Class meeting in the M. R. Ch., to-morrow, at 9.30. Preaching by Pastor W. L. Shaw at 10.30. Bible School at 12 o'clock. Twilight service from seven to eight. Morning theme, "Secret disciples." At twilight, "Ghosts and Camels." The Church with a message.
Presbyterian Church. Morning worship at 10.30; evening, 7.30; Bible School at noon; C. E. Society at 6.45. The announcement of themes for the sermons, both of which should guarantee your interest and draw you nearer to God, will be made at the time of each service. The music for the day will include selections by Professor Rhodes, Miss Rider, and our well trained choir. Saved to serve.

Special meeting of Town Council next Monday evening, to act upon the new sidewalk ordinance. All interested parties are invited to be present.

The colored people announce services in their church, Eleventh Street and the Pennsy Railroad, to-morrow, at eleven o'clock and 2 p. m.

Chairman Nicolai has succeeded in getting an all-night gateman at the Twelfth Street Pennsy crossing. There have been several narrow escapes at that point, late at night.

Tuesday night last brought us a grand thunder storm. As an electrical display, 'twas awfully grand, and with it came hail, then rain, giving all nature needed refreshment.

Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Black and daughter and Mrs. Eugene Hooper have taken a cottage on Peak's Island, Maine, for the summer. Mr. Hooper will be with them part of the time.

The Italian Celebration Committee announce that no dangerous pieces will be included in their fireworks on July 16th; and owners of adjoining property need not worry about fires.

Two Loan Associations meet next week,—the Workingmen's on Monday evening, and Hammonton on Thursday evening. Dues for the latter should be paid Tuesday or Wednesday,—Bank being closed on the 4th.

Capt. C. D. Loveland and family have opened their cottage at Sea Isle City. The Captain and his wife have just returned from a two weeks visit with a daughter in West Virginia, taking in Chautauqua en route.

A horse driven by Chris. Rehmann, Jr., ran away, Monday. A little child which he was holding was dropped back into the wagon, and escaped injury; but Chris was thrown between the horse and the wagon and seriously hurt.

The new benches ("spoon-holders" some one called them) for School Park, have arrived. Signs have been posted, "Riding on the sidewalks prohibited," and "Keep off the grass." George Lobley has charge of the Park and the Central buildings during vacation.

J. A. Hoyle, in his auto-wagon, after a series of minor mishaps, early Tuesday evening, came in collision with W. H. Bernhouse's old auto, which was standing in front of Rauere's repair shop. Both vehicles were considerably damaged.

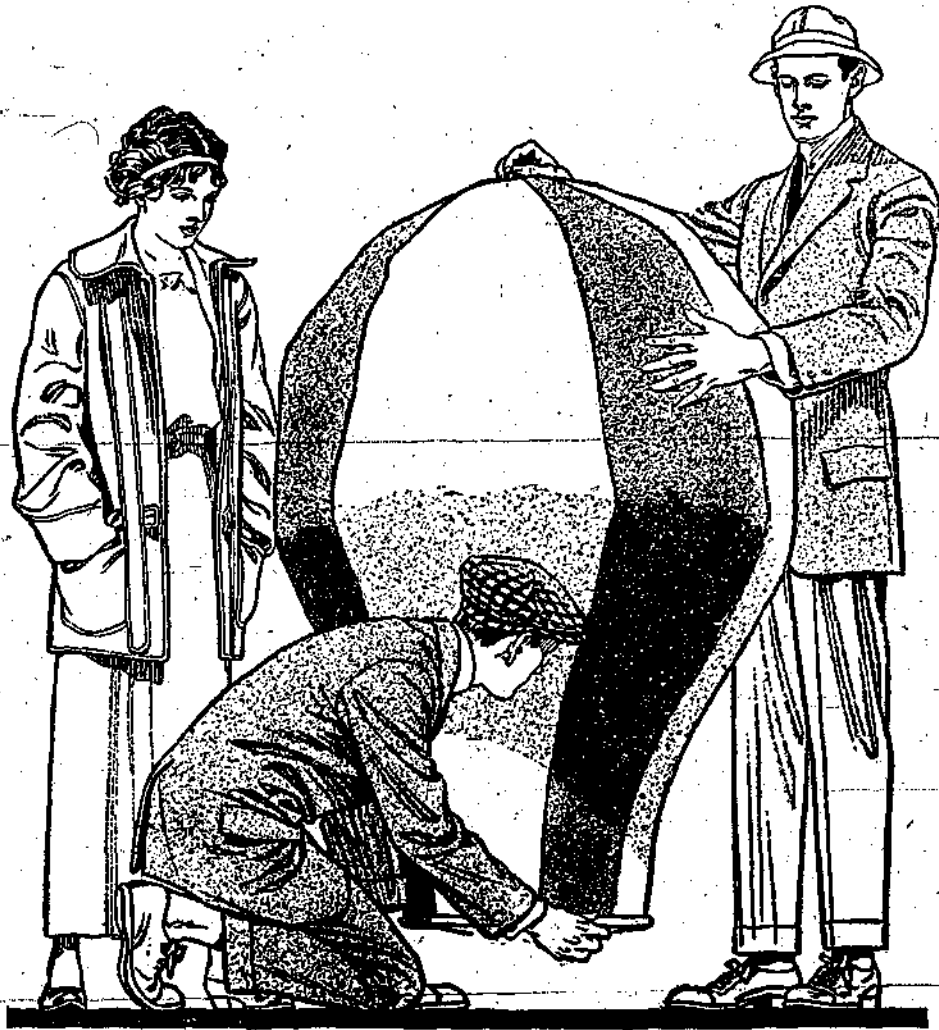

Last Saturday, Mrs. Henry T. Pressey was so badly injured that a carriage was called to take her home. The cause was the disconnected condition of the stone crosswalk at Second and Vine Streets, over which she stumbled and fell. She is still suffering from the shock.

Our base-ball team defeated Egg Harbor in last Saturday's game, by good all-around work. To-day they play Cramp A. A., a strong Philadelphia team. On the Fourth they will have two games with Brandywine, at 10.30 and 3.30. This team defeated Hammonton last year. Our boys must have more money to pay expenses, or accept good offers to play elsewhere. They ask you to register your vote on this question at the ticket window.

Tuesday evening, Capt. Harry E. South, of Atlantic City, left his automobile on the street for a little while. A couple of "coons" saw their chance, and started off with the car. Harry soon missed it, and started the police on the trail. The chase was conducted by phone and waxed so warm that the pair were shot at when they refused to stop at Egg Harbor. Just below Hammonton a barricade of teams was stretched across the road; but the fugitives left the auto before they reached it, and took to the woods. Later, they were seen at Romedale, but again disappeared before an officer could reach the place. W. S. Turner towed the car to his garage before midnight, and the owner came up for it the next day.

Government by Commission.

The growing local demand for the upbuilding of the Town, and progressiveness in local municipal affairs, is causing more and more discussion, and it has been suggested that the "Republican" publish a few facts concerning commission government and its application to local conditions.

Under the commission system, Hammon would have three commissioners, elected from the town at large, for a term of four years, at a non-partisan election, when all party affiliations would be allowed to appear on the ballot, and the law provides for their selection upon merit.

A primary election (which is practically an elimination contest) is first held, at which the six men receiving the highest number of votes would be thus nominated for the office of commissioner. None other than these six can be voted for at the general election, held four weeks later, and the three who receive the highest number of votes are so elected.

At its original or organization meeting, which takes place practically at once after their election, the commission select a chairman from their number, who receives the title of Mayor, and is head of the Department of Public Affairs and Public Safety. A second commissioner is selected as head of the Department of Revenue and Finance; and the third heads the Department of Streets, Public Improvements, Parks, and Public Property.

The Board fix their own salary, as is now done by Council, which cannot be increased during their term of office. In towns and cities of between five and ten thousand inhabitants (as Hammon is), the salary of Mayor cannot exceed one thousand dollars; and that of the other commissioners is limited to seven hundred and fifty dollars. Of course, these salaries can be as much less as they shall make it by ordinance.

All public ordinances must be on file with the Clerk, for the inspection of the public, in the complete form in which they are finally adopted, at least two weeks before such final passage.

For the use of streets or other public places or property must be passed by a vote of one more than a majority, which in this case would be unanimously.

Clothier and Tailor, Hammon

On many of our farms, berries are spoiling for want of pickers. One of our best Italians explains that the woods are full of "squatters," living in the woods, stealing other people's huckleberries, selling them at the trains, are under no expense, pay no taxes, and return to the city with more money than ordinary pickers. It doesn't seem right.

As Thursday next will be July 4th, we will request our advertisers to bring in their orders and copy either Tuesday or Wednesday, that "the editors, printers and devil" may have a day off.

can. The only handwork necessary is in the placing of the lid in position on the can and putting the can in the opening in the metal plate, which can be done by a boy, while a man of some skill and experience is required to operate the old machine, in which the can is placed in proper position in the machine and a lever pulled each time the lid is pressed on the can and sealed. The new machine, like the old ones, will be operated by electric power.

"Well, well," exclaimed Nagge over his paper, "that's a queer heading for this article. It says 'Woman's Talk.'"

"What's so queer about that?" demanded his wife.

"Why, there's only about half column of it."

Application has been made for a patent on a new machine for folding and sealing the lids on cans, recently invented by a Røysvanger (Norway) mechanic. The machine differs from the ordinary lid folding machine in that it contains a metal plate with openings for the lids on other fish cans. The cans, with lids laid on, are placed in these openings, and the plate is run through the machine, which automatically folds and seals the lids on the cans. The machine is of the necessary size for placing the lid in position on the can and putting the can in the suspending in the metal plate, which can be done by a boy, while a man of some skill and experience is required to operate the machine. The machine is of the same type as the machines in which the can is placed in the machine and the machine and a lever pulled each time the lid is pressed on the can and sealed. The new machine, however, the lid will be operated by
