LAW AND ORDER.

Written by C. E. FOWLER—in several parts. Part II.—ORDER.

It has been said that "Order is Heaven's first law," and it might be said order is Heaven's only law, for if every one in Heaven was orderly, they would need no law.

We will define "Order" as a systematic arrangement of things to accomplish a definite object.

If we wish to build a world, we must do it in a certain order. We must first have a mineral kingdom, before we can have a vegetable kingdom; and we must have a vegetable kingdom before we can have an animal kingdom; and we must have all these before we can have a human kingdom.

In order to travel from one place to another, we must have public roads; and in order to prevent accidents, persons using public places must observe certain rules of action. For instance, turn to the right when meeting, and to the left when passing. (In Canada they turn to the left.) But it does not necessarily follow that anyone has the right to run over someone who does not obey the rule.

If everyone had a desire to do right, and knew what was right, there would be no need of making laws. But, unfortunately for those who wish to do right, there is a class of people who want to get all they can for as little as possible, without regard to the rights of others. If they ride bicycles, they are sometimes called "bicycle hogs," but they have not all learned to ride yet. Some of them are devoting themselves almost exclusively to politics, and we don't hear much about them except before or after election. Some of them try to corner wheat, and live off the toll of other people. Some of them allow their hedges to grow out on the sidewalk two to five feet, when the walk is already too narrow. I suppose 'twould be proper to call them hedgehogs.

It seems to me there are a good many persons who do not understand either the nature or object of law and order, and as I have made a study of both for a number of years, I take the liberty, through the kindness of the Editor, of expressing my opinions for the benefit of my friends. There is no law that I know of, compelling any one to read them who does not wish to.

I do not pretend to be perfect, and do not wish to be personal, but the acts of persons (not the persons themselves) who stand in public places or hold public offices, are open to criticism, and I think it is proper that they should be. I do not wish to criticize Mr. Pressey, Mr. Jacobs, Mr. Roberts, or any other person, but I think everyone has a right to criticize and make suggestions for the benefit of those holding public offices,—not as persons, but as officers. For instance, when an officer of the law, without any uniform or visible badge, grabs a bicycle rider and pulls him off his wheel and injures either the rider or wheel, he oversteps his authority; and if the rider doesn't either arrest him or thrash him on the spot, it is quite an exhibition of charity. The people have rights, as well as officers of the law.

There are some towns that hold out inducements to persons who wish to become citizens, especially to those who wish to invest money in farms, factories, or homes. Some towns even get a lever in that direction, and donate land or exempt from taxation. I think Hammonton had that fever some time ago, but it looks now as though the fever had gone and a chill was creeping over the town. If a family who had accumulated a little money, and came here for their health, and wished to take a daily bicycle ride for their health, was told that there were not ten minutes in the twenty-four hours when they were allowed to ride on their own sidewalk, what inducement would it be to remain here, or to settle down and buy property? Would it be any more of an inducement to tell them that our town officials, with "the aid of three well known lawyers," could not frame an ordinance with which the officers of the law could punish bicycle hogs without persecuting the innocent rider? I am glad there is one Councilman who is frank enough to ask advice. I mean Jacobs,—in his last article.

I think every reasonable person will admit that a pedestrian has first right on the sidewalk, and I would suggest that the ordinance makers define the pedestrian rights as extending fifty feet in either direction, and ordain that any rider within fifty feet of a pedestrian must be dismounted; that they must not ride on the sidewalk after dark (darkness in this latitude is supposed to begin one hour after sunset); and that they shall not at any time ring a bell or sound any alarm unless they are dumb and can't talk.

If we had no bicycle ordinance whatever, there are laws enough to punish persons who either injure or scare pedestrians while using the sidewalk. A person has no more right to run into another while on foot than he has while riding. In fact, every person using the public highway is liable for any damage done by himself or by any beast that he has with him, dogs not excepted, and law makers recognized the fact long before bicycles were invented.

In order to induce outsiders to locate in Hammonton, and to invest money here, it may be necessary to use considerable judgment in framing ordinances, and to mix a little charity with their execution. I have several times seen ladies wading through the dusty street, and no pedestrian in sight in either direction, afraid that the Marshal was hiding behind some hedge, ready to arrest them; and when they do dare to ride on the sidewalk they pass the word from one to another,—“Where is the Marshal?” A nice state of affairs in a town that pretends to be Christian.

Our Marshal, when he leaves his badge home, is one of the most gallant and accommodating fellows in town, and I have no doubt would be glad to step aside and give up the sidewalk to any lady who is out for a pleasure ride; but when he puts his badge on he becomes an ogre that drives the ladies to the dusty road in fear and trembling. I don't see how he can afford to cut such a figure, even for the munificent salary of fifty dollars a year, even though he only works twelve to fifteen hours per day.

I heard that one family here, after being robbed several times, had to move. I would like to ask whether the Marshal has any instructions what to do in a case of that kind. And I would like to request the Editor, in case he hears of any one being punished by the town authorities for wrong doing, to please publish the particulars, unless the details are being suppressed for a special purpose.

Mr. Jacobs says, in his article, that any one who considers himself imposed upon by the law can compel others to conform to it, etc. Such an argument as that takes my breath away, and I have to wait for my second wind. Just think of it! If you are imposed upon by an unjust law, you can take the law and impose upon every one else. What a Christian spirit that is! I think that either his type-writer or the printer has made Mr. Jacobs say things without due consideration, and when he comes to read it over he will make several changes. I know Jacobs has lots of writing to do, and may not have time to correct all of them before reaching the printer.

In my next I shall endeavor to give my idea of the object of all law and order.

A Clever Trick.

It certainly looks like it, but there is really no trick about it. Anybody can try it who has Lame Back and Weak Kidneys, Malaria or nervous troubles. We mean he can cure himself right away by taking Electric Bitters. This medicine tones up the whole system, acts as a stimulant to Liver and Kidneys, is a blood purifier and nerve tonic. It cures Constipation, Headache, Fainting Spells, Sleeplessness and Melancholy. It is purely vegetable, a mild laxative, and restores the system to its natural vigor. Try Electric Bitters and be convinced that they are a miracle worker. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c. a bottle at Crowell's Drug Store.

HUMOR OF THE WEEK

STORIES TOLD BY FUNNY MEN OF THE PRESS.

Odd, Curious and Laughable Phases of Human Nature Graphically Portrayed by Eminent Vain Artists of Our Own Day—A Budget of Fun.

She Knew Him. He—And you believe it—the parrot took the words right out of my mouth!

She—Yes, I know; some parrots swear eerily—Jokers Statesman.

The Post-Dancer. "Are you worrying about your son that has enlisted, Grimmer?"

"No. It's the one that has contracted a baseball umpire for the season that's bothering the life out of me."—Detroit Free Press.

Time Change. She—Fortune favors the brave. He—It used to.

She—Used to? Why, whom does it favor now?

He—The breeze—Up-to-Date.

A Heartless Man. O'Nash—Well, now that you're married, do you find life a grand, sweet song?

Benedict—Oh, no. The first thing I did after we got back from our wedding trip was to hide my wife's music.

Errand Boys. First Boy—Where are yer goin' to, Bill?

Second Boy—I've got to go right over Amersmith's bridge to Barnes, then I'm got to go to Putney and back by Fulham road, then to 15th street, Kensington.

First Boy—Why, I've got to go to 'let street. You go on. I'm in a bit of a hurry, but I'll wait for yer.

Manila's Preeminence. "What do you think of Manila as the largest city factory in the world?"

"Is that so? Then that makes two of the largest things in the world that Manila has."

What's the other?

The largest submarine fleet of warships."

A Foolish Proposition. "What do you think of a man who will parade around with a military company in time of peace and then resign when war breaks out?"

"Now, what's that man supporting such a case? No real man ever doing such a thing."

Wasted. Xahley—You look as if you must have had a good time last night.

Mudge—I hope not.

"You hope not? Why?"

"Because, if I did, I was wanted, don't recollect a thing about it."—Indianapolis Journal.

Modern Methods. Mrs. Watts—You folks are dreadful slow. We are using individual communication cups at our place.

Mrs. Potts—How are we? Next week we begin using capsules—In Indianapolis Journal.

Hurried Along. Dentist to assistant, who has just identified a young woman from the waiting room—Was it her turn?

Assistant—No, but I hurried her along because she said the pain was passing away.—Jewish Messenger.

A Tasting Flower Dealer. She—I am not up to the intelligence of flowers. What did that bunch of jarqueimose mean to you next?

"I don't get the translation from the florist until the end of the month."—The Manhattan.

Red. "Impoverished!" she moaned, agonizedly.

"Don't get red-headed!" implored her father.

But how could her hair possibly remain Auburn with her income fallen from $2,000 a month to $200 a year?—Detroit Journal.

It's a pity whom doesn't grow out in a man like his whiskers.

Heredit. She—After the battle, I can't imagine how our Fritz got his noble features.

He—Oh, from you without doubt, for I have seen him!—Hellers Welt.

LIKE RED PEPPER.

Gifts to Hymen Peculiar to Different Nationalities.

From early times and in all nations it has been customary to send the bride away from her father's house laden with beautiful gifts for her household.

And I think I may safely state that among young people it is never more deplorably popular than it is now.

It is argued that there is no harm in it and when only occasionally, among a select few who know one another well, this may be true.

But the harmful thing about it all is that the habit of slanging speech is easily contracted, and that it vitiates the speech of all unconsciously to the speaker.

He in mind a young girl, bright and well educated, who told me that in a circle of intimate friends she used to slang so constantly that she was with people to whom she wished to talk well and fluently she was obliged all the while to be on her guard lest some slangy remark should be made.

"The eyes," he said, in a fine burst of poetic eloquence, "are the windows of the soul."

"So I have heard," she replied, "but what?" he urged, as she hesitated.

"You needn't try to sit so close to me just because I happen to be a little nearsighted."

She Explains. He (yawning)—Excuse me, please. She—Certainly. I'm glad you did it. He—I don't quite understand what you mean.

She—Well, Waddington told me that you didn't open your head the evening you called on her. Now I can truthfully say that you didn't act that way when you came to see me.

A Man of Parts. "Mr. Flizzington is quite a linguist, isn't he?"

"I never knew it."

"Oh, yes, he talks three languages."

"Horse, baseball and golf."

A Cretaceous. Mrs. Milliken—George, if I should die, how long would you promise to remain single?

Mrs. Milliken (cautiously)—What is the shortest length of time you will consider as an inducement?

Weyler's Invasion. "Do not think Weyler's army," someone thinks of ever trying to invade this country."

"I wouldn't be surprised if he did. That fellow is just human enough to want to come over here and lecture about it after the trouble is ended."

She—How came you to suspect that the landlady was deceitful?

He—Why, she had pillow-shams on the bed and false-hair mattresses.—Jokers Statesman.

The First Cigar. "What do you think of a man who will parade around with a military company in time of peace and then resign when war breaks out?"

"Now, what's that man supporting such a case? No real man ever doing such a thing."

SATURDAY, JUNE 25, 1898.

As we go to press, a battle may be raging at Santiago de Cuba. Monday, the transports with 16,000 U. S. troops under General Shafter joined Admiral Sampson's fleet, and during Wednesday night the last soldier was landed on Cuban soil, while the ships attracted Spanish attention elsewhere by firing upon their works at several points. Our boys had little trouble while landing, and were at once so placed as to prevent a surprise, and to repel any sudden attack. The Cuban army were already on the ground and co-operated with our men, rendering very valuable assistance. Detachments of the combined forces had a number of skirmishes with the enemy, and were in no wise discouraged by the results.

Friday morning's papers contained rumors that a general engagement had been begun; but the government's press censor is there with his blue pencil, and readers must await definite results. Our men have taken possession of the cable office at Guantanamo, and have established direct communication with the United States, which proves highly gratifying to the administration.

Everything is satisfactory away over in the Philippines. The insurgents, well armed by Admiral Dewey, prove to be good fighters, and have defeated Spaniards everywhere, until they have all taken refuge in the walled city of Manila. At last accounts, the natives were evidently awaiting the arrival of U. S. troops, when the good work will be completed. The insurgents, after generations of Spanish training, seem scarcely civilized, will fight like mad, and are inclined to destroy everything alive among their enemies. Admiral Dewey has insisted that the rules of civilized warfare shall be observed, and no fault has been found with their methods since that date. Several thousand more soldiers, to reinforce Gen. Shafter, will reach Cuba next week.

Summer Outings.
The Penna. Railroad Co. announces the following personally conducted tours for summer and early autumn of '98: To the North (including Washington, Niagara, Thousand Islands, Montreal, Quebec, Au Sable Chateau, Lake Champlain and George, Saratoga, and a day-light ride through the highlands of the Hudson), July 25 and Aug. 16. Rate, $100 for round trip from New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, & Washington, covering all expenses of a two weeks' trip. Proportionate rates from other points.

To Yellowstone Park and the Trans-Mississippi Exposition on special train of Pullman sleeping, compartments, observation, and dining cars, allowing eight days in "Wonderland" and two days at Omaha, Sept. 1. Rate, $225 from New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, & Washington, $250 from Pittsburgh.
To Niagara Falls, excursion tickets good to return within ten days will be sold on July 21, Aug. 4 and 16, Sept. 1, 15, and 29, at rate of $10 from Philadelphia, Baltimore, & Washington. The tickets include transportation only, and will permit of stop over within limit at Buffalo, Rochester, and Watkins on return trip.
Two ten-day tours to Gettysburg, Vaux Caverns, Natural Bridge, Virginia Springs, Richmond, & Washington, Sept. 25 and Oct. 10. Rate, $65 from New York, $63 from Philadelphia. Proportionate rates from other points.
For itineraries and other information, apply to ticket agents, or address Geo. W. Boyd, Asst. Gen. Passenger Agent, Philadelphia.

The Republican.
SATURDAY, JUNE 25, 1898.
LOCAL MISCELLANY.

"The Fourth" is close at hand.
Regular meeting of Council this evening.

Somebody amputated the town pump's nozzle.
Miss Daisy Mathis is home from the Normal School.

Dudley Farrar is visiting his sister, in Berwick, Penna.
Red raspberries and black caps are plenty in our markets.

A bunch of keys. The owner can have them, at this office, on paying for this advertisement.
The snap of the patriotic fire-cracker is heard in the land.

Victor Moore greeted friends in Hammonton on Wednesday.
We are told that there was a wedding at Folson last evening.

Mr. Ball has wired the new Bank building for electric lights.
Mrs. Blum has bought the Evans farm—twenty acres—on Grand St.

WANTED—a strong chore boy on a town farm. Must milk and do some work. Cultivating, etc. State wages expected, with board. References. Box 55, Hammonton Post-office.

Come out to the lawn social on the 4th, hear the band and have a good time.

Mrs. N. C. Holdridge is visiting her son, Harold E. Rogers, at Haddon Heights.

Mr. French, a theological student, will occupy the Baptist pulpit to-morrow.

Undertaker Prasech's new house is progressing well. It is to be lighted by electricity.

CEAR POSTS—flag poles, grape stakes, etc., etc. Ladies' ready to order. J. M. BROWN, Hammonton.

Misses Eva Jones and Lydia Budd, of Pleasantville, visited at Wm. Cunningham's.

Miss Bessie Hay now rides a handsome Crawford bicycle, a gift from her grandfather.

Beats cooking when you can get your supper for 16 cents at the lawn social, on the 4th.

FOR SALE or to rent—property known as the Rockwell Farm, known as M. STOCKWELL, Hammonton.

Miss Annie L. Hoyt is expected home to-day, after spending five weeks at the County Seat.

Col. Grover will repeat, this evening, in H. A. A. Hall, his exhibition of war pictures.

Base-ball game this afternoon—Hammonton Athletic Association vs. Quaker City Wheelmen.

Miss Emma Jones spent several days with relatives in Philadelphia and in Delaware County, Pa.

SEVEN ROOM HOUSE to rent for six dollars per month. Apply to A. J. KING.

L. Beverage is now a resident in Lindenwood, N. J., but is spending a few days in Hammonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Howe have moved to Orwells, Bradford County, Pa., where they own a fine farm.

Harry Roberts has enlisted in the Vineland volunteers, which will doubtless soon be called into active service.

The entertainment and drill at the lawn social on the 4th, will prove pleasing. Don't miss this part of the programme.

FOR SALE—A fine large town lot, on Main Street. For terms address or apply to W. L. O. HOYT, Hammonton, N. J.

J. A. Hoyt rode from West Philadelphia last Friday, on his wheel, and spent two days with his parents, in Hammonton.

We have had a pretty stiff run on berry picker tickets the past week. We turn out a thousand in quick time, and in good shape.

The Old Fellows have appointed a committee to arrange for a public dedication of their hall. Time and other details not fixed.

SMALL HOUSE for sale, next to George O. Johnson's, on 1st corner, electric bell. Everything in good order. Lot 50 x 120 feet. Inquire at this office.

June 25th; Post Master French's commission expired on June 12th; his successor has yet been appointed, at least no one has heard of it.

The State Encampment of the G. A. R. met at Asbury Park this week. Post Commander Bradbury and Post Commander Roberts were among the delegates.

Insure with A. H. Phillips & Co., 1235 Atlantic Ave., Atlantic City.

What would the Fourth be without a public display of fireworks? Let everyone donate toward the Epworth League fund for that purpose.

To-night will be given the second of Victor Moore's entertainments for Old Fellows' benefit. Twenty-five cents will buy a ticket, help the Lodge, and give you a fine treat.

This is our matrimonial issue,—five weddings this week—four in one day. It must be contagious—may become epidemic. But the REPUBLICAN wishes the happy ones a continuance of happiness, with prosperity.

My college term having expired, I leave for the present, making but two trips per week to the city,—on Monday and Thursday, at 6:30 A.M. W. O. HOYT, Purchasing Agent.

Mr. C. Fleming Stanger, from Glassboro, Grand Master of the Old Fellows of New Jersey, visited Winslow Lodge Wednesday evening, and made things decidedly interesting. He will repeat his visit in the near future.

The "Great Pocahontas," or whatever they call the head of the women's branch of the Red Men, visited Little Ha-Ha Council last Monday evening. They had a very interesting pow-wow, and a treat at the close.

PAPER-HANGING. Leave your orders at Harry Little's store, and will call and show you samples and give estimates. HARRY L. TREAT.

Every business man in Hammonton should be a firm friend and supporter of the fraternal organizations in town. Suppose you have a customer who is dependent upon his daily earnings (as most of us are); he pays his bills promptly when able to work. But suppose he falls ill? No work, no pay. Then the Lodge comes in with weekly benefits, and the butcher and baker get their pay. How could it be done, otherwise? Yet it's not charity; it is a form of insurance, and should receive the support of every thinking man.

FOR SALE. A fine brick residence in the heart of town, near the bridge, with nearly five acres of cultivated land, immediate possession. Part cash. Inquire at Rockwell's office.

Hereafter there will probably be a meeting of Town Council every week, if not twice a week; and next Spring there will be no lack of willing candidates. The Councilmen now receive twenty dollars a year, have purchased individual desks and easy chairs for their own use, with a revolving chair for the Chairman. Yes; and they have hat and coat hooks. Next, they will provide cushions, and finally a Brussels carpet, and call it a "club room."

They ought to put in electric lights right away and repair their rough walls. The Clerk has been forgotten in the new deal, and must either use the old table or buy a desk for himself. Perhaps they think the increased salary is sufficient encouragement. Really, though, those desks were needed—ought to have been provided long ago—and the Committee made a good choice.

THE BRIDGE CONTRACTORS. Selected proposals will be received by the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Atlantic County, at May's Landing, N. J., on Wednesday, June 23, 1898, at 12 o'clock noon, for the construction of a new bridge over the Egg Harbor River, from the road leading from Vista Township, Freehold, to Vista Township. The right is reserved to reject any or all bids. Plans and specifications can be seen at the office of the Chairman of the Bridge Committee.
