Many people accepted the invitation to inspect the work done in the Manual Training Department of our Schools. A room in the new annex was devoted to the exhibit on Wednesday afternoon, and many were the expressions of surprise that such finished work in many lines could be done by the pupils of various grades. Drawings were there, also, done by the little folks in the primary grades, and older ones, which must have satisfied the visitors that the time spent in this work is not wasted. In woodwork, there were numerous articles,—boxes of various shapes, plate rails, benches, tables, a great morris chair, etc., etc. In the girls department there were fancy articles, dolls' clothing, prettily made aprons, etc. The pictures were from cut and torn work up to several creditable water colors. The voters made no mistake in adding manual training to the school course; and the Board were fortunate in their choice of instructors in this and drawing.

Town Council met on Tuesday evening, to open bids for improvement of Bellevue Avenue.—Jos. S. Mart was voted the contract,—his figure being $3,484.55. The only other bid was from Mr. Fisher, of Clayton, and about $2,500 higher. Mr. Mart began work early on Wednesday morning.

In many experiments carried on during the last few years it has been ascertained that the mind controls to a wonderful extent the flow of blood to any particular part of the body. The following experiment has been tried as many as ten times by me, and has not failed once.

When the nose starts to bleed, immediately persuade yourself to believe that you are running with all your might against a windmill, or that you can tank or no, a high hill; that is, use think of doing; either of these things and do it fast. Think at the same time that you are carrying a heavy piece of baggage with both hands and sweat drops of exertion, other bodily exertion. You will be surprised at the quickness with which your trouble ends.

The explanation is that when we really start to run more blood is given to the arteries supplying the muscles of the legs than when they are standing while at rest. This has been proved. As the same thoughts in the mind produce approximately the same bodily effects, if one merely thinks to run, it does not run, the blood will go to the head, and away from the feet, to the head, as desired.

There are many common experiences of sensations started by thoughts. If one looks at a lemon and thinks of sucking it his mouth immediately waters and he may be receiving water while he reads this will have their mouths watering from the simple reading.

BUFFALO TONGUES.

"Wairus whisker toothpicks and buffalo tongue hairbrushes!" the explorer cried.

And he displayed a packet of black toothpicks tied with a strip of red rawhide and a flat black hairbrush that seemed molded out of rubber.

"These two articles," said the explorer, "are of strictly native manufacture. They were received yesterday. Take the toothpicks first. They are made by the Indians of Alaska. The Indians, whenever they kill a walrus, pluck from his face his lung and stiff whiskers, cure them and ship them to my Chinese store. At every fashionable Chinese dinner you will see the stately mandarins between each course picking their teeth with these wairus whisker toothpicks.

"It's the Blackfoot Indians who use buffalo tongue hairbrushes. A buffalo's tongue is rough. The spines on its back are like a hairbrush, too. And these bristles in a Blackfoot brush don't come out, for the Blackfoot simply skins his buffalo tongue, cuts it in hairbrush shape, cures it, and there you are.

"Every Blackfoot in the past had his own set of these. But those that are gone—gone with the buffalo herds—and where in the fifties you could buy a good buffalo tongue brush on the plains for a mule of muppy dog stew I doubt if you get one now for a leg of firewater."

TRAINING FOR THE MINISTRY.

Nothing is more necessary to the community whose religious uplift depends on its members may be, than the steady and constant supply of men of high education, of consecration, of careful training, of inspiration and of lives devoted in act and word to the service of the divine and of humanity. Unless such men are in the community its great moral forces will cease to have their expression, their direction, their inspiration and their representation.

It is, therefore, to be regretted that, in connection with the movement of the Y. M. C. A., through the Young Men's Christian Association, which Young Men's have been active during the last decade as never before, the supply of clergyman is not keeping up with the growth of the country, but it is gratifying that this supply of "burning men" is increasing, however, that the share of those who became clergymen with a college education is decreasing. Down to 1896 the schools which require college training furnished about two-thirds of the total number of graduates for the ministry. In 1910 they furnished one-half, or 34% out of the total number, which, including 212 women, was 7697.

HAD THE APPETITE.

It was at a recent Finner's dinner that Augustus Thomas told the story of a newspaper man's laudable appetite. There had arisen a controversy over the ability of a man to eat two quills a day. The reporter was asked if he would undertake the task. "Hay, Bill," he replied, "make it turkey."

Whenever the average woman feels ready to go anywhere, except to church, the excitement given her by a husband

A hippopotamus is not the most graceful bathing companion in the world; especially on a dark night when you are alone and a short-sounding hippo so badly seizes you would be. The hippopotamus keeper at the London Zoo knows about it.

One night, after the zoo was closed to visitors and all the animals had been bedded down for the night, the keeper saw his charge locked up in sleeping quarters, a compartment attached to the swimming pool. After a while he looked up the attendant who was on duty and asked him to let him out with fresh water, all ready to let the animal to tumble into when he ceased his moria from the sleeping quarters.

Satisfied that everything was right for the night, the keeper went to bed.

Some time later in the evening a watchman heard the hippo making queer noises as if it wanted to get out to take a bath. It plunged into its bath with a snort; or it wanted to sleep again there was a snort. The hippo was not the tip of its nose out of water.

Still later the hippo keeper returned and decided to take a plunge in the pool's tank. He stripped and dived into the water, and an odd sound was heard, which took place mostly under water.

First the keeper was on top of the hippopotamus, trying to get a foot so that he could scramble out of the tank, then the hippopotamus was on top of the keeper, and he was so frightened of the other, that he called for help and the hippo bellowed fear. Just as—several of the watchmen arrived the keeper managed to scramble out more dead than alive.

SEALING WA LANGUAGE.

The Latest for Lovers.

Lovers have enjoyed various "languages" for some time. There is the language of the stage-stamp, for instance, the manner in which the stamp is affixed to the envelope denoting the feelings of the lover.

The very latest "language" for lovers comes from Paris. It is known as a language of sealing wax.

Edwin expresses his emotions in the color of the wax with which he seals his letters to "her." If the lover is full of joy, sure of his sweetheart's love, and enjoying all loved joys, then he must use a rose-colored wax. However, he is worried or melancholy, then, quarreled with Angela, for instance, it is the correct thing for him to use a blue wax, denoting by its color grey sealing wax.

One can foresee numerous embarrassing complications arising from this "love wax." Suppose that some reason unknown to Edwin causes him to use a blue wax, and he is told and vexed. Then, when she sends him her letter will be sealed with the dull grey wax. This will worry to Edwin. How can he tell if he seals his letters with the grey wax, or is it because of the grey, in sympathy with her wax, he will think that he is also disheartened and vexed.

When making a favor in a letter this wax should be sealed with pink wax. When a favor is to be returned or you wish to show that you agree with certain propositions, bright blue sealing wax should be used. When corresponding with a girl whom you are not on very intimate terms, you should use a yellow wax. When, however, a violet wax is the correct color. If the girl is cold or fearful, and not anxious to encourage you, she will apply in an envelope of brown sealing wax.

When you have a matter you are about to send you into a brown study, or you send you the blues. If she is writing another fellow and using the same sealing wax to him, you will perhaps be green with envy and wax with jealousy.

USED TO LIGHT WORK.

A weather-beaten woman somewhere or six feet in height and with a face of shadowy proportionality, appeared at a table set for a light house. She was a light house keeper. She said that her name was Lizzie and explained that she had been with typhoid fever and was continuing.

Where did you come from, Lizzie? "I was of the house inquired."

Where have you been?"

"I've been working out on Howland."

"What?" replied Lizzie, "daffin' pan on while I was getting my strongest."

The Murder Case.

Mrs. Catarina Perrone, aged about 40 years, wife of Fidele Perrone, was shot, about 4:30 on last Thursday morning, at her home on Valley Avenue, death being instantaneous. Her husband is in custody to answer for the crime.

The story told is, in substance, as follows:

During the twenty years of their married life, the man had suspected that his wife was untrue to him. Several times he had caught her in the company of another man; and many times they had quarrels over it, as recent as May 28th and June 1st. He at last decided to clear out, having failed in his attempt to reform her; but as she had secured title to his properties, he was refused his share—or any of it—to get away on the spot.

Probably their last dispute, for according to his own tale, he went into the house and brought out his double-barreled shot gun (loaded with slugs, bullets, and shot), and shot her in the back, shattering the seventh vertebrae, spinal cord, and one leg, crashing through her brain and lodging behind the frontal bone. Either would have been fatal.

Coming into town, he woke up Constable Tony Pinto, made a full confession, and was locked up.

Coroner Cunningham was on the job at five o'clock, and less than three hours later, with County Physician Souder, made an examination of the body. Ten penetrations were found in the back.

So heavy was the charge, that some of the leaden messengers were found imbedded in the barn.

While popular sympathy is with the murderer,—he was not justified in taking the law into his own hands. The proper course to have taken would have been to proceed legally against the home-breaker.

To show that his action was not pre-meditated,—he had recently purchased a six-acre property of the Stockwell estate, on upper Bellevue, and was setting out raspberries. Seven children, from four to seventeen years old, are left motherless, to be cared for by relatives.

Coroner Cunningham empaneled the following jury, who visited the scene. They are: Messrs. J. L. O'Donnell, E. W. Strickland, F. Applegate, M. C. Cappuccio, Tony O'Neil, and Dr. Godfrey. Yesterday afternoon they met, reviewed the case, and rendered the following verdict:

That the said Catarina Perrone came to her death by being shot by her husband, Fidele Perrone, of the Town of Hammonville, N. J.

Mr. Ellwood Roberts, of Norristown, Penn., has bought the Rosengarten property at Winslow. There are about 6,515 acres of land in the estate, which he mostly in Camden County, but reaches over into Atlantic, from Folson to Blue Anchor and Tansboro,—on the Central, Southern, and Reading railroads. There are eighty houses, including Winslow Inn, a saw mill, store and cannery factory. Included are over 3,000 acres of woodland. Mr. Roberts has not fully developed his plans, but will divide the estate; and one rumor is that he will found an agricultural and industrial community.

"THE Care Exercised by the Directors in making loans, low expenses, and notice demand for money, invite your attention to the Farmers' and Merchants' Building and Loan Association as an excellent investment opportunity. Will pay highest rate of interest consistent with safety. Shares in the new series may be applied for now at the Secretary's office. Hammonville Trust Company.

Do not miss this. A treat for old and young alike, Tuesday June 13th, at 8 P. M., in the Presbyterian Church. Mr. Henry D. Moore, of Haddonfield, will deliver his interesting, illustrated lecture on the celebrated Passion Play of Ober-Ammergau. By the use of life-sized pictures, the closing scenes of Christ's life will be portrayed. Mr. Moore has seen this great event several times, and has personally superintended the taking and preparing of these wonderful pictures. No better opportunity will perhaps ever be given of seeing this interesting and justly celebrated event, which brings together people from all parts of the world, and which fills newspapers, magazines and books with accounts of its value and beauty. A silver offering will be taken at the door.

Mrs. Jos. Ware and daughter, of Vineland, are visiting an uncle, Dr. Cunningham.

Athletic Association.

Hammononton, 3; Alpha F. C., 0; was the score of last Saturday's game; but the figures do not show the unusually fine base-ball played by both teams. The fans present, by unanimous vote, declare it to be one of the best games ever played in town.

Tell pitched in "league" style, fanning eleven men, allowing only four hits, and giving no passes. Backed by errorless support, he did not allow a man to reach first base until the seventh inning.

On the second inning, Lobley gained applause by a hard catch beyond the foul line, and fielding two hits in succession. Score:

Encouraged by their defeat, we understand that they have challenged our home team.

To-day, our home team will play a return game with the Alphas, which team seldom meets defeat, and were anxious to arrange a return game; so manager Jones "went to work" and gave them a date for to-day. Game starts at 3.30, with Fitzpatrick in the box for Hammononton.

Next week, Somers Point team, —County Championship series.
