Our Washington Letter.

WARRINGTON, D. C., July 8, 1878. The intimations of the New York Times Washington correspondent that, it is in accord with the programme of the sensational correspondcut bere, to revive rumors of war with Mexico in order to bridge over the dull season between Congressional sessions, are not destitute of foundation; and their expedients to keep up the flagging interest of their readers are not confined to our Mexican relations, but extend to many other matters which by careful manipulation can be made to appear of national importance. It may be that the danger of war, non said to be in minent, has been magnified by ingenique writers in this way. But allowing the widest margin for each exeggeration, the feel ing here that war may grow out of existing complications is more general than at any time during the present Administration. Nor is it confined to those who rely wholly on sensational sources for information, but is shared by many who, from their official positions, are supposed to have the very best opportunities tor getting at the actual facts. Diss appears to be in an ugly position, and may think himself obliged to yield to popular clamor to save himself. He is doubtless suspected by more than a majority of his subjects, of having made disgraceful concessions in return for the recounttion of his Government. The promise to co-operate with us to suppress the raiders of the Ri Grands border is regarded as one of the most humiliating of these; hence the half-hearted manner in which he at first bept his promise, and the openly made threats to McKenzie on his recent expedition into Mexico, to drive him back sorties the burder. Several Cabinet most ings have been largely devoted to the Rlo Grande dispute. General Ord has been newly instructed that our citizens must be protected in accordance with the orders issued mouths ago, and it is difficult to see how this Government can longer temporase with the bandits across the line; and I am confident that intelligence of the inauguration of hostilities against our troops would surprise Government officials here very little, if at all. All interest in the Potter investigation and investigators seemed to go out with Mrs. Jenks There was an effort at revival when Webber was put on the stand, but the most hide-bound Boughon could not repress his disgust with that premiure's subserviency and his craven-hearted landations of the red handed ruffans who murdered his brother in sold blood, and had hunted bim, (Webber) his associates and friends, with raw hides, shot guas and blood hounds through all the months of the last Presidential campaign. Anderson in sumparison is a reputable citisen, for in addition to his this shouls and parjury, Webber pload guilty to a degree of treacher; that made him repuldes even to Louisiana polfileland. Demogratie organs, even as high au authority at Mandall, claim they have proven their case on the thinkney of these two selfsenfected flare and parjurers. With intelligent readers who have followed the several witnesses in their tel timony, no seller exidence will be necessary to convince them of the reselutions. ry design of the originators of this whole hus-iness. Though it is more bank Tathona, deep beheath popular disapprobation, no one approhave kept this country in a turmoil for the last quarter of a century fancies shey will be any thing more than temporarily deterred from their purpose, should they endered this Fall in retaining control of the House, Since Butler's latest bid for the leadership of the levelers, the disorganizers and the flanne mouthed blatherskites, the wish is often expressed here where he is known as a rich man living in a paluce, that the treatment he prescribes for others might be meted out to him It is probably asking too much of an arrant demagogue always watching to ingratiate himsair with the lawless, to be consistent and square his own course of "life by the rule he is so ready to prescribe for the Government of others. His political secentricities have been regarded with a degree of tolerance, that was only observed towards him by Republicans, because of his services to the Union cause during the wer. But if he is as far sighted as he pretends to be,he ought to know that their patience is about exhausted and that he cannot reasons bly count on their forbearance to the extent of allowing him to out their throats. All the way through the investigation, he appeared only too glad of any stray opportunity to gratify his feelings of malios towards the Bresident, at the expense of the party be has professed himself so auxious to serve, and which has done a good deal more for him than he had for it. The only thing that seems to be certain about the Indian War is that the feeling of discontent is spreading and that if the hostiles should succeed in gaining a decisive victory, the Indiana of the ontire North-West would soon be in arms against the Government's authority. Senator Windom has punctured the pretentions of cer Reform House. Advording to him its approprintions exceeded those of its immediate prodecessor by almost $29,000,000, and that willen the deficiencies are all paid the two last librates will be seen to have been more extravagent than any House prior to he advent of Raffirm i milen vigne.

Our Washington Correspondent in Europe.

(Brom our regular Currespondent) BARTERS HOTEL LIVERPOON, June 31, 18. Here we are at last, after a most magnificent trip zoross the Atlantic, during which war feels in" (but not by force) the interesting and well worth-seeing cities of Halifax, Nova bootie, and St. John's, Newfoundland. Until I arrived at the lust named place I had been in the habit, with most other citizens of the U. sourdingly. Your correspondent left Baltimore, by the steamship "Hibernian," of the "Alfan" Line, on Wednesday morning, the 5th, of June, 9 A. M., sharp. The "Hibernian" is a magnificant boat of 8,000 tone commanded by Centain William Richardson, a bonny good Scotchman from Dumfriesshire, and a thorough sailor This boat in common with all that steamers of cent improvements, elegant staterooms, anda saluon the entire width of the ship. We had quite a large party from Baltimore' who " saw off" a number of their friends, and we went down the sparkling Chesapesks merry as a marriage ball. But alas! The fun was not des. tined to last long. About twenty miles down the bay, the party of Baltimorians left us in the tug boat "Maryland" amidst the waiting or hats, caps and handkeroblefs, and then we were left entirely to our own resources and the ship's officers. Somehow or other, passengers on board an Atlantic steamer seem always to have enormous appetites on the first day out. Every man, woman, and child on board promptly put in an appearance at breakfast, luncheon and dinner on this our first day out. Even those of frail constitutions accused the idea of sea sickness, so calm and amouth was the water, and there was served by as much motion on the steamer as in a rallway train. The Ailan line of steamships are all constructed with what is nautically termed a ' broad beam," hence they roll less than other steamers of excessive length in preportion to their width, and even in a heavy sea they are steamed and steady as compared with other bosts in which I have crossed. Congratulating ourselves upon our good luck we all "turned in" at ten o'slock at Light; but few of ne "turned out" again in the morning. During the night we had passed the cope and got fairly into eld Neptene's domains, who rocked us, fatherly like, in the cradle of the deep.
