"A Word to the Wise."

The word we would utter to the wise concerning Clothing, is "Quality." On Quality hinges Cheapness, for a thing is not cheap unless it is good. Therefore remember when in need of Clothing, Man or Boy, that with us a low price never means a poor quality.

Strange Doings in the License Court!

Saturday, May 31st, was the day set for hearing the remonstrance against a license at Rosedale. A few people from Hammonton, aided by the testimony of eight unwilling witnesses, with C. V. D. Joline as attorney, supported the remonstrance; while the applicant for license had the help of several of his bibulously-disposed patrons, who like the kind of place he keeps, with ex-Judge Wescoat for counsel, with the aid of the Court thrown in.

A history of the case is necessary to its understanding. At the sitting of the Court, two remonstrances were presented, from Winslow, and from Hammonton, bearing some 300 names. Tuesday, May 20th, was fixed by the Court as the day for hearing the case. Then, without notice to us, and before the day set for the hearing, and without any hearing, the Court granted the license. Will the reader consider what kind of a Court it must be, that disposes of cases in that way? and why the case was smuggled through in this way? We shall understand the matter better by considering other facts.

This unfair action of the Court prejudiced the case, and changed its whole aspect. It thus put us in the position of asking the Court to undo what it had done. The Court must either condemn its own action, and revoke the license it had just granted, or else decide against us. The matter was, therefore, practically decided before it was ever heard.

However, the case was presented and well conducted by Mr. Joline. It was shown,—

(a) That there were already two licensed hotels within a mile of Fischer's; and therefore no excuse for another.

(b) That the influence of the place was demoralizing, and it was of notoriously bad repute.

(c) Minors testified to buying liquor there.

(d) Others testified to buying liquor there on Sunday.

(e) Testimony showed, also, that liquor was sold there by the quart, for which he had no license.

(f) It was also shown that the License Law contemplates some proof that such a place is a public necessity.

Two facts were thus clearly shown: 1st, That there was no shadow of an excuse for a hotel there,—there being two within a mile. 2nd, That by repeated violations of law the applicant had forfeited his claim to a license. But these facts had little interest for the Court. Their interest was manifestly in another direction. If ever a Court forgot its judicial dignity, this one did. The part they took in this case was calculated to embarrass the remonstrants, and to help the other side. They went out of their way to make disparaging remarks about Hammonton, because we had no licensed saloon here. One of the so-called Judges said: "Very likely they have speak-easies there." Another of them said: "Probably they keep it under the bed; no doubt they have it." The third one spoke in a like strain. These men, who are supposed to hear and decide cases without partiality, were really attorneys for the defense.

Further, we were informed that certain politicians were in court, and also one or more prominent wholesale liquor dealers, to see that the case went as they wished it. The result was apparent from the beginning.

Now, is it not a startling fact, that when citizens attempt anything in the way of restraining even the illegal sale of liquor, they find that the very courts that were created to conserve public morality are opposed to them?

It is practically worse than useless to attempt any temperance work under these circumstances. The most practical and urgent temperance work is the overthrow of the machinery of the political parties by which such courts are maintained, and such doings made possible.

AMMONONTON, N. J., SATURDAY, JUNE 7, 1890.

A Landmark on the Cape May Short Line route just above Winslow on Saturday morning, built several years ago, has been torn down. The cut is one of the largest in South Jersey, and is known as the "Big Cut" in the Journal.

The Mass Landing Road is agitating the change of the name of that village, and suggests dropping from the present name the "s" and the final "ing," making it Mayland, which it thinks would be significant, since it immortalizes the name of the founder and is the name of the prettiest month of all the year. Mayland is a very suitable, and at the same time a pretty name.

D. M. Zimmerman, secretary of the Camden and Atlantic Railroad Company, since 1872, resigned his position last week, in token of the regret of the railroad officials.

His son, Walter Zimmerman, succeeded the position of assistant secretary at the same time, to engage in the real estate business in Camden.

The editor Zimmerman and his wife will start for Europe in a few days, and will be absent for several weeks.

The Prospects for a brilliant summer season at Atlantic City were never more bright.

The extraordinary liberal patronage which it has gained during the winter and spring seasons, largely due to the magnificent transportation facilities maintained by the Pennsylvania Railroad, is still manifesting itself in well-filled hotels, which bid fair to hold their visitors well through the early summer season.

The city by the sea is in better condition to entertain and amuse its friends than ever before. New hotels have been built, and older ones renovated and enlarged.

The great ocean boulevard has been completed, and Atlantic City now possesses the handsomest and most attractive ocean front of any seaside resort in America.

All indications point to the largest summer season in the history of the place.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has kept well in line with the spirit of improvement which has pervaded the season.

Its facilities for promptly and comfortably handling large numbers of people have been increased so as to supply any possible demand; the road bed of its double line has been improved greatly, and the terminal facilities both at Philadelphia and Atlantic City have been improved.

The comprehensive system of excursion tickets leading from all points on the Pennsylvania System will be available, as in the past years, at the exceptionally low rates that have heretofore prevailed.

It would be well for our readers to remember that a summer trip that does not include Atlantic City lacks the spice that would make it memorable.

The Weekly Press.
PHILADELPHIA.
One Year for One Dollar.
The Weekly Press
For 1890 will be as much better than The Weekly Press for 1889 as we can make it. With every issue during the new year it will be "An Eighty Column Paper."
Each of the fifty-two numbers will contain ten pages, or eighty columns, with a total for the year of 520 pages, or 4160 columns. Thus it will be "as big as a book," as the saying is.
A Paper of Quality.
Not only will it be as big as a book, but it will be a paper of quality as well as of quantity. It will contain the pick of everything good.
A Paper of Variety.
The idea is that The Weekly Press shall be both clean and wide-awake. It will discuss all subjects of public interest and importance. The writers on its list include: Julia Ward Howe, E. Lynn Linton, P. of N. S. Shaler, Louis Pasteur, William Black, Edmund Gosse, Edgar W. Nye, O. P. Read, and, indeed, almost every popular writer of note in this country and quite a number of distinguished writers abroad. In fiction, an attraction of the year will be "Edith" by H. Rider Haggard, another serial story already engaged, with
"Come Forth," by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps.
A Farmer's Paper.
The best conducted Agricultural Page in America illustrations.
A Woman's Paper.
The "Women's Page" of The Weekly Press alone is worth the subscription price. Its illustrations are attracting attention everywhere.
A Children's Paper.
The Special Department for Children is now addressed to the school children and school teachers of America. Let the children join the Rainbow Club just started. Let them compete for the prizes—all bright, wholesome, instructive books.
Important Clubbing Arrangement.
By special arrangement with all the leading weekly and monthly periodicals of America, subscriptions are taken for any one or more of these journals in connection with The Weekly Press, at such rates as virtually make our great family paper FREE to the subscriber for one year.
