks bad for the "sionist man."

In the reports of the several railroads, received from E. J. Anderson, State Comptroller, the C. & A. R. R. makes a good showing. The paid up capital is $1,216,711.50. Bonds, $1,032,650.65. Floating debt, $1,032,650.65. Cost of road and equipments, $2,600,000. A dividend of 34 per cent. was paid last year, on preferred stock, amounting to $2,300,000. The receipts for passengers were $411,533.44, freight $2,841,821.82, other sources $101,040.50. The expenditures during the year $2,300,000. But one serious accident, for the year, is reported, and that the case of Whitecar, the result of his own carelessness.

The United New Jersey Railroads and Canal Co. received from all sources last year $3,833,337.37; amount paid in interest, dividends, etc., $1,438,110.15; expended in construction, and other ways, $1,216,711.50; proceeds from sale of bonds, materials, etc., $3,141,247.61; Company's stock $2,000,000, making $7,459,778.65.

The resolutions adopted by the Greenback Convention, of Tennessee, favor re-nomination of the State debt except about $2,000,000.

The light between Ryan and Goss, for the heavy weight championship and $2,000, took place near Red Leary's in New York City, on Monday. Ryan looked like a giant alone side of Goss. The fight was desperate, and from the first round Ryan out fought Goss, whose blows appeared to lack strength. Ryan was declared winner. A babe was born in Erie, Pa., on Sunday, without a head, but otherwise perfectly developed. It weighs about seven pounds and is considered a splendid pathological specimen. There is an excessive protrusion from the top of the trunk, between the shoulders where the neck ought to be, which has two large eyes, a nose and mouth with hare lips. In a sitting posture the child resembles a huge frog.

A State convention cannot assume the right to appoint district delegates, or to elect delegates to the National Convention without adopting the constitutional doctrine of State individuality. Delegates may do this with consistency but, when Republicans adopt such a course they sacrifice the very principle which they fought through four years to establish. —N. Y. Tribune.

State Items. Chancellor Ransom will sail for Europe, on June 2nd, to be absent until September. Measles has become epidemic in Patterson, and a large number of children are suffering from the disease. Several trains have been derailed on the Bridgeport road for building fires along the roadside below Millville. The new glass house at Bridgeport will be run on the co-operative principle and will be under the control of the blowers themselves.

The annual camp meeting to be held on the grounds of the West Jersey Grove Association, near Malaga, will commence August 17, and continue ten days.

A Salem county man living at Allowaytown is out $500 by reason of a friendly game with Philadelphia claiming the game. This man is now known as the "Tadpole Immigrant."

The Commissioners of the Asbury Park and the Ocean Grove Association will grant no licenses to adults to run boats on Wesley Lake here. Only the minor children of persons residing in Asbury Park or Ocean Grove can enjoy the privilege.

Seven indictments for arson were found last week by the Union County Grand Jury against Edith Van Allen, claiming to be the wife of a certain Van Allen, who she set fire to numerous barns and outbuildings at Plainfield, seven of which were alleged against him.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company is examining its road with a view to making it safe for the movement of its own. This movement is said to have been caused by a telegram from Senator Logan, telling them to send Grant delegates at any cost and they would be defeated. However, it is highly improbable that the solid Grant delegation selected by the bolting faction will be admitted at Chicago. Logan is a bricky horse.

Nearly forty thousand shad were caught last week in the Chesapeake Bay. The prices obtained by the fishermen averaged about $10 per hundred. This is about the height of the season for shad. The Chesapeake Bay is now being worked quite successfully.

A new fertilizer has been discovered in Cumberland, to which Prof. Cook's attention has been called. The Bridgeport Tribune says: It has a nature somewhat gross, and is one of the best fertilizers which pulverized and spread upon the soil. The fertilizer of this strange substance is said to be six to eight feet thick, and is found thirty feet under ground.

Win. Dalzell, who shot and killed young John Joseph Van Houten on Garret Rock, near Paterson, on Sunday, the 21st inst, has been indicted for manslaughter by the Grand Jury. Considerable excitement and no little indignation were expressed in Paterson when the fact was learned as it was expected that the indictment would be for murder.

Thirteen persons were killed by a railroad accident, near San Francisco, on Saturday.

Mrs. H. B. Stowe's orange grove in Florida is said to have yielded $2,000 to the acre last year.

Buildings Express Grant has no organ in Philadelphia. This fact has operated largely to his advantage in that city. Organists are often dangerous.

Our exports exceeded our imports during the month of April $5,447,000. The balance in our favor amounts to about $150,000.

The light between Ryan and Goss, for the heavy weight championship and $2,000, took place near Red Leary's in New York City, on Monday. Ryan looked like a giant alone side of Goss. The fight was desperate, and from the first round Ryan out fought Goss, whose blows appeared to lack strength. Ryan was declared winner. A babe was born in Erie, Pa., on Sunday, without a head, but otherwise perfectly developed. It weighs about seven pounds and is considered a splendid pathological specimen. There is an excessive protrusion from the top of the trunk, between the shoulders where the neck ought to be, which has two large eyes, a nose and mouth with hare lips. In a sitting posture the child resembles a huge frog.

A State convention cannot assume the right to appoint district delegates, or to elect delegates to the National Convention without adopting the constitutional doctrine of State individuality. Delegates may do this with consistency but, when Republicans adopt such a course they sacrifice the very principle which they fought through four years to establish. —N. Y. Tribune.

State Items. Chancellor Ransom will sail for Europe, on June 2nd, to be absent until September. Measles has become epidemic in Patterson, and a large number of children are suffering from the disease. Several trains have been derailed on the Bridgeport road for building fires along the roadside below Millville. The new glass house at Bridgeport will be run on the co-operative principle and will be under the control of the blowers themselves.

The annual camp meeting to be held on the grounds of the West Jersey Grove Association, near Malaga, will commence August 17, and continue ten days.

A Salem county man living at Allowaytown is out $500 by reason of a friendly game with Philadelphia claiming the game. This man is now known as the "Tadpole Immigrant."

The Commissioners of the Asbury Park and the Ocean Grove Association will grant no licenses to adults to run boats on Wesley Lake here. Only the minor children of persons residing in Asbury Park or Ocean Grove can enjoy the privilege.

Seven indictments for arson were found last week by the Union County Grand Jury against Edith Van Allen, claiming to be the wife of a certain Van Allen, who she set fire to numerous barns and outbuildings at Plainfield, seven of which were alleged against him.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company is examining its road with a view to making it safe for the movement of its own. This movement is said to have been caused by a telegram from Senator Logan, telling them to send Grant delegates at any cost and they would be defeated. However, it is highly improbable that the solid Grant delegation selected by the bolting faction will be admitted at Chicago. Logan is a bricky horse.

Literary Revolution and Universal Knowledge.

An Encyclopedia in 20 vols., over 10,000 pages; 10 per cent. more matter than any Encyclopedia ever before published in this country, and sold handsomely and well bound, in cloth for $10, in half bound for $15, and printed on paper of extraordinary quality. Its success, beyond all precedent in book publishing, may be fairly claimed to inaugurate a Literary Revolution.

THE LIBRARY OF UNIVERSAL KNOWLEDGE is a reprint edition of the last (1879) Edinburgh edition of "Chambers's Encyclopedia," with about 40 per cent. of new matter added, upon topics of special interest to American readers, thus making it equal in character to any similar work, better than any other, and altogether the latest Encyclopedia in the field.

Special Discounts to all early subscribers, and extra discounts to clubs. Full particulars with descriptive catalogues of many other standard works equally low in price, sent free.

Leading principles of the AMERICAN BOOK EXCHANGE:

I. Publish only books of real value.

II. Work upon the basis of Present Cost of making books, about one-half what it was a few years ago.

III. Sell to buyers direct, and save them the 50 to 60 per cent. commission a commonly allowed to dealers.

IV. The cost of books made, 100 to 150 at a time is but a fraction of the cost when made one at a time.

V. A good type, paper, etc., and careful printing, and strong, neat binding, but avoid all "padding," fat and loosely bound type, and avoid any kind of padding, and avoid any kind of padding, and avoid any kind of padding.

VI. To make 21 and 22 cents a book better than to make 25 and 26 cents.

"DON'T YOU DO IT!"

Don't part with your money until you know the truth. Interested parties are spreading the reports that MR. JOHN WANAMAKER is not interested in the old and famous OAK HALL Clothing business and does not personally direct its affairs.

Nothing could be more Untrue!

Mr. JOHN WANAMAKER has precisely the same relations to Oak Hall as in the past.

WANAMAKER & BROWN is what it has been ever since Mr. Brown died, 12 years ago.

Mr. JOHN WANAMAKER personally watches over the faithful preparation of the stock of MEN'S AND BOYS' CLOTHING, and the conducting of the store. Nothing is allowed to pass his eye that is not straightforward and true to the interest of those who have patronized the house for 19 years and depend on its reliability.

From all appearances the year 1880 is to be the largest in sales ever known.

The READYMADE Department is Better Stocked
The BOYS' Department is Better Stocked!!
The CUSTOM Department is Better Stocked!!!
The SHIRT Department is Better Stocked!!!!

All this will be apparent on FIRST SIGHT! Please call whenever you can and look through this BEEHIVE of a Building, so busy with its Hundreds of Workpeople and Customers. Do not forget that Clothing of the W. & B. make will stand better service than any other that can be got and that it does not cost any more (if as much) as other makes.

Insurance.

CUMBERLAND MUTUAL Fire Insurance Comp ny. BRIDGETON, N. J.

Conducted on strictly mutual principles, offering a perfectly safe insurance for just what it may cost to pay losses and expenses. The proportion of loss to the amount insured being very small, and expenses much less than usually had, nothing can be offered more favorable to the insured. The cost being about ten cents on the hundred dollars per year to the insurers on ordinary risks, and from fifteen to twenty-five cents per year on hazardous properties, which is less than one-third of the lowest rates charged by stock companies, on such risks—the other two-thirds taken by stock companies being a profit accruing to stockholders, or consumed in expenses of the companies.

The guarantee fund of premium notes being now Three Millions of Dollars.

If an assessment had to be made of five per cent, only, twice within the ten years for which the policy is issued, it would yet be cheaper to the members than any other insurance offered. And that large amount of money is saved to the members and kept at home. No assessment having ever been made, being now more than thirty years, that saving would amount to more than

One Million Five Hundred Thousand Dollars

The Losses by Lightning.

Where the property is not set on fire, being less than one cent per year to each member, are paid without extra charge, and extended so as to cover all policies that are issued and outstanding.

MUST!

Above product, our "speciely," is the pure unfermented juice of the grape as it leaves the press, and equivalent to this delicious fruit in liquid form. Possessing no alcoholic properties, it is invaluable to Invalids, Temperance people and Churches for Sacramental purposes. "Our" MUST must not be mistaken for other so-called unfermented wines, as it is not spoiled and hermetically sealed to keep it from spoiling. The only "Process" resorted to by us is to permanently stop fermentation, which naturally must result in the juice remaining as it grew.

The undersigned are now disposing of their new stock prepared from their last grape crop, and warrant that it will keep without special care.
