RELIGION.

BY MRS. A. V. MUNGER.

Religion, 'tis a boundless theme,
Whose height and depth no eye hath seen;
Vaster than ocean in its flow,
And mightier than ought below;
It moves the heart, controls the fate
Of thousands in our ship of state
And yet this powerful agent rests,
A still small flame within the breast.

And by its pure and holy light,
Men walk by faith and less by sight.
When trials like a cloud surround,
And scarce a ray of hope is found,
Then to the soul by grief oppressed,
'Tis ever found a welcome guest;
And where it finds a resting place,
It clothes the poorest form with grace.

But not to every one is given,
To wear the vestry robe of Heaven;
For oh! 'tis a sickening sight,
That oblige the blood within us quite,
And stands a barrier every day,
Against the pure and gentle sway,
To see men publicly profess,
Yet not one spark of love possess.

Their scrupulous eye to outward show,
Will please the worldly mind, you know;
But then to kneel and offer prayer,
When not one thought of God is there—
To plead alone, the orphan's cause,
With honeyed words and choking pause—
Such acting prayer will never win it,
Unless, indeed, the heart be in it.

But envy, avarice and pride,
O'er risen Lord once crucified;
And from that self-same day to this,
Judas betrays men with a kiss.
Religion's robe they only wear,
To make the outward still more fair,
And their unbridled passions hide,
That pierce anon His bleeding side.

Eager to let their light so shine,
That men their good works shall divine,
They hold their flickering lamps so high
That worldly people wonder why,
If religion is really,
So many glaring faults they see;
That flowery speeches, lacking sense,
Should mark the men of great pretense.

While modest worth so often lies
Concealed from gaze of ruder eyes;
And though the masses never see
His quiet grace and dignity,
There is an eye that never sleeps,
O'er mortal man a vigil keeps;
You may mislead the worldly mind,
Be not deceived, God is not blind.

Christian, thy cross is hard to bear,
Go lay on Jesus all thy care;
Trust Him the night will not be long,
Be brave to bear and suffer wrong.
For Dives the sacrament may wait,
While Lazarus stands without the gate,
Each have their day, so fades renown.
Who bears the cross, shall wear the crown.

Our Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 9, 1879.

The Louisiana bulldozers do not make great headway or much capital in their raid on the Senatorial seat of Senator Kellogg. When Spofford began his move for the place, in order to secure another vote in the Senate, and to guard against the capture of that body in 1881, he thought he could invalidate Kellogg's title on the evidence which unseated Gov. Packard; but finding that would not do he preferred charges of bribery. The movement was made against Kellogg secretly according to the most approved bulldozing methods, and a few days ago the trap was sprung which was supposed to be capable of catching the Republican Senator. But it has turned out to be a trap for Spofford, the Democratic aspirant. Every one of his leading witnesses has testified that he was either coerced or bribed to testify against Kellogg, and as soon as he was out of the range of the Louisiana shot guns has concluded to tell the truth. The plot was a deep one, so deep that affidavits were manufactured for these men, several of which have proved to be forgeries, and otherwise signed by deception or under threats. The conspiracy, therefore, to steal another Senatorial seat, will probably fail, for not even a Democratic Senate will dare to seat Spofford on such a fraudulent case as he presents.

Mr. Schurz's Indian Commissioner, Hoyt, is in hot water all round. Some time ago he was indicted at his home in New Jersey for connection with a swindling trust company. Now the Indian Commission, composed of Quakers, make serious charges against him involving arbitrary action towards Indian Agents and others, and plainly implying corrupt motives. Mr. Schurz sticks by Hoyt, as he has stuck by others charged with grave offences, but it is a fact that the pressure is so great that Hoyt has pledged his resignation in the hands of a friend to present to the President at his discretion. It will be recalled that Mr. Hoyt made a great noise when he went into office about cleansing the Indian Office, but it appears now that he has used the office for his own benefit and that of his friends, and that he turned out of office better men than himself.

The Confederate decoration day at Winchester, Va., was a disloyal jubilee. Hundreds of Confederates went from Washington to take part, and the Confederate Congress sent its aid to the disreputable affair. The graves and the houses were decorated with Confederate flags and rebel mottoes; the Union flag was almost unseen. The rebel yell was the most conspicuous sound heard, and the voice of the Union was completely drowned. It was in short such an occasion as will gratify Jeff Davis and raise anew the fires of the lost cause. It is a disgrace to our time that disloyalty is thus rampant almost within very sight and sound of the Capitol.

The Senate Finance Committee have badly disappointed the Greenbackers by voting against reporting the silver bill at this session. An effort will be made to take the bill away from the Committee and set upon it at once. The Republicans will unite in opposition to this, and it is said twelve Democrats will join them. If so, the thing will sleep the sleep of death. Should it pass, the President will veto it probably. The more general impression everywhere is that it is better not to agitate the financial question in any form at present. Business is gradually improving, the crops promise to be heavy, confidence has returned in a great measure, and the best way is to let the present system stand until it has been fairly tested. It will be time to change it when a better shall be discovered. It is a bad time to change when things are taking on a more prosperous aspect than has prevailed for many years.

The National Emigration Aid Society, of which Senator Windom is chief adviser, is taking no measures to encourage the exodus of colored people from the South. The flight is going on gradually and rapidly enough for the good of the colored people. Great preparations are making for a more extended flight next Fall, after the Summer's work is over, when it will extend to all the Southern States. The Southern planters will find that they have struck the severest blow at their own prosperity when it is too late to mend the wrong.

MAXWELL.

Extracts from our European Letter.

ST. PETERSBURG, RUSSIA, May 19, '79.

You will no doubt be surprised to receive a letter from me from this city of the Csars, but suddenly summoned to attend to some important business in Stockholm, Sweden, and unable to resist my desire to re-visit St. Petersburg, during these troublesome times, where my stay will however be very short, I arrived here only two days ago. Thirteen years have elapsed since I last left the harbor of St. Petersburg for America, and this time has certainly worked wonders. Then everything seemed quiet and peaceful—now bombs, petards and revolutionary proclamations are the order of the day. A reign of terror exists. General Gourko, an old and trusted friend of the Csar, has met with a serious obstacle in the way of his celebrated repressive measures. It will be remembered that not the least remarkable of these was the order to place a watchman before every door in the capitol. The Nihilists have now posted a proclamation under the very nose of the police, threatening all who take service as special watchmen with death, the consequence of which is that no men can be found willing to accept the dangerous posts, and it is almost certain that if the decree is to be carried out a military sentinel will have to be placed at the door of every house. The air of St. Petersburg is full of wild rumors of fresh assassinations and revolutionary plots. Great consternation has been caused by the arrest of a peasant with a letter in his pocket containing a plan for an attack on the Winter Palace and the Fort of St. Peter and St. Paul. The result of this has been the calling out of the entire garrison under the command of the Grand Duke Nicholas, while the revolutionists are doubtless enjoying their grim hoax. It is stated that the heir-apparent has received several anonymous letters advising him to leave the country if he wishes to maintain a neutral position in the "coming revolution." The trial of the three Russian students on a charge of disturbing public order has resulted in two of them being sentenced to nine, and one to four months' imprisonment. General Gourko's measures have evidently done more harm than good, and such is the dissatisfaction at the universities, that the students are leaving their classes en masse, and it is probable that these institutions will have to be shut up.

There seems to be no doubt that the successor to the Throne has received anonymous letters advising him to go abroad if he wishes to maintain a neutral position in the impending revolution, and similar incidents are reported from only too many parts of the Empire. Many corpses are found having on their breasts the fatal slip with the terrible words, "Doomed by the Executive Committee." Already the threat of the Revolutionists is fulfilled, that the terror spread by the Government will be outdone by the terror inspired by the dread Executive Committee. The Russian Government are about to open negotiations with other States, with a view to treat those who attempt the life of foreign Sovereigns as murderers and not as political offenders. An attempt will also be made to compel Switzerland to expel Russian refugees, and to prohibit the publication of Russian Revolutionary literature, which is now always chiefly printed at Geneva. Among the hundreds arrested at Warsaw is Missoff, the Public Prosecutor of the place, who is charged with being a member of the Russian Revolutionary conspiracy. The railway stations at St. Petersburg and all the larger towns are strictly guarded, and arrests are being made promiscuously in every direction. In fact, St. Petersburg absolutely teems with rumors of fresh attempts at assassination and revolutionary plots. A stranger is at my door and wishes to see me.—Is he a detective? ALPHA.

[For the SOUTH JERSEY REPUBLICAN.]

Recreation.

Some people don't need any. They do nothing to exhaust their own strength and spirits. They have come to a dead stand or never started. Their life is a perpetual rest. They only exhaust the resources and spirits of somebody else. But all workers, in and out of doors, professors, merchants, tradesmen and laborers need seasons of rest, refreshment and revival. No one can endure the strain of incessant toil. There must be retreats and breathing spells. If not, most fatal results will befall us in the race of life. We will come short of the desired goal with jammed limbs, and broken wind. Multitudes, under the baleful influence of religious superstition, or the love of gain, and regardless of nature's laws and needs, have hurried themselves to the miseries of wrecked mind and health, and into an early grave.

Recreation may be obtained by entertainment, amusement, and exercise, or all of these combined. The first is that which engages the mind in an agreeable manner and makes the time pass pleasantly, as a conversation, lecture, concert. The second is that which occupies us lightly. It is witty and funny or ludicrous. It excites humor and laughter. The third is that which calls forth physical activity. Each of these three classes of recreation is exceedingly varied by circumstances and human ingenuity, and what must be the method of individual recreation depends on ones employment, physical condition and the state of the thermometer. The condition of climate has much to do with determining the method of recreation. In warm seasons and countries, man seeks recreation in dignified ease in the cool of the day. In a bracing, cool temperature, vigorous physical exercises are chosen. In cold and inclement seasons, when the nights are long, intellectual methods are preferred. This is natural and therefore proper. The history of civilized nations shows a wide difference in the methods of recreation which comes largely from the condition of climate. But wise people will regulate their means of recreation, also, by the demands of vocation and physical condition. Regardless of these, much harm has been done. Wrong has been committed in the methods chosen, as well as the neglect of them. It is not worth while for a man whose strength is already too much exhausted by labor, to take a turn at some heavy exercise or a drunken spree. It is hardly the thing for a man of intellectual pursuit, after many hours of hard skull work, to shut himself up in some densely packed hall of impure air to listen to any kind of an intellectual entertainment. It is not wise according to our way of thinking for the much fagged and careworn housekeeper to take the first opportunity out of running to a parade, or going shopping all over town with a baby on her arm.

But we are getting off the track—it was not our intention to hint at abuses in the way of recreation, but to speak of what we do need, and how we may constantly rebuild ourselves. On this subject you shall hear from us in the next, when we want to say a few things about entertainments, amusements and exercises.

The completion of the new Acme edition of Chamber's Cyclopaedia of English Literature will mark an epoch in the experience of many lovers of good books. The announcement that they would publish a work of such superior excellence, in a form so convenient and so entirely becoming to one of such high merit, at a price only nominal when compared with that of similar books generally, was more than a surprise to reading people. It was generally supposed to be an undertaking impossible of accomplishment, except at great loss of money, and many who knew the excellent standing of the publishers feared that they had undertaken too much, and would never be able to complete the work. But it seems they knew their ground; they have not only fulfilled their promise to the public, but by undertaking and accomplishing something so extraordinary, have attracted the attention of almost the entire reading community, to themselves and their various literary enterprises, and have secured a sale for the work itself beyond precedent in the history of book-selling, and so great that it is really remunerative. This month, with a view to extending the sale as greatly as possible, they offer to send sample volumes for examination, with privilege of immediate return if not wanted, or of purchasing the remainder if found satisfactory, as they unquestionably will be by all who appreciate what is choicest in literature. Prices of sample volumes, postpaid, in paper, 15 cents; cloth, 25 cents; half morocco, gilt top, 3 vol. edition, 50 cents; half morocco, gilt top, 4 vol. edition, 75 cents. They also send free on request, to any one, descriptive catalogue of this and several hundred other standard and valuable publications which they sell at prices far below usual rates. American Book Exchange, publishers, 65 Beekman street, New York.

The Republican.

M. R. ROWLES M. D., Editor & Prop'r.
H. C. DOW, Associate Editor.
HAMMONTON, ATLANTIC CO., N. J.
SATURDAY, JUNE 14, 1879.

Confederate courage—ten millions of white people afraid to let four millions of negro vote at the elections.

It is amusing now and then to find a Republican who insists that the President has not come over to the "stalwarts." The truth is, Mr. Hayes followed his Southern policy until it became "a square track and ran up a tree," when he thought it time to stop that nonsense, and return to the beaten highway of genuine Republicanism. If he remains where he is he may be happy yet.—W. V. Frazar.

It is time for Congress to brace up and begin to look towards adjournment in order that the people may celebrate the 4th of July with some degree of gusto. In case that body should continue in session until our great national holiday, it would seem much more appropriate to observe the day by fasting, and in solemn supplication to be relieved of this load of the 4th Congress that is trying to ride the country to death.

Alexander McGregor, an officer of the Confederate army, writes to the Cincinnati Commercial that neither negroes or white Republicans can secure the shadow of justice in Mississippi, and that he was driven from the State by a series of prosecutions under a law of 1878 forbidding any white man to purchase cotton or farm produce from a negro. This law, he avers, compelled the negroes to emigrate to live.

If the witnesses from Louisiana, who have been testifying before Congress this last week, and for the last two years, are fair representatives of that state, it is no wonder the state is in constant political hot water. The witnesses in the Spofford-Kellogg case in the U. S. Senate, whom Spofford brought there to prove that Kellogg got his seat by bribery, have sworn that the bribery was on Spofford's side. Two swore that Spofford offered them a good sum for their votes. One was arrested for perjury, and one sent home for perjury sake. It has been thus in all the Democratic investigations, where they have expected to shear, they have been shorn.

The New Jersey Editorial Association will make their Annual Summer Excursion to Cape May on the 23d inst., and which will end on the 27th. The editorial fraternity of New York and Pennsylvania will join them on the 24th, and they will be formally welcomed on Tuesday evening. The New Jersey Association will assemble in Camden on Monday, the 23d, and leave by the 4 o'clock train on the West Jersey Railroad, and proceed to Cape May without stopping. The expense is only twelve dollars to each individual. This is certainly a small sum for so much pleasure as is anticipated, and may the pleasures be no less.

The Ohio Democrats thought they had done a great thing in the line of sharp policy when in convention they nominated Ewing for Governor. They aimed thereby to secure a goodly number of Greenbackers to rally round their standard, and by the departure they thus made from the hard money number they are destined to lose a large number of hard money Democratic voters. Two prominent Ohio Greenbackers, the Cleveland Woecker and Amie and the Cincinnati Volksblatt, which have always been Democratic in principles, though nominally independent, have already announced their intention of supporting Foster and the other Republican ticket. And so will many of the better class of Ohio Democrats, who are opposed to the inflation theory, support the Republican ticket, because it is the ticket of sound money and sound credit.

The New York daily Graphic, of the 3d inst., has a long descriptive article on Atlantic City, and containing numerous illustrations, in which are many of the leading Hotels and Cottages. The article extols the place as a health resort, setting forth its special attractions for visitors, all of which may be attributed to the energy and influence of the Camden & Atlantic Railroad Company. In its personal, the writer speaks as follows of Hon. J. J. Gardner: Among the prominent citizens of Atlantic City might be mentioned John J. Gardner, a native of the country. During the rebellion he served with valor in the gallant Sixth New Jersey Regiment and afterwards in Hancock's Veteran Corps, and was honorably discharged at the close of the war with a Lieutenant's commission. He then took part of a collegiate course at Ann Arbor University, after which he returned to Atlantic City. Subsequently he was appointed Alderman, serving the city in this position with such marked ability that at the following election he was elected Mayor by the Republicans by a large majority. He was re-elected to this office for six consecutive years, being twice endorsed by both political parties. In the fall of 1877 he was elected, by the Republican party of the county, a member of the State Senate. He has distinguished himself in that body, and the indications are that he will be rewarded by a re-election. He is regarded as a prominent candidate for Congress from the Second Congressional District. Mr. Gardner is largely engaged in the real estate business and is Treasurer of the Pacific Avenue Omnibus Company. He is held in high esteem by his fellow citizens and is one of the most influential gentlemen of the county.

In the Republican Convention at Des Moines, Iowa, on the 11th inst., there was the greatest enthusiasm. The House was densely packed, and old Republicans who had taken little interest in politics for several years were there and addressed the Convention. They made a good ticket, re-nominating the present Governor, (Gear), and Lieutenant Governor (Campbell), by acclamation. The platform strikes the key note of Republicanism, declaring our country a nation, not a confederacy of States, which the Democracy denies, and though settled by the fact they still insist on declaring it. It is unsafe to trust the life of the nation with them. This doctrine of the Democracy has resulted in barbarous outrages at the South, and redress can only be had through Republican administration of government. It denounces the attempt in Congress to repeal the election laws, which would subject voters in the Southern States to the domination of bullies, and to repeating and fraud in New York City and elsewhere, and denounces the threats of the Congressional majority to stave the Government to death. It is sound on the currency question, and the tariff, and stands square on the Temperance question, and favors constitutional amendments prohibiting the manufacture and sale of all intoxicating liquors as a beverage in the State.

A Banker's Excursion.
An excursion on Saturday, June 21st, has been tendered by the Camden and Atlantic Railroad Company and the United Railroads of New Jersey, to the Committee of the associated banks of New York City appointed to have the banking interests of the United States represented at the International Exhibition of 1876. This excursion will leave Jersey City at about one P. M., and arrive at Camden at three, at which point they will be joined by the bank officers of Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, and other adjacent cities. The excursion will embrace prominent bankers from all parts of the country. The train will be special; and returning will leave Atlantic City on Monday, 23d. We understand that the municipal authorities of Atlantic City will give to the distinguished visitors a hearty welcome. The Chairman of the Committee is Mr. R. B. Sherman, President of the Mechanics' Bank, of this city. The distance to Atlantic City from New York is 150 miles, and it is proposed to run this train at the fastest rate of speed ever made between the two cities.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

The works of the Atlantic Oil Company, at Point Breeze, Philadelphia, together with six ships which were moored at the wharves near by, were destroyed by fire on Wednesday, the 11th inst. The cause of the fire was lightning, which set the oil tanks on fire and caused a destruction of property amounting to over seven hundred thousand dollars. The vessel which was on fire was the John A. Smith, a large oil tanker, and was carrying a cargo of refined petroleum. The fire was so violent that it spread to the other ships and tanks, and the entire works were threatened. The fire was extinguished after a long and successful struggle, but the damage was irreparable.

A DAY IN TOWN!

The Magnitude, Excellence and Cheapness of our New Stock for this Spring astonishes Everybody.

The people say that the cost of travel to and from the city is saved twice over, because the prices are lower and money seems to go so much further at the GRAND DEPOT.

With so many kinds of goods under one roof, time is saved and people say they can do in one day what used to take them two. There is a Lunch Room in the building and Special Room, where people bringing lunch with them can have privacy.

Our friends in the country are invited to make themselves at home.

JOHN WANAMAKER.

IN MILLINERY AND RIBBONS.

All the new shapes and colors are now exhibited in our spacious, light and airy show rooms.

Though the price of Muslins is advancing, we have so increased our facilities of manufacturing that we can afford to sell the excellent "Crown" Shirt, unaltered at 75 cents, made of Wamette Muslin and good Linen Bosom. With workmanship of the most substantial kind, seems staid, etc. It is not generally known that for years we have had immense work rooms, where we make shirts in large quantities. We make three popular grades that the people come back for again after proving their excellence by wear.

THE CROWN SHIRT 75 cents.
THE CONQUEROR 1.00.
THE UNIVERSITY 1.25.

The latter is made so beautifully, that the ladies pronounce it "better than home made."

CUMBERLAND MUTUAL

Fire Insurance Comp ny.

BRIDGETON, N. J.

Conducted on strictly mutual principles, offering a perfectly safe insurance for just what it may cost to pay losses and expenses. The proportion of loss to the amount insured being very small, and expenses much less than usually had, nothing can be offered more favorably to the insured. The cost being about ten cents on the hundred dollars per year to the insured on ordinary risks, and from fifteen to twenty-five cents per year on hazardous properties, which is less than one-third of the lowest rates charged by stock companies, on such risks—the other two-thirds taken by stock companies being a profit accruing to stockholders, or consumed in expenses of the companies.

The guarantee fund of premium notes being now Three Millions of Dollars.

If an assessment had to be made of five per cent. only, twice within the ten years for which the policy is issued. It would yet be cheaper to the members than any other insurance offered. And that large amount of money is saved to the members and kept at home. No assessment having ever been made, being now more than thirty years, that saving would amount to more than

One Million Five Hundred Thousand Dollar

The Losses by Lightning.

Where the property is not set on fire, being less than one cent per year to each member, are paid without extra charge, and extended so as to cover all policies that are issued and outstanding.
