VAN HART & WIRTH COFFEE ROASTERS

837 Broadway, Camden, N. J.

We have opened our new Branch Store at 203 Bellevue Avenue, Hammonton, with an excellent stock of fresh Roasted Coffees, fine Teas, and strictly pure Spices.

A recent visit to this beautiful town of Hammonton led us to believe that such a store would be welcomed by its people.

The fact that we are expert Coffee Roasters, together with an experience of some thirty years in the buying and selling of Coffees and Teas, gives us advantages that are not shared by the ordinary trade.

We buy all our coffees green, roast it by the most scientific process, and sell them under the original names,—no fictitious names, such as "Cream Java," Crown So-and-so, etc.

Mr. J. H. Marshall

a resident of this town, will be Manager of this store, and will do anything under the sun to please you.

When you buy a "Java" coffee, you get it. If you buy a "Maracaibo," you get it. If you buy a "Laguayra," you get it. If you buy a "Santos" or a "Rio," you get it, and so on all through the line.

And if it is not what we say, and you are not entirely satisfied, please bring back what you have left, and we will cheerfully return the full amount you have paid for.

Bear this fact in mind.

Very Respectfully,

VAN HART & WIRTH.

Equality and Woman.

One of the leading papers states that the Colorado Supreme Court prohibits women from frequenting wine rooms. As long as a separate code of morals is to be used for the different sexes, so long will corruption be covered with a rose-scented bridal veil. As long as public morals are under judicial authority they will be of the kind that object for women what they condone for men. Judicial authority classes women with idiots, criminals, and paupers, too frail to have a voice in public affairs, except to pay taxes.

What we need is not law, but knowledge and equality. Not sickly sentiment, but knowledge guided by Christian principles, is the only disinfectant for vice. The monstrous egotism of man, that dares to dictate where or where not the mothers of the race shall tread. If the wine-room is no place for woman, neither is it a place for man.

Doctor's Bad Plight.

"Two years ago, as a result of a severe cold, I lost my voice," writes Dr. M. L. Baybrough, of Hebron, Ohio. "Then began an obstinate cough. Every remedy known to me as a practicing physician for 35 years, failed, and I daily grew worse. Being urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Colds and Coughs, I found quick relief, and for last ten days have felt better than for two years." Positively guaranteed for throat and lung troubles by Rogers, 50 cents and $1. Trial bottles free.

Young People's Societies.

This space is devoted to the interests of the Young People's Societies of the various Churches. Special items of interest, and announcements are solicited.

Y. P. S. C. E.—Presbyterian Church.—Meets Sunday evening, at 6:30. Topic, "How the weak become strong." 2 Cor. 12: 9, 10. Isa. 41: 10; 58: 11. Leader, Wilbur Adams.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend these meetings.

The boys will have their strongest team in the field this afternoon. They will line up as follows: Harrar, second base; Setley, short stop; Jas. Jefferson, third base; Paul Jefferson, pitcher; Conley, left field; Herbert, first base; Angelow, catcher; Cordery, centre field; Anderson, right field.

"A neighbor ran in with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy which my son was suffering with severe cramps and was given up as beyond hope by my regular physician, who stands high in his profession. After administering three doses of it, my son regained consciousness and recovered entirely within twenty-four hours," says Mrs. Mary Haller, of Mt. Crawford, Va. This remedy is for sale by Rogers.

A Nearly Fatal Runaway Started a horrible ulcer on the leg of J. H. Ormer, Franklin Grove, Ill., which defied doctors and all remedies for four years. Then Bucklin's Arnica Salve cured him. Just as good for boils, burns, bruises, cuts, corns, scalds, skin eruptions, and piles. 25 cents, at Rogers' drug store.

SODA WATER FREE!

Anyone buying 25 cents' worth, or more, of anything in the store, will be given a soda-water check, good for a glass of soda-water. We want you to try our soda-water, as it is our endeavor to serve the best that can be made.

FIRE!

The building known as "Tilton's Store" was entirely destroyed by fire on Thursday afternoon. This was one of the old landmarks of Hammoncton, standing alone between the County Road and the railroad, a three-story stone building, used as a store and residence. It was erected by a Mr. Aldrich, about 1862; was owned and occupied for many years by the late Peter S. Tilton, later by Tilton & Son, and for several years Jos. C. Johnson has conducted the general store therein. The property was owned by Wilber R. Tilton, an inheritance from his mother.

Just how the fire originated, no one knows. There was no fire in the building. When first seen, two small patches of fire were burning on the roof, but it soon ate through, and in an incredibly short time the entire upper story was a mass of flames.

It was almost five o'clock when the fire-bell rang, and though the response was quick, all saw that the building was doomed. Its height made the firemen's work exceedingly difficult. By 6.30 it was practically over, fire mostly in the cellar, part of the walls fallen down and the rest tottering.

A brisk south to south-east wind carried embers far away, and a force of volunteers, with ladders, pails, and hand extinguishers, were kept busy caring for incipient fires on roofs clear to Second and Orchard Streets, and beyond. Twenty or more of these threatening little fires demanded attention.

Mr. Tilton's loss is estimated at $5500, with $4100 insurance. Mr. Johnson's household goods and grocery stock were partly saved, though damaged. He was insured.

The two fire companies did all they could, and doubtless saved the buildings opposite, which were in imminent danger.

Oh, for a sufficient water supply, with force behind it!

Horrah for the Red Men's picnic which will be given Wednesday evening, June 19th, at Hammoncton Park. The buildings and grounds will be put in good order, and the Egg Harbor Band will play. Everybody is invited. Come and have a good time, and drive away full car.

The Woman's Relief Corps have enclosed the soldiers' monument lot, in Greenmount Cemetery, with a very substantial coping of Trenton brownstone, laid and pointed with cement. It is a fine improvement, a credit to the ladies and to the builder, Kirk Spear.

On Thursday, Frank Tomasco and Matt. D'Agostino had a serious "misunderstanding" in the latter's hotel, during which a club and knife were used. Frank has a bad knife cut on his shoulder, and another in his back, which Dr. Cunningham dressed. It occurred in one of the "necessities," a licensed hotel.

Sojourning at hospitable "Pine Belt Manor," Ancora, are Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and daughter, from Philadelphia. Mr. T. is the prominent glazier and manufacturer in the city named. His charming daughter is, with numerous other accomplishments, a croquet player of exceptional ability. Mr. Thane, wife, and daughter are also at the Manor for a few weeks.

WANTED—A good looking man, finder will please distribute it over town.

The Great Diarrhoea Swamp of Virginia is a breeding ground of malaria germs. No low, wet, or marshy ground everywhere. These germs cause weakness, chills and fever, sores in the bones and muscles, and may induce dangerous mania. But Elsie Hitters never fails to destroy them and cure malaria and stomach and liver troubles. Write John Charleston, of Brysville, Ohio, "but never found anything as good as Elsie Hitters." Try them, only 50 c. Rogers, the druggist, guarantees satisfaction.

EMPEROR IN MARBLE.

Memorial sarcophagus to be placed in the Church at Potsdam.

The memorial sarcophagus of the late Emperor Frederick of Germany, which has been modeled in clay by the celebrated artist, Reinhold Beggs, is now being reproduced in pure white Carrara marble by Sculptor Albert Gutzwiller, and will in a few weeks be placed in position within the Friedrichs kirche at Potsdam.

The figure of the emperor rests at full length upon the sarcophagus, his head supported by two pillows. The form is enveloped by Greek drapery, the upper part of which only is drawn aside from the head, the face and the bust.

The expression of the features, with their half-open lips, vividly recalls the countenance of the emperor to those who knew him. From the head, upon which a diadem shines, the hair is drawn down over the point. The right arm is extended in repose; the left hand rests over the region of the heart. The front of the sarcophagus carries in bas-relief several scenes from the emperor's life. The center is a medallion containing a Christ head crowned with thorns. The panels on each side at the ends represent the chief events in the life of the late emperor. On one side is represented as a child receiving his first lessons; in another, he is depicted as an art student, drawing one of the ancient temples, with the genius of art as her teacher; still others show her engaged in works of charity and benevolence.

There are also designs which symbolize the meeting of wife and husband beyond the grave, the emperor being joined by the sun who preceded them into the other world. A setting sun suggests the passage from this life; a rainbow tells of immortality.

Other scenes on the sarcophagus, says the Boston Herald, resemble those of the memorial modeled by the same artist for the late Emperor Frederick. The only inscription is one which contains the names and the dates, "1840-1901."

OVERLAND TO CALIFORNIA.

Shipping for the Conflict with Forces of Nature.

Our last glimpse of civilization was Grand Island, a village of six or eight houses, on the Platte, in what is now Hall County, Nebraska. This was on the 6th of June, and a few days before we had crossed the Columbia, another paper clip. Columbus boasted an inn, a blacksmith shop and a trading post. The passage of the Loup at that place was accomplished with much difficulty, through the service the ferryman, before landing on the stream, exacted a fee of a dollar and a half for each team; the cattle were hauled across. The tide of the river was so great that we were obliged to wait all day for our turn to cross. I asked the proprietor of the ferry if he had had any touch of the California fever. With a twinkle of his eye he surveyed his ferry and his outfit, and said: "Well, I follow this river is California enough for me."

Our trail, after leaving the last settlement, was strewn with lame and abandoned cattle and the discarded remnants of those who had preceded us. Large companies of men, on their way to the gold fields, had found their burdens lightened by the needful consumption of food supplies; wagons were left along the trail, and the next comers behind themselves to take up the trail. The men were few and far between, and I saw only one man, a broken wagon, only to find, later on, that they had been encamped themselves with something that they did not want. One looking over his shoulder for a moment, and then, without a word, he was gone, leaving a pile of lumber, and even valuable tools, were plentifully scattered along the trail. Everybody seemed to be stripping for the conflict with the forces of nature that was to come when we reached the heart of the continent. It was our habit to gather fuel from the bottom and tops of the plains; but it often happened, in spite of this forethought, that the only fuel to be found in an otherwise excellent camping place would be a few handfuls of dry grass, a cluster of dead weeds, or a clump of the ill-smelling green wood.

The figure of the emperor rests at full length upon the sarcophagus, his head supported by two pillows. The form is enveloped by Greek drapery, the upper part of which only is drawn aside from the head, the face and the bust.

The expression of the features, with their half-open lips, vividly recalls the countenance of the emperor to those who knew him. From the head, upon which a diadem shines, the hair is drawn down over the point. The right arm is extended in repose; the left hand rests over the region of the heart. The front of the sarcophagus carries in bas-relief several scenes from the emperor's life. The center is a medallion containing a Christ head crowned with thorns. The panels on each side at the ends represent the chief events in the life of the late emperor. On one side is represented as a child receiving his first lessons; in another, he is depicted as an art student, drawing one of the ancient temples, with the genius of art as her teacher; still others show her engaged in works of charity and benevolence.

There are also designs which symbolize the meeting of wife and husband beyond the grave, the emperor being joined by the sun who preceded them into the other world. A setting sun suggests the passage from this life; a rainbow tells of immortality.

Other scenes on the sarcophagus, says the Boston Herald, resemble those of the memorial modeled by the same artist for the late Emperor Frederick. The only inscription is one which contains the names and the dates, "1840-1901."

JOSEPH COULD PLAY POKER.

But He Finally Ran Up Against White Expert Who Dismayed Him.

"There may be citizens in Deadwood who remember Buck Joseph," said the man with the taper fingers as he permitted a smile to lurk for a moment around the corners of his mouth.

"Buck was a full-blooded Sioux Indian, but he became a Christian, and was a member of the church here in Deadwood. He was a good man, and a good player, and he was a winner from the start."

ARRESTED THE PRESIDENT.

New Policemen Took Grant to the Station House.

One evening during General Grant's occupation of the presidential chair, he was returning late from a drive. An engagement pressing, he was sending out a messenger to call a lawyer in the case of the legal limit. At a street a new policeman was on duty, says a Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune, and as the carriage came turning down the avenue he promptly arrested the driver to stop it.

"What's the trouble?" said he. "Trouble," repeated the officer. "Don't you know you're driving about nine times as fast as the law allows?"

"Yes," quietly responded Grant, "I guess I was now that you speak of it. Well, then, you can consider your self under arrest, and go with me to the station house."

There were some remarks from the other occupants of the coach, among whom were a diplomat, two Senators and a member of the cabinet. The President, however, was perfectly calm, and then to the policeman, "Get up here, and we'll drive to the station house."

The policeman, however, was unable to say anything in the words engraved on the relic, which is of stone and in the form of a tablet. The relic is clearly a warning to the pupils not to forget to clean the slate, would have no meaning. It should be noted, however, that the word "Vest" is inscribed on the tablet. The word is inscribed on the tablet, but the final letters are missing.

A Valuable Medicine for Coughs and Colds in Children.
"I have not the slightest hesitancy in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to all who are suffering from coughs or colds," says Chas. M. Cramer, Esq., a well known watchmaker of Colombo, Ceylon. "It has been some two years since the City Dispensary first called my attention to this valuable medicine, and I have repeatedly used it and has always been beneficial. It has cured me quickly of all chest colds. It is specially effective for children, and seldom takes more than one bottle to cure them of hoarseness. I have persuaded many to try this valuable medicine, and they are all as well pleased as myself over the results." For sale by J. S. Rogers.

Base-Ball News.

On Decoration Day our ball players journeyed to Pleasantville for two games,—the first of the series for the county championship.

The result was that each team captured a game, after an exciting finish. The games were poorly played, and little credit is due either team for its victory. In the ninth inning of the second game, "Scotty" Long was knocked off the rubber, after pitching a pretty game.

The teams will meet again on the 21st, on the Hammononton grounds.

The West Philadelphia team, reinforced by Lang, the noted foot-ball player, and second baseman Boyd of the Clinton A. C., came down to try conclusions with our boys last Saturday, and were victorious by the score of 6 to 4.

Herbert pitched his first full game for the home team and did well, being cool and steady. His support was not of the best, and a lucky home drive by Lang gave the visitors four runs, and the game.

Black pitched both for and against Hammononton last year, and was elated over winning from us.

The Egg Harbor aggregation will be here in full force to-day, in an effort to take the championship to Egg Harbor. Let us get after them from the start.

On Decoration Day, the H. G. W. played two games with Buena Vista. The visitors won the morning game by a score of 7 to 1, owing to a few costly errors on the part of home team. In the afternoon, our boys turned the tables, played a fine game, and won by 6 to 2. They made 18 safe hits off of Vineland's crack pitcher.

We are pleased to observe that the sport-loving people of Hammononton are beginning to take an interest in the second team. Their next game will be on July 5th, and we hope to see the grand-stand filled.

On Saturday last the team lost to Blue Anchor by 16 to 7. They felt the loss of catcher Jones, whose finger was injured the day before, and the absence of two other regulars.

On Decoration Day, two of Manley Austin's little children were severely scalded on the lower limbs, by the upsetting of a pot of coffee from the oil stove. They were standing on chairs at the table, and wishing to assist in hulling strawberries, one of them in leaning over fell, striking the stove, tipping it over. The prompt action of the mother, in catching the stove, prevented more serious consequences. At last reports they were getting along very satisfactorily.

Millions marvel at the multitude of maladies cut off by Dr. King's New Life Pills,—the most distressing, too. Liver, stomach and bowel troubles, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, jaundice, biliousness, fever, malaria, all fall before these wonder workers. 25 cents, at Rogers' drug store.

Good for Rheumatism.

J. L. Fall I was taken with a very severe attack of muscular rheumatism which caused me great pain and annoyance. After trying several prescriptions and rheumatic cures, I decided to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I had seen advertised in the South Jerseyman. After two applications of this remedy I was much better, and after using one bottle was completely cured.—SALLER HARRIS, Salem, N. J. For sale by J. S. Rogers.
