

WAR SAVING STAMPS

SAVE AND WIN

Schools out! —
Railroad fares take a jump next Monday.

Town Council meets next Wednesday evening.

The Civic Club Library is open to all this evening.

Sunday Schools observe Children's Day to-morrow.

Dr. Samuel G. Newcomb spent a day or two in Hammonton.

The War Thrift Stamp drive starts June 21st and closes June 28th.

Mrs. H. Schaumburg is spending a week or two with friends in Atlantic City.

Mrs. Chas. Simpson and little son, of Atlantic City, are visiting relatives here.

Two million dollars per day are being received by the U. S. for War Saving Stamps.

The Eighth Grade graduating exercises will be held next Wednesday evening.

Pastors of the various churches are asked to speak on War Savings Stamps on Sunday, June 23rd.

Rev. W. J. Cusworth on Sunday evening received the sad message that his father had suddenly died.

Dr. F. C. Burt is on a combined business and pleasure trip south, taking in Atlanta and Annapolis, Ala.

It is quite common at night to hear a chug-chug-chug overhead—and people imagine German air-planes.

The Hammonton Alumni Association holds its annual meeting and reunion this evening in the Rod and Gun Club House.

Books are wanted by the Library Committee for the soldiers at the camps. Books can be left at the Civic Club Hall to-night.

Members of the local Thrift Stamp Committee attended an important meeting Thursday evening in the Atlantic City High School building.

The Red Cross Benefit, "The Blue Bird," under the auspices of the High School Bible Class, was a success, and a good sum was raised.

Hammonton Home Guards.

The Hammonton Home Guard has been organized along the lines of the State Defense League for the purpose of promoting the unity and efficiency of organizations formed for local defensive purposes during the continuance of a state of war and for one year thereafter, and to secure such recognition by the public authorities as may be necessary to maintain public order in the event of emergencies, secure enlistments and promote the attainment of patriotic purposes.

This organization affords an opportunity to all citizens of the Town of Hammonton to cooperate in the work being done by the Hammonton Company, New Jersey State Militia Reserve.

Persons calling for any of the above will please state that it has been advertised.

LOUIS J. LANGHAM, P. M.

The Atlantic Loading Company have moved their offices down to Amato! and are razing the buildings erected on the Gerhart property.

There will be a meeting of the Needlework Guild next Thursday, all day, in Red Cross workroom. Bring box lunch. All who would like to help will be welcome.

Hammonton strawberries are bringing good prices,—as high as eighteen cents per quart. Five years ago at this time they went begging at six and seven cents.

Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Black, also Mrs. J. B. Pressey, spent the week in Sea Isle City with their mother, Mrs. C. D. Loveland. Miss Frances will stay a couple of weeks and enjoy the sea breezes and bathing.

Miss Leira Conover, formerly of this place, a graduate of the Hammonton High School, Class of 1916, and the New Jersey State Normal School, Class of 1918, has been appointed a teacher in the Public Schools of Camden, N. J.

The Board of Trade's committee planned a treat for the public on Tuesday evening; but while two or more of the speakers did not turn up, Samuel T. Leeds, of Atlantic City, gave a very interesting talk on the war situation, Thrift Stamps and other timely subjects. The Civic Club Hall was well filled, the Militia Reserve having adjourned to attend and hear the lecture.

There will be a demonstration of "How to make good bread, using substitutes recommended by the Food Commission," at Civic Club Hall, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons, June 11th and 12th. The hours are 2 o'clock each afternoon and on Tuesday evening. Miss Frances Foreman is in charge and will give an actual mixing and baking demonstration. All are invited.

The public meeting at the Eagle Theatre last Sunday afternoon, under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey, was the most interesting of its kind ever held in Hammonton. It was the famous Carlisle-Pierpont "wet and dry" debate, impersonated by Attorney O. Bell Close and M. S. Paulson. The debate was very natural, heated at times; but as there is really but one side to the argument, right prevailed.

A feature of the fiftieth anniversary of the All Souls' Church society on June 23-25 will be the special music. The Rev. Dr. Henry R. Rose, of Newark, will be one of the speakers. He is known in Hammonton and has been heard by many here. The Rev. Dr. E. C. Sweetser and the Rev. Dr. J. C. Lee, of Philadelphia, will be other speakers. The historical address on Sunday morning and the singing of a hymn written for the occasion will be interesting parts of the celebration.

The many friends of Claude Brown were shocked to hear that he had met with serious injury on Monday night while waiting for the one o'clock train at Winslow Junction. While sitting on the edge of the platform, with probably a foot on the rails, he evidently fell off into a doze, and the wheels of a passing train crushed his toes and part of the foot. Altho suffering terribly he got onto the train, and as soon as possible was hastened to the hospital, where a portion of the foot was removed. This seems doubly sad when it is recalled that the Brown boys' mother died suddenly a few weeks ago. Hopes are entertained for Claude's quick recovery.

Important Notice.

It is of the utmost importance that taxpayers who have purchased Treasury Certificates of Indebtedness maturing June 25, 1918, should use such certificates in payment of their taxes and should not present the certificates for payment in cash. Collection of Internal Revenue are instructed to accept all certificates maturing this date tendered in payment of taxes, and taxpayers are therefore urgently requested to use such certificates as they may have purchased in payment of taxes rather than to pay the taxes in cash.

longer time is consumed in the process. The latest researches, however, show that eggs are longer cooked than any food than was formerly supposed, and the difference in this case is not especially important. Indeed, we must accept the conclusion of the scientist that the difference between the difference of temperature in cooking of eggs do not have any great effect upon its digestibility.

It is hard to realize this statement, we cannot fail to accept that when eggs is cooked in a water bath, it does not so great a tax on the digestive system and this is because the water bath is so gentle when it is touch and rubbery, and this is because the water bath is so gentle by cooking the eggs in a temperature lower than the temperature of water.

Hard-cooked Eggs

The water must be measured for cooking both soft and hard-cooked eggs, and the water must be at the first that the eggs when they are first put in the water and the water must be more cup water than number of eggs.

1—Place the water or eggs in the water.
2—Place eggs in the water.
3—Cover saucpan.
4—Bring to the light.
5—Let stand three to five minutes.

Hard-cooked Eggs

1—Place the water in the water.
2—Bring to the boiling point.
3—Cover saucpan.
4—Bring to the light.
5—Let stand twenty minutes.

Two tablespoons butter.
One tablespoon cup grated cheese.
Four eggs.
Salt and pepper.

Place the butterine in small bits over the bottom of a small baking dish. Sprinkle over this a layer of the cheese and eggs, and continue very carefully so they remain separated; sprinkle with salt and pepper and moisten with a little milk. Bake in moderate oven for about ten minutes, or until the cheese is browned. Serves 4.

Creamy Scrambled Eggs.
Two tablespoons green pepper.
One tablespoon chopped onion.
One and one-half tablespoons butter.
One-half cup mushrooms.
One cup cream.
Four eggs.
Salt and pepper.

Cook the onion and peppers in the butterine until the onion is golden.

Curried Eggs
Four hard cooked eggs
One and a half tablespoons butter
One small onion, chopped
Two tablespoons rice
Two teaspoons curry powder
One cup milk or water
1 stock
One teaspoon lemon juice
Hard teaspoon salt
Hard cook the eggs, remove the shells and cut into slices. Add the onion, which has been finely chopped in the butter, add the rice and curry powder and cook, covered on low heat for two or three minutes, then add the milk slowly and stir until the mixture begins to boil. Add the lemon juice and salt and cook very slowly for fifteen to twenty minutes. Add the milk and heat the slices of eggs in the sauce.

Indeed, and I think my object worthy. The situation, you see, just this: I have come home from my travels, and I find that no one in town except the people who were here when I left. Most of you were here, but I did not know you very well at that time. I want to know more about you, and I have just questioned all over again the people whom I did not know. I have no daughters, and a person doesn't have daughters to be successful in business. I want to be hospitable to a big house like the one you live in.

"In other words," I want to do good to the people of this town, to make them happy, comfortably. You begin to see the situation, don't you? What I need to do is to get a group of girls who will do good to the people of this town, together for a kind of a home. These are daughters of this house, they belong here, girls who will

"I certainly mean you, Anne," Mrs. Blake said.

"Mrs. Blake," "You and the other girls in this room?"

"That I should think you would want ornamented people for your dances," said Maggie. "You then stopped, stammered, wondering why the other girls would say to be called ornamented."

"It would be heavenly," Mrs. Blake exclaimed. Marjorie Stone hastily said, "I have heard of Maggie."

"Iphone," Mrs. Blake said. "You and We're just a little bit stammered and the darlingsome of the blue."

American women expect the upward draped skirt as a means of altering the slightly flared skirt that preceded the new skirt. Chemise robes are cut in unities in order to avoid the bulk at the hem, and they are mounted over narrow, plain skirts. MILLIONS who are employed in the garment industry in this country, are disturbed by important discussion that is going on in Europe. It is a discussion that has to do with the importation of fur clothes, with the prices asked for all kinds of apparel, with the threat of abolition of the famous French fashion houses, and with the possibility of the public at large for American clothes.

It would be ignorant of this situation on her shoulder as an invalid, which is part of a mass, feels of the responsibility of the fashion designer, who is the designer in fashion, in this country they have not assumed that role. They are not the ones who are going to be led. They are guided by the methods, and those in authority in fashion.

moisture of the air into dew, upon the cool ponds filled. It is stated that this view is not universal, for in some localities, the ponds have been known as "fog ponds," or "mist ponds." In the microelektroglins, the opinion has been expressed that rain alone may be sufficient, although their position admits does not admit of action by drainage. After examination on behalf of the Society, Edward A. Martin concluded much of the water is supplied from the sea fogs or mists that blow in from the coast and that much of the moisture is supplied to those fogs alone from the ponds prepared for the ponds from
