Does $100 Look Good to You?

I will save you that much and more if you are looking for a piano or player piano. What's the use of buying a second-hand piano when you can have a new one of better grade at the same price. What's the use of buying cheaper quality when you can have the best direct from the factory at the same cost, or less?

Don't be old-fashioned and say, "I don't see how it can be done." Look into my proposition and see for yourself. Just because pianos have never been sold here before on this plan and at such low prices, is no reason they cannot be. I save you the middleman's profit.

Mosquito breeding time is here. Watch all possible places around the home, and be real generous with kerosene oil, and help in the campaign of mosquito elimination. The Civic Club is working to have information, where all may see and read, as to the methods employed in killing the larvae, and thus preventing the birth of the dangerous mosquito.

Chautauqua week is almost upon us. The ladies were about town, this week, delivering tickets and taking orders for more, meeting with success. We have yet to hear of any objection to the program, -either week-day or Sunday, -from any intelligent well-informed person who has the best interests of the town and people at heart. As far as we can learn, every family in town will contribute to the tent-full at each session. Purchase your ticket to-day, if you have not done so.

There is more and more demand for a building inspector in Hammonton. There are structures going up (and will doubtless go down with a crash) which would not, we are certain, pass inspection. Stairways are hung by nails, and not braced; concrete foundation walls apparently fourteen parts of sand to one of cement, soft enough to penetrate through with a sharp stick; chimneys that seem likely to give our firemen plenty of exercise.

We do not believe in making remarks behind a man's back; but as the gentleman concerned is out of town, we venture to say a few things. One of the most highly esteemed and most energetic pastors we know is Rev. H. A. Abbott, of the Universalist Church. Besides his faithful pulpit and pastoral work, he acts as janitor of the church, keeps the parsonage premises in fine shape, and has as thrifty a garden as can be found in town. He is well beloved by all who know him, and that means nearly everybody.

Don't hitch your horse in front of the fountain, thus preventing other horses from getting near enough to drink.

So much doubt was expressed about that fish story we published last week, that we are thinking of conducting a contest and printing a portrait of the fisherman who makes the biggest catch, or puts up the biggest story. Tell us, readers, is it advisable? Dare we do it?

Be merciful to your horse: put a fly-net on him.

E. A. Miner's home at Da Costa was burned to the ground early Thursday morning. Word came over a bell wire, about 1.15, and the alarm soon sounded. Fire Co. No. 1 was on the scene as soon as possible, but there was nothing to do. Fortunately, the wind was from the north, driving away from garage, barn, and extensive poultry plant. The cause of the blaze was the explosion of a lamp. The house contained a lot of fine furniture, which neighbors were unable to save.

The following bill and receipt will show how Bellevue Avenue is cared for every Saturday night, and who pays for it:

For extra street cleaning and sweeping under month of May, $100.00
Received payment from Mrs. Harry Little.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kink died on Wednesday, June 5th, at Nesco. She was born on May 1st, and lived but a few days.

Dr. Samuel G. Newcomb is now associated with Dr. Herbert L. Wheeler, having dental rooms at 500 Fifth Avenue, New York City. Thus two Hammonton boys, both successful in their profession, have quitted for the benefit of both. Dr. Wheeler is also a professor in the New York College for Dentists.

Prof. J. E. Hoyt and family will spend Sunday at his father's.

Chas. W. Austin and wife spent several days with Hammonton relatives and friends.

Mrs. S. T. Twomey celebrated her seventy-seventh birthday on Thursday, June 5th.

A telephone message from the German Hospital informs us that C. H. Thibault is slowly recovering.

The Civic Club is advocating the very necessary and most profitable exercise of fly-swatting, and making Hammonton a town of sanitary homes.

Miss Ethel Chalmers, instructor in music in the May's Landing School, will be stenographer at the "Arithmetic" Atlantic City, during the summer.

There will be no preaching service at the Universalist Church on Sunday morning. Sunday School at 10 o'clock. Children's Day exercises, "Lessons from the Flower," will be given at 7:30 p. m.

The pine snake has always had many defenders among farmers. But a report from the Philadelphia Academy of Natural Science will not win it many friends among gunners. A snake sent up to have its hide tanned contained five young rabbits and a nest of pheasant eggs. The fellow measured seven feet six inches.

As a result of last week's clean-up, twenty dogs were caught and impounded. Of these, three were redeemed by their owners, by paying for same. The balance were killed. One of the latter was said to belong to John Ireland, of Elwood, and had followed a team here. A law-suit may follow, as Mr. Ireland claims it to have been a valuable animal.

A Toast to the Editor. At a recent editorial convention, a preacher offered the following toast: "To save an editor from starvation, take his paper and pay for it promptly. To save him from bankruptcy, advertise in his paper liberally. To save him from despair, send him every item of news of which you can get hold. To save him from profanity, write your correspondence plainly on one side of the sheet and send it in as soon as possible. To save him from mistakes, bury him—dead people are the only ones who never make any mistakes."

MODISH MEMS.

Bits of Chic From Dame Fashion's Budget.

Net fichus have long sash ends beaded, and a good many. Modest lace collars of moderate dimensions are worn with the little directors' coats. Chiffon and lace are worn with much more than summer dresses, sometimes to match the dress, sometimes as a contrast.

Belts are tremendously important. They are broad and draped, some with big bows and no ends in front, some with one bow and two ends behind, some with bows both behind and in front, and in color they must afford a marked contrast to the gown with which they are worn.

Little or big bows of black tulle or chiffon or ribbon are not jaunty on the corsage, sometimes near the throat, sometimes in the bust, and often in a careless, crooked fashion, with a buckle to keep them in place.

Black and white dresses often show electric blue silk belts, broad and draped, of course.

White lawn with wide embroidery here shown. The design is also suitable for linen, dimity, gingham, chambray, challis, percale or cotton crepe or voile. It may be developed with a standing collar, as a serviceable dress school dress for cool days—or, more dressy wear with short sleeves and broad collar. The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. It requires 3 1/2 yards of 36 inch material for an 8 year size.
A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents in silver or stamps.

SILENCING WATCH TICKS.
Some sick people want the time heard but cannot stand the ticking of a watch. If this is the case, place the watch beneath an ordinary drinking glass. The patient can see the time but the ticking will be silenced by the glass.

CHILDREN'S DRESS.

Black or dark colors ought never to be seen on children. The Continental black, which has to pay heavily for her luxury, has a weakness for the black stuff pinafore, but it is very unbecoming on young things.

You can make a substantial and good looking hitching post by inserting a nail keg with soft cement, inserting an iron ring in it, and when the cement is dry, the ring can be moved about, but no harm can get away from it.

9372. LADIES' COMBINATION, BRASSIER AND PETTICOAT, IN RAISED OR NORMAL WAIST LINE.
This model may be developed in lawn, cambric, muslin, nankeet or silk. The skirt and brassier may be finished separately. The pattern is a one-piece model, with seams that terminate below knee helpful in placed extensions. The closing of brassier and skirt is at the back. Flouncing may be used for the petticoat which has a straight lower edge. The pattern is cut in 3 sizes: Small, medium and large. It requires 3 yards of 36 inch material for a medium size. A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents in silver or stamps.

BIRDS.

We owe them much.

They kill off the insects.

What should we do without them?

Not only are they charming to look at.

Not only do they delight us with their songs.

They actually make life possible on this sphere.

A scientist says that without birds to check the ravages of insects human life would vanish from this planet in nine years!

No think twice, men and boys, before you blaze away at the feathered friends who are saving our lives right along.

What if a bird does regale himself or herself on a cherry or a peach? He certainly could not be expected to work for absolutely nothing at all.

A PENNYWORTH OF HEALTH.

Fashion, ever capricious, varies. There are times when the charming Parisienne can only endure her complexion to be very, very pale. The complexion beyond the carmine of her lips, which appears to be of a more vibrant tint by force of contrast. At the present moment, however, the fancy is for a complexion of pink on the cheeks, which is highly becoming and is denominated "A pennyworth of health."

This seems to be the favorite tint for the face, so those should receive special attention.

THE MONKEY FLOWER.

It dwells in waste places.

It likes to be beside quiet ponds.

Stream edges also attract this vagrant.

In color it ranges from purple, violet to lilac.

One spike of the bloom is not particularly fine.

It is found in many places in Fairmount Park.

Its little colonies of it are at- tempting charming.

One oddity about it is that the tall stem is square.

The little flowers, nearly an inch long, spring from the axils of the upper leaves.

The leaves are opposite, oblong to lance shaped, and are most suited to the stem.

Its Latin name is Monarda spicata (sp. family). The imaginative see in this blossom the gaping (ring) face of a little ape or butoon (minimus).

FABRIC FINENESS.

The New Nets, Chiffons, Voiles and Crepes—Are Lovely.

The present fashion for flowered and patterned material makes it comparatively easy to work, out of the beautiful color scheme for afternoon or evening wear. The smart frocks of today are no longer "unartistic" creations, as was the case last year (at least the majority are not), but are carried out in several different shades, and often two or three different fabrics.

Stitch is varied in chiffon and net, soft silk with voile and lace, and on sometimes the most daring and unusual results.

Every week the selection of printed chiffons, voiles and crepes is added to the endless variety of colors. This is a simple procedure, which can be performed anywhere, by any one of ordinary intelligence without apparatus, says a doctor. A teaspoonful of salt to the pint is about the right proportion.

It is safe to say that if a simple solution that is the common cause of constipation, so that this simple remedy will do it, it will be brought in, it is literally "tempting Providence," especially in summer months, when the system is susceptible to indigestion.

As far as possible, remove all dust from your work and neighborhood by means of a damp duster; never apply dusty fingers, stamps, envelopes or other objects capable of carrying disease germs to your tongue.

BUTTONS IMPORTED ON THE NEWEST BLOUSES.

It is a great boon that this summer's blouse buttons down the front with a little turn-down collar. This, of course, brings these fastenings into great prominence, and the happy possessor of old-fashioned enamel, metal or jeweled buttons are able to use them in the only real effective way, that is, when they are actually on the blouse.

Some of the dainty French blouses featuring these buttons have crystal buttons sewn on with silk exactly long with the stripe or spot of the blouse.

Sewing on Buttons.
This is carried over the edge of the blouse in such a way as to form a little square of color across the chest. The buttonholes are also sewn with the same color, so that the fastening of the blouse is one of the most effective parts of its decoration. Plain white collars and cuffs of lawn are seen on all these blouses, and the little white buttons are cut in points are also of plain white.

An Effective Collar.
The little black velvet collar that is so much seen on otherwise pale colored spring costumes is more effective than can be imagined by anyone, and may be guessed from the title, to suit its distinctive note. The form is of the simplest. The collar is of the same width all round, and stops short in front, leaving a space of about an inch and a half.

Byron Tie Again.
This is filled in with the Byron tie, the ends floating rather loosely, as may be guessed from the title. The counterpart of this collar is worn with black costumes in the latest of the latest, cherry color first, vivid tomato, brilliant pomegranate, grape green, olive, and in blue of a half dozen different shades. The material may be of velvet, satin, muslin, broche or cloth.

WALLPAPER.
A latest is in chintz effect.

There's really the fabric look to it.

Only the loveliest designs are reproduced.

The Chinese designs are among the most popular.

The Chinese partridge pattern is an English favorite.

Georgian enough is the fascinating "parrot and pine" pattern.

A "hollock design is among the most fascinating old-time sorts.

And, of course, there are roses, forget-me-nots, Canterbury bells and the rest.

To remove oil stain.

Put the stained part with a little lard; then wash in warm water with good soap, and rub gently with a cloth. The stain may be removed, but care should be exercised because of danger of accident.

KEEPING CHEESE FRESH.

To prevent cheese from getting moldy, cut a small piece off for present use, and place the remainder in a safe. Spread a thin film of butter over the cut part and cover with a clean cloth. This will prevent the cheese from becoming moldy.

SUMMER HANDWEAR.

Jeweled mittens are mentioned in French publications.

THE CEINTURE.

Belts of Oriental materials are delightful features in many instances.

It is well to remember that a fresh coat in the head may sometimes be broken up immediately if treated early, by smearing warm water over the head from the palm of the hand. This is a simple procedure, which can be performed anywhere, by any one of ordinary intelligence without apparatus, says a doctor. A teaspoonful of salt to the pint is about the right proportion.

Suggestions For Housekeepers

To prevent made mustard from drying and caking in the mustard pot add a little salt when making.

A few drops of alcohol rubbed on the inside of lamp chimneys will remove all traces of smoke when water will not.

An easy way to wash with very little rubbing is to take two pounds of soda, two pounds of common soap and 10 quarts of water. Cut the soap in thin slices, boil all together two hours, strain and it will be ready for use. Put the clothes in soak the night before, and to every part of water add a dipper of the soap.

To clean a stove pipe place a piece of zinc on the stove. The vapor produced carries off the soot.

To renew stained floors that have grown a little dull rub thoroughly with beeswax and turpentine.

Mix a little common baking soda with the scouring brick and the knives will clean much easier.

The woman who values her fur, yet cannot afford cold storage, should clean and air them thoroughly, examining them with care.

The more valuable the fur the greater the damage from moths. Some furriers advise the use of mothballs, but these cannot be mended, and in less than four weeks a single moth can ruin an entire sable garment.

To get a good light from an oil lamp the wick must be changed when they are about half an inch long. A wick 24 hours before putting them in the lamps alone in getting a clear flame.

RECIPES

Bananas in Jelly.

Soak one-half a box of gelatin in one cup of boiling water and pour on two cups of boiling water, or long enough to make a thick soup. Add the juice of two lemons and a cup of sugar. Stir well and strain. Fill a mold with the jelly and when set, cut in slices. Serve with cream.

Canoe Rhubarb.
Scrape the "pie plant" and cut into inch lengths. Weigh it and to every two pounds of it allow one-half pound of sugar. Put the rhubarb in a large bowl, add the sugar and let it stand overnight. Drain and put over the fire with sufficient water to cover it and simmer until all the sugar is gone. Put the rhubarb in a mold and when set, cut in slices. Serve with cream.

Oatmeal Drops.
One cupful of sugar, two-thirds of a cupful of butter and half mixed with one cupful of oatmeal. Roll into balls and flatten them out. Bake in a shallow pan for about 10 minutes. Serve with cream.

Rhubarb Marmalade.
The first rhubarb brought from the north arrives just in time to combine with the season's fruit. It is highly valued in the preparation of marmalade. Take the yellow part of the rhubarb, wash it and cut it into small pieces. Add one cupful of sugar and one-half cupful of water. Simmer for about 10 minutes. Strain and add one-half cupful of lemon juice. Boil for about 10 minutes. Serve with cream.

Breaded Chicken.
Have a tender chicken disjointed as for fricandeau. Season one cup flour with salt, pepper and onion. Dip the chicken in the flour and then in a mixture of egg and milk. Roll in breadcrumbs and bake in a shallow pan for about 10 minutes. Serve with cream.

Rhubarb Wine.
This is an old-time favorite. To five pounds of rhubarb cut into small pieces add one gallon of cold water and let it stand for eight days, stirring it well two or three times daily. Then strain and add one-half cupful of sugar. Boil for about 10 minutes. Strain and add one-half cupful of lemon juice. Boil for about 10 minutes. Serve with cream.

Tomato Soups.
Half can of tomatoes, quart of milk, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one of cornstarch, teaspoon of salt, saltspoon of pepper, saltspoon of soda and a dash of cayenne. Cook the tomatoes until very soft, then pass through a fine strainer. Add the milk and butter and cook for about 10 minutes. Serve with cream.

ROD'S BURGLAR

Death of Rod Day, the father of the boy, was necessary for him to leave the high school in the middle of his second year at that institution and find employment to assist in the support of the family.

During his school days he had been out for all the fun there was in sight; no camping party, no tramp to the creek, a few miles from town, no squirrel hunt, no foot ball or base ball game, even, were complete without Rod, and the boys all liked him. But through it all he managed to keep good education, and at the time of leaving school he was fairly well equipped for the world.

One evening in the latter part of March, they were all out, hard at work till about ten o'clock, when one of them, with a yawn, laid down

The Town That Just Grows.

There are in this country some towns that just grow like Topsy.
They are not numerous (for towns that are left just to grow just die), but they afford interesting examples.

There were reasons why they just grew. They were sometimes halfway between two better towns.
They were a convenient stopping place, a necessary evil.

The streets are rambling, because they, like the town, just grew.

The houses are out of line and out of repair, because they, like the streets, just grew.

The people are often shiftless and poor, because they, like the houses, just grew.

The children are uneducated,
often dirty, sometimes immoral, because they, like the people, just grew.

Heaven help the town that just grows. It must have had great natural advantages to have just grown in competition with liver towns. But it lacked real people.
It could, with these self-evident advantages, have been so much better, brighter, bigger. But the people were willing to let it just grow.

It might have been so much cleaner, happier, and wealthier. It might have been a rose; but it just grew—and the thing that just grows is a weed.

Its people sent away for their goods and left their own town just to grow. They enriched other towns and left their own just to grow.

Reader how about your town?
It may seem to be doing fairly well,
but is it doing as well as it might?
Are you taking an interest in its affairs? Are you helping elect good men to office? Are you spending your money here at home where it will continue to furnish capital for this town's people?
Are you interested in the things proposed for this town's increased prosperity and improved appearance?

Or are you leaving the town just to grow?

monton, will receive and consider bids for the construction of a system of pipe sewers, of

to the Secretary upon said application, whether for either or both of said sets of blue prints and pamphlet. $25.00 of price of the pamphlets or blue prints not returned.

"Yes Sir! Studebaker wagons are made to back up a reputation."

"I know, because wagons of every make come into my shop for repairs, and I have a chance to see how few are Studebakers."

That's the opinion of thousands of blacksmiths who know the quality of Studebaker wagons.

The owners never regretted that they bought Studebakers.

Tested materials, accurate workmanship insure a wagon unequalled for durability, and this careful selection of wood, iron, steel, paint and varnish has been a fixed rule with the Studebaker Company for sixty years. That is why a Studebaker wagon runs easiest and lasts longest. It is built on honor.

Whether you live in town or country, there is a Studebaker vehicle to fill your requirements for business or pleasure—and harness of every description made as carefully as are Studebaker vehicles.
